Oh, would the blessed time had come,
When thy loved voice, no longer dumb,
And mute, with secret pain,
Shall sing of dark dissention done
And Peace Her righteous reign begun
A glad and glorious strain.

USE MORE CIGARETTES

PARIS, September 25. — Although the war decreased the French population 2,000,000 and French women have not taken to smoking any more than the women of other nations, according to officials, there has been an unprecedented increase in the use of tobacco since the armistice. Returned soldiers suffering from nerbousness are blamed for the increase.

Despite even the presence of American cigarettes on the French market it is impossible to satisfy the smokers' demands and fifty new machines are to be installed in the State's cigarette factories with a view to rolling at least 800 million more cigarettes every year.

LIFE.

(By Edgar A. Guest.)

Life is a jest;
Take the delight of it.
Laughter is best;
Sing through the night of it.
Swiftly the tear
And the hurt and the ache of it
Find us down here;
Life must be what we make of it.

Life is a song;
Let us dance to the thrill of it.
Grief's hours are long,
And cold as the chill of it.
Joy is man's need;
Let us smile for the sake of it.
This is our creed;
Life must be what we make of it.

Life is a soul;
The virtue and vice of it.
Strife for a goal,
And man's strength is the price of it.
Your life and mine,
The bare bread and the cake of it.
End in this line:
Life must be what we make of it.

Marriage is a partnership. Everyone will agree to that statement. It should be founded on exactly the same basis as business partnerships. Now why do so many marriages fail? For the same reason that business partnerships fail—because one party or the other, sometimes both, fail to fulfill their contract. Then if the majority of people know that marriage is a partnership, why do so many of them go into it so totally ignorant of the terms of the contract and their own part in fulfilling those terms. Why must we have all this silly sham about marriage? Because parents are lacking in gray matter.

Why doesn't "Mamma" tell Mary that John won't continue to be so good natured and altogether lovable; why doesn't Mamma tell her that she'll have to be very patient and tactful with him at times, that John won't always let her advise him as to the color of his necktie, and that there will be days when she'll be just plain sick and tired of looking at that hump on John's nose, or hearing him crunch toast?

And why doesn't John's mother tell him that Mary doesn't always have a disposition or a complexion like peaches and cream. Why doesn't she tell him to tread lightly when he comes home some nights after Mary has been working all day baking in an oven that wouldn't get hot washing wood work that was bound to streak, and making a shirt that wouldn't hang straight?

But no—they let them go into it blindly believing each other to be the only angels in captivity. Sometimes they get their bearing and come out of it alright but sometimes the don't. If the present rate keep we'll soon be able to say more often they don't. If you have any rational moments young people during that period of blissful insanity of being in love try and keep the thought in mind that you must do your share in this partnership and that this person whom you have chosen is only a human being after all and subject to all the vagaries of the human disposition.

It is probably the irony of fate that so many people who have no brains are obsessed with the idea that they are brimming over with them and on the other hand, many who have their full share and over firmly believe themselves to be block heads. Those in the latter class are the more to be pitied for the nerve of the first class will get them somewhere, while the timid ones will never have the courage to test their own powers. For that reason, never be afraid of a job because it seems too big for you. It is only in filling a job that is bigger than your last one that you can grow. Too many people make the mistake of growing down to their jobs rather than up to them.

We should all have respect for our fellow men. This applies particularly to members of the same household. In some homes such a thing as individual privacy is unknown, yet it is a necessity if you wish to avoid friction. You wouldn't think of passing your mother or brother on the street and rudely pushing against them, yet sometimes when they are trying to rest or think you will force yourself rudely upon their notice and make them wish you were a thousand miles hence. The next time you are in a quiet mood and some boisterous person keeps buzzing around you, take notice and see yourself as others see you occasionally.

Take the trouble to get well acquainted with your children, and to interest yourself in their pastime, etc. By this means they will learn to confide in you, and are not easily led away by outside influence.

REDUCTION TO APPLY TO CANADA

AVERAGE DROP OF $142 ON EVERY VEHICLE

DETROIT, Mich., Sept. 22.—The Ford Motor Company yesterday announced a reduction in the price of its cars "to the pre-war level." In making the announcement Henry Ford stated that "the war is over and it is time war prices were over." The cut is about 14 per cent. on trucks and 31 per cent. on cars.

"There is no sense or wisdom in trying to maintain an artificial standard of values," said Henry Ford in a statement issued.

"For the best interests of all, it is time that a real practical effort was made to bring the business of the country and the life of the country down to normal.

"Inflated prices always retard progress. We had to stand it during the war, although it was not right, so the Ford Motor Company will make the prices of its products the same as they were before the war, and this in face of the fact that we have unfilled orders for immediate delivery of 146,065 cars and tractors.

"We must take a temporary loss because of the stock of material on hand bought at inflated prices, and until we use that stock up we will ave to submit to a loss, but we take it willingly in order to bring about a going state of business throughout the country.

Scores Greed of Profiteers.

"Our country is rich beyond measure in natural resources, rich in all the mateial things that go to make a nation great, and yet its progress is being held practically at a standstill because of the greed of the profiteers.

"Now is the time to call a halt on war methods, war prices, war profiteering and war greed.

"There will be no change in wages."

Cut Extends to Canada.

WINDSOR, Sept. 21.—(Special).—According to Wallace H. Campbell, secretary-treasurer of the Ford Motor Company of Canada, Canadian prices of Ford cars will be cut to correspond with the decreased quotations in the United States.

THINKS SEXES ARE BEING EQUALIZED

Chicagoan Says Men Becoming Effeminate and Women Masculine.

CHICAGO.—The two sexes are coming to a point of equalization, in the opinion of Dr. E. N. Schoolman, psychic analytic expert, xepressed in an interview with the United Press.

Men are becoming more effiminate and women more masculine, Schoolman said. However, he doubted if there was danger of either sex going to the extreme in adopting the other's mannerisms.

"I do not believe woman will ever supplant man," he said. "I think the situation will be readjusted some way."

Schoolman pointed to the increasing number of men who are taking positions as servants and doing housework as evidence of the tendency of men toward effiminateness.

"I don't mean to infer that all men who do housework are effiminate," he said. "There are men who are doing it because of economic reasons. But there are particular cases where men are doing house work to satisfy their craving for things effiminate.

"Modern conditions make it unnecessary for men to be aggressive, and aggressiveness is the essence of masculinity. The ease with which the necessities of life may be obtained without using muscle, in open competition with other men, also causes a trend among men to become effiminate."

On the other hand, Schoolman said, women are balancing the situation by a tendency to become masculine.

"When you put a woman in the position of a man, she must assume the characteristics of a man," Schoolman said. "She cannot remain passive, but must assume an aggressive attitude."

CANADIAN SHOES FOR CANADIAN PEOPLE

22,000 Canadian Men and Women ask you to buy "Made-in-Canada" Shoes

22,000 CANADIANS are engaged exclusively in the manufacture of Boots and Shoes.

The industry provides them with over $20,000,000 a year to spend within the Dominion.

They buy food and clothing; pay rent and taxes—they help swell the total of Canadian trade.

ALLIED with these 22,000 men and women are many thousands of other workers who contribute to the making of Boots and Shoes. These include textile operatives; wire, nail and metal workers; machine manufacturers; box and carton makers; coal miners and dealers; railway men and shippers; printers; packers and battalions of clerks.

All these, and more, participate in the 50 million dollars which is the yearly value of the Canadian-Made Shoes.

EVERY pair of Canadian-made Shoes you buy actually puts money in the pay envelope of this vast army of men and women.

Every pair of imported Shoes you buy reduces Canada's capital stock and puts money in the pockets of foreigners who contribute nothing to our national growth.

CANADIAN-made Shoes, grade for grade, are the equal of the best in the world.

The most scientific processes of manufacture are employed.

Canadian workmen are as conscientious and skilled as those of any other country.

SITUATED as we are between the Old World and the New, every authoritative idea of shape and style and fashion is immediately seized and developed.

The price of Canadian-made Shoes is based entirely on actual production costs. It represents 100% of value.

Canada produces footwear of every desirable type, and of standard quality in all grades. When you buy Made in Canada Footwear you are assured, at fair prices always, of the utmost that modern skill can produce in Comfort, Service and Style.

WINNER OF SIX WAR MEDALS PRAISES TANLAC

Lieut. Wm. Draper Won Commission By Bravery on the Field, But Was Knocked Out By Rheumatism—Says Tanlac Completely Restored Him.

Lieutenant William Draper, of Glen Falls, N.B., popular officer in the Canadian army, is still another returned war veteran who comes forward with his unqualified endorsement of Tanlac. Lieut. Draper served throughout the entire war, two years and a half of the time being spent in France with the Second Divisional Ammunition Column.

He was a Sergeant-Major when the war broke out and won his commission for conspicuous service on the field. Lieut. Draper is also a veteran of the South African war, in which he fought with the Canadian and the British forces. He is a possessor of six medals, his last one one a "Meritorious Service Medal," being awarded for gallant service in the late world war. In an interview recently, Lieut. Draper told his experience with Tanlac.

"For about three years I was troubled with rheumatism in my arms and back. My muscles were sore and stiff; my back was weak and lame, and hurt day and night. I could not lie in any comfortable position, and was almost helpless when I lay down in bed, being hardly able to move.

"I got so I could not move about or walk without effort. My appetite left me when I sat down to the table, two or three bites being all I could eat. I couldn't sleep much for I was often in such pain that I lay awake for hours.

"I took five bottles of Tanlac and since then I have not felt a sign of rheumatism. I can use my arms as well as I ever could and my back never troubles me at all, and is as strong as it ever was. I have a fine appetite and everything that I eat digests properly. I sleep like a child every night now and I am a well man enjoying the very best of good health."

Tanlac is sold in Peterborough by W. B. Warne Drug Co., Ltd., in Havelock by A. C. Denike, in Lakefield by Tanner Drug Co., Ltd., in Fowler's Corners by W. A. Hunter, in Gelert by A. J. Scott, in Westwood by G. Pringle & Son. (Advt.)

LOST BATTLES ADDS TO PRICE OF MILK

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25.— Replacing lost milk bottles adds to the price of milk paid by city consumers, an investigation by the Department of Agriculture has disclosed, although no attempt was made to fix the amount added to consumers' bills for this reason. In at least 27 cities junk dealers were found to carry on a regular traffic in milk bottles.

The report says milk dealers "are compelled to purchase 1.3 bottles every month for each bottles they have filled daily during that period," and continues:

"The loss among small dealers is less than that sustained by the large enterprises. The small dealers hape greater breakage than the large distributers, but they are better able to check up on the return of their bottles and therefore do not lose so many in that manner.

Breaking bottles, losing or using them for other purposes, selling to junk dealers, or giving the bottles belonging to one dealer to another adds materially to the consumer's bill and is an economic error which each and every consumer can helo to reduce by returning every bottle in good condition.

Last evening, at the close of the service at St. John's Church, Lakefield, the church wardens asked the Rev. Frank Vipond, of Toronto, who has been conducting the services during Rev. Dr. Archbold's illness, to continue the services in view of Dr. Archbold's resignation, and to-day they are asking the Bishop of Toronto to appoint him rector of the Lakefield parish as successor to Rev. Dr. Archbold.

FIREMEN FIGHT DUEL WITH STREAMS OF WATER.

Prevailed Upon to Use Hose Instead of Deadly Weapons.

SHANGHAI, Sept. 27.—Two members of the French Volunteer Fire Brigade here fought a duel with fire hose recently. The brigade is composed largely of business men. Henri Numa and Georges Clergue quarreled and a challenge was given and accepted.

The principals had expressed their intention to meet on the field of honour with deadly weapons when they were prevailed by officers of the brigade to use fire streams under high pressure, at a range of twenty feet.

The combat, which took place in the courtyard of the fire station, lasted about fifteen minutes, when Numa, after being slowly forced backward by the watery torrent, lost his helmet and went down as the big nozzle escaped from his grasp.

RICHARD HALL & SON LIMITED

BEECHNUTS ARE VERY PLENTIFUL

SOME SAY THIS IS A SIGN OF A HARD WINTER.

There is a great plenitude of beech nuts, butter and hickory nuts in the woods this year, it is said, and most of the butternut trees in the country, which are becoming fewer each year, have been stripped. The beech nuts are ripening now and next Sunday will likely see scores of people walking or driving out to the woods near the city. An abundant crop of nuts, weather prophets say, predict a hard winter, but so many times has this proved a fallacy that the citizens of Peterborough refuse to be guided by such dire predictions now.

The woods are assuming the autumn cloaks of red, yellow and brown, but their full glory will not be reached for another week. The leaves are beginning to fall and on Friday and Saturday a few miniature bon-fires were blazing brightly in various parts of the city. Many a youngster's heart was gladdened and squeals of joy could be heard from the kiddies huddled about the fires as the tongues of fire leaped up whenever more fuel was added. The chestnuts are getting ripe and the small boy is now in a veritable paradise and will be for the next couple of weeks. "I can't keep the boys off my lawn," complained one lady to the Examiner last week. "They pester the life out of me trying to get chestnuts."

PARIS WAGES WAR AGAINST THE RAT

PROFESSOR BORDAS REPORTS EIGHT MILLION RODENTS IN FRENCH CAPITAL

PARIS, Sept. 25. — War to a finish has been declarad against the rat by the Hygiene Commission of Paris. The Commission was aghast to learn from a report read to it by Professor Bordas, that there were 8,000,000 rats in the city.

The extermination of the rats is to be acomplished by all the weapons known in rat warfare, and the campaign will be both offensive and defensive. The offensive weapons are the following:

Use of bacterial products or deadly microbes likely to cause epidemics among the rats, poisons, asphyxiating gases in the sewers for several hours at a time repeated at intervals, and traps.

In this connection Profesor Bordas warns rat trappers not to smoke before setting their traps as the rat holds tobacco in abhorrence. A premium of two sous is to be paid for each rat killed by hunters.

The defensive campaign will be conducted by rat proofing houses and by setting the garbage cans on the sidewalks only a few minutes previous to the arrival of the garbage automobiles so that the rats cannot feed on their contents over night.

Many pessimistic voices were heard in the Hygiene Commission as to the chances of success in ridding Paris of the rat nuisance, especially after Professor Bordas had explained that the Paris rat could boast of a family tree dating back to the early centuries of the Christian era, having emigrated to France from the Near East with the early Cursaders.

"Such aristocrats are bound to put up a stiff fight for their privileges," said a humorous member of the Commission.

CAN WEAR SPLENDOR OF FARMER ESTATE

Austrian Officers Say Uniforms Only Decent Clothes

VIENNA, Sept. 25.—A former officer of the Austrian army was walking through a poor quarter of the city in full uniform when a workmen's councillor ordered him to remove his clanking spurs An altercation ensued leading to a suit by the officer for defamation. The court gave him damages to the amount of 1,000 crowns and told him he could wear the splendor of his former estate when and where he would. The workmen's councillor pleaded that he and his neighbors objected to such a reminder of the old time authority of the military class.

Since the ratification of the treaty officers in the full uniform of the old army with breastloads of medals and decorations have become very much in evidence on the promenades. Many of them say their uniforms are the only decent clothes they have.

"ON THE HIRING LINE"

WHAT SOME LEADING PAPERS SAY.

"'On the Hiring Line' possesses the great advantage of an entirely new twist in a familiar subject. It begins with a lively start that doesn't finish until the home stretch."—New York Evening Telegram.

"The piece is witty and ingenious, it possesses the farcical twist that properly belongs to satirical comedy. It is packed with lines that have the sparkle of wit and the snap of comedy."—Chicago Evening Post.

"It proved a most hilarious affair. The audience chortled and laughed through the three acts of satire and farcical humor."—Philadelphia Press Criterion.

"The situations are deliciously amusing. It is a witty and discreetly candid story."—Chicago Daily News.

Peterborough is bound to enjoy a rare treat—it is based on the "Help Problem" and what came out of a queer experience. A private letter from the office of the manager of this company to Mr. F. Bruce Hutchinson, of the Heintzman & Co. staff here, says: "May Anderson, who takes the leading role, taught elocution for a number of years at the Canadian Academy of Music, Toronto."

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

To the Editor of The Examiner:

Sir,—As I have been repeatedly asked to explain the crisis that has arisen in the province of Quebec regarding the annulment by the courts of mixed marriages periormed there by Protestant clergy I will, with your permission, explain it. Saturday's Globe has the following front page despatch:

ANNULMENT OF MIXED MARRIAGES IS ILLEGAL

Bishop Farthing Says They Violate Rights of the Anglican Church.

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

MONTREAL, Sept. 24.—Right Rev. John Farthing, Anglican Bishop of Montreal, presiding to-night at a meeting of the Executive of the Diocese of Montreal, issued, with the unanimous endorsation of the Executive, a pronouncement on the mixed marriage question in this Province, with a special reference to the annulment of such marriages by the Roman Catholic church authorities. The pronouncement states that such annulments are a violation of the rights of the Anglican church; that they constitute a menace to the moral life of the nation, and that these annulments are illegal.

The pronouncement concludes: "I dare not permit our lawful marriages to be annulled, as this is a direct attack upon our civil and religious liberties. I therefore appeal to all who wish to preserve the sancity of marriage, the sacredness of the human body and equal religious privileges and rights to unite with us in preserving the civil status of those who are married according to law."

It will be remembered that at the time of Ne Temere it was decided that the Federal marriage law did not recognize religious differences. People married in federal jurisdiction are married by a common civil contract of marriage which cannot be annulled. But it was decided also that marriages performed in the provinces according to provincial laws were null or of full effect accordingly as the law of that particular province set out. Now the province of Quebec's civil law says that a Catholic married by a Protestant clergyman is not married at all. The courts of Quebec have decided that fact in a great many cases lately. Protestants say that it is open to the Catholic church to say that anybody so married ceases to be a Catholic, but that it is not right that any province should say that a Protestant married to a Catholic by a Protestant is not married at all. This assumes rights over Protestants which we see they are now protesting against.

J. H. BURNHAM.

A PRESENT FOR STATION AGENT

Reposing in the agent's office of the Canadian National Railways here to-day was a monster puff ball presented to Mr. J. A. McNab by one of the trainmen of the Lindsay train this morning. Neither Mr. McNabb or any of the C. N. R. staff fancied eating the fruit and at 10 o'clock this morning no one had been found who would take the big ball away.

The puff ball was as large as a punching bag and about the same shape. It would weigh poissbsibsly shape. It would weigh possibly 5 pounds and had a thick kid-like skin a soft pulpy centre like fresh made bread. The odour emanating from this woodland growth was sufficient to drive thoughts of eating it from one's mind yet they are said to be delicious.

MURDERERS GO FREE.

Only One in Three Tracked Down Last Year in London.

Last year there were forty-two murders in London, and in only nineteen cases were arrests made. Five suspects were acquitted. This disquieting fact was brought to light in the report of the Commissioner of Police: There was an increase in the number of burglaries and house and warehouse breaking, and here again the thieves seemed to enjoy remarkable immunity, for in 2,677 cases only 684 persons were brought to justice, a percentage of about 25.

AUTO THIEVES AGAIN BUSY IN KINGSTON.

KINGSTON, Sept. 27.—Automobile thieves are again busy in the city, and with each succeeding theft, the robbers seem to be becoming bolder. A local citizen left his car outside a Barrie Street residence, while he was spending the evening in the house with friends. Being aware of the prevalent of auto thieves, the citizen disconnected the batteries and fixed the car in such a way that it could not be started.

However (and despite the fact that the people in the house were not more than thirty or forty feet from the car), the bold thieves made off with the car. No sound was heard during the evening, and when the citizen went to get his car, there was no car. The matter was reported to the police who investigated the case and found the car the following morning and returned it to its owner.

A GREAT FIVE DAY FEATURE SALE OF Autumn's

NEWEST FABRICS

Commencing To-morrow and Ending Saturday Next at 9.30 p.m.

WE went through our stock and found it possible to make price concessions on several lines. On some it was possible because they were the last of their kind, on others because they were purchased some time ago, and on many because we decided to make this Five Day Sale a real lively event long to be remembered by those who take advantage of the reductions. :: :: ::

Our $3 Elbow Proof Georgette Crepe at $1.95 Yard

Hundreds of people have learned of this splendid quality, elbow proof, georgette through our silk department. It is so firmly woven that it cannot be drawn by strenuous pulling with the fingers. The width is 40 inches and it is obtainable in the following colours:

$6 All-Wool Coating and Suiting at $3.95 Yard

There will be a time, and not far distant, when you will realize that you require a warm outer garment, and you will purchase one as economically as possible. If you buy this material now you will take advantage of a splendid price concession. You have choice of grey, sand, reindeer or peacock blue.

$3.75 All-Wool Navy Blue Serge at $2.75 Yard

We have never known a woman who could not find use for a piece of navy serge. We are sure you will find use for such a good value as this. It is fully 54 inches wide, and is a true shade of navy blue, and the quality is not to be despised. Hundreds of girls are wearing it for school dresses and it is giving satisfaction.

$3.95, 54-Inch, White Blanket Cloth $2.95 Yard

There is one piece only. That is unfortunate, for we believe there will be many more people wanting some of this than we can supply. It is slightly soiled from dust, but is scarcely noticeable on the right side, and we know it will wash perfectly.

$4.50 Suiting Cheviots for $2.95

Fashion favours any material with a rough surface, and Cheviot in particular. Besides being all-wool, this material is 58 inches wide, and can be had in dark brown, green, prunella and black.

Some $2.25 and $2.50 Broken Lines of Dress Goods at $1.49 Yard

They are botany serges and permo cloths and the colours are: Copen, black, brown, tan and green. These are the last of some old stock, and they are none the worse for that, and they are all wool.

Forty-Inch $3.75 All Silk Crepe de Chine $2.69 Yard

It is the kind of crepe de chine that will give excellent wear and will wash perfectly and make into modish garments. It is very desirable for dresses and blouses and can be had in shades of taupe, brown, navy, flesh, Copen, mauve, Nile, rose, sand, cream, prunella, black and white.

$2.25, 36-Inch, Crepe Bengaline and Silk Poplins, $1.45 Yard

These are our regular stock lines that sold last season at $2.25 yard. There are nine colours for you to select from: mink brown, taupe, Copenhagen, myrtle green, grass, sand, navy grey, reindeer and Burgundy.

$2.00 and $2.50, 36-Inch, Habutai Silks, $1.47 Yard

For wash blouses, dresses and lingerie, where is there another such silk as habutai? These qualities are splendid weights, in addition to being 36 inches wide. The colours are: pink, Copenhagen, orchid, navy, maize, brown, taupe, grey, green, turquoise, black and white.

SKILL AND PRIDE IN HIS TRADE WON ED. COURTNEY RECOGNITION

HAS WIDE REPUTATION

An interesting exhibit in the arts section of the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition was the reproduction of Shakespeare's home in Stratford-on-Avon, done in inlaid work by Mr. Edward Courtney, 533 Armour Road.

It is to be regretted that there is no class for inlaid work, and on this account no prize could be awarded for this wonderfully delicate, inlaid piece that shows the touch of the master artist in every tiny part of the two thousand that make up the inlaid picture. Many of the citizens will recall this inlaid reproduction that for years was in the museum here, and which Mr. Courtney intends placing there again.

The work was done nearly thirty years ago by Mr. Courtney from a photograph of the house, but Mr. Courtney himself remembers many of the details of this old fifteenth century home, for he lived for some years in Stratford-on-Avon, within a stone's throw of the house. It was because of his personal interest in the house as one of the familiar haunts of his boyhood, and because of its historical significance that Mr. Courtney made the reproduction. The piece is only 13 by 10 inches, but these figures convey no impression of the delicate task that confronted Mr. Courtney.

Although an expert cabinetmaker, and one who had done considerable inlaid work, the task seemed impossible. Many of the pieces that enter into the house are very little bigger than a pin head, and each piece had to be made of a certain colour of wood in order to secure the proper effect of shade and perspective on the whole representation. Some of the woods used were walnut, ash, oak, beech, sumach, red cedar, cherry, and maple. The walls are of brown daub, with heavy oak beams criss-crossed on the outside, the roof is of shingle, and on the front is a small portico, with slatted windows upstairs and a bay window at the far front of the house. So careful was Mr. Courtney in the selection of his wood, so exact in his work, that the finished piece is a perefct reproduction of the photograph used. There is not one marring line in the entire picture. So faithfully did Mr. Courtney wish to have it that he even inset a dark, infinitely small piece of wood into the wall to be exactly like the pictue that shows dark where some plaster was knocked off.

Won World's Fair Prize.

Mr. Courtney started three of the reproductions at once. Two he finished, but the other one he had to give up on acount of the great strain on his eyes, and it now hangs in his workshop with about half of the pieces inlaid. Nothing could induce Mr. Courtney to finish it now, although he has had attractive offers from people to finish it for them. Mr. Courtney worked on the two pieces in his spare time, and the time ocupied in making them he believes was some two or three years. The composite parts were all cut first and assembled afterwards on a strip of heavy glued paper on a board. He could then peel this off and use it on whatever form he wanted it.

The one picture he framed, and the other was inset on the top of a mahogany table, constructed by Mr. Courtney. Both the picture and the table were sent to the World's Fair in Chicago in 1893, and their maker received first award for inlaid work. A handsome diploma, which Mr. Courtney prizes highly, was given him for the table, and a bronze medal for the picture, with his name inscribed on it, states that the diploma was given him for the excellence of the construction, for high-class inlaying and cabinet work, and for historical value.

Mr. Courtney later presented the table to his brother in Birmingham for a wedding present. Mr. Courtney has refused offers to sell the other picture, and for many years it occupied an inconspicuous place in the museum, and was unnoticed by many people amid the many other exhibits, but it is hoped if it placed there again a more prominent position may be given it.

Mr. Courtney has made his work an art, and much of it he has done merely for art's sake. Most of his beautiful works have been promoted, not because of pecuniary consideration, but through a sheer love for his work.

His Apprenticeship.

Mr. Courtney is now 76 years of age. Born in Liverpool in 1844, his father moved to Stratford-on-Avon two years later. Here the lad was educated. His father was a cabinetmaker, and the boy was a chip of the old block. He was always wanting to be making something, and when he was 14, he was apprenticed into the shop where his father worked, paying approximately $100.00 for the privilege of learning. He received no wages, but at the end of the year, as he had been a faithful apprentice, his employer gave him five shillings. His apprenticeship took six years, but at the end of that time he could hold his own with any of the skilled cabinetmakers, and in 1864, when 20, he broke the home ties and went to London, where he spent seven years. Here he made a name for himself for the high-class work he did, but he believed there was a wider future for him in Canada, and in 1871 he came to this country, settling in Peterborough, where he has lived the entire half century since then.

He has had a hand in everything in the wood work and and carpentry line, and furniture of his construction may be found in many of the homes of this city. Mr. Courtney's name on a piece is its guarantee for workmanship and durability. No job has been too large or too small for this veteran cabinetmaker. Mr. Courtney represents a class that daily becomes fewer—those who do their work because of their love for it, and especially is this true of the wood working trades, where such high wages have prevailed.

Furniture now is not made as it once was, and to-day there is a demand for old furniture that has never been equalled. Knowing of Mr. Courtney's master workmanship, people from far and near come to Mr. Courtney's shop on Armour Road with furniture to be remodelled, until he has had to refuse reluctantly, not because of pecuniary reasons, but because his love for his work is as great as ever, and for this reason he hates to turn them away.

Although well past middle life, Mr. Courtney never loses a day in his shop he can help. Each day he may be seen working away in his shop, piled high with furniture, and when night comes he lays down his saw or plane, knowing that he has performed his daily task well.

Examples of his cabinet work may be found in many offices, banks and homes in this city, and long after he has passed away these will remain as memorials to a master craftsman.

A GREAT GAME DRIVE NOW IN ZULULAND.

(Canadian Press).

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa, Sept. 25.—A great game drive is in progress in Zululand, with the object of stopping the ravages of the tsetse fly, which is fatal to equines and bovines.

Whole tribes of Zulus, attracted by the prospect of unlimited meat, are taking part in the drive. They are mostly armed with assagais, the native spears.

It is thought, however, that the size of the drive is defeating its own object. The wild creatures have become panic stricken and the ludicrous situation now exists of the hunters having become the hunted.

The great cordon of white men and Zulus has been broken in several places by charging herds of frantic zebra and other animals, and the hunters have been compelled to split up into small parties for their own safety.

BRITISH ADMINISTRATION EXTENDED TO MUCH TRANS-JORDAN TERRITORY

JERUSALEM, Aug. 27.— British administration has been extended to a considerable part of trans-Jordan territory, of which Es Salt, a town of about 12,000 inhabitants, situated some 20 miles east of the Dead Sea, is the chief centre.

Sir Herbert Samuel, British High Commissioner for Palestine, has just returned from a journey to the new territory, where 600 representative Beduin sheiks and notables received with enthusiasm the High Commissioner's assurance that "Great Britain did not propose to bring their country within the present system of administration of Palestine, but would establish a separate administration that would assist the people to govern themselves."

Sir Herbert motored through Jericho to Allenby bridge on the Jordan where he was met by Majid Pasha, ex-general of the Shereefian army, and by the son of Sheik Sultan, the most influential chieftain of the territory. The Turkish military road through the Shaib valley proved almost impassable even for cavalry, and riding along the precipices was extremely dangerous at times owing to landslides, but the party, headed by 200 Beduin horsemen, reached Es Salt without mishap.

A Cordial Welcome.

The Arabs extended a cordial welcome to the British Commissioner, whom they entertained lavishly in oriental style.

In an address, Sir Herbert explained to the chiefs that since the French had fully established their influence in Damascus, it would be necessary to separate the Arab's district from the Damascus administration. Great Britain, he said, would help them to organize defense against attack from outside. Sir Herbert developed a programme of road improvement, the building of schools and provision of medical aid.

Freedom of Trade.

There would be, he promised, complete freedom of trade with Palestine, and the people across the Jordan would be supplied with petroleum, rice, sugar and other commodities on the same footing as the peoples of Palestine. Moreover, facilities would be given them for the marketing of the produce they might wish to sell. A bank would be established to assist commerce, and postal communications would be opened.

Announcement was made by the High Commissioner that as many as possible of the future administrators of the new territory would be drawn from the people of that district under the direction of a small number of British officers. He also gave assurance that it was not contemplated to establish any system of compulsory military service, nor to introduce disarmament.

Amnesty Granted.

An amnesty was readily granted, at a prominent chief's request, to two fugitive Arabs who had been charged with instigating the Easter riots in Jerusalem. Many Sheiks affixed their seals to the official document expressing a desire for British rule.

BOY STRUCK BY A MOTOR TRUCK

CLAYTON GUERIN HAD A NARROW ESCAPE ON SATURDAY.

Only because the car was travelling at a moderate speed was a fatal accident averted at the corner of Dublin and George streets at 11.30 o'clock Saturday morning when the Reo truck of Adamson and Dobin, driven by Wilfred Buller, of 381 Aylmer street, struck Clayton Guerin, the five year old son of Mrs. Adelard Guerin, 81 London street, knocking him down, and from which he received serious injuries, but which, the doctors attending him state, will not be fatal.

Saturday afternoon he was resting easily in St. Joseph's Hospital. He received a severe scalp wound on the back of the head and his forehead was cut. Parts of his body were bruised, but Dr. H. M. Yelland, who is attending him, stated that the lad had no internal injuries as was at first feared.

The boy is a son of the late Adelard Guerin who was killed at the street car barns last winter. His mother had sent him to Dawson's store and a neighbor sent his brother Earl, aged ten to get something for her. When the two boys were coming across the road, Clayton was ahead, Earl saw the truck coming and shouted to his brother, who stopped. The driver states that he saw the boys running out into the road and he put on his brakes and stopped. When he started to go ahead again Clayton ran out in front of him and before he could do anything the truck struck him. The driver carried the injured lad into Dr. Yelland's office at once, where first aid was rendered by Dr. Yelland and Dr. D. Carmichaed and he was later removed to St. Joseph's Hospital.

Several witnesses of the accident attach no blame to the driver, and Mrs. Guerin told the Examiner that she believed that the accident happened through no carelessness on the part of Wilfred Buller. The examination of the scene of the accident afterwards by P. C. Boyd and Detective Newhall revealing a burn on the pavement where the wheels had skidded after the brakes were put on, gave grounds to the conviction of the witnesses that Buller did everything he could to avert striking the lad.

Condition Improving.

The condition of Clayton Guerin, the five year old son of Mrs. Adelard Guerin, 81 London street, who was injured Saturday morning when struck by Adamson and Dobbin's truck, was much improved this morning, the Examiner was advised at St. Joseph's Hospital. The scalp wound and the cut on the forehad were closed with stitches on Saturday and to-day he was resting more easily than yesterday.

IN MEMORIAM

WILKINSON.—In loving memory of Pte. A. F. Wilkinson, killed in action, 27th September, 1918.
He died in a foreign land,
No sister near to take his hand,
Or him a mother love attend;
No brother nigh to say good-bye—
Far from his native home he lies.

Grieve not, dear mother, but be content,
For I to you was only lent;
For love I lived, for my country I died;
You ask my life, but 'twas denied.

THE WEATHER

It has remained for the early days of autumn to bring to us the highest temperatures of the season of 1920. Saturday was warm, moist and oppressive, and the thermometer rose to 89 degrees in the shade. This was one degree higher than had been reached during the summer. This figure was again surpassed on Sunday. Ninety in the shade was the highest during the afternoon, the highest for the year, and in all probability the highest figure that will be reached this year.—W. P.

Introducing the New Fall Styles

Throughout this week we will present for the Approval of Ladies a very Select Display of the accepted Models in Luxurious FURS for the coming season.

We will also take pleasure in presenting the Newest Autumn Novelties in Misses' and Children's Dresses, Coats, Sweaters and Headwear. Particular attention is called to our New line of MISSES' DRESSES, designed especially for ages 15 to 20 years—smartly and cleverly conceived Frocks, charmingly made.

A special presentation will also be made of early Autumn styles in Ladies' Ready-To-Wear Hats of Exclusive Design—a decidedly new vogue that will be found intensely interesting. Attractive Prices also await approval of visitors.

SAYS NEW WOMEN HAVE FOLLOWED IDEALS OF MEN

NOTED AUTHOR FINDS SELF-CULTURE AND GOOD BREEDING IGNORED.

By ELLEN KEY,
Famous Author and Educator.

STOCKHOLM, Sept. 27.—The old idealists who fought for women's emancipation are disappointed—modern woman has not lived up to the promises which the older generation thought she gave.

Woman to-day has acquired man's viewpoint. She places knowledge, work, social activity above development of character and culture. In her intense desire not to lag behind, she has lost the faculty of introspection.

But without introspection, no progress is possible. Society will fall to pieces if both sexes give themselves up to outside interests. Previously, women held reserves of devotion and self-control. To-day they let themselves go as much as men.

Need Culture of Heart.

The world needs culture of the heart more than ever before. It needs character, real personality. It also needs the forms of social politeness, of good breeding, which are not merely an empty shell but practical educational forces which society cannot ignore for any length of time without losing stamina and strength.

Women of to-day are so busy with outside affairs that they have no time to develop their own personality, or acquire that culture which makes a person milder and wiser, able to judge men and things by their real worth, instead of by appearances.

Women do not know how to live. They are not yet able to decern the true proportion between work and play. They overwork, give themselves up too exclusively to one interest, throw themselves without regard to their own physical strength and to conditions in general into public activities. When they allow the home to be spoiled by quarrels or bickering, or don't realize the secret of work and play, they ignore the art of living.

Life in common is a delicate blossome, which must be cultivated as carefully as the blossoms in the garden if it is to bear the right kind of fruit. It is up to the women to do so. They must not forget that the small amenities of life are just as essential as business enterprises and political campaigns.

New Morality Vapid.

Women have neglected the influence they might have had on the relationship between the sexes. New morality has not brought about a spiritualization of marriage. For the time being, at least, it has merely created more confusion, caused hasty divorces, free unions and successive trial relationships. But out of this confusion the women of to-morrow may be able to evolve a higher morality, applicable to both men and women.

But if women have lost the precious qualities of abnegation and introspection, their influence on social standards has been an uplifting one. The best type of women is inspired by what one might call "social motherhood." Herein lies the hope for the future. The ideal of "social motherhood" will spread, and, realizing the value of the old-fashioned qualities of culture and self-control, women will eventually play the part in human society they are fitted for.

MANY PROBLEMS IN HELIGOLAND

Wrecking of Forts Will Take at Least Three Years, Says Expert.

LONDON, Sept. 27.—Many interesting details of the demolition of the fortresses on Heligoland are furnished by a special correspondent of the Daily Telegraph who made a trip to the island. Heligoland had been transformed by the Germans into something very like a stationary ship of war.

From one end to the other the island, which is little more than a mile long and only about one-fifth of a square mile in area, was tunnelled and honeycombed with subterranean chambers. In these were accommodations for every one and everything needed to fight the fortress—apartments for officers and men, hospitals, engine rooms and storehouses. If the island had been in a serious action not a single man need have shown himself in the light of day.

Three years is the German estimate of the time required to dismantle the fortress completely, and apparently the Entente has accepted the estimate as reasonable. The shortage of special apparatus and the need of caution in the use of high explosives are the retarding factors in the demolition.

Although something like 10,000 tons of steel work must be picked to pieces, this task is easy when compared to the tremendous work of breaking up the concrete. Of this substance, which is reinforced with iron rods as big as a man's finger, the tunnels and pits on the island contain 146,000 cubic yards, while a further 400,000 cubic yards were used in the construction of the war harbour, quays and other work on the beach level.

In the dissection of the guns and armor plates a new oxyhydrogen process is being employed. It is a German invention and was first put into practice only a few months ago. The flame by which the cutting is done is so hot that it bites its way through to the centre of the breach of a twelve-inch gun in about a minute.

Chiclet Goodness in Two Flavors

Nearly everybody has a special affection for dainty, candy-coated Chiclets.

But they do differ on the flavors.

But the luscious new Tutti Frutti Chiclets have had a wonderful vogue. It's just as if the essence of all the world's fruit gardens had been sealed in a packet for you.

You can take your choice. The original goodness which only Adams can put in candy-coated gum is the same. Just be sure that the name "Adams Chiclets" is on the packet.

WATCH YOUR GUMS—BLEEDING A SIGN OF TROUBLE

Medical science knows how serious is the sign of bleeding gums. For it knows that tender and bleeding gums are the fore-runners of Pyorrhea, that dread disease which afflicts four out of five people over forty.

If the disease is unchecked, the gum-line recedes, the teeth decay, loosen and fall out, or must be extracted to rid the system of the Pyorrhea poisons generated at their base—poisons which seep into the system and wreck the health. They cause rheumatism, nervous disorders, anaemia, and many other ills.

To avoid Pyorrhea, visit your dentist often for tooth and gum inspection, and use Forhan's For the Gums. Forhan's For the Gums will prevent Pyorrhea or check its progress, if used in time and used consistently. Ordinary dentifrices cannot do this. Forhan's keeps the gums firm and healthy—the teeth white and clean. Start using it today. If gum-shrinkage has already set in, use Forhan's according to directions and consult your dentist immediately for special treatment.

BRIGHT SPOTS FROM "ON THE HIRING LINE."

"On the Hiring Line," Geo. C. Tyler's big New York comedy success of last season, which May Anderson is presenting here at the Grand on Friday next, has so many funny scenes and lines that it would take a "Movie" to show them all, but above are shown some of the situations that the servant problem "Creates".

(1) The "Help" (really detectives) overhears a conversation that means nothing—until repeated—then—well, it nearly caused a divorce. (2) Poor old dad has to do the work because they can't get help. His daughter seems to enjoy his plight. (3) They put "dear ol' Ronnie" to work outside and he gets a "stroke." But who would mind that with such beautiful girls to sympathize with you? (4) "Sh" says the shaffeur "I'm the Crown Prince." "Hot Ho!" says the dicterative (to himself) "I'll see to you." How could the poor "Detect" know the kid was joking? He's been hired to detect and detect he must—and does.

SOME JOB TO GET ONE SCENE IN FOX FILM

The William Farnum Company went to great lengths to get two shots for "The Joyous Troublemakers," the William Fox picture which opens at the Allen Theatre to-day. The technical men had been canvassing the country about Palm Springs, Cal., and found on the top of a mountain a view of the three falls that empty into Hell's Goblet. It was the only spot from which they were able to see the three falls at once.

It was seven miles up and a very difficult climb; but that means nothing in the life of a moving picture actor. The whole company went—with the various necessary equipments, which were far from being easy burdens in negotiating stretches that, even with nothing at all to carry, required careful climbing in order to keep from falling over a precipice.

After three hours the mountain top was reached—and Mr. Farnum declared it was well worth the trip. Those who see the picture, it is declared, will endorse the star's enthusiasm over the outcome.

TANKS TO FIGHT SNOW.

PARIS, Sept. 27.—The French tanks which so surprised the Germans on more than one memorable occasion, are to be used as snow sweepers.

The tanks were tried out recently in the French Alps, where it was found even the most difficult roads were easily negotiated by the climbing monsters.

In the past some mountain highways have always been closed [illegible] the winter season because the expense of clearing a path sufficiently wide for ordinary traffic was prohibitive. By attaching front and side spurs, however, several miles of roadways ten feet wide can be cleared in a few hours, the tanks plunging into the deepest drifts and cutting their way through with ease.

The French Government is considering the possibility of using them throughout the winter resort areas, as special attractions for mountain "joy rides," as well as snow sweeping, although it is probable that a few will be assigned to Paris to clear streets if the perennially threatened "hard winter" really arrives.

PETES WIN FROM OLD RIVALS IN HARD BATTLE ON SATURDAY

ROSE WORSTS GOYER IN PITCHING DUEL AND THE HOME CREW EARN THE DECISION BY ONE RUN TO NOTHING IN ONE OF THE BEST GAMES OF THE YEAR.

M'CARNEY'S THROW FEATURED

In one of the snappiest games of the season, the Petes vanquished their old rivals, the Belleville team, on Saturday afternoon at Riverside Park by 1 run to 0. It was a pitchers' battle between Lornie Rose for the home brigade and Freddy Goyer, the crack southpaw of last year's Ontario champions, and for the second time this season Rose earned the decision. He had the edge on Saturday, allowing Belleville only five hits and walking one man, while twelve of the enemy were retired by the strike-out route.

Rose had fine speed and control, with a curve that broke nicely, and delivered one of his best games of the year. Goyer, too, was at his best. The elongated left-hander has rarely had such good control against the Petes as he showed on Saturday, and he kept the seven hits garnered by the home crew scattered. His twirling was good enough to win ninety-nine games out of a hundred, but he had no chance on Saturday when his team could not make any runs for him.

The Petes, who had been in a slump for the past few weeks, returned to form with a vengeance, and were a real ball club in all departments, their showing being a most welcome one, in view of the fact that on Saturday they play the first game in the final for the Ontario title. Their fielding was good, and they played intelligent baseball all the way.

The only run of the game was started by Goyer himself when he plugged Harrison on the leg. Manager Solomon took quick advantage of the slip by calling upon Ray Rose for a sacrifice, placing Harrison on second. The Petes' pilot then ordered a hit and run play, and it came through perfectly. As Harrison tore for third, Walter Jackson shot a single down the right field foul line, and Harrison scored the only counter of the day.

The most exciting feature of the game, and one of the finest pieces of defensive work the Petes have pulled off this season prevented Belleville from sewing up the game in the seventh. Mills had led off for Belleville in that innings with a double, the only extra base hit of the afternoon. Casey fanned, but Symons, usually dangerous in the pinches, shot a single into centre, which looked easily good enough to score Mills. McCarney, however, fielded the ball nicely, and his quick and accurate throw to the plate was handled perfectly by Swanston, who blocked the Belleville catcher off the rubber and nailed Mills. On the throw to the plate Symons broke for second, but Swanston's fine throw to Ray Rose got him sliding into the bag, completing one of the most timely and most snappily executed double killings of the year.

First Innings.

Peterborough—Cherrett lined to Rose. Murray struck out. Swanston beat out a tap to short. Harrison's long fly to right was captured by Morden. One hit.

Second Innings.

Peterborough—Ray Rose singled to right. Jackson bunted for a sacrifice and Kelleher threw to second too late to get Rose. McCarney fanned. Lowe lined to Kelleher and Jackson was doubled off first. One hit.

Third Innings.

Belleville—Murray threw out Kelleher. Harrison making a nice catch of a low, wide toss. Morden died on a roller in front of the plate. L. Rose to Harrison, another fine grab by the first baseman. Fred Goyer fanned.

Peterborough—L. Rose grounded to Fred Goyer. Cherrett bunted and was safe, when Frank Goyer dropped Mills' throw. Murray sacrificed Mills to Frank Goyer, Cherrett sprinting around to third on the play. Swanston tapped to Fred Goyer. One error.

Fourth Innings.

Belleville—Ross died. Murray to Harrison. Weir hoisted one to Ray Rose. Frank Goyer fanned.

Peterborough—Harrison was hit. R. Rose sacrificed, Mills to Frank Goyer. On a hit and run play, Jackson singled to right, scoring Harrison. McCarney bunted for a sacrifice and was safe when Frank Goyer lost the toss from Mills. Jackson was out stealing third. Lowe rolled to Fred Goyer. One run, one hit, one error.

Fifth Innings.

Belleville—Mills was safe on Jackson's miss of his fly to left. Casey struck out. Cherrett missed Symons' roller. Kelleher fanned. Morden singled to left, the first hit off Rose. With the bases full, Fred Goyer rolled to R. Rose. One hit, two errors.

Sixth Innings.

Peterborough — Swanston's long drive to right was grabbed by Morden, Harrison singled to centre. Ray Rose fanned. On a hit and run play, Jackson's drive to right hit Harrison as he tore for second, retiring the side. Two hits.

Seventh Innings.

Belleville—Mills doubled to deep left centre. Casey struck out. Symons singled to centre, and McCarney's fine throw nailed Mills at the plate. Symons tried to go to second on the play, and was out, Swanston to Ray Rose. Two hits.

Peterborough — McCarney fanned. Rose batting for Lowe popped to Weir. L. Rose walked, Cherrett singled past Fred Goyer, Murray singled through third, filling the bases. Swanston fouled to Frank Goyer. Two hits.

Eighth Innings.

Peterborough—Harrison was out on a tap to Weir. Symons made a nice catch of Ray Rose's drive to left. Jackson fanned.

Ninth Innings.

Belelville—Frank Goyer rolled to Harrison, a fine stop by the first baseman. Mills and Casey fanned.

MACSWENEY VERY WEAK

(United Press.)

LONDON, Sept. 27—MacSweney is very weak. The police claim to have frustrated a plan for a strong demonstration on his behalf.

VETS STARTED WITH SEVEN MEN AGAINST DE LAVAL, BUT WON 5-0

CROWE WAS BETWEEN THE UPRIGHTS UNTIL WILL JONES APPEARED A HALF-AN-HOUR AFTERWARDS—SHARMAN GOT THREE GOALS AND PEEL AND BORROWS OTHER TWO.

A fair turn-out of spectators turned out to witness the G.W.V.A. and De Laval play a game under league auspices at Nicholls Oval on Saturday afternoon. The Veterans relied upon the same team that did duty on previous Saturday. After winning against the Canadian Woollens the De Laval placed the same line-up with Long playing in William McKinley's inside position. Prompt to time Referee Alex McKinley lined up the teams as follows:

De Laval—J. Smith, goal; H. Rutter and W. Godfrey, backs; H. W. Hartshorn, Ed. Humpage and R. Lindsay, half-backs; J. Conway, J. Long, J. L. Rhamm, E. Abrahams and Jack Lindsay.

G.W.V.A. — W. Jones, goal; N. Crowe and A. Bishop, backs; H. Burrows, P. D. Ryan and J. Peel, half-backs; S. Curtiss, T. Monks, H. Gamble, A. Edwards and J. Sharman, forwards.

The Game.

There was nothing to gain in winning the toss and with only seven men on the field, the Vets' forwards made a raid on the goal, but the De Laval retaliated on the left wing, Play centred in mid-field until a break-away on the left wing left Sharman an open goal through a misunderstanding between the De Laval full backs. Even and interesting changes took place. After half an hour's play Wilfrid Jones appeared on the field to occupy between the posts that had been well filled by Crowe. As soon as the Vets' full team got working together Monks and Curtiss played havoc with the defence and from a cross by the outside right, Rutter misjudged the ball to give Sharman a gift of a goal. The De Laval time and again tried to break through the stubborn defence of Crowe and Bishop that was unproductive. Half time, G.W.V.A. 2, De Laval 0.

Half Time.

On resuming, the De Laval made straight for G.W.V.A. goal for Crowe to punt up the field to Gamble, who was trying hard to score on his own and many a time the inside men would give him great opportunities, but Harry was 'off colour." Ultimately a nice pass out to Curtiss brought Vets a corner through Godfrey putting past touch. From a well placed corner kick by Curtiss to Sharman, the Vets player added the fourth goal. Play ran from end to end and was intermingled with a few interesting exchanges. The Vets added two more before the finish and won easily by 5 goals to nothing.

Goal scorers—Sharman 3, Peel and Burrows.

COMRADES FACE THE SUN—LEACH UNFORTUNATE—HALF TIME C.G.E. 3, COMRADES 0—JOLLIFFE MISSED BY INCHES—TURNER GOT THE FOURTH GOAL—FULL TIME C.G.E. 4, COMRADES 0.

Under League auspices the C. G. E. team were the guests of the new team to the Association—the Comrades—at the Exhibition Grounds on Saturday afternoon. The C. G. E. team played as advertised with the exception of Ted Bartley who reported himself sick and calling upon Ted Hotston. As for the Comrades they were minus their dashing centre forward, Ben Martin, who turned up late thereby compelling T. Bolam to take the field. Prompt to schedule time Referee T. Hensby called the two captains together for the genial Turner to win the toss.

The Teams

C. G. E.—C. Griffine, goal; J. Davis and J. W. McDonald backs, A. Parkins, H. Turner and H. Bestard half-backs; A. Manders, A. Gash, J. Hensby, Williamson, and Ted Hotston.

Comrades—J. Young, goal; E. Grieves and R. Leach backs; T Bolam, H. Cowie and F. T. Mallinson, half-backs; John Shaw, M. Dunkley, R. J. Jolliffe, A. Nicholls and W. Warman forwards.

Dunkley Lost the Toss

C. G. E. winning the toss the Comrades had to face the strong sun with Jolliffe setting the ball in motion to make a raid on the C. G. E. goal for McDonald to clear up the left wing to Hotston who shot across the goal for Leach to retaliate with a great point to mid-field. Cowie caught on to place the ball forward to Jolliffe for McDonald to check nicely and give Ted Hotston an opportunity to test Young with a left foot drive. Young threw the ball out to Leach who slipped the ball forward to Cowie to go over to the right wing with J. Shaw and Dunkley working close in upon Griffine's charge, for the Comrades inside right to have a good try. Turner transferred the play to the other end with Williamson getting an open goal in front of him, but Leach stopped him as he was steadying himself for a shot.

Leach's Unfortunate Mistake

A solo run down the right wing by the Comrades ended with Griffine clearing nicely. Davis pointed down the field to Gash who slipped the ball forward to Manders. The outside right got the advantage of Leach and wasting no time he struck the crossbar with a rocket shot. The ball came out for Parkins to give a foul kick that relieved the pressure but the C. G. E. forwards came back in a body to bewilder the Comrade's defence. Leach stopped the ball in front of goal so as to get a kick but Hensby kicked the ball through with Young having no chance to clear. From the centre the Comrades made a bee line for C. G. E. goal with Dunkley giving Griffine a hard drive to stop. Play ran from end to end with neither team demonstrating any thing startling until Grieves mis-kicked to let Hensby and Williamson right through for Young to save in masterly fashion. Leach time and again would go across to help his raid on the Comrades goal Williamson put through after Leach and Young had collided in trying to clear from the C. G. E. player. In spite of the fact they were two goals down the Comrades made raid after raid upon the C. G. E. goal but lacked the necessary finish. With only 3 minutes to go from half time Leach scored through his own goal from a spinning ball. Play was in mid-field as halftime arrived C. G. E. 3, Comrades 0.

Half Time

After a few minutes interval the teams got started again with the Comrades making a desperate raid on C. G.E. goal for Davis to miskick and letting Jolliffe through to test Griffine. From the goal-kick Manders travelled down the wing at lightning speed and running with the ball he struck the upright with a fast shot that rebounded to Gash who finished weak. At the other end McDonald conceded a corner that became fruitless through Shaw putting past.

Jolliffe Missed by Inches

A mis-kick by the C. G. E backs left Jolliffe with the ball in front of goal and with nobody upon him missed the upright by inches. A foul against Davis looked dangerous for C.G.E. and Cowie taking the kick had an excellent try for goal. Each goal-keeper was visited in rotation with Gash being called up for offsides Leach punted up to Dunkley who compelled McDonald to give a corner that went into play.

Hotston Lifted Over the Top.

Nice combination between Williamson and Hotston transferred the play to the other end for Ted Hotston to lifted the ball over the cross-bar with the goal-keeper at the other end of goal. It was well-worth seeing Leach and Manders tackle on the wing with either one getting advantage in turn. Turner cleared to midfield for Cowie to scoring the ball out to Shaw who lifted it across the goal. McDonald cleared to Manders.

Turner Got the Fourth Goal

At this point of the game Williamson and McDonald changed places. The C. G. E. outside right travelled down the wing inot the corner to get a corner kick and placing a beautiful centre to Henry Turner, the centre-half headed through the fourth goal. Nothing of interest happened hereafter until a few minutes before full time John Shaw went right into goal to miss a certainty. The C. G. E. pressing as Referee Hensby blew the final whistle Goal scorers—J Hensby Williamson and Turner. Leach kicked through his own goal.

"Beg pardon, sir," commenced he of the rags and bones.

"Vell, mine friendt, vat is it?"

"Could you spare me sixpence, sir? I am starving.

'I haf no sixpence!" snapped Hoggenheimer.

"Then perhaps fourpence, sir, for a bed?"

"Ach, now, mine friendt, you speaks pizness! Vere is der bed?"

PRICE OF SUGAR DROPPED DOWN

THE PRICE IS NOW 19 1-2 CENTS A POUND—FLOUR DOWN.

(Canadian Press.)

MONTREAL, Sept. 27.—Canadian sugar refineries of this city announced this morning that the price of sugar is to be reduced one and a half cents, the reduction to take place from today. This brings the price down to nineteen and a half cents a pound. The price of flour this morning went down fifty cents a barrel, being for sale to public at $13.50 and to bakers at $13.00.

TREASURE-SEEKERS ON A FALSE SCENT

GALVESTON, Texas.—Searchers after buried silver on the mainland opposite Pete Island, 18 miles southeast of Corpus Christi, Tex., probably are doomed to disappointment, in the opinion of Dr. J. O. Dyer, a local writer on historical and scientific subjects. The rush of treasure seekers began with the discovery recently of 25 skeletons, popularly believed by many to be those of members of the crew of a Spanish treasure ship which foundered off the Texas coast early in the eighteenth century. No record is available of any such wreck.

The "life" of a skeleton buried in the sands of the beaches of the coastal country, Dr. Dyer points out, is not over 40 years. He says also that treasure ships from Mexico to Spain were discontinued after 1820, partly because of the activities of Jean Laffite's fleet of buccaneers. Even before that time the Spaniards tried to avoid excessive losses from storms, and Laffite's fleet of buccaneering vessels and 50 Spaniards transported less than 20 tons of silver bullion to the vessel. Then the current rate in Mexico was approximately $10 to a troy pound. The most valuable of all Laffite's prizes, the Sevilla, carried only $150,000 in specie.

Laffite's captured treasure, according to the records extant, was buried in three caches. Two of these were located on Galveston Island and the third on a small island to the east, which was completely washed away during a storm in 1820. There have been many reports of the discovery on this coast of caches of coin or chests from trading ships containing from $3,000 to $15,000.

Fire Destroys Barn of William Telford

BUILDING WAS FIRST STRUCK BY LIGHTNING—TWO CALVES LOST IN FIRE, AND SEASON'S CROP.

Yesterday afternoon's storm, although not of a severe electrical nature, resulted in one barn being struck by lightning and completely destroyed by fire, in Smith Township.

The barn was the property of William Telford, on the west Communication Road, about 4 miles from the city.

A pile of smoking charred timbers, burnt grain and a few pieces of blackened machinery, and the cracked concrete foundation of the barn, were all that remained to-day of what was at this time yesterday one of the finest barns in Smith, and which contained the entire crop of Mr. Telford.

The barn had only been up 8 years. Besides all of the season's crop, Mr. Telford lost two calves which it was impossible to save. Most of the live stock were in the fields and a bull and some pigs that were in the barn were taken out safely.

Lightning struck the barn along the ridgepole, setting fire to both ends of the barn inside at once. Neighbors who were filling a silo on the next farm seeing the rush of flames, hurried over and by their tireless efforts succeeded in saving the sheds and the house.

Mr. Telford's loss is partly covered by insurance. It was stated today that he will re-build.

TRADE SLUMP FORECAST BY BRITISH AUTHORITY

MODERN FINANCE MERELY POSTPONING CRITICAL MOMENT, SAYS J. H. CLAPMAN.

In his presidential address to the Section of Economic Science and Statistics of the British Association at Cardiff, Mr. J. H. Clapham, the president of the section, drew comparisons between the economic condition of Europe after the great wars of a century ago and its condition to-day, and made many valuable deductions as to the probable trend of economic events in the immediate future.

Mr Clapham said that the wars of a century ago left the British debt at £848,000,000, the Great War had left us with a liability of from eight to nine times that amount. Our debt carrying capacity was not less than six or seven times what it was, and it might well be more. After Waterloo France was called upon to pay a war indemnity of only £28,000,000, to be divided among all the victors. England found herself, the victor, in the curious position of being far more heavily burdened with debt than France, who had lost

France's rapid recovery a century ago was largely due to the fact that she was then a rural countr, a land of peasants and small farmers, like Serbia and Russia to-day. That condition made the economies of demoiblization easy.

The old Europe, if it had its defects had also the elasticity of a rather primitive economic organism. Given a couple of good harvests, a land of peasants soon recovered from war. Serbia fqormed an example of this today. So it was with France, and to a less extent Germany, in 1816-18 If the experience of Europe after Waterloo was on the whole of good augury for agricultural States, for the industrialized modern world, that experience was less encouraging. Great Britain alone was partially industrialized in 1815-20, and Great Britain, though victorious, suffered acutely.

The Outlook for Trade

It was as yet too early to work out a parallel between this post-war commercial and industrial slump and the slump that followed the Great War of 1914-17, for they had not yet had it, But it was coming. More certainy, he was inclined to believe, in the United States than in England; but pretty certainly in the United States because her posiion bore most resemblance to that of England in 1816-17. The United States had from a debtor country become a creditor country. If she remained a creditor nation she must in time arrange to take more goods from outside. Her political processes, however, were slow; and it seemed unlikely that she would have adjusted her policy before the post-war slump was upon her. The United Kingdom, which, on the whole, still took freely what its customers had to offer it, was in a better position, provided its customers could go on offering.

Modern finance was postponing the critical moment for the international trade in manufacturers. Every kind of financial device had been called in so that trade might be resumed before the war damaged nations were in a position to pay for what they need by exporting the produce of their own labour. What might not have happened in 1919 if modern methods for postponing payment had not been applied internationally?

The central problem was — when would the inability of the war-damaged nations to pay for all that they wanted in goods and materials, in order to restart full economic activity, make itself felt by the nations who were supplying them—primarily that was the United States and ourselves We should do well if we had nothing worse than a gradual decline, which would be eased, in our case, by our extensive connections with undamaged countries and by our willingness to buy most things which any nation had to offer. The situation would be still further eased if countries, such as Germany and Russia, were to develop in turn what might be termed a reconstruction demand, to take the place of the satisfied reconstruction demands of our Allies.

LAKEFIELD INDUSTRIAL BY-LAW CARRIED BY AN OVERWHELMING MAJORITY

COMPANY IS NOW IN POSITION TO TAKE ON ONE HUNDRED MEN —WILL HELP LAKEFIELD.

LAKEFIELD, Sept. 28.—Yesterday was an important day in Lakefield's history when the cement by law passed with an overwhelming majority. It is a great opportunity for the village and it is a credit to the town spirit of the citizens that the bylaw passed as it did

It will mean that Lakefield will have the second largest cement plant in Canada. Four public spirited citizens turned out with their motor cars and did yeoman service in gathering in voters, these men were Messrs, Theodore Crawford, Thompson Braden, G. G. Connell and David Webster.

Local Comment

Mr J. A. Porter, president of the Board of Trade when interviewed on the result of the bylaw was enthusiastic on the subject.

He said—"It's the best move Lakefield ever made and means prosperity for the next ten years to come. It's the brightest day in the history of the village."

Reeve Strickland was in Peterboro so it was impossible to secure a statement from him.

Well Satisifed

Mr. E. W. Bailey, manager of the Canada Cement Company's local plant made the following statement: "The result of the vote on the by-law was very gratifying indeed; the vote plainly shows that the citizens of Lakefield are practically unanimous with the proposition the Canada Cement company offered the village, on which they agred to re-open their works.

I feel sure that Lakefield will make great progress during the next few years.

We are now ready to take on one hundred more men as we are very anxious to complete many changes to the works as early as possible, that we may be able to assist in relieving the cement shortage

Jobs Tied Up.

Many big construction jobs are completely held up for cement which was due to the coal shortage this year. We hope by the time the works are ready to operate the coal supply will be back to normal and the Lakefield mill will do its share in relieving the cement shortage next year The result of the analysis on the rock deposit so far have proved satisfactory and should the product prove as good I have every reason to believe the company will increase their capacity beyond their present plans.

On behaf of the Canada Cement Co. I wish to thank the many citizens who worked so hard to get the voters out and roll up the big majority.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET

(United Press.)

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—The stock market opened irregular to-day. U. S. Steel was off 3-8 at 86 1-4. Other opening prices were:

Studebaker 55 1-4 up 1-8. Central Leather 44 3-4 off 1-4. Crucible Steel 127 up 3-4. Anaconda 51 1-2 off 1-8. U.S. Rubber 75 1-8 up 3-8. Republic Iron and Steel 75 3-8 off 1-8. Baldwin Locomotive 107 off 3-8. American Locomotive 91 3-4 unchanged. Pierce-Arrow 34 unchanged. Bethlehem B. 70 1-8 off 1-8. Tobacco Products 67 5-8 off 1-8.

The rail list became the feature of buying and selling in the middle of the session, with lower priced issues showing the way. Industrials continued their rally well into the second hour, when they were raided by bears, who brought Baldwin and Mexican Pet. back to ground open levels.

EXCHANGE MARKET.

(United Press.)

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—Foreign exchange quotations at the opening were: Sterling $3.49 3-4; Francs $.0668; Lire $.0420; Marks $.0164; and Canadian dollars $.9025.

MOTOR STOCKS FIRM.

(United Press.)

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—The market was irregular this afternoon, with some pressure on industrial stocks. A considerable short interest by covering gave motor stocks a firm tone, despite the further price reduction announcements.

STOCK MARKET BULLETIN

Campbell, Stratton and Co., Members Toronto Stock Exchange.

On the New York Exchange Stock market opinions were essentially changed after the close Saturday and although important interests could not be quoted on being bullish on general market, in mass they were bullish on several groups of stocks, and on many special issues.

BOSTON—It is understood important conference of executives of auto companies on prices will be held in Detroit to-day. General Motors, Dodge and all the big companies and important independents will be represented.

Special problem to be threshed out is whether the prices should be reduced now or after the turn of the new year. Despite all statements the Ford reductions have greatly unsettled conditions and a full degree of cooperation of the industry is desired.

BUFFALO—Stewart Motor Corporation of Buffalo has announced a reduction in price of Stewart Motor Trucks averaging 13% reduction being effective to-day.

New low prices for the day were made during the third hour. Pan. Am acted better than Mexican and had an 1-8 market all the way down.

Studebaker was heavily sold following announcement that a conference of auto manufacturers had been called a tDetroit to discuss prices.The bears who were having things decidedly their own way spread all sorts of preposterous rumours about Boston banking situation. Leading banking interests however insisted that only some small institutions were involved and that there was no possibility of any serious results.

Now that a readjustment of commodity prices is under way labor problem is becoming clearer, with certain producers cutting prices from 20 to 35c. Labor will not be inclined to ask for higher wages; danger of important strikes has been passed.

Foreigners are arriving at New York at a record breaking rate.These foreigners will seek enmployment in mines, mills and factories and relieve any labor shortage. Wages will eventually have to come down in sympathy with the cost of living. An increase in efficiency can now be looked for.

The closing—Pressure on the industrial section of the market continued without abatement this afternoon and numerous new low figures for this movement were recorded. Heavy selling of the steel and equipment stocks were accompanied by reports of the slowing up of business, and evidences in the trade that the independent companies particularly were rapidly coming to the point of substantial price reductions. The pressure on motor and rubber stocks also remained in evidence with U.S. Rubber especially weak and losing 7 points on reports that new financing was necesary before the turn of the year.

Matters Shelved

LEGAL COMMITTEE HAD A SMALL BUDGET TO DEAL WITH LAST EVENING.

THE BILLBOARDS

On motion of Ald. Gordon, seconded by Ald. Phelan, it was decided at the meeting of the Legal committee of the City Council last evening that Ald. Turner and Ald. Crowe be appointed a committee to meet any body of citizens or any organization with a view of tendering a suitable farewell to Venerable Archdeacon J. C. Davidson on the occasion of his departure from the city.

Licensing of Billboards.

Ald. Turner inquired of the Mayor as to the disposition of the by-law regarding the licensin gof billboards. He was informed that it was still on the table.

Ald. Turner then pointed out the value of billboards as a civic beautifying agent. He referred to their screening of rubbish covered vacant lots and their aid in decreasing fire losses as they are constructed of steel.

"Instead of taxing the billboard men they should be given a bonus," he declared.

The Legal committee file was lightly burdened last evening and the business, which consisted almost entirely of damage claims for small amounts, was quickly disposed of. No action was taken in regard to any of the claims.

Slipped and Fell in the Oil.

Three claims for damages resulting from boys sliping on roads recently oiled and thus spoiling their clothing was received. In each case it was alleged that the roads had not been barricaded. The City Solicitor opined that the city was not liable and accordingly no action was taken.

Thrown From Bicycle.

William Steele claimed $30 damages for injuries and loss of time sustained as a result of being thrown from the bicycle which he was riding on Euclid avenue on August 16th. Steele suffered a dislocated shoulder and strained tendons. He alleged that a stone which projected about one and one-half inches above the road was the cause of the accident. City Solicitor Widdifield gave as his opinion that the city was not liable and no action was taken.

Injured on Hun Gun.

A communication was received from George Farrance, father of James Edward Farrance, the boy who was injured on August 15th while playing on one of the captured German guns in Central park, claiming damages on the grounds that the gun was not properly fastened down. It developed that no report had been made on the matter by the police and accordingly it was allowed to stand.

Good Roads.

The road at the "neck" at Nassau will be considerably widened by the kindness of the Canadian General Electric Company and Wilson Brothers of Otonabee in granting the Suburban Road Area Commission concessions 70 feet by 10 feet on which to move back the fences.

"Move them back as far as you like," stated Mr. Wilson, "I'm for good roads."

DROP IN SHOE PRICES

J. W. MILLER & SONS ANNOUNCE A DEEP CUT IN THE PRICE OF THEIR HIGHEST GRADE BOOTS AND SHOES.

There is welcome news for those who like smart footwear, but who will be glad to know that for the next 15 days they can save from $2.00 to $3.00 a pair on the finest boots and shoes carried in Peterborough. As is well known, Miller & Sons carry only the best grade shoes, but they now wish to reduce a heavy stock, and offer the best trade in the city a chance to save a handsome amount on the purchase of their new fall and winter footwear. Right at the opening of the season, this opportunity is the more acceptable and will no doubt be fully appreciated.

ANOTHER BRIDGE BY-LAW $130,000 COMPLETE WORK

WILL BE VOTED ON BY THE RATEPAYERS ON OCTOBER 21 —ONLY $8,350 OF LAST LEVY LEFT, BUT NO CESSATION OF OPERATIONS IS EXPECTED.

SALVAGE DEPRECIATING

To complete the Hunter street bridge the city will have to furnish the further sum of $130,000. After receiving a statement from the engineer and contractor summarizing the work that has yet to be done, together with an estimate of its cost and of other outstanding liabilities, the Council at a special meeting last night decided to submit to the ratepayers on Thursday, October 21st a by-law authorizing borrowing of the requisite $130,000 by the issuance of 6 1-2 per cent. twenty-year debentures.

The principal item in the statement of the estimated expenditure that still confronts the city is $80,000 for labour and material. Added to that is $20,000 for land damages, and $20,500 representing balance of the contractors' and engineer's fees. These items amount to $120,500. Then there is $3,000 for interest charges and $6,000 to cover shrinkage on debentures that have been issued but are unsold and also on the new debentures. These incidentals bring the total to $129,500.

In the credit column is $8,350 all that remains of the last $100,000 that was raised with the second edition of the Hunter street bridge by-law, an uncertain sum representing the salvage value of the city's share of the plant and the lot at the corner of Hunter and Burnham street which was bought for the convenient supply of gravel it afforded.

After several preliminary computations of the present outstanding costs and claims, Ald. Hamilton after deducting the $8,350 on hand from the grand total of $129,500 presented the remainder of $121,250.

Mr. H. L. Seymour, representing the engineer Mr. Frank Barber, had mentioned an estimate of $119,660.61, and said: "After carefully going over Mr. Townsend's figures I prefer to see another $10,000 added to that for any contingency that may occur."

Mr. Seymour's first round-numbered estimate to the Council last night was $130,000 and the subsequent figuring failed to produce any other total that left a margin of safety and assurance against a final deficit. The aldermen were anxious to hold the estimate to the $100,000 mark if possible, but they agreed that it was preferable to lay all the information before the ratepayers who, it was believed, desired to know exactly what sum was required to finish the work.

Mr. Towsend's Report.

Mr. C. J. Townsend outlined the extent of the work that remains to be done, the cost of which he placed at $30,000 for labour and materials. There are 3,512 cu. yds. of cement still to be poured, 212 yards of granite to be crushed, 3,350 square yards of granite to be chipped; also the form work and centring of arches Nos. 4 and 5 on the west side, 150 feet of drains and catch basins to be laid; the back filling of the arches one to five, also filling the centre arches with cinders. These were some of the main items enumerated, and Mr. Townsend stated that the present estimate checked closely with the previous one he had given the Council. The work since then, he said, had been done within the unit cost.

Ald. Turner suggested that the Council might eliminate most of the estimate for land damages by implementing the by-law passed last January which authorized the expenditure of $33,000 for the east side park project.

Ald. Gordon remarked that there would still be the claims from the property owners on the west side. He said that the Hydro-Electric Commission would soon be heard from and that trouble might be expected from that quarter.

Salvage Depreciating.

The recent declining trend in the markets Mr. Towsend said, would effect the salvage value of the material used on the bridge. The price of lumber was dropping and it was unsafe to place an estimate now on what it would bring.

Referring to the fact that the available funds for the work were reduced to $8,350, Ald. Hamilton said he didn't think operations would have to be shut down. It was mentioned that the bank would carry on until the new by-law was submitted to the people.

"If it doesn't carry I don't know what we can do," Ald. Hamilton remarked.

"That will stop the work," said Ald. Gordon, with emphasis on the "will."

When Mayor McIntyre called for the vote on the resolution to accept the figure of $130,000, Ald. Gordon commented: "It may make a little hardship for the fellows who have got to run again next Christmas, but I suppose it's all right."

BRAY DELIVERS FIRST SPEECH SINCE RELEASE

Says Leaders Prefer Jail to Freedom from Trades Council.

WINNIPEG, Sept. 28.— R. E. Bray, the first of the local strike leaders to be released from jail, made his first public speech to the Labor men. He delivered a message from the other leaders now in jail to the effect that they would sooner stay in custody than be released by the efforts of the Trades and Labor Council or get out so as to get credit for Tom Moore or P. M. Draper.

Another part of the message said the imprisoned leaders believed themselves to have been somewhat overlooked in that workers were either afraid or unable to fight by means of a strike, on their behalf.

While the resolution was received at the public meeting with applause, it was not put to the meeting, the chairman holding that this was not the proper place for a motion of that kind.

PETERBORO PRICES IN RESTAURANTS

CARRY-YOUR-LUNCH IDEA HAS NOT REACHED THIS CITY.

The recent report of the Public Health Commission in Toronto on restaurant prices does not consider many foods, but comparison of the prices of the foods investigated in Toronto and the prevailing prices in the average Peterborough restaurant show some interesting differences. There is considerable discrepancy in the prices of different foods, Peterborough prices on some aticles being considerably higher and on others lower.

Following is the comparison:

	Peterborough.	Toronto.
Shredded wheat	15c.	20c.
Corn flakes	15c.	15c.
Canteloupes	20-25c.	20-25c.
Sliced tomatoes	15c.	15c.
French friend potatoes	10c.	10c.
Mashed potatoes	10c.	5c.
Ham and eggs	50c.	45c.
Sliced oranges	20c.	20c.

The above dishes were chosen by the commission for investigation in Toronto because the comparative simplicity of their composition made it easier to figure the profit made on them. In several cases the profit was found to be excesive.

The carry-your-lunch idea has not reached Peterborough so far, although it is spreading rapidly in other sections of the country.

LA LA LUCIELLE A GREAT COMEDY

La La Lucille, the great comedy film which comes to the Grand on Wednesday and Thursday nights scored a great success at Loew's Theatre in Toronto for two weeks. It is built for laughing purposes only and is one of the biggest hits in the histoy of the silver sheet. Peterborough is lucky in getting this picture.

TAX ON SILKS.

Dry goods merchants and others have received notification of a new ruling in the luxury tax on silks, as follows: "Silk purchased upon which is paid a luxury tax and taken to a dressmaker to be made into a dress, the purchaser is required to produce to the dressmaker the counter sales slip with the tax shown thereon. The tax paid on the silk may be deducted from the dressmaker's tax on the total dress, and the sales slip must be kept by the dressmaker to support the tax return."

LOCAL IMPROVEMENT NOTICE

Take Notice That:—

1. The Council of the Corporation of the City of Peterborough intends to construct as a local improvement a sewer on Dublin street from Aylmer street to a point 130 ft. west of Aylmer street and intends to assess the cost upon the lands abutting directly upon the said work.

2. The estimated cost of the said work is $656.55, of which $283.43 is to be paid by the Corporation. The estimated special rate per foot frontage is $1.71. The special assessment is to be paid in thirty annual instalments.

3. A petition against the work will not avail to prevent its construction.

Peterborough, September 27th, 1920.

S. R. ARMSTRONG, Clerk.

SYNOPSIS OF A PROPOSED BY-LAW FOR BORROWING THE SUM OF $130,000.00 IN ORDER TO COMPLETE THE BRIDGE OVER THE OTONABEE RIVER AT HUNTER STREET:

The purpose of the proposed by-law is to borrow on the sinking fund plan the sum of $130,000.00 in order to complete the construction of a high level bridge over the Otonabee River at Hunter street. The amount required to be raised annually for the payment of the debt will be $4,365.63, and the payment of the interest will be $8,450.00. The amount to be borrowed is to be payable in 20 years from the date of the issue of the debentures.

TAKE NOTICE that the foregoing is a synopsis of a proposed by-law of the Corporation of the City of Peterborough to be submitted to the votes of the electors on the 21st day of October, 1920, between the hours of Nine o'clock in the forenoon and Five o'clock in the afternoon at the following places:

Polling Sub-divisions Numbers One and Three—Place: M. H. Halpin's, 39 George street.

Polling Sub-divisions Numbers Two and Five—Place: T. J. Murray's 111 Rubidge street.

Polling Sub-divisions Numbers Six, Seven, Eight and Nine—Place: City Hall Chambers.

Polling Sub-division Number Twenty-Two — Place: M. Kylie's House, 558 Rogers street.

And that the 20th day of October, 1920, at 10 o'clock, in the forenoon at the Clerk's Office, in the said municipality has been fixed for the appointment of persons to attend at the following places, and at the final summing up of the votes by the Clerk.

And that if the assent of the electors is obtained to the said proposed by-law it will be taken into consideration by the Municipal Council of the said Corporation at a meeting thereof to be held after the expiration of one month from the date of the first publication of this notice, and that such first publication was made on the 28th day of September, 1920.

TAKE NOTICE FURTHER that a tenant who desires to vote on said proposed By-law must deliver to the Clerk not later than the 10th day appointed for taking the vote a declaration under The Canada Evidence Act, that he is a tenant whose lease extends for the time for which the debt or liability is to be created, or in which the money to be raised by the proposed by-law is payable, or for at least twenty-one years, and that he has by the lease convenanted to pay all Municipal taxes in respect of the property of which he is tenant other than local improvement rates.

Dated, Peterborough, September 28th, 1920.

S. R. ARMSTRONG,
3d-28-5-12-2833. City Clerk.

Doesn't Send an Agent.

"I'll say this for him anyhow, he's a brave landlord."

"Why?"

"He still goes in person to collect his rents."

STORING THE VEGETABLE CROP

The vegetable crop has been an undant one in most places in Canda this year, and many persons will ve a large quantity to store. It is portant that care be taken in stor- so that losses will be reduced to minimum.

Potatoes should be dry when stor- and where possible put where the mperature will not go above 40 F. below 32 F. In order that the rface of the potatoes can be kept y and in the best condition to oid rotting, provision should be ade for air to pass underneath and rough them. If they are stored in nsiderable or large quantities such ovision is made by keeping the potatoes about six inches off the floor by first putting down a slatted temporary floor with the boards just close enough so the potatoes will not fall through, and a similar slatted temporary wall a few inches from the permanent wall would permit a still free circulation of air. Keeping them in crate-like boxes with openings between the boards on tops and sides is a good method.

Beets, parsnips, carrots, salsify and turnips keep best under conditions somewhat similar to potatoes, though it is not so important to keep them dry. Indeed in the average cellar they are liable to become too dry and lose their firmness. If there is danger of this they may be kept in boxes and covered with a sack kept wet. In a warm cellar they will grow.

Liable to Rot.

Onions are very liable to rot unless kept in a dry place. Keep them spread out as thinly as possible. Where quantities are small, an attic room where there is no frost will be found a good place to store them.

Cabbage will soon wilt in a warm, dry cellar. Keep them outside as long as possible by protecting them with leaves, straw, or soil. If they begin to crack before it is time to pull them, loosen them in the ground by twisting the plant and thus checking growth. When stored where the air is very dry they keep better with the roots and stems left on, and wrapping each head in a newspaper will prevent wilting to some extent.

Celery is left outside until danger of severe frosts. To keep well in storage it needs a moderately dry, well-ventilated, cool cellar for best results. The celery should be planted in the cellar in rows close together in sand or light soil, separating each row with a lath or other pieces of wood to keep the tops somewhat apart and better to ensure a circulation of air. The soil should be kept moist but the tops dry. Avoid wetting the leaves and stalks if watering is necessary.

To store green tomatoes to ripen them put in closed boxes or drawers where they will be in the dark and in a moderately warm place.

To Help Nature Shed a Bad Complexion

Beauty devotees are enthusiastic over the rejuvenating qualities of ordinary mercolized wax. Nothing discovered within recent years accomplishes so much, so quickly, without harm or inconvenience. The principal reason for its wonderful merit is that it works in harmony with physiological laws. Instead of hiding complexion defects, it removes them. It actually takes off the aged, faded, sallow, freckled or blotchy surface skin, gently and gradually. This is Nature's way of renewing complexions. When the natural process is retarded because of defective circulation or nerve tone, mercolized wax comes to the rescue and hastens the skin shedding. The new complexion which appears is a natural one, youthful, healthy, exquisitely beauiful. If you've never tried mercolized wax, get an ounce of it at the drug store, use nights like cold cream, washing it off mornings—and have the surprise of your life!

Another natural beautifying treatment—for wrinkled skin—is to bathe the face in a lotion made by dissolving an ounce of powdered saxolite in a half pint of witch hazel. This is remarkably and almost instantaneously effective.

EXPRESS RATES CASE HEARD IN WINNIPEG TOO

OTTAWA, Sept. 27.—Members of the Board of Railway Commissioners left Ottawa early this morning for their western tour. Hearings will be held in Winnipeg, Vancouver, Prince Rupert and several other western cities. The application of the express companies for an increased tariff will be heard by the commission in Winnipeg, and evidence will be taken at other places. The commissioners will return to Ottawa about the first of November.

MUSIC IN THE HOME

IMPROVING THE MODERN ORCHESTRA.

Many suggestions have been made for the improvement and enlargement of the modern orchestra, says Musical Opinion, of London, England, as present-day orchestras give out a more imposing volume of sound than the small bodies of players for whom the classical composers wrote their music. All these improvements, however, have been confined more to the addition of wind instruments with no real fundamental changes.

Mr. Emanuel Moor, an English composer of note, has recently issued a pamphlet in which he advocates changes which would have the effect, if carried out, of revolutionizing the entire orchestra, so much so that it would be a substitution, rather than an improvement, of something else for the medium which has hitherto served the great composers for the highest flights of their genius. The major part of Mr. Moor's criticism of the orchestra as it exists to-day is directed against the strings. "The violin," he says, "and with it the whole quartette of stringed instruments, has remained stationery, and we are forced to mobilize an army of fiddlers to hold their own against the bass of the orchestra. Even so, the strings, however numerous, are drowned by the powerful roar of a few bass instruments running riot."

Mr. Moor also complains of the inadequacy of the brass, and of poverty in the treble parts. "The violins only can obtain the high sounds, and can develop their scheme of melody and harmony only when aided by division of work and by doubt-stopping with diminishes the intensity of the melodic climax." To ready these defects Mr. Moore propoises the use of specially designed instruments; for instance, a large stringed instrument on the violin principle containing on one soundboard four or six strings which have the whole range of the violin and violin-'cello.

For this experimental instrument he claims a sonority equal to that of eight or ten violins without any of the other qualities being impaired. Indeed the volume of tone of the D and strings is greatly increased. The player seated before this instrument "loses none of is energy and can develop without let or hindrance his virtuosity and expression."

CONCERTS FOR YOUNG PEOPLE.

Each city in Canada ought to have every season a course of concerts for young people—a well contrasted series of orchestral, song, piano and violin music. Te prices ought to be no more than the ordinary movie tickets cost; frequent free concerts ought to be made compulsory in the schools; artists who have the proper qualifications for this work should strive to make themselves "specialists" in performing music for young people.

When we have done this, we will be well on the way of becoming a sincerely musical nation. And, too, we shall have helped a bit to strangle vile god. Materialism, who for a long time has menaced the very soul of our land.

NEW YORK STATE APPOINTS HEAD FOR THE P. S. MUSIC.

With the creation of the office of specialist in music in its Education Department at Albany, (New York State has just taken an important toward the standardization of the courses in music in its public schools and,toward granting this study a more prominent place in the curriculum. The new appointee is Mr. Russell Carter, for eight years supervisor of music in the public schools of Amsterdam, New York, and more recently professor in the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor.

Mr. Russell's chief duties will be to set standards which are to be maintained in the schools, and to pass on the claims of schools for credits in music by actual inspection of the work done. The work will be virtually that of a general supervisor and will involve the preparation of regents' examination questions, the reviewing of all examination papers, lecturing on methods of teaching, and helping individual schools to plan work.

Whereas each school heretofore has been following the music course prescribed by its individual school board, it will now have to conform to the stands set up by the new department if it hopes to offer its pupils a course for which full credit may be secured. The New York City schools are not affected, however, as they are separately administered with their music work under the direction of Mr. George H. Gartlan.

State supervisors of music have already been appointed in Pennsylvania and Maryland and it was with these examples before it that the New York Education Department acted. Its decision will undoubtedly have a far-reaching effect throughout the country.

PRIMITIVE PLAYING OF THE LYRE.

Some writers assume that the primitive method of playing the lyre first saw the light among the nomadic tribes of ancient Asia; for in the tranquility of the nomadic life there comes a great gush of poetry from the human heart such as never can come again after the hum of cities begins to sound and the bustle of business to occupy man's mind. The lyre is said by these writers to have its particular form—strings stretched on pegs and twanged with the fingers—because of the fact that when such a form succeeded to the pipe (the pipe being bound to the mouth) the lyre set at liberty the voice and enabled it to utter the great thoughts that filled the heart.

When you are "wide awake as an owl" at night, and can't "keep your eyes open" in the daytime you certainly need

"Peterborough Presents Possibilities Unsurpassed."

TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 28, 1920.

A GOOD DAY'S WORK.

Hhe people of Lakefield are to be congratulated upon the sound common sense they showed yesterday in passing the by-law fixing the assessment of the Canada Cement Company at $50,000 for ten years. The vote was almost unanimous, only eight ratepayers out of a total of 201 who voted registering an adverse ballot. The reopening of the Cement Company's plant will be a splendid thing for Lakefield and the people of Peterborough will felicitate their neighbors upon the fact that this fine industry will soon be in full operation again. The village has not yet recovered from the effects of the slump that followed the closing of the cement works a few years ago, but a rapid stride forward may be expected now that the plant is to be re-opened on a large scale than ever. It is not likely that the present population of Lakefield can supply a sufficient working staff, which means an influx of workers, a demand for houses and a general betterment of trade conditions. The effects of yesterday's vote will be soon evidenced and will furnish ample proof that the ratepayers made no mistake in passing the measure. They did a good day's work for their village yesterday.

A LAMENTABLE WASTE.

The stories from the Niagara district of fruit rotting on the trees make sorry reading and furnish an indictment of our busines methods in this country. Certainly Canadians cannot pride themselves upon 100 per cent. efficiency when conditions such as these are allowed to exist. "At every point on the line fruit of all kinds is rotting on the ground and on the trees and vines," reads a newspaper despatch. The reason given for the waste that is going on are a bumper crop, a shortage of baskets and a shortage of the proper kind of cars for shipping. The size of the crop should not be a factor in the situation and would not be if the other conditions were overcome. It is too late perhaps to do much this year, but it would seem like good business for the provincial and municipal authorities to co-operate with the fruit growers and dealers in hitting upon a plan that would prevent a duplication of the present waste in other years of bumper crops. It is a condition that business methods should be able to avoid if there is co-operative effort to deal with the situation.

FIRE PREVENTION.

The Examiner is in receipt of a number of most interesting pamphlets on the subject of fire prevention in connection with the observance of "Fire Protection" Day on Saturday, Oct. 9th. The matter is such a serious one that it is unfortunate that the information contained in these booklets could not be widely distributed. The newspapers, willing as they are to help, could not begin to print all the valuable suggestions that are given and the value of much of the advice will be lost because it is impossible to give wide circulation to the facts. However, there is much that can be accomplished towards the successful carrying out of the purpose of Fire Prevention Day if the various organizations and the citizens generally will enter into the spirit of the occasion. Especially is it desirable that the Governor-General's proclamation should be read in the schools and the attention of the pupils directed to the importance of this matter and to the necessity of greater efforts to stop the terrible fire waste that is impoverishing the country. The enthusiastic cooperation of the whole community is necessary to make the campaign a success. It must be a crusade of cleanliness—and thrift and civic pride.

THE BRIDGE AGAIN.

The only citizens who will be able to extract any satisfaction from the announcement that on Oct. 21st the ratepayers of Peterborough will be asked to vote an appropriation of $130,000 to complete the Hunter street bridge, are the individuals who have prophesied from the beginning that it would require the expenditure of at least a half million dollars to build the famous structure. Their prediction has been fulfilled, for the cost [illegible] in the cost of the bridge will be approximately $500,000 and the $50,000 grant of the Dominion government has also to be added to the total. The assurance is given that the appropriation now asked for will take care of all the remaining expenditures in connection with the work and that the bridge will be ready for use before the end of the year. There will be a certain amount of satisfaction in knowing that the end is in sight, for the citizens are undoubtedly weary of being asked to furnish more money and will sigh with relief that the worst is now known. It is interesting to note that the bridge when completed will have cost more than twice as much as the original estimate.

CANADIAN RESPECT FOR THE LAW.

In the city of Brantford this week a negro was on trial for the murder of a white woman, and was sentenced to death for his crime. According to the evidence presented the murder was committed in plain view of other people, one of whom held the assailant ntil the police came. In accordance with Canadian law every chance was afforded the prisoner to present a defence, and the case, as a whole, has attracted no more public attention than a case of that kind usually presents.

At the very time that this orderly trial was proceeding in a Canadian court, three negroes were besieged in a Chicago church, where they had taken refuge from a mob of whites after the killing of a white man in a drunken brawl. They were rescued by the police who, in turn, were stoned by gangs of roughs all the way to the police station.

Brantford, with its few hundred negroes, is not Chicago, with its hundreds of thousands. Conditions are not alike by any means, and yet the contrast between Canadian and American conditions in respect of the law of the land furnishes a constant theme for the press of the republic. The Buffalo Times, in a recent issue, paid a remarkable tribute to Canadian self-control, instancing the Thorold riot as an example of mob violence being overcome by plain commonsense. As Ontario people, we are heartily ashamed of what did take place at Thorold and can only take comfort in the fact that the disgrace was not as great as it might have been. But we are showing that mob jusice has no place by the prompt opening of an official inquiry and by the fact that two score of those implicated are already under arrest.

There is no likelihood of Canadan courts allowing their prerogatives to be taken over by unlicensed mobs. Canadian judges are jealous of the good name of our administration of justice and mob leaders are likely to receive the full penalty of the law if their offence is proven. No more effective measure could be taken by the courts for the preservation of the popular respect for law and order that prevails in the Dominion.

There is, however, one stain on Canadian law at the present time inthe open defiance of law by the illegal liquir traffic along the Detroit river. The trail of that trade has been marked for months past by theft, perjury, assaults and even murder. A delegate to the Trades and Labor Congress held last week at Windsor says that he saw the bank books of a successful bootlegger which showed deposits of over $130,000, all made in the illegal trade. And this prosperous criminal boasted that so far he had been able to evade the law. What terror would a fine of $1,000, $2,000 or $10,000 for that matter, have for one whose net profits for a few months' work were over $130,000 The province of Ontario is responsible for the preservation of law and order in Essex County, and has the power to call in federal aid if it finds that its own forces are inadequate to meet a situation. It seems incredible that this defiance of law by a gang of criminals can go on so long and so openly. If public opinion on the matter in Essex County is unawakened the same is not true of other parts of the country. We would hesitate to think that Essex County people are careless of the good name of the province or that the churches of that part of Ontario are powerless to exert their influence against a reign of crime. A really awakened public sentiment would soon make itself felt and would be the best backing for the courts and the public administration of justice in dealing with the matter.—London Ad-

WALL STREET TO-DAY AND YESTERDAY

Wall Street, Historic Thoroughfare. —Capt. Kidd, the pirate, had property there. — Skyscraper-flanked canyon laid out 1685.

A quaint old red stone church set back in a graveyard filled with ancient tombstones. Facing it a narrow canyon of a street through which flows a human tide—a canyon whose sides are flanked by skyscrapers, utterly dwarfing the once lofty steeple of the antique edifice. Such is the impression in Wall street leaves upon most of those who see it for the first time And what Canadian male who knows New York has not gone down by tube or elevated through Manhattan's miles or roaring traffic to glimpse the famous "Street"?

Capt. Kid Was Wall St Man.

Not that he expected to see actual bulls and bears and lambs romping on the pavements or to glimpse the glitter of the gold for which they strive, but just out of curiosity. Belike some such poor onlookers suffered in Wednesday's horror.

Not only a great financial centre is Wall street, but perhaps the most important street historically in the United States. Here was situated the first parmanent House of Congress. Up Wall street Washington marched when he captured New York in 1783. In Wall Street he took the Presidential oath in 1789. Captain William Kidd, the notorious pirate, actually owned a part of what is No. 56 Wall Street in 1691. And many other pirates, with less direct, but equally effective, methods h ceeded Kidd during Wall Street's 235 years of existence.

A Nice, Tree-Shaded Street.

Back in 1644 the Dutch Governor ordered every able-bodied citizen of the then New Amsterdam to turn out with picks, shovels and axes to commence the original wall which gave the place its name. Came the British, who captured New York in 1664, and later Governor Dongan, who bought the land for a song and laid out Wall street in 1685.

By 1750 Wall street had become a pleasant, tree-bordered thoroughfare, flanked by private and official residence, and the centre of a fashionable district. Old Trinity Church's small first predecessor looked down on it as does the former to-day. At the East River end stood the Slave Market, and midway, among other buildings, the Presbyterian church and a sugar refinery. 'Twas on Wall street that, in 1734, the public hangman burned copies of the New York Weekly Journal for a breach of the law by that paper.

First Stock Exchange

In 1792, when New York's population was about 65,000, the first "Stock Exchange" opened in Wall Street to assist the auctioneers at one end of it to sell the new United States Treasury Bonds. And from that date the Street rapidly merged into a financial centre. By 1830 New York had 202,000 inhabitants and Wall street was a bustling place. In 1835 a fire swept it. As early as 1836 a writer in the New York Gazette described it as follows: Between 10 and 3 o'clock Wall street is crowded with speculators, money changers, merchants, bank directors, cashiers, bulls and bears and a whole menagerie of lame ducks, and all is anxiety, worry fretfulness, hurrying to and fro with wrinkled brows, eager eyes, calculating looks, restless gestures, and every indication that follows in the train o igrim-visaged care." It is as difficult to wend one's way through Wall Street as it ever was," continues the same writer in 1839. "Physically as well as financially there is a peril in perambulating that street. Stocks may go up, but stones are falling prodigiously in all directions. The Merchants and City Bank is being torn down. In New York the builder is abroad one day and relieved of his labor by the destroyer the day after."

Wall Street's first panic occurred in 1837, and almost shut things down for three years. In 1854 the Stock Exchange moved off Wall St. to William and Beaver Streets, never returning. In 1857 another terrific panic arose, and then came the Civil War, after which Wall Street became a great power. The panics of 1872, 1893 and 1907 shook it, as did the scare of 1895, when Grover Cleveland's shirt-sleeve policy threatened trouble with Britain over Venezuela.

Wall Street Pirates.

Until a few years ago the small unit banks were dependent upon the big New York banks, and through these later certain great magnates in Wall street were enabled to use the huge sums belonging to insurance and trust companies to play hob with the market. Getting control of the railways and other companies by purchase of big blocks of stock, they sent shares up or down at will and fleeced small investors and speculators all over the country.

Clipped Claws of Magnates

Roosevelt's "Big Stick" policy hit the looters of Wall Street their first blow. And to-day the centralization of banking under Federal control has made impossible the very raw deals which were the accepted thing in the Wall street of years gone by.

The Curb Market in Wall street is a sight which most appeals to visitors. Right on the Street in all kinds of weather independent brokers who do not own $100,000 seats in the Stock Exchange trade in all kinds of unlisted securities. The fluctuations are signalled to them from adjoining office windows by associates in broker's offices. Dressed like prospectors from Northern Ontario, many of them in mackinaw coats, wooly caps and duffle trousers, the Curb brokers plied their trade all through last winter's coldest weather.

AT THE EMPIRE

The offering at the Empire Theatre last night, Owen Moore in "The Desperate Hero," delighted all who saw it and combined with a laughable Hank Mann comedy, one of the best that this comedian has been responsible for, Pathe News and the Screen Letter Box, it made an unusually well-balanced programme. Owen Moore, as Henry Baird, was as irresponsible as ever and was completely head over heels in love with a pretty little millionair'e daughter, Mabel Barrows. Owen is out of a job and out of money but he carries the case to a successful conclusion be defeating an insistent millionaire. Henry would be a wealthy man if they could dispose of an oil well left to him by some thoughtful relative but through one of his stories on the newspaper that carried him on the payroll only till the story was read by the prominent lawyer it referred to, and who was also interested in the well, he is unable to dispose of it. The plot thickens each act but at last everything comes out all right. Henry marries Mabel is made a junior member of the firm and sells his oil mine.

It is a delightfully wholesome comedy drama and should appeal to the most exacting movie goers.

JAILED FOR BIGAMY.

BELLEVILLE, Sept. 27.—Charles Spence of Hylila, North Hastings, has been committed to the county jail here to serve three months for bigamy. For eleven years Spence had not lived with his first wife, and a few weeks ago he took a second wife. Police Magistrate Jarman who tried the case, imposed a sentence of three months.

KEENE BASEBALL CLUB HELD SUCCESSFUL DANCE

A large number of the young people of the city motored to Keene last evening to attend the ball given by the Keene Baseball Club in the Town Hall and a very enjoyable evening was spent by the some hundred persons present. Splendid music was supplied by Tucker and Follis and dainty refreshments were served.

Mrs. Hicks is so painfully neat that she makes life miserable for her family. One of her rules is that all members of the household must remove their shoes before entering the house.

"Bill," she remonstrated one day with her husband. "I found a grease spot on one of the dining-room chairs and I think it came off those pants you wear in the shop."

A brief silence ensued, then a volcanic eruption: "Well, Mirandy, for the last fifteen years I have taken off my shoes every time I come into this house, but I'll be hanged if I'll go further.

HOME-MADE BREAD

Home bread-making reduces the high cost of living by lessening the amount of expensive meats required to supply the necessary nourishment to the body. The increased nutritious value of bread made in the home with should be sufficient incentive to the thoughtful housewife to give this important food item the attention to which it is justly entitled. Bread made with Royal Yeast will keep fresh and moist longer than that made with any other.

CHOICE RECIPES

Stewed Figs.

Cut the figs in small pieces, add a tablespoon of honey and cover well with cold water. Simmer tender and serve hot or cold and with or without cream.

Jellied Fish.

Soak a tablespoon of gelatine in two tablespoons of cold water five minutes. Add a cup of boiling water, two tablespoons of lemon juice, two tablespoons of chopped capers and the seasoning. When cool but not too cold add two cups of any kind of flaked fish and turn into a wetted mold to harden. Serve on lettuce with sauce.

Au Gratin Potatoes.

Cut fine enough cold boiled potatoes to make three cups and mix with milk enough to make a little moist. Stir in a teaspoon of dissolved flour, a piece of butter, half a cup of grated cheese and the seasoning. Turn into a baking dish, dot with butter and spread with more grated cheese. Bake brown.

Beet Salad.

Boil the beets until tender and skin them by placing them in cold water. Cut in dice, add a teaspoon of grated horseradish to two cups of beets. Serve on lettuce with a sharp French dressing.

Ginger Apples.

5 pounds of apples.
4 pounds of sugar.
1-2 pound of ginger

Place the ginger in boiling water and leave for several hours. Core, quarter and pare apples and leave in cold water. Bring to a boil the ginger water and one quart of plain water and boil for five minutes. Place the apples in this and continue boiling for 45 minutes .They will then become almost transparent and should be packed in hot sterilized jars and sealed.

Make Your Home Worthy of Your Own Good Circumstances

MANY people are living with furniture which fills the need for something to sit in, eat from, and fill up space, but which does not reflect the good circumstances of the owner, nor make the home a place of beauty and comfort, and a joy to live in.

Many dull, uninterestingly furnished homes have remained that way simply because the occupants have not given serious thought to the appearance of their rooms.

Many people have grown accustomed to their surroundings and have failed to consider the progress of the times or their own prosperity. Unintentionally they have allowed the furnishing of their homes to fall behind their own advance in the business world and in social life.

Of course, other people—neighbors and callers—have noticed the old, drab furnishings, and, perhaps, have drawn wrong conclusions. They have thought the owners couldn't afford anything better. No one in good circumstances wants such wrong impressions carried away from his or her home.

To beautify and bring the home into keeping with modern, progressive standards of living is not an expensive undertaking. An entire house can be refurnished with beautiful, artistic furniture for no more than a good motor car would cost.

And, even if you think you cannot afford to refurnish the whole house you can start with a single room. A suite of lovely bedroom furniture or a handsome dining-room suite is obtainable for the price of a set of good furs.

After you have refurnished one room with attractive, modern furniture, the appearance of refinement and beauty created will make you enthusiastic about refurnishing the entire house.

And then your house will seem like a new home. You will love it and enjoy it more. You will be happier, for true happiness needs a beautiful setting.

As a Canadian citizen living in prosperous times in a country with a glorious future, you can well afford to brighten up your home and live in comfort and happiness amidst beautiful surroundings.

WIFE OF JONAS FORGIVES WOMAN WHO BLINDED HIM

(By Peggy Doyle.)

CHICAGO. — To "forgive those who trespass against us" is not always easy, and to forgive in such large measure as has Mrs. Julius Jonas is little less than divine.

Yesterday the wife of the man, Paulyine Meglige, blinded for life, the doctors say, stopped long enough in her household duties to say, "He was weak and people imposed on his good nature. He has suffered, and now we are trying to make him forget."

There is nothing tragically resigned about her. She is a wholesome, cheerful woman, who shakes off trouble with a shrug of her shoulders. With frank blue eyes, she looks things squarely in the face and will not be disheartened.

A "To-day" Philosopher.

"Yesterday is dead; we live to-day," she philosophizes, "and to-day is so short we should crowd in all the happiness so there'll be no regrets.

"He follows me about like a child," said Mrs. Jonas, in speaking of her husband. "He can find his way about the apartment, and we talk while I am working. He dreads being alone. It makes him think, and I know his thoughts drive him frantic.

"The doctors say he will never see again, but there is a higher power, and I hope, oh, how I hope—that is what keeps me up when things look darkest." Only then did Mrs. Jonas' self-reliance desert her, but only for a minute.

And as she talks you come to understand why her sons tell you, "You ought to see mother —she's a brick." she lives for her family. There must be "something especially nice for dinner to-night to coax Harriet's appetite—she hasn't been so well lately." Harriet is the daughter. Or, "I must be sure to cook enough potatoes; Julius has a ravenous appetite."

If you ask Lester, the 15-year-old son, what he thinks of mother, perhaps he'll let you read a copy of his song, "A Mother's Smile." It is to be published soon by his music publisher-uncle, Leo Feist.

It was getting late. "It's too bad you must go without seeing Mr. Jonas," this happy woman, with gray hair curling prettily about her face chatted. "He looks so splendid. He's over in the park with a friend (Lincoln Park is just across the street from their new home, 418 Deming place). I'm glad to get him out of the house now and then, so I can do my work."

The Hair-Destroying Curling Iron Passes

The heated iron makes the hair dry and parched looking, burns off the ends, giving a most untidy appearance. You who have learned this from experience will be glad to hear of a very simple method which is open to none of the objections referred to and which gives better results than the curling iron.

Just get a few ounces of plain liquid silmerine at your druggist's and apply a little with a clean tooth brush before doing up the hair, drawing the brush down one strand at a time from root to tip. In three hours your hair will be as beautifully wavy and curly as though Mother Nature did it, and it will be quite manageable, no matter what style of coiffure you adopt. The effect will be much prettier than if you used a waving iron, will last much longer, and the health of your hair will not suffer. Silmerine is not sticky or greasy, but is quite pleasant to use.

THE HOME CIRCLE

JUST SMILE AND FORGET

Oh, do not be discouraged, little heart,
This world is not a wilderness of woe;
Don't let the scratches vex you so,
For all the little worries that befall,
The small vexations that so grieve and fret,
To-morrow they will vanish into air;
Then smile, dear heart, just smile and then forget.
And if to-day the skies are overcast,
Somewhere we know the sun is shining still:
Its silver radiance brims the lowering clouds,
And we ma catch its glory if we will.
And it is good to strive though we should fail,
And good it is to suffer and be strong;
And if we lift our faces to the light,
The darkest day will ring to evening song.
And when our feet are weary, and the road
More toilsome seems with every passing day,
To share our every burden, little heart;
The Helper walks beside us all the way.

Independence is a fine thing but many people take a belligerent attitude toward others and misname it independence. There is nothing as essential as independence of thought and action if you intend to get any where in this world, but you can't always live as if you were the only person in the world. You must take others into account occasionally. Don't go about continually saying that others must take you as they find you, and fool yourself in believing that your attitude is praise worthy. People will soon take you at your word and leave you alone and you'll find you can't be entirely independent of your friends and be happy.

Plan out your life on a big scale, whether you are a farmer's daughter, or a shepherdess among the hills, or the flattered pet of a drawing-room filled with statuary and pictures and bric-a-brac. Stop where you are and make a plan for your life time. You cannot be satisfied with a life of frivolity and giggle and indiscretion. Trust the world and it will cheat you if it does not destroy you. The Redoubtable was the name of an enemy's ship that Lord Nelson spared twice from demolition, but that same ship afterward sent the ball that killed him, and the world on which you smile may aim at you its deadliest weapon.

To keep young for the sake of one's children is a duty which few parents fulfill. A man who cannot always cheerfully follow the commands of his superiors in business expects his child to follow his commands without hesitation and a great many times simply because they are commands and not because they have any special merit.

About ninety-nine per cent of the fathers of this country when they were small made a silent vow that when they became fathers, their sons should never be made to take a bath. Some of you fathers just remember that vow. Of course we don't mean that you must live up to the vow but when your son pouts at the prospect of a bath use a little understanding and sympathy. Don't try to tell him what a "good boy Papa was when Papa was young" because he has observed enough of human nature to realize that boys are rather generally off the same strip and he won't believe a word of your "angel" story. Live over your own youth in your children and you will be surprised at the way the difficulties of rearing and training have been minimized.

It has always seemed that the strongest argument for immortality is the discontent and discouragement we suffer in this world. It is beyond the possibility of thought that we would be created and thrust upon this earth to meet all unhappiness we do and to leave it with hopes and wishes unfulfilled and go out to meet nothing. As someone has said the life we lead here is merely the first stage and death is merely an episode. This thought should bring comfort to many a heart who sees this thing we call death cut into so many lives with seemingly devastating power.

Young man, remember this: All the friends who can gather about you can never make your life a success; neither can your enemies make it a failure. It rests with you to determine whether you shall succeed or fail. Just put this thought on your memoranda, and study it carefully.

DEFERRED CLIMAX.

A boy, apparently very much agitated, rushed into a house and said to the lady:

"I don't want ter alarm yer, but I've got important news. The man sent me up from the livery stable to tell yer——"

"Good heavens! What is it."

"Why, you know your little boy, Alec what the man can't keep outer the livery stable round the corner?"

"Yes. Well!"

"I told Alex just now not ter go inter the stable among the horses, but he wouldn't mind me——"

"Oh, dear! What has happened?"

"He said he wanted to see what a mule'd do when yer tickled its heels with a straw."

"Oh, heaven!" gasped the lady, and clung to the mantelpiece for support.

"Well, ma'am, yer boy Alec got a straw, crept up behin' a mule, tickled him on the heels, and——"

The lady started for the door.

"An' the blinkin' creature never lifted a hoof!" called the boy. "Never as much as switched its tail!"—Pearson's Weekly.

Delicious Apple Preserves.

A shelf full of apple butter will go a long way in cutting down the high cost of dairy butter this winter. It can be made easily enough, and if the flavor is varied no one will weary of making apple butter—see that it is thoroughly boiled, and watch carefully to prevent burning. Apples burn readily in cooking, but close watching will avoid this catastrophe.

Apple Butter Plain.

5 gallons of sweet cider
1 peck of tart apples.
2 pounds of brown sugar.

Core, quarter and pare the apples. Boil the cider down to half, then add sugar and apples and stir well. Continue boiling until a solid soft mass is formed that does not separate, then pack in hot sterilized jars and seal.

If apple jelly is made the pulp remaining in the jelly bag after the juice has dripped through may be used in making a spiced butter that is excellent as an accompaniment to meat. Turn the pulp in to the sieve and press with a potato masher. Measure and to each two cupfuls of pulp add one-quarter cupful of vinegar, three-quarter cupful of sugar, one teaspoonful of cinnamon and one-half teaspoonful of ground cloves. Simmer until thick, then pour into small glasses and seal It is better to use small containers rather than the large pint or quart jars, as only a little of this is likely to be used at a time.

RESENTS DOCTORS BEING THREATENED

INQUIRY INTO POSITION OF MEDICAL MEN UNDER ONTARIO TEMPERANCE LEGISLATION.

(Canadian Press).

TORONTO, Sept. 28.—The position of medical men under Ontario temperance legislation occupied a brief morning sitting of the special committee of the Legislature, which commenced to-day its inquiry into the administration of the Ontario Temperance Act.

Dr. Forbes Godfrey, West York, objected to a doctor being subjected to threats from the Ontario License Board, that his prescriptions would not be honoured because he issued more prescriptions than the arbitrary allowance, fixed by the board without consideration for the size of his practice or conditions of his business. He complained that doctors had been treated with less consideration than "blind piggers," who got rich in an illegal traffic, and paid their fines blithely as part of the game. Addressing the Premier and Attorney-General directly, Mr. Godfrey said that he would continue to issue prescriptions when and where he pleased for liquor in reasonable quantities, based on his medical knowledge and authority, and he would abide by the issue. He also expressed the opinion that an unrestricted sale of five per cent. beer would have gone far to destroy the whisky habit, which he found was growing upon many people.

Hearing Officials.

This afternoon's sitting will be held for the purpose of hearing License Board officials, and the committee will then adjourn until about October 15th, during which time a sub-committee will prepare an agenda based on written recommendations of the committee.

Private citizens who desire to make recommendations on the subject of the O. T. A. must address them to Hon. H. C. Nixon within the next week.

Speaking of the operation of two Ontario liquor dispensaries, Hon. Mr. Nixon said that, in spite of the restoration of inter-provincial trading, dispensaries had done business which would approximate four and a half million dollars this year.

Act Enforced.

Hon. W. E. Raney told the investigating committee this afternoon that the Ontario Temperance Act is well enforced. There is only laxity, he added, where public opinion is opposed to the measure.

A LIQUOR CASE IN POLICE COURT

JOHN SUTHERLAND WAS FINED $100 AND COSTS.

Forty-eight bottles of whiskey, valued at $130, led to a complicated tangle which was partly undone in police court this morning when John Sutherland was fined $100 for having liquor in a place other than his private residence and the liquor was ordered confiscated. Charges against others may follow.

Sutherland, who resides with Jacob Kurr, at 292 Brock street, sent to Montreal for four cases of whiskey. The whiskey was duly delivered at his place of abode by R. B. Chambers, a driver for the Dominion Express Company. But Sutherland's landlady refused to take the shipment.

Magistrate order whiskey confiscated and found that whiskey was still the property of Sutherland as he had made no arrangement to part with it. Consequently he found him guilty of having liquor in a place other than his private residence and fined him $100 and costs.

Joseph Wearing appeared for License Inspector Stewart.

PIGSKIN CHASERS DOWN TO BUSINESS

The first practice of the senior city team was held last night at the Central Park. In spite of the rain 14 men turned out in uniform, a most encouraging showing considering the weather. They engaged in a punting and passing practice and it looks as though punters will not be scarce. Permission has been asked to enter the senior O.R.F.U. Series and with this in view the team must settle down to the grind. A practice will be held every evening at the Y.M.C.A. at 5.30. If the weather is too bad to do field work the players will meet inside and will hold a rule quiz or engage in class work at the gym. The Y.M.C.A. have kindly offered the use of the baths to the players, so they can dress in the building. The season is short and condition tells so kindly get into the game. Bring up an old suit for the present till the new uniforms come, and the important point is to get out as often as possible. A practice will be held again on Tuesday evening and on Wednesday a line up will be called for the first practice game. Hop to it, fellows.

READY TO START THE NEW THEATRE

SOME OF THE BRICK HAS REACHED THE CITY.

Public notice is given in the Ontario Gazette of September 25th that letters patent for the incorporation of the "Paramount Peterborough Theatres, Limited," have been granted. This company is thereby authorized to acquire a site in this city for the construction of a theatre or motion picture house, with the customary privilege of renting concessions for or the carrying on by the company themselves of any other business in the property. The capital authorized is $400,000, divided into 1,500 cumulative preference shares of the par value of $100 each, and 10,000 common shares of the par value of $25 each. The company's head office will be in Toronto, and its provisional directors are Harold Learoyd Steele, George McClure Willoughby, Robert Alan Sampson, George Taylor Kemp and Gerald Murphy.

This new local theatre, constructed of brick and steel, and lined with terra cotta, will have a seating capacity of 1,400. The site selected is on George Street, between the Barrie Building and Comstocks, and construction operations are to be started on Thursday, October 7th. The contractors are Norman McLeod, Ltd., of Toronto. Building operations have been delayed owing to the scarcity of brick, a quantity of which, however, has just arrived from Montreal. The building is to cost $150,000, and will be completed ready for opening in six months.

AUTUMN FASHION FETE AT W. E. LECH'S

The ladies will find much to admire this week at W. E. Lech's store, 366 George Street, where the authentic modes for the season are on formal display. Fashionable Furs—models of the finest quality furs — in coats, scarfs, stoles and muffs, command attention. They are adaptations of the newest style ideas.

Superbly trimmed hats, showing the more accepted style features in unusually neat treatment. Charming effects in turbans and other shapes, just the kind that the well-groomed woman likes to have to wear on the street or travelling.

Misses' and children's dresses and headwear—a decidedly new line—delightful in design and very carefully made.

When it comes to selecting coats for the wee tots, comfort is the chief consideration. Not only is this evident in the Lech display, but they possess also a certain degree of style that is noticeably smart.

THE FIRST DANCE OF THE SEASON

The first dance of the season held in St. Peter's Holy Name Society rooms last evening was in every way a marked success.

The dance hall was tastefully decorated in gay colors for autumn. The splendid music supplied by Miss Hudson which was much appreciated by everyone and served to make the dance a great success. Among those present were: M. Scully, Laurene and Mamie Archambault, Mary Galvin, May and Bernadine O'Brien, Alberta Curtis, Misses Fisher, Florence Westall, Margaret Weatherhead, Messrs. Wm. Prindible, Leland Wade, V. Killoran, J. Galvin, Alf. Weatherhead, Fred Shannon, Clare and Jack McDonald, Earl Judge, Fred Malane, Clare Wolfe, Mr and Mrs. Wm. Pope.

Supper was served by the committee in charge, assisted by Mrs. Jos. White and Mrs. T. Lane.

1000 Eggs in Every Hen

TELLS HOW

"The great trouble with the poultry business has always been that the laying life of a hen was too short," says Henry Trafford, International Poultry Expert and Breeder, for nearly eighteen years Editor of Poultry Success.

The average pullet lays 150 eggs. If kept the second year, she may lay 100 more. Then she goes to market. Yet it has been scientifically established that every pullet is born or hatched with over one thousand minute egg germs in her system—and will lay them on a highly profitable basis over a period of four to six years' time if given proper care.

How to work to get 1,000 eggs from every hen; how to get pullets laying early; how to make the old hens lay like pullets; how to keep up heavy egg production all through cold winter months when eggs are highest; triple egg production; make slacker hens hustle; $5.00 profit from every hen in six winter months. These and many other money making poultry secrets are contained in Mr. Trafford's "1,000 EGG HEN" system of poultry raising, one copy of which will be sent absolutely Free to any reader of this paper who keeps six hens or more. Eggs should go to a dollar or more a dozen this winter. This means big profit to the poultry keeper who gets the eggs. Mr. Trafford tells how. If you keep chickens and want them to make money for you, cut out this ad. and send it with your name and address to Henry Trafford, Suite 580M, Tyne Bldg., Binghampton, N.Y., and a free copy of "THE 1,000 EGG Hen" will be sent by return mail.

Cocoanut Oil Fine For Washing Hair

If you want to keep your hair in good condition, be careful what you wash it with.

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo (which is pure and entirely greaseless, is much better than anything else you can use for shampooing, as this can't possibly injure the hair.

Simply moisten your hair with water and rub it in. One or two teaspoonfuls will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanses the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily, and removes every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo at most any drug store. It is very cheap, and a few ounces is enough to last everyone in the family for months.

JEWELRY BANDITS ACTIVE IN DETROIT

DETROIT, Sept. 27.— The bandits entered the jewelry store of Nathan Rose on Hastings Street here, beat the proprietor's two sons, Emil, 20, and Fred, 10, and escaped with money and jewelry valued at $12,000. The two Rose youths were seriously injured and removed to a hospital.

Ladies of Culture and Refinement Use DELMAY'S FRENCH HAIR TONIC. It Makes the Hair Beautiful and Lustrous.

At last a remedy has been discovered that will positively destroy the Pest Dandruff.

MR. J. WEARING GAVE ADDRESS IN LAKEFIELD

In an address last night at the Lakefield Methodist church Mr. Jos. Wearing spoke of the rights and duties of citizens in relation to municipal affairs. He traced the development of towns and cities from early times, giving illustraitons from history and literature showing the wretched sanitation, etc., of towns in early times and pointing out what this meant in the death rate of the inhabitants. With the growth of very large cities had come a tendency on the part of the average citizen to shift the responsibility of civic management to the shoulders of those willing to take it. This he said resulted in the terrible inefficiency which we find in the governments of many of our large towns and cities. Mr. Wearing tried to impress it upon his audience that the welfare of every citizen should be of interest to every other citizen, and he claimed it was a good thing to see women interesting themselves in municipal affairs, and particularly in the education phase of civic life. He urged too that in all civic planning the needs of the poorer people should be given first consideration.

RALLY DAY SERVICE AT TRINITY CHURCH

ONE OF THE BEST SERVICES IN MANY YEARS.

The Rally Day services at Trinity church on Sunday last were the best in years. The speaker of the day was the Rev. F .W. Langford. M.A., Professor of Religious Education in Victoria University, Toronto, who is one of the ablest of the younger men of the Methodist ministry.

The committee in charge of the arrangements had planned a supper for workers in the Reid street hall on Saturday evening. Over one hundred were in attendance. At the close of the supper, Prof. Langford gave an inspiring address on "The Task of the Church in Religious Education."

Knowing clearly what we have to do, as the first essential to success, was the main thought of this address. The speaker clearly outlined the great programme that is to be carried out to-day in our churches. Religious education he defined as the teaching and training of our youth in such a way that they will adopt the Christian ideal and endeavor to reach Christ's standard of life. It is the making of Christian citizens who in all life's contracts will ring true to lofty and unselfish principles.

On Sunday morning Prof. Langford took as his theme, "The Worth of the Home and the Church in this Programme of Religious Education." He pointed out very clearly that the primary obligation rests upon parents to give thier children instruction and training in religion. This responsibility cannot be laid off on the church. It is the church's business to assist the home in the religious nurture of the child, not to relieve the home of its task.

At the afternoon rally a most interesting programme was carried out. Responsive readings by the schools and hymns suited to the occasion were interspersed with special numbers. Mrs. eorge H. King sang "The Ninety and Nine," Rev. Harold Young and Professor Langford gave brief but interesting talks to the children. The little ones of the Primary Department gave a special musical number. The attendance was excellent, considering the heat, several classes reporting all present.

At the evening service Prof. Langford gave a most delightful sermon on "Putting on a Good Front." His text was taken from Joshua, 1:9, "Be strong and of good courage."

For the sake of our influence upon others; for the advertisement of our religion and for our own sake we should face life with courage and with cheerful face, was the main argument of the sermon. With apt illustrations, the speaker clinched his points.

Professor Langford is a remarkably fluent and pleasing speaker and those who heard his several addresses will not soon forget the Rally Day of 1920.

A meeting of the teachers and officers of the school is to be held tonight and a meeting of the congregation to-morrow night to plan the work of the year and carry into effect some of the suggestions of Professor Langford.

TO DIVIDE CITY INTO DISTRICTS

A SCHEME TO BEAUTIFY THE CITY —OFFICERS NAMED.

At the meeting of the Horticultural Society which was held in the Board of Trade rooms last evening, it was decided to divide the city into districts according to wards and in each district to secure a piece of property to be beautified by the Society as reagrds lawns and flowers.

The scheme is a competitive one and captains will be placed in charge of districts. The society will also secure a piece of property in the centre of the city which will be supervised by the directors.

The captains are:
District 1—J. Boddison.
District 2—J. J. Turner.
District 3—J. H. Callander.
District 4—E. E. Brumwell.
District 5—J. F. Convery.

The competition will be strictly amateur and the citizens are asked to cooperate.

CITY MAY SUSPEND SIDEWALK CONSTRUCTION FOR SEASON

PRICE OF CEMENT HAS GREATLY INCREASED COST, ALDERMAN WHITEHOUSE REPORTS.

Because of the increased cost of cement, Ald. Whitehouse suggested to the Council last night the advisability of suspending the city's concrete sidewalk construction for the rest of this season. Cement alone now represents ten cents in the cost of a square foot of sidewalk.

City Engineer Parsons will bring in a report at the regular meeting next week showing the uncompleted sidewalk programme and also the increased expense due to the mounting cost of cement.

Instructions were given the Board of Works to raise the sidewalk on the north side of Charlotte Street in front of the Charlbond Apartments, and reaching to the English property.

Ald. Crowe called attention to the tarnishing effect on the Hunter Street Bridge by engines shunting into the Quaker Oats sidings. After going to the expense and trouble of facing the bridge with chipped granite, he said, it would be regrettable if the arches were to be blackened with smoke.

Ald. Crowe said that this could be avoided by using electric engines. His suggestion that this idea be given some consideration was referred to the Bridge Committee.

A resolution by Ald. Turner reminds Sir Adam Beck of his promises to a local deputation to acquire the Heffernan property on the south side of Hunter Street, near the bridge, and requests that this understanding be carried out by the Commission.

A Scotch policeman in London was keeping the crowd away in front of the Houses of Parliament. A stout, excited woman endeavoured to pass, but he restrained her.

"I'm the wife of a cabinet minister!" she insisted. "You must let me pass!"

The Scot eyed her unperturbed. "Madam, you couldna pass if ye were the wife of a Presbyterian meenister!"

Aunt Ruth's Beauty Notes

PRESERVE YOUR GOOD LOOKS.

A little coarseness, a little shine, a little cloudiness of skin, and one's good looks are gone! It is so easy, too, to let your Skin acquire these bad little traits unless you know just how to avoid them. Skin specialists say that one can protect the Skin by applying softening and soothing Creams always before venturing out. Never omit this.

Does Powder keep coming off your face, leaving you all shiny and embarrassed?

Before you Powder, take a bit of Ponds' Vanishing Cream, and rub it lightly into the Skin. At once it disappears, leaving your Skin softened. Now Powder as usual, and don't think of it again. The Powder will stay on two or three times as long as ever before. There is not a bit of oil in Ponds' Vanishing Cream, so it cannot reappear to a miserable glisten.

CANAL HELPERS BURNED TO DEATH

SHOCKING TRAGEDY AT WELLAND CANAL IN SHACK NEAR GUARD GATE.

(Canadian Press.)

ST. CATHARINES, Sept. 28. — James Collins and A. P. Doonan, canal helpers, were burned to death early this morning in a shack near the guard gate of the Welland canal, south of Thorold. Each body was burned to a crisp.

The owner of the shack, known as "Yankee Jack," was taken into custody this morning, and will be questioned when he becomes sober. The fire was discovered by the lock tender, who left his shanty to admit the steamer to the lock.

HYDRO RADIALS INQUIRY.

TORONTO, Sept. 28.— The commission to investigate Hydro Radial conditions and propositions is holding its first session this afternoon.

Medical Officer: "Have you any organic trouble?" Recruit: "No, sir; I ain't a bit musical."

COUNCIL'S CHOICE FOR THE MOTHERS' PENSIONS BOARD

MISS MARY STRATTON AND MR. F H. DOBBIN NOMINATED.

For the local advisory board to co-operate with the Mothers' Allowances Commisison the Council last night nominated Miss Mary Stratton and Mr. Frask H. Dobbin and recommended Mrs. Joseph Mills, and Messrs. V. J. McElderry and R. C. Braund as the other three members. According to the Act teh Council appoints two of the five members and the Commission three from the list of those proposed. All the Aldermen except Ald. Morrison took a hand in game of drawing up prospective slates. As usual the Council made the slowest progres when dealing with a question in which the preferment of their friends was involved. After backing and filling for half an hour or more Ald. Turner's motion seconded by Ald. Hamilton secured a majority and that little detail of business was concluded.

The pen is mightier than the sword, in fact it is apt to be a bit more sordid!

FEW FAMILIES OBSERVE EVENT

Besides Rev. L. Rosenfield, there are only three other Jewish families celebrating the Feast of the Tabernacle, strictly in keeping with their law that requires each Jewish family to eat under a hut or tent in which the only covering is of spruce boughs or some similar protection. These others are Mr. Abraham Atkins, 520 Elm street, Wm. Roth, 433 Chambers street and A. Low, Bethune street. However, there is no reflection cast on the faith of those Jews who did not so strictly observe this holiday, for under modern living conditions it is difficult for all to erect a hut unless one is built on the roof, and roofs are not always flat.

CONSTABLE SHOT BY A ROBBER IN HAMILTON TO-DAY

HAMILTON, Sept. 28.—While accosting two men whom he suspected of breaking into a King street east store, Police Constable Merritt was shot four times early this morning. When Merritt started to interrogate the pair, one whipped out a revolver and began firing. The constable knocked down a man named Carroll while the other escaped. The wounded constable succeeded in handcuffing his man and was found prostrate over his body. Carroll, who gave MacNab street address, is 17 years old.

SIXTH BANK CLOSED IN BOSTON TO-DAY

BOSTON, Sept. 28. — Bank Commisioner Allen to-day took over the affairs of the Fidelity Trust Company. His action marked the closing of the sixth banking institution in the city within two months. Reasons given for the closing of the bank were steady withdrawals of deposits and slow and doubtful loans.

GAVE A LECTURE ON THE BRITISH NAVY.

Last evening in the Reid street hall Mr. Nelles Neville gave an interesting and instructive address on "Two Years in the British Navy," basing the lecture upon his own experience afloat. He first outlined some of the more important engagements in which the British navy had figured and later gave some sidelights on the life of the middies and the sub-officers. Mr. Clarke Thackery, who occupied the chair expressed the thanks of the large audience for the interesting talk

Two piano solos by Miss Dorothy Stuart added materially to the success of the evening.

PRESBYTERY HELD A MEETING TO-DAY

NOMINATIONS MADE AT THIS MORNING'S SESSION.

At this morning's session of the Peterborough Presbytery, held in St. Paul's Church, Mr. W. A. Bremner, of Cobourg, submitted his report on the Forward Movement, and upon the reading of the report the Presbytery agreed to continue the spiritual part of the work.

It was agreed by the Presbytery that the Woman's Missionary Society correspond with the members of the local auxiliaries and arrange for a service to be held in each of the congregations of the Presbytery by a representative of the W.M.S.

New Committee.

A new committee, Rev. F. W. Anderson, Port Hope, Rev. W. A. Bremner, of Cobourg, and Rev. A. H. McConnachie of Centreville, was appointed to take up the matter of the Knoxville property.

The following nominations were made: Rev. James Rollins, B.A., to be business manager of the Presbyterian publications; Dr. George Carson, of Halifax, to be editor of the new church paper; Rev. J. McCartney Wilson, of Calgary, to be Professor of Systematic Theology and Apologetics at Robertson College. The matter of the appointment of a Professor for Saskatoon College was referred to the Home Mission Committee of the Church. Rev. C. F. McIntosh, M.A., B.D., of Campbellford, was nominated for Professor of Religious Education in Knox College. Rev. Robert Johnston was appointed Professor of Homilitics in Knox College.

Evening Session.

At the general conference held in St. Paul's Church last evening, a discussion upon "Religion in the Home" by Rev. A. H. McConnachie was led by Rev. P. L. Jull, and Rev. R. S. Scott: on "Promoting Home Religion," by Rev. H. L. Bennie, the discussion was led by Rev. J. R. Herdman and Rev. Cant. Anderson; on "The Relation of Home Religion and Life Service" by Rev. R. McGillivray, the discussion was led by Rev. D. A. Thomson and Rev. Robert Pogue.

To-day's session of the Presbytery was adjourned at noon, when the clergy present had luncheon at the Munro House, and the session for the discussion of general business was continued at 1.30.

A PRESENTATION TO MRS. J. C. DAVIDSON.

At a special meeting of the 57th Chapter, I.O.D.E., held yesterday afternoon, Mrs. J. C. Davidson, the retiring Regent of the Chapter, was presented with a handsome gun metal purse, a token of the regret of the Chapter at her leaving the city to reside in Toronto, and of the lasting affection of the members and appreciation of her work in the Chapter.

The presentation was made by Mrs. R. T. Hounsell, while a suitable address was read by Mrs. J. H. Eastwood.

(Canadian Press.)

DETROIT, Sept. 28.—Hudson and Essex cars take a tumble of from $200 to $450 in price. Willys-Overlands are down $200 and $150.

CANADIAN CALL LOANS DROPPED CONSIDERABLY.

Increase of Eight Million in Note Deposits.

(Canadian Press).

OTTAWA, Sept. 28.—An increase of approximately eight million dollars in note deposits is the outstanding feature of the August bank statement issued to-day by the Finance Department. A decrease of about ten millions in call loans outside Canada as compared with July, is also noticeable. Call loans in Canada have also dropped considerably. In other particulars the statement does not vary much with last month.

DATE SET FOR THE YALE BY-ELECTION

(Canadian Press.)

OTTAWA, Sept. 28.—Officials announcement was made last night that a by-election to fill the vacancy in Yale occasioned by the appointment of Hon. Martin Burrell as Parliamentary Leader, will be held Monday, Nov. 22nd. The date is the same as set by the election in East Elgin.

STR. MELITA ARRIVES WITH DUTCH SETTLERS

(Canadian Press)

MONTREAL, Sept. 27.—Dense fog in the river was responsible for holding up the Melita, of the C.T.O.S., near Cape Rouge, 25 miles from Quebec, last Friday, for four hours, with the result that the vessel only docked here yesterday morning. She carried 1,086 passengers. These included a party of 64 Dutch settlers and a group of Waacs for the West.

BROKE HIS HIP.

While threshing at his own barn, Mr. Ed. Farrow of Colborne, met with a very painful acident. While shifting the blower, he jumped to the floor of the straw shed, the floor giveaway with him and letting him down a distance of about 17 feet, breaking his hip and severely jarring him, so that he has been in a very critical condition for the past few days. Dr. McGlennon is in attendance and Mr. Farrow is doing as well as can be expected.

Without Mr. Farrow's knowledge, the floor had been cracked the day before by a team of horses belonging to another man, which fact was not made known until after the accident.

BUY Long-Term Securities NOW

Money is Scarce and Bond Prices are Low

Just now money is scarce.

To finance the grain harvest, loans to business houses and others are of necessity curtailed and money is "tight."

Money usually available for investment purposes is required to "carry on" business.

Private individuals, therefore, with money to invest, can now get long-term securities at prices which offer unusually high interest yields.

VICTORY BONDS are among the best long-term securities available. We recommend those falling due in 1933, 1937 and 1934.

We shall welcome an opportunity to serve you in your investment matters irrespective of the amount of your funds.

PETES PLAY IN BELLEVILLE TO-MORROW

WILL MEET WESTERN WINNERS IN FIRST GAME OF THE FINALS ON SATURDAY.

The Petes will play an exhibition game in Belleville to-morrow, completing their training for the Ontario finals in which they will take part on Saturday, meeting the winners of the Hamilton-Guelph series on the grounds of the western team. Hamilton beat Guelph 5 to 0 on Saturday and to-morrow the two teams meet in Guelph, re-playing the tie game of last Wednesday. A win for Hamilton will give them the series, while a Guelph victory will tie the teams and they will have to play an extra game on Thursday to decide the issue. From this distance the Plowites of Hamilton look like the winners, and the Petes expect that it will be the Ambitious City crew that they will clash with on Saturday. The local gang will leave on the afternoon C.P.R. train on Friday.

SAYS CICOTTE THREW SERIES TO GAMBLERS

CICOTTE DENIES THE ALLEGATIONS —DOUBLE-CROSSED PLAYERS.

(Canadian Press.)

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 28.—Billy Maharg, former boxer and well known local sporting man, in a story published here yesterday revealed what he claimed to be a plan for "throwing" last year's world's series baseball games. According to the story, the first, second and final games of the series were thrown to Cincinnati by eight members of the Chicago Americans. He said he and Bill Burns, business partner and former American League pitcher, were approached by Eddie Cicotte, the Chicago pitcher, who told them a group of prominent Chicago players would be willing to throw the series if they were given a hundred thousand dollars. Maharg said the White Sox players were double-crossed by Abe Attell, former feather-weight boxer champion, who acted as fixer and go between and that they received only ten thousand. Attel is the man the Chicago grand jury wants, says Maharg's story. He made bets, turned over ten thousand to Burns for the Sox players and double crossed them out of ninety thousand.

Denies Charge.

(United Press.)

CHICAGO, Sept. 28.— Eddie Cicotte denies the charge that he offered to throw the world's series.

NATIONAL LEAGUE FLAG TO BROOKLYN

BOSTON, BY WINNING SECOND GAME, ELIMINATED THE GIANTS FROM RACE.

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—New York was put out of the National League pennant race yesterday, when Boston won the second game of a double header, 3 to 2. The Giants won the first contest, 2 to 1.

Boeckels home run into the left field bleachers in the ninth inning gave Boston its victory, after New York had tied the score in the eighth on Frisch's home run. Both Townsend and Tierotti pitched good ball for the Braves.

New York took the opener by bunching two of its four hits in the fourth inning. These, coupled with two infielders' choices and Maranville's error, gave the Giants two runs. After this inning not a hit was made off Townsend. Nehf kept the visitors' hits scattered. Ryan, who pitched the second game for New York, was hit hard in the late innings. Scores:—

First game—	R.	H.	E.
New York	2	4	1

Batteries—Townsend and O'Neill; Nehf and Synder.

Second Game—	R.	H.	E.
New York	2	6	1

Batteries — Pierotti and Gowdy; Ryan and Smith.

At Chicago—St. Louis concluded its season's work here by trimming Chicago in decisive fashion to-day, 16 to 1. The visitors hammered three local pitchers for 25 hits, totalling 35 bases Chicago fielded poorly, and could do nothing with Schupp, despite seven bases on balls off the latter. Score—

	R.	H.	E.
St. Louis	16	25	0
Chicago	1	7	4

FAIR ACTRESSES WITH ON THE HIRING LINE.

On the right is Donna Bartlett, a beautiful blonde, who just can't help flirting (in the play of course). She "vamps" the poor men all through the play, till "Hubby" comes on the scene. In the centre is Mrs. Wallis Roberts, the "Cook-detective," who is detecting for the first time, and is not at all keen for the work it involves. On the left is pretty little Viola Allin Frayne, who was with "Polly of the Circus" last season. She "falls" awfully hard for the chauffeur for being rather heavily in love with her? "On the Hiring Line" 'appears here at the Grand on October 1st, and from the New York and Chicago papers say it is one of the best comedies in recent years. May Anderson, who is producing the play, appears in the role played by May Irwin last season.

CASH PRIZE FOR CRITICISM PLAY

Who hasn't read the criticisms of shows without feling they could do better? Who haven't wished they were the critic? Here is a chance to prove your ability as a critic by entering the Examiner contest for the best amateur criticisms of "On the Hiring Line" which appears here at the Grand on Friday, October 1st.

"There are no strings attached to this contest. Anyone except employees of this paper or the theatre can enter. All you have to do is to send into this office, within twenty-four hours after you see the play, your honest criticism of it and the acting. For the best criticism, as judged by the editor of this paper, a cash prize of $15 will be awarded. The winner will be announced in these columns within one week As an example of what has been done, following are extracts from the criticism of the play appearing in the Philadelphia Press Dec. 30, 1919.

"The Philadelphia Theatre was opened last evening under the direction of Walter F. Wanger. Its new policy was inaugurated with the presentation by George C. Tyler of one of the season's comedy successes on Broadway, namely, 'On the Hiring Line", with May Irwin as the star.

"On the Hiring Line", by Harvey O'Higgins and Harriet Ford, proved a most hilarious affair. The audience, who had mostly come in automobiles, chortled and laughed, through the three acts of satire and faricial humor No audience could have been better pleased with a performance which aimed anly at provoking unrestrained hilarity. The three acts are laid in the living room of the Fessenden residence, somewhere in New Jersey. Fessenden had maried an actress and she does not take kindly to life in the country. She is determined to get back to New York to live. To this end she takes advantage of the difficulty of hiring and keeping servants to disgust her husband, a business man by managing to discharge several sets of cooks and butlers within a month.

At the biennial convention of the General Federation Women's Clubs, held in Des Moines, there was passed a resolution condemning the use of cigarettes by women.

GOOD PICTURE IS SHOWING AT GRAND

All the romance of Robert Louis Stevenson an dthe adventure of a Jack London story, yet entirely different in theme, are to be found in "The Adorable Savage," the latest feature starring Edith Roberts, which was shown here for the first time at the Grand Theatre last night.

It has been a long time since the screen has offered a story of the South Sea Islands, and it is doubtful if one has ever been produced with such accuracy and such painstaking attention to detail. We are told that the director, Norman Dawn, spent over a year among the islands of the South Seas in search of travelogue material, and one can well believe this who sees "The Adorable Savage."

In this photodrama the delightful Edith Roberts is first shown as a happy student in a fashionable girls' school, where she has been ever since she can remember. She has a faint recollection of a home in the Fiji Islands, where her father lives and owns a plantation. Her studies completed, she is sent for by her father and arriving on the island is horrified to discover that her sister, born of the same parents, is as dark as any of the natives. She realizes that her mother had been an islander and that an inseparable gulf lies between her and the life to which she had been raised.

This forms the basis of a story which is vibrant with dramatic situations, rich in character studies and which gives unlimited opportunity for scenic effects. A hurricane in the tropics, the lure of the South Seas, all are shown with remarkable fidelity.

"EXPERIENCE"

"Experience" aptly described as the most wonderful play in America, now in its seventh season of remarkable prosperity, will be presented by F. Ray Comstock and Morris Gest at the Grand on October 2nd.

The career of "Experience" in the past few years has been little less than remarkable and the announcement of the coming of this big dramatic and comedy success is sure to result in capacity houses. Seven years ago Messrs. Comstock and Gest produced this play for the first time and since then it has played in most of the big cities of the United States from Coast to Coast and has enjoyed remarkable endorsement from Press and Clergy everywhere it has been presented. Now in its seventh season the managers have provided a complete new scenic production and new costumes for the ladies in the company. The cast has been selected with great care and will be one of the strongest that has ever presented this wonderful morality play.

MRS. M. A. TRESTRAIL PRODUCING MANAGER

BUYS GEORGE TYLER'S NEW YORK PRODUCTION, "ON THE HIRING LINE"—PLAYS AT GRAND OCT. 1ST.

(Toronto World)

Mrs. M. A. Trestrail, known to the profession as May Anderson, and who has made her home in Toronto for the last six years, is the first woman producing manager in Canada.

Mrs. Trestrail has just purchased the original New York production of George Tyler's comedy, "On the Hiring Line", in which May Irwin scored such a hit last season. The play is by Harvey O'Higgins and Harriet Ford and is a clean, wholesome, satrical farce, about domestic servant problems, very cleverly handled, and it received exceptionally favorable criticism from the critics in New York, as well as in Philadelphia and Chicago. The play has never appeared in Canada, although it probably would have been produced by the Robins Players in Toronto this summer had not Mrs Trestrail secured it.

Mrs. Trestrail is in New York at the present time, where she has engaged her entire cast, and is rehearsing for the opening at Oshawa on Sept. 27, and from reports she is going to have a production that will be a great credit to this, her first venture in the producing field. She is not only directing and staging the production, but will appear in the role played by May Irwin last season.

Old-time theatregoers will remember Mrs. Trestrail as May Anderson with the old Cummings Stock at the former Princess Theatre, in 1900. She has also played here with several road companies, and, when her two boys settled in Toronto, she decided to make her home here, and was director of dramatic art at the Canadian Academy of Music for two seasons, until one of her sons went to France, when she went back in the profession to keep her time and attention from the war.

It has been the ambition of her life to produce her own show, but she was determined never to do so, until she could bring out a first-class New York production, and the success of her sons in this country having made that possible, she decided to make her tour exclusively Canadian, and will cover Canada from Halifax to Vancouver, appearing in Peterboro Oct. 1st., at the Grand Opera House.

All That Concerned Him.

Farmer Giles: "Well, parson, ah don't care if she's hand-made 'un or machine-made 'un, so long as she's a well-made 'un!"

BOARD OF COMMERCE.

OTTAWA, Sept. 27. — There will be no delay in connection with the hearing of the argument before the Privy Council in the reference which will decide the question of the jurisdiction of the Board of Commerce. The hearing will take place in November and will not be postponed as suggested by certain of the provinces. The Federal Government, it is authoritatively stated, has notified the provinces that the urgency of the matter is such that the Dominion cannot consent to the delay suggested.

MUSICAL COMEDY HIT PUT IN THE PICTURES

UNIQUE PICTURE COMING TO THE GRAND THEATRE.

Only an actor, a musician or an artist can appreciate the sacrifice made by little Anne Cornwall, Universal star, in order to play the role of Lucille in "La La Lucille," supporting Eddie Lyons and Lee Moran, who will be seen at the Grand Theatre to-morrow and Thursday.

When Miss Cornwall was in New York last Fall she attended the Broadway theatre where "La La Lucille," a musical comedy, was enjoying a healthy run. She immediately fell in love with the part of Lucille and hoped some day she might be able to portray it on the screen. When she played with Lyons and Moran in "Everything But the Truth" she continually talked about "La La Lucille" until Eddie and Lee were so impressed that they secured the screen rights to the piece.

Since then, however, Anne Cornwall was promoted to stardom, and gained individual success in such productions as "The Path She Chose" and "The Girl in the Rain." When she learned that Lyons and Moran were to produce 'La La Lucille" in the films she volunteered to forego her stardom for a while in order that she might play with the comedy pair an dportray the role of Lucille.

In the comedy Luicle is the daughter of a famous vaudeville juggler who, arrayed in silken hose and satin panties, assists her father on the stage catches his plates and adds a finish to the performance. She is wooed and won by Johnnie Smith (Eddie Lyons) and it is his rich aunt's disapproval of the match which starts the riot of fun Miss Cornwall will resume her stellar career immediately.

EXQUISITE PICTURES OF ALICE JOYCE ARE SEEN IN "THE PREY"

Alice Joyce has been called the Madonna of the silver scren because of her classic features and poses. Nowhere does she appear to better advantage or look more stately than in the scenes of "The Prey," a powerful story of social life, which will be shown at the Allen theatre on Wednesday and Thursday.

Beautiful silhouettes, exquisite lighting effects and gorgeous gowns emphasize the charm of this talented actress. Her role offers her many opportunities in the way of emotional acting. Every move, every look and every pause expresses some inward feeling, which reacts upon the spectator and sends him away from the theater feeling that he has seen a feature worth while.

Miss Joyce is ably supported by a strong cast of capable players. An elaborate banquet scene, in which a talented Egyptian dancer performs adds to the spectacular quality of the production.

MADAME VICTORIA THE HUN SPYETET

Mme. Victorica, who died in New York a few days ago, was the best known female spy in the United States and is said to have been the only woman, despatched to that country by the German foreign office. She was active enough to get herself arrested and interned and no doubt she played a part in the destruction of many of the munition factories and ships that were carrying supplies to the Allies, but we cannot find in a review of her career that she accomplished anything of importance off her own bat. She wrote leters in invisible ink and spent large sums of money in securing information. Perhaps some of the lattter was useful to the U-boats, but most of it was of the sort that could easily be picked up and which would be difficult to take advantage of because of the activity of the British navy. On the whole we doubt if Germany got much value for the money it invested in Mme. Victorica but the madame had a good time as long as the funds lasted.

No Oppenheim Vamp.

Mme. Victorica was a German by birth, and before going to the United States at the order of the German government she had lived for some years in South America. Ostensibly she was a newspaper correspondent, and certainly she wrote articles home to the German newspapers, but her chief correspondence was with the foreign office. She was three times married, her last venture being made shortly before she left South America. This marriage appears to have been a nominal one, undertaken for the purpose of getting a South American name on her passport. Madame was no vamp such as readers of fiction are familiar with from the pages of Mr. E. Phillips Oppenheim. She was quite stout, and quite forty, and quite Germanic in appearance. But she was clever enough, had travelled widely, spoke several languages and had a valuable gift of guiding a conversation along lines that might prove profitable by reason of an unguarded remark. She dressed expensively, lived at the most fashionable of New York hotels, spent her money freely and was by no means difficult to become acquainted with.

Codes and Inks.

Madame Victorica, of course, was not expected to go out and with her own pudgy hands plant a bomb or wreck a ship. Her field was chiefly literary. She corresponded regularly with German agents in the United States and in other foreign countries and also with the German foreign office. She was handsomely equipped and upholstered for this duty, for she had perhaps the most elaborate outfit of secret codes, inks and other haberdashery that ever fell into the hands of the secret service men in the United States. Most of her messages were writen in secret codes and also in secret inks, so that if the writing were discovered the words would be meaningless unless the cipher too was read, but as there is no cipher that cannot be solved if enough knowledge brought to the task, so it happened that the madame's most secret communications have found their way into the pages of the newspapers.

Good Judgment After Eating

Giving the Stomach the Alkaline Effect by a Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet is Worth Remembering.

You cannot, as a rule, say in advance that this, that or the other food will cause indigestion. Experience has taught most people that even mince pie fits snugly at times while at others a glass of milk raises hobs with the stomach.

One good rule to follow is the preventative measures of taking one or two Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets after meals. You thus avoid gassiness, sour stomach, heartburn and such distresses due to indigestion or dyspepsia. These tablets also help to digest the food by giving the stomach the alkaline effect to offset acidity; they relieve the distress when the mince pie or milk should be more than a match for your digestive powers. Get a 60 cent box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets at any drug store and note how nicely they seem to calm the stomach when it feels all upset.

But it doesn't happen often—unless you are the exception, or have been very lucky in your choice of a bed.

Beds are made to sleep in—yet the chances are that your bed (whether wood or the ordinary metal bed) creaks slightly here, is a little unsteady there. Perhaps your spring sags or your mattress and pillow are lumpy and unsanitary.

* * *

It is wonderful how the right kind of Bed Spring invites perfect relaxation and deep, sound sleep.

* * *

The sleep inducing Spring is a Simmons "Waldorf," of specially tempered spring coils. Fine Springs that fit the contour of the body and support the spine in a straight line, insuring perfect circulation and restoring the energy used up in the fatigue of the day.

Simmons Felt Mattresses are the result of twenty-five years' study of equipment for sound, natural sleep. Made of pure, new cotton in clean, sun-lit factories. Used in thousands of fastidious Canadian homes.

And Simmons Pillows, which rest the head and neck exactly as they need to be rested.

If you know only wooden beds or ordinary metal beds, and the average spring, mattress and pillows—ask the leading merchants in town about Simmons Metal Beds, Springs, Mattresses and Pillows, Day Beds and Children's Cribs.

They are built for sleep—yet they cost little if any more than the casual merchandise of the ordinary store.

And when you are selecting your Simmons Beds with an eye to their appearance in the room, you will see that Simmons has for the first time established beautiful and authoritative design in Metal Beds.

GEORGE STREET EPWORTH LEAGUE PROGRAMME.

The second meeting of the George street Epworth League was held last evening at eight o'clock in the Sunday school room. There was a good attendance, and the programme, in charge of the Christian Citizenship Department, was enjoyed by all.

Mr. Ellis, who was the speaker of the evening, gave a very instructive and interesting talk. He summarized the various systems of government that have been tried and have failed, pointing out through their failures, that Christian ideals are necessary for the success of any government.

The musical numbers, which were well rendered and enjoyed, were as follows:

Piano solo, Miss M. Sucee.
Vocal solo, Miss J. Frederick.
Vocal solo, Mr. Jones.

OBITUARY

MISS LYLE MARKS

Miss Lyle Marks, a former resident of Peterborough, passed away at her home, 16 Havelock street, Toronto, on Friday morning, September 24th, after a lingering illness extending over several months. Deceased was born in this city and lived for som time at 504 Aylmer street from whence she removed to Toronto fourteen years ago. She was well-known and highly esteemed in Peterborough, and will be remembered as head milliner with Miss Delaney for many years.

The late Miss Lyle Marks is survived by her mother, Mrs. M. J. Marks, relict of the late Mr. Irwin Marks; by two sisters, Mrs. F. W. Parkes and Mrs. George Smith; and two brothers, William I. and James M. all of Toronto.

Interment took place in the Little Lake Cemetery, on the arrival of the C.P.R. noon train from Toronto yesterday.

PRESENTATION TO MISS M. SANDERSON

AS RESIGNED FROM STAFF OF NICHOLLS HOSPITAL.

After filling the position of assistant superintendent of the Nicholls Hospital for the past eight years, Miss Sarah A. Sanderson has resigned, and leaves the city at the end of the month.

Upon the occasion of her resignation, in order to express their regret at her leaving the hospital, the members of the Nicholls Hospital gathered in the reception room of the Hospital this morning, and Dr. J. A. Morgan, on behalf of the medical profession of the city, presented Miss Sanderson with a handsome travelling bag, acompanied by the following address:

Peterborough, 28th Sept., 1920.

Dear Miss Sanderson:

Your leaving Nicholls School and Hospital presents an opportunity for your friends of the medical profession to say a few things which they wish for their own sakes as well as for yours to express.

The relations which we have sustained to each other have been such that no matter what our feelings might be we had few opportunities of expressing them. The profession to which you belong is nothing if it is not practical. We are not encouraged to be particularly sentimental as we seek to ease pain and help to heal the sick. However, back of all the inevitable machinery of our calling we must discern in each other qualities that call for admiration. These we may say you possess in a marked degree. You have so sought to do your duty and to help others to do theirs that we can truly say as you go from us that we are losing one whose place will not readily be filled with us. On many occasions you have shown a sympathy and a desire to co-operate with us that must leave a lasting impression on us all.

Emerson said in one of his essays, "I woke up this morning with a feeling of real thanksgiving for my friends." We all have that feeling with regard to you, apart from the "waking up," because this has not recently come to us, although you may never have heard us express it before.

Will you accept this bag from us to-day as something that will be with you wherever you travel to remind you of the lasting regard of the doctors you have left behind?

Miss Sanderson replied to the address with a few words, and assured the doctors and nurses of her continued interest in the Hospital and in the staff.

BASEBALL

The Peterborough ball club will leave for Belleville on the 8.15 G.T.R. train to-Gmorrow morning. The players are asked to report at the Water street alleys to-night.

Self-Government For Ireland is Endorsed In Grey's Proposals

FORMER AMBASSADOR TO THE UNITED STATES UNDERLINES THREE CARDINAL POINTS OF SOLUTION FOR THE PRESENT TROUBLE—MILITARY UNION ESSENTIAL.

MAKE IRISH RESPONSIBLE

(Canadian Press.)

LONDON, Sept. 29. — Viscount Grey, former Ambassador to the United States, in a letter to the Westminster Gazette to-day, puts forward new proposals for the solution of the Irish problem.

He declares the present Home Rule Bill is not accepted by anyone and says: "The only practicable policy that offers any prospects of success seems to me to have three cardinal points.

"First a definite announcement that for these two islands of Great Britain and Ireland there can be only one foreign policy, one arm and one navy, and that they cannot stand separation in this matter any more than north could stand separation of south in the United States.

Second. With this exception Irishmen must be as free as the peoples of the great self-governing Dominion to settle for themselves how their country is to be governed.

Third. To give time for them to come to agreement with each other and draw up their own scheme, the British government will continue to perform, as best it can the function of government in Ireland for a period not to exceed two years, but at the end of that period, or sooner if Ireland is ready, it will withdraw, arranging itself, if need be, fair terms for the retiring constabulary and those who have served it, and the responsibility for Irish government will be on Irishmen themselves."

DENIES CONNIVANCE.

LONDON, Sept. 28.— Reprisals in Ireland are neither connived at nor supported by the Government, it was declared to-day by Sir Hamar Greenwood, the Chief Secretary for Ireland. Sir Hamar made this statement in reply to the storm of criticism which has been raised in the British Press over the recent declaration of General Sir Neville Macready, Commander of the military forces in Ireland, made in an interview, in which he was quoted as saying that the reprisals were not actuated by any set policy of the Government, but that the situation might become such, if the guerrilla warfare of the Irish Republican army continued, that reprisals would be necessary.

Orders by Government.

"There is no truth in the allegation that the Government connived at or supported reprisals," declared Sir Hamar in to-day's statement, made public in a special communication to The Pall Mall Gazette. "The Government condemns reprisals, has issued orders condemning them, and has taken steps to prevent them.

"Nearly 100 policemen have been brutally murdered, five recently in Clare on one day by expanding bullets, resulting in horrible mutilation. In spite of the intolerable provocation, the police forces maintain their discipline, are increasing in number and efficiency, and command the support of every law-abiding citizen. The number of alleged reprisals is few, and the damage done exaggerated."

LONDON HEARS RUMOURS BUT NONE ARE VERIFIED

LONDON, Sept. Sept. 29.—Rumours of wide-spread plots which have ranged from conspiracies to assassinate King George to blowing up public buildings, have been current in London during the past few days. These reports have been caused by fear that the lives of public men in Great Britain might be jeopardized should any of the Irish hunger strikers die, particularly now that the black and tan police have made reprisals in several Irish towns. Police authorities have investigated some of the more plausible stories and newspapers have run down many more, always with the same negative result.

VETERANS' BOX CAR TRIP TO CONVENTION

American Legionaries Perpetuate War Phrase "40 Men and 8 Horses."

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 29.—A score of World War veterans left here in a box car for the national convention of the American Legion at Cleveland, travelling exactly as they did when they were soldiers in France.

All are members of the Voiture Nationale la Societe des 40 Hommes et 8 Chevaux, or National Vehicle, the Society of 40 Men and 8 Horses, named after the signs appearing on the box cars in France, made to hold eight horses and forty men during the war. The car was attached to a regular Pennsylvania Railroad passenger train.

On the way to Cleveland the delegation will pick up other freight cars containing members of the organization in towns along the way. By the time the convention city is reached members of the party said they expected to have a good sized train of box cars filled with former soldiers.

AID SOLICITED FOR CHILDREN

TAG DAY WILL BE HELD ON SATURDAY, OCTOBER 9TH.

Why the citizens of Peterborough should support the Children's Aid Society Tag Day or Oct. 9:

1. Because the society is run by public subscription.

2. Because it works for abused and neglected children.

3. Because of the number of men and women who give their time and money to help the children.

To amplify these reasons:

1st—The society pays its way out of public subscriptions, only the expenses of visiting the wards being provided by the government. The expenses of the Shelter have increased greatly because of the increased price of foodstuffs, fuel, clothing, etc. For instance the coal bill this year is $238.00.

2nd—A great deal of the good work done by the C.A.S. officials cannot be reported. It is a protective work and many a home has been saved and many children saved from a life of sin and disgrace. Families are often spared the disgrace of appearing in police court through this preventative work.

As one illustration some time ago, two little girls aged 15 quarrelled and the quarrel finally ended in blows. Only for the interference of the agent the parents would have gone to court, but he made an amicable settlement between the children's quarrel.

3rd. Amongst those who assist and direct the affairs of the society are prominent business and professional men of the city who, although pressed in their own work, give their time gladly to help the little ones without any remuneration. Operations and medical attention is given by the local physicians, the youngsters' eyes are cared for by a prominent oculist and the children's teeth are filled and cared for by one of the dentists. Even a well known barber cut the children's hair gratis.

Won't you help too.

17TH LANCERS SACK TOWN IN IRELAND

AFTER SINN FEIN RAID ON BARRACKS IN MALLOW.

Canadian Press.

CORK, Sept. 29. — The sacking of the town of Mallow, County Cork, during last night, followed promptly on the Sinn Fein coup of yesterday in which the military baracks were raided and a sergeant was killed.

Not the Black and Tans but the 17th Lancers are said to have exacted reprisals.

There was much promiscuous shooting by the soldiers but no casualties have been reported. The fire was still burning this afternoon.

The creamery, the town hall, mills and many houses have been burned. The damage amounts to several thousand pounds.

MARRIAGE.

WADE—DERRICK.—On Wednesday, 29th September, 1920, in St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, Peterborough, by the Rev. Robt. Pogue, Hazel I., youngest daughter of Mr. F. Derrick, 479 King Street, to Allan E. Wade, son of the late T. E. Wade, and Mrs. Wade, 87 London Street.

In the opinion of one local fruit wholesaler there will be plenty of peaches next week. While the first grade peaches will be hard to get, good second grades would be plentiful. In the stores the price to-day varied from 90 cents to $1.25.

It is still difficult to get baskets, he told the Examiner and the barrel shortage promises to be as great. Barrels are now worth $1.75 compared with 40 or 50 cents five years ago. This will hit the apple growers and it looks as if the apple buyer this year will pay as much for the barrel as for the fruit. Grocers and fruit dealers are paying the lowest price for apples they have paid in recent years and it is said that barrels of apples are going to waste because the farmers are too busy to bring them to town, and because of the impossibility of bringing any great quantity and of the low price prevailing now. The farmers' hogs are enjoying themselves in many orchards now reports declare.

Grapes Arriving.

Grapes are coming into the city more abundantly than last week. The price is double that which people have generally paid in other seasons, and with the high price of sugar the making of grape jelly and wine will present obvious financial difficulties. It is expected that the price will be down to 40 or 45 cents next week.

Buy Back Baskets.

In other places retailers have somewhat relieved the basket shortage by buying back from their customers the baskets which have heretofore found their way to the furnace or cook stove, but there has been no action along this line in Peterborough. It would cost too much to collect them, was the reason advanced by one wholesaler.

CICOTTE, JOE JACKSON AND LEFTY WILLIAMS CONFESS TO HAVING "THROWN" 1919 WORLD'S SERIES

ABE ATTELL, MENTIONED AS LEADING "FIXER" IN BASEBALL'S BLACKEST SCANDAL, THREATENS TO TELL THE INSIDE OF THE DEAL.

GAMBLERS INDICTED

(Special to The Examiner.)

NAMES GANDIL AT THE CHIEF INTERMEDIARY

CHICAGO, September 29. — The identity of the alleged go betweens and gamblers who bribed the White Sox players was revealed in the confession made to the grand jury to-day by Claude Williams who joined Cicotte and Jackson in making a clean breast of the 1919 frame up.

Williams named Chick Gandil, a former White Sox player as the chief go-between on the team, and Brown and Sullivan from either New York or Boston, as the go-betweens for the gamblers.

True bills were immediately voted for these men by the Jury.

Williams said that he was supposed to get twenty thousand and Jackson the same, but that he received only ten, half of which he gave Jackson.

NEW YORK, N. Y., Sept. 29. — Threats to tell things about the "inmade the goat" of Arnold Rothstein, will crack open the baseball world," were made here to-day by Abe Attell, former featherweight champion, and mentioned as one of the "fixers" of the last series.

Attell claimed that he was being "made the goat" of Aronld Rothstein, wealthy New York gambler, who has maintained that he refused to go in on the deal with the gamblers, who told him that enough White Sox players could be "fixed" to throw the series to the Cincinnati Reds.

Indictments Against Gamblers.

CHICAGO, Sept. 29.—The first indictments against gamblers alleged to have been connected with the conspiracy to throw the 1919 world's series to Cincinnati, were returned by the Cook County grand jury to-day.

"Sport" Sullivan of Boston a man by the name of Brown, named as the "fixers" by Claude Williams, were charged with conspiracy to do an illegal act.

"Lefty" Williams Confessed.

CHICAGO, Sept. 29.— The third confession by which the White Sox players were indicted for alleged throwing of the 1919 world series to Cincinnati, was announced by the authorities to-day.

"Lefty" Williams, pitcher, told of his part in the alleged conspiracy, Assistant States Attorney Hartley Replogle, in charge of the investigation, announced. Williams was named by "Shoeless Joe" Jackson as the man who gave him $5,000. Williams named all of the gamblers who were involved in the deal, Reploglee announced.

Cicotte's Confession.

CHICAGO, Sept. 28.—Indictments were voted against eight baseball stars to-day and confessions obtained from two of them, when the Old Roman, Charles A. Comiskey, owner of the oft-time champion Chicago White Sox smashed his pennant chasing machine to clean up baseball. The confession told how the Sox threw last year's world's championship to Cincinnati for money paid by gamblers. To-night Edward Cicotte, pitcher, and Joe Jackson, outfielder, are in the custody of the deputy sheriff.

Seven Sox regulars and one former player comprise the players against whom true bills were voted by the Cook County grand jury and the seven were immediately suspended by Mr. Comiskey. With his team only game behind the league leading Cleveland Indians, the White Sox owner served notice on his seven stars that if they were found guilty, he would drive them out of organized baseball for the rest of their lives.

Officials of Chief Justice Charles McDonald's court, desirous of giving the national game the benefit of publicity in its purging, lifted the curtain on the grand jury proceedings sufficiently to show a great hitter, Joe Jackson, declaring that he deliberately just tapped the ball, a picture of one of the most famous of pitchers. Cicotte, in tears, and glimpses of alleged bribes of $5,000 or $10,000 discovered under pillows or on beds by famous athletes about to retire.

Around the court room at one time or another were some of baseball's great leaders, among them John J. McGraw, manager of the New York Giants, awaiting call to testify and John Heydler, president of the National League, who went before the grand jury this afternoon.

The exact nature of the information Mr .Comiskey put before the grand jury was not disclosed. The men whom the jury involved as a result of testimony uncovered by their owner were:

The Guilty Ones.

Eddie Cicotte, star pitcher, who waived immunity and confessed, according to court attaches, that he took a $10,000 bribe.

Charles ("Swede") Risberg, shortstop.

Claude Williams, pitcher.

Fred McMullin, utility player.

While the grand jurors voted their true bills the Old Roman, seated in the midst of his crumbling empire out at White Sox Park, issued the telegram suspending those involved, paid off Weaver, Cicotte and Jackson on the spot and announced that cheques for pay due the others would be sent them at once. With his voice trembling, Mr. Comiskey, who has owned the White Sox since the inception of the American League, said this was the first time scandal had ever touched his "family" and that it distresed him too much to talk about it.

Comiskey's Note.

Comiskey's note suspending the seven players follows:

"To Charles Risberg, Fred McMullin, Joe Jackson, Oscar Felsch, George Weaver, C. P. Williams and E. V. Cicotte:

"You and each of you are hereby notified of your indefinite suspension as a member of the Chicago American League baseball club.

"Your suspension is brought about by information which has come to me directly involving you and each of you in the baseball scandal (now being investigated by the Cook County grand jury) resulting from the world's series of 1919.

"If you are innocent of wrong-doing, you and each of you will be reinstated; if you are guilty, you will be

Conspiracy Charges Against Provincial U.F.O. Heads Dropped

BUT HEARING OF ARGUMENT AGAINST DUFFERIN COUNTY FARMERS' ORGANIZATION WAS TRANSFERRED TO OSGOODE HALL.

NO SUPPORTING EVIDENCE

ORANGEVILLE, September 28. — Charges of intimidation, conspiracy, bribery and corruption, preferred against the U.F.O central organization, against J. J. Morrison, secretary of the association and R. H. Halbert, former president, melted away to-day at the hearing of the protest made by John Reburn, defeated Conservative candidate, against Thomas K. Slack, elected U.F.O. member for Dufferin. The end of the hearing in Orangeville came this evening. Owing to the lack of necessary reference law books on certain points which had arisen, Gordon N. Shaver, acting with Col. W. H. Price, M.P.P., as counsel for Mr. Reburn, asked that the hearing of the argument on charges against the U.F.O. county organization, be transferred to Osgoode Hall. This was assented to by Chief Justice Sir William Mulock, and Mr. Justice Rose, who were on the Bench, and Thursday, at 11 o'clock fixed for the final hearing.

No Financial Aid.

Charges of intimidation, bribery and widespread corruption against the U.F.O., J. J. Morrison and R. H. Halbert broke when Mr. Morrison and Mr. Halbert were put on the stand by Mr. Gordon Waldron, counsel for the respondent. "I find no evidence of any widespread corruption against the central organization," said Chief Justice Sir William Mulock. When further suggestions were made that the U.F.O. had sent financial aid from the central body to Dufferin county Sir William again repeated that evidence did not show it. "There is no evidence that any financial aid was given by the central organization to Mr. Slack in this election," he said.

These charges were then withdrawn by Mr. Shaver. When asked if he wished to withdraw the charges of intimidation, Mr. Shaver said that it was not necessary—they fell of their own weight. "There has been no evidence in support of it," commented Sir Willaim Mulock.

NO VALID REASON FOR INCREASE IN RATES

PREDICTS CONTINUOUS FIGHT AGAINST RAILWAY BOARD'S JUDGMENT.

OTTAWA, Sept. 29. — "If this judgment is correct, it is a judgment that entitles them to take 10 per cent. dividends and in addition from 10 to 15 millions by way of an annual surplus. To the yoke of such a judgment, Mr. Premier, the people will never submit. There will be a continuous fight against it."

In this sentence Manitoba Government's counsel, W. J. Symington, expressed his general objection to the recent judgment of the Railway Board, increasing the railway freight and pasenger rates, when the appeal from such a judgment was being argued to-day before Premier Meighen and the Cabinet.

Hugh Blanch, the president of the wholesale grocers, vigorously supported the appeal, declaring that there was no valid reason for an increase in the rates and thereby imposing a heavy burden on the consumers.

G. R. Geary, Toronto corporation counsel, expressed his opinion that the railways had not been frank in their way of bringing their application in the first place. They had asked for 30 per cent. increase, knowing well that the wage commission was going to issue a report from Chicago on a certain date.

When that report had come out they had advanced their demand to 40 per cent., on the plea that they must pay increased wages.

DIED SUDDENLY AT SOCIAL GATHERING

MRS. ALBERT SPENCELEY STRICKEN WITH HEART FAILURE AT C.G.E. FOOTBALL CLUB PARTY.

While playing cards at a progressive euchre party and dance held in the G.W.V.A. hall last evening under the auspices of the C.G.E. Football Club, Emma Evelyn Clarke, wife of Albert Spenceley of 10 Victoria Road dropped dead of heart failure at 11.30 o'clock.

Dr J. A. Morgan was called and upon his arrival a very few minutes later pronounced life extinct.

As Mrs. Spenceley moved to the head table she called to her husband who she was leaving behind, "You'll be with me soon, daddy."

Deceased had been in her usual good health before leaving home that evening but had previously suffered from such heart attacks.

She was born in Killarney, Manitoba, 29 years ago. She leaves of the immediate family, her husband and three children, Marcella, Frank, and Earl.

The funeral will be held on Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the family residence to Little Lake Cemetery Rev. J. R. Webb officiating.

P. C. BOYD SAVED UGLY SITUATION AT STATION

L. Lewis, the negro sleeping car porter, who was arrested in Havelock last night and taken from the Toronto-Ottawa train on a charge of stealing $490 from a passenger, W. J. Holcroft of Havelock, put up a hard fight for liberty in the police station early this morning.

He was taken into custody by Canadian Pacific Railway Constable Evans who brought him to Peterboro with little difficulty as he evidently thought that he would be merely questioned and then released. When he found that he was to be detained at the police station he made a strong effort to escape.

Police Sergeant Reid and C. P. R. Constable Evans were the only others in the station and before they could get him into a cell he broke away from them. They grappled with him. Before they could overpower him he managed to seize an iron bar standing nearby and he proceeded to fan the air with this, keeping the officers at a distance. If it had not been for the opportune entry of Police Constable Boyd someone might have suffered injury. Boyd entered unnoticed by the negro, seized him from behind. The three officers then overpowered the porter and rushed him to a place of safety behind the bars.

PEACE TERMS PROPOSED BY THE SOVIET CESSATION OF HOSTILITIES WITHIN 48 HOURS AND TEMPORARY NEUTRAL ZONE BETWEEN ARMIES.

NO POLITICAL ACTIVITY

(Canadian Press)

RIGA, Sept. 29.—The terms suggested by the Soviet Peace Delegation include a proposal that hostilities cease within forty-eight hours after the preliminary peace treaty is signed and that Polish troops withdrawn approximately fifteen miles westward of demarkation line. They undertake to agree that the Russians will with draw the same distance, maintaining a rate of twelve miles in the first twenty-four hours. This strip of terrtory will be a neutral zone during the final peace arrangements, both Poland and Russia agreing that they will not tolerate in the zone the formation or maintenance of governments or organizations opposed to the present governments in either country.

At the last meeting of the Woman's Institute, held at the home of Mrs. Wallace Anderson, there was a large number of members present. After the regular and some new business was done, Rev. Mr. Vose spoke on the need of the Referendum. He said that as an ambassador of Jesus Christ he must espouse the cause of temperance. He stood for a world-wide Prohibition. Where Prohibition is in one place, often other places manufacture more to keep up the supply they used to get from the closed places. At present in Ontario we have not bars, but it may come in wholesale from other places to private houses. His whole address was an earnest appeal that all would stand firmly to do everything possible to for ever stop the use of alcoholic beverages.

Rev. Voss hopes at some future date, to address the ladies on "Magazines and Other Reading Matter."

After the meeting was closed, the hostess served a dainty luncheon, and a very pleasant social half-hour was spent over the teacups.

Save Your Eyes

Should you wear glasses?

GLASSES are worn for three reasons. They help the wearer to see comfortably and well, they preserve the sight, and by removing all strain from the eyes they improve the general health.

Try to grasp the full meaning of this.

Think what it means to have your sight preserved. That is what glasses do for those who need them.

You know how much your eyes are worth to you, but you don't know whether you need glasses or not. You cannot tell the exact condition of your eyes, but if you consult a qualified Optometrist, he can tell you. He knows.

EAST CITY SCHOOL FAIR SECOND ONLY TO THE EXHIBITION

Pupils of the Immaculate Conception school, Ashburnham, held their annual school fair yesterday afternoon in the Assembly Hall. The exhibits both collectively and singly outrivalled any previous exhibits brought in by the little ones from the school garden or from their home plots.

Pumpkins, potatoes, squash, onions, apples and every variety of fruit and vegetable were heaped on little tables about the room while the central stand was built in five tiers each covered with yellow crepe paper of a truly Hallowe'en shade upon which more fruit and vegetables were arranged, while ivy in all the glory of the autumn shades was twined veryy prettily about the blocks. At a table at the head of the room tempting home cooking was displayed, while the stage was literally covered with sewing done by the little ones, some of it bearing the first stitch some of the little girls had ever attempted, while some of the more advanced pupils had accomplished some particularly clever pieces of needle work.

After the parents and friends of the litle ones had viewed the exhibits all were invited to assemble at the rear of the school, where Monsignor McColl, Father J. O'Brien, Father Cantillon, Father McGuire, Father Cote, Father Costello and Inspector J. P. Finn addressed the children, complimenting them upon the splendid results of their amateur gardening and dwelling upon the opportunities a knowledge of how to look after a garden offers.

Two Speeches.

Two speeches which were very heartily applauded and proved most amusing to the auditors were "A Boy" by Harry Leahy and "A Girl" by Susanna Holland. Each of the pupils showed considerable oratorical promise and training which reflected the great credit upon the Sisters at the school.

Sports Programme.

The sports programme was a feature of the day and the different races closely and enthusiastically contested. The choruses by the little ones at the school were a very enjoyable feature of the afternoon.

CANADIAN LIVE HOG INDUSTRY SUSTAINS $11,000,000 LOSS

OTTAWA, Sept 27.—The live hog industry of Canada sustained a loss of approximately $11,000,000 during the seven months ending July 31. The sum represent the difference in value between the visible hog marketing during that period and the same period of 1919. The loss in revenue is attributed to the liquidation of breeding stock during 1919.

CLAIMS DISCRIMINATION AGAINST BROCKVILLE.

Brockville Trades Council has lodged a strong protest against the Attorney-General's Department, for cancelling some of the Midway attractions engaged by the Fair directors. Complaint was made that parts of the shows which had planned to appear at the Brockville fair, but which had been prohibited from doing so by the department, are appearing under a provincial license elsewhere in the province. Council keenly protested against what they declared to be discrimination against Brockville.

HEBREWS WILL CONTINUE USE OF PRESENT HALL

EFFORTS WILL NOT BE MADE TO SECURE NEW QUARTERS AT PRESENT.

The Jews of this city are still using the S.O.E. hall as a tabernacle and have not secured any other place in which to worship, the Examiner was advised to this effect by Rev. L. Rosenfield, the Jewish minister in this city, this afternoon.

There was a rumour that the Zionists were seeking other quarters.

The S. O. E. hall now being used is satisfactory only the large number of meetings being held there conflict somewhat with the Jewish programme but no change is expected until they can secure a hall or building devoted to their own use, and and while the Jewish minister is working hard with this end in view, the realization of his hopes seems remote yet. The Jews do not wish to build a tabernacle until they can erect one that will be a fitting structure in which to meet and one that the city will be proud of. There are only 27 Jewish families in this city and until their numbers are greatly augmented plans for constructing a tabernacle will be left in abeyance.

A STRIKING TESTIMONIAL

Mrs. R. Collins, 213 Wheeler Ave., Toronto, says:

Gentlemen,—For over eleven years I have suffered with kidney and Stomach Trouble, and during that time I have treated with different doctors but they did not seem to help me. About five years ago I was advised to try Dr. Henderson's Herb Treatment and Special Stomach Tablets. I purchased two boxes and took them according to directions and I am pleased to inform you that in about three months time I was completely cured. I firmly believe that I would have been in my grave long ago if it had not been for them. You can use this testimonial for the benefit of others who are suffering in the same way. I will do all that I can to recommend them to others.

Dr. Henderson's Herb Tablets and Special Stomach Tablets are for sale at Warne's Drug Store, Peterboro. Price 25c, 50c and 1 per box. Stomach Tablets $1 per box. Ask for Pamphlet and free sample of the Herb Tablets.

Middle Age at 35 or 60?

Physician Explains Why Lack Of Iron In the Blood Saps the Strength and Vitality and Often Makes Men and Women Look and Feel Old Before Their Time.

By Dr. Ferdinand King, New York Physician and Medical Author

Signs of old age are plainly to be seen in many a man and woman who ought still to be enjoying the rugged health and activity of the early prime of life. Yet often the real cause of their decline is nothing more than lack of iron in the blood and it is surprising how quickly these conditions are frequently corrected once the right kind of iron is supplied.

I am constantly coming across cases in my practise where people not yet 40 show much of the nervousness, lack of energy and general run-down condition which might possibly be expected to come twenty years later in life while others at 60 may still be young in feeling, mentally alert with steady nerves and strong bodies.

Whether we have health and long life is often a question which each one must determine for himself. Signs of old age are largely due to a deposit of waste matter in the blood vessels and cells of the body. Without plenty of strength-giving iron the blood is utterly lacking in the power to overcome this slow poisoning process and keep the body strong and healthy. To make up for this deficiency I usually prescribe organic iron like Nuxated Iron which by enriching the blood and creating thousands of new red blood cells helps renew the wasted tissues and build strength and energy to withstand the ravages of time. I know of no more simple means by which a person can find out if his blood needs iron than by making the following test: See how long you can work or how far you can walk without becoming tired. Next take two five-grain tablets of Nuxated Iron three times per day after meals for two weeks. Then test your strength and see how much you have gained. Nuxated Iron will increase the strength, power and endurance of delicate, nervous run-down people in two weeks' time in many instances. You can procure Nuxated Iron from your druggist on an absolute guarantee of satisfaction or your money will be refunded.

TORONTO, September 28.—There is little unrest in Switzerland. The Bolshevists are losing ground there.

INVESTIGATE CRITICISM.

Special to Examiner.

TORONTO, September 28. —Hon. Mr. Raney is to investigate the criticism of the O. T. A. attributed to Magistrate Mirrors of Windsor.

The answer of most fat people is that exercise and dieting is too hard, too troublesome and too dangerous a method to force the weight down. However, in Marmola Prescription Tablets, all these difficulties are overcome. They are absolutely harmless, entail no dieting or violent exercise, and have the added advantage of cheapness. One little tablet after each meal and at bedtime—as pleasant to eat as candy—will reduce your weight two, three or four pounds a week, and leave no bad results such as wrinkles or flabby skin. A good size box is sold by druggists at the reasonable price of one dollar, or if preferable they may be obtained by sending the amount to the Marmola Co., 94 Garfield Building, Detroit, Mich. They will reach you by mail, prepaid, in plain, sealed cover.

Now that you know this you have no excuse for being too fat, but can reduce two, three or four pounds a week without fear of bad after-effects.

WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 29TH, 1920.

THE CITY BEAUTIFUL.

All citizens who have visions of a brighter and more picturesque Peterborough will applaud the decision of the Horticultural Society to secure a piece of property in each ward in the city to be beautified by the society. The Horticultural Society has already to its credit a splendid record of service in adding to the beauty of the city and in arousing interest in the improvement of lawns, gardens and boulevards, and the new effort that is now being undertaken is another proof that the members of the Society are alive to their responsibilties and are ambitious to further extend their activities. Peterborough has many reasons to pride herself upon the attractive appearance of many of her streets, but there is no reason why the citizens should rest on their oars when there are further opportunities of adding to the scenic beauty of the city. The scheme of the Horticultural Society, with the active co-operation of the public, should be a splendid success. It is competitive in nature and each district is expected to do its best to outshine the other wards.

IMMIGRATION.

It is a rather surprising demonstration of selfishness that some of the officiaus of the G.A.U.V. give in complaining because British ex-service men who are unable to secure employment at home are being encouraged to come to Canada to seek their fortunes here. There is room for all these veterans in this country and they should make the finest kind of immigrants. Of course if the influx is to be confined to urban areas, already congested, there is perhaps logical ground for complaining, but the authorities should in every way possible seek to divert these new comers to the land. Each immigrant placed in farm work or as the owner of a farm, is an asset to the Dominion, the value of which cannot be over-estimated, and the G.A.U.V. instead of selfishly protesting at the coming of their comrades from the old land should busy themselves in endeavouring to hit upon the best plan to place them to the best advantage, both to themselves and to this country. That would be work worthy of the members of the United Veterans' organization.

A WORTHY CAUSE.

So well established is the confidence of the public in the work of the Children's Aid Society and so general is the appreciation of the manner in which the local branch of the Society is functioning, that it seems unnecessary to make any lengthy appeal for a liberal response to the annual Tag Day campaign on Saturday, Oct. 9th. The mere announcement of the date should be all that is required to ensure a substantial collection. The Society depends to a very great extent upon the amount received on Tag Day to finance its operations for the ensuing year and on no occasion has it been disappointed in its appeal to the public. Some people have a general objection to the tag day method of collecting money, but after all there is no other way in which everybody can be reached so easily and in which the effort can be made a community one, and it should be remembered too that the Children's Aid Society was the first institution to hold a Tag Day in this city and that their collection has been an annual one ever since. The citizens are asked to note that Saturday, Oct. 9th is the date this year for the campaign on behalf of this worthy cause.

PREMATURE—UNFORTUNATELY.

It is to be regretted that announcement of the termination of the contract between Griffenhagen & Associates and the Government of Canada were premature. The Journal hopes it will soon be a fact.

Since last June Griffenhagen & Associates have been re-organizing Government departments, particularly the Customs and Post Office. For their work they have received—or were entitled by order-in-council to receive—$40,000, the rate being $10,000 per month. What value they have given for the $40,000, it has been impossible to ascertain A modest staff, some of whom are paid by Mr. Griffenhagen and others by the Dominion Government, has been working in the Customs and Post Office Departments, and their methods have not marked them as highly paid experts. Expenses of travelling and living allowances while away from Ottawa were chargeable to the Government.

As usual, even in its re-organization, the Government suffers in comparison with private firms. What private organization would engage an efficiency engineer with a staff of so-called efficiency engineers, and then supply him further wth men to do the work? Yet that is what the Government did for Mr. Griffenhagen. Further, it gave him practically carte blanche in the work with the privilege of commandeering the services of the best brains in Departments many of whom could have re-organized their branches single-handed.

Not that the Government is entirely to blame for being indiscreet in its zeal for Civil Service Reform. Their promise made before election to reform the Service has been carried out to the best of thir ability, and the employmen of Mr. Griffenhagen was with the best intentions in the world. He had been working for the Civil Service Commission while employed by Arthur Young & Company. That firm classified the service under the direction of the Civil Service Commission, doing detailed work, and doing it fairly well, all things being considered.

It was an entirely different thing when Mr. Griffenhagen left Arthur Young & Company, persuaded the Government he was the man to put the Civil Service on an efficiency basis, and talked so convincingly that the Ministers believed he really could do all he said. He got his contract. The Journal does not know what value he has given from the $40,000 received, no statement having been given by either Mr. Griffenhagen or the Government, and even Civil Service officials being in the dark as to their reform.

The Journal believes the contract should never have been made—said so at the time—but since it was made it ought to be terminated as soon as possible. Aside from the natural feeling that Canadians should be the re-organizers of the Canadan Service, it is questionable practice to allow even friends from United States to know all the inner workings of Government Departments.

The employment of Mr. Griffenhagen has been protested by the Senate of Canada, the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, a number of Civil Service organizations from various parts of the country, and by the Civil Service Commission. What stronger proof could be given that it was a mistake?—Ottawa Journal.

COMMUNITY SERVICE.

In appealing to the public to awaken to a realization of the seriousness of the fire loss in Canada each year Mr. George F. Lewis, the secretary of the Ontario Fire Prevention League, says:

Once upon a time a Lion was disturbed by a Mouse running over his face.

Rising in anger, the Lion's paw dropped on the Mouse. "Please let me live," begged the Mouse, "and some day I'll do as much for you."

Shortly after, the Lion was caught in the net of the hunter. He struggled and fought and sruck blindly, until his spirit and strength were broken, and he lay helpless and dying.

The Mouse taunted the Lion for ridiculing the idea of his ever being able to help him; and reminded him that it was possible for even a Mouse to confer to confer benefits on a Lion.

This Fable illustrates in a sriking manner what real service means; and from it we learn the lesson that everyone, young and old, rich and poor, strong and weak, is fitted to take an active part in the work of conserving the lives and resources of our people. Especnally is this obvious with regard to the Prevention of Fire.

The talents with which we are endowed, be they great or small, can be used for the benefit of our fellow men.

No matter how young, how inexperienced, how insignificant our physical strength may appear to be; or how small a part we may be assigned in the cast of life's drama, we have potential resources that can be applied to help and benefit others.

Self-satisfaction and contentment with present conditions is a most dangerous factor in the life of an individual, a community or a nation. No great thing has ever been done without a vision. It has been well said that there exist in every community the forces and the ability to solve that community's problems. They may be and frequently are undeveloped, but they are none the less there. These forces must be sought out, stimulated, trained, and developed, and then applied to problems of the community. Effiiency follows organized effort.

"Wastefulness" is one of our besetting sins, and fire waste—eighty per cent. of which is preventable—is an economic crime; caused principally by carelessness and indifference.

The Three Hundred and Fifty Million Dollar annual fire waste of the North American Continent is a contributing factor to the high cost of living.

To make up this stupendous amount of money an indirect tax is levied on every man, women and child in the country. It is assessed on everything we eat, drink and wear through insurance premiums, collected and distributed by the insurance companies, which makes it plain that YOU PAY and that the fire losses are gradually, but uone the less effectively, impoverishing the country; for that which is burnt is irretrievably lost.

Two out of every three fires occur in our homes, which is a serious matter to contemplate when we consider the housing problems and the high cost of building material.

It is yesterday's dirt that always starts the fire. The factories and industrial plants are, however, responsible for the big losses. Approximately five per cent. of the entire number of fires occur in this classification, and are responsible for nearly fifty per cent. of the total amount of the annual loss.

More than four times as many people are burned to death every year in Canada as are killed on steam or electric railroads. The estimated death toll caused by fire on the North American Continent is thirty thousand human beings yearly.

When the people decide to put the same energy into production and the conservation of necessities that animated them during the war, social unrest will be dissipated and high cost of living problems will be quickly solved.

You naturally take pride in your city—in your home town—you want to make it great and still greater; but to do that you must give protection to the lives and property of those who come to live there and to those who invest their money. Action is what counts—the world is full of good intentions and procrastination "which is the thief of time." It steals more than time. It steals enthusiasm, confidence, energy, opportunity, and all that go to make a forceful character and a successful life.

FREE DISTRIBUTION.

The annual free distribution of samples of seed grain will be conducted as usual at the Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa, by the Dominion Cerealist.

The following kinds of seed grain will be sent out this season:

Spring Wheat (in about 5-lb. samples); white oats (about 4-lb.), barley (3 lb.) field peas (about 5 lb.), field peas (about 5 lb.), field beans (about 2 lbs.), flax (about 2 lbs.).

Applicants must be on printed forms which may be obtained by writing to the Dominiin Cerealist, Experimental Farm, Ottawa, at any time after Sept. 1st.

As the stock of seed is limited, farmers are advised to apply early to avoid disappointment. Those who applied too late last season are particularly requested to send in their names at once so that application forms may be forwarded to them. No application forms will be furnished after Feb 1st. 1921.

CUBAN IS WORLD'S GREATEST GAMBLER

LONDON,—The heaviest Baccarat winnings of the century, totaling nearly $9,000,000, have been gained by Hannibal De Massa, a Cuban sugar planter. His gains have earned him him in Europe the reputation of being the world's greatest gambler.

A San Francisco man is opposed to mariage. He tried it. The first day his wife presented him with bills totaling $450. The next day she accused him of stealing her ring and threatened to have him arrested. The third day he came home to find the doors locked and a sign advising him to "Beat it." He did—to a divorce court.

HAPPY RE-UNION OF THE CHRISTIE FAMILY

An interesting gathering of members of the Christie family was held on Tuesday at the home of Mr. Albert Kidd, near Young's Point. The occasion was the result of a visit of Mrs. Christie of Owen Sound, who with Mr. Kidd, Mr. John Lancaster, and Mr. Edward Christie, and about 50 relatives, got together and held a happy family re-union.

A picnic was arranged on the pretty grounds of Mr. Northey, near the lake shore, where old family associations were renewed and old memories recounted. A delightful time was spent by all, and while mutual Christie friendships were being exchanged refreshments were served and other entertaining incidents enjoyed.

His Excellency Forced to Cut Short His Western Tour

VANCOUVER, Sept. 28.—His Excellency, the Duke of Devonshire, Governor-General and party, arrived here Saturday from Jasper Park and immediately embarked aboard the Government steamer Stadacona for Campbell River, Vancouver Island, for a few days' rest.

On Friday, His Excellency received word of the death in England of his mother, Lady Edward Cavendish, and it was announced upon arirval here that the Vice Regal party would not be able to fill all their engagements on the coast in consequence.

After the presentation of war decorations at Victoria later in the week, the Governor-General will return East.

POST CARD 14 YEARS IN TRANSIT SEEKS OWNER

CHICAGO, September 28. — Had Mrs. Dell Bushford placed a special delivery stamp upon the postcard she mailed 14 years ago to Miss Elsie Dale of this city, the chances are it would still be undelivered. It was mailed 14 years and 26 days ago, at Benton Harbor, Mich., a distance of 96 miles from Chicago, and appears to have moved at about the rate that a glacier travels.

Before a veteran postman received it and undertook to deliver it the girl to whom it was addressed had died, and the name of the street had also been changed.

All in the Good Book.

Bishop Hoss said at a Nashville picnic:

"'So you attend Sundayschool regularly?' the minister said to little Eve.

"'Oh, yes, sir.'

"'And you know your Bible?'

"'Oh, yes, sir.'

"'Could you perhaps tell me something that is in it?'

"'I could tell you everything that's in it.'

"'Indeed.' And the minister smiled. 'Do tell me, then.'

"'Sister's beau's photo is in it,' said little Eve, promptly, 'and ma's recipe for vanishin' cream is in it, and a lock of my hair cut off when I was a baby is in it, and the ticket for pa's watch is in it.'"—Los Angeles Times.

ALLEGED INSPECTOR ACCEPTED A BRIBE

SAID TO HAVE CHARGED $300 TO SUPPRESS INFORMATION.

(Canadian Press).

LEAMINGTON, Sept. 28.—On the strength of statements made by Clayton Toyne, resident of this town, and observations made by County Constable Daniel Kennedy, License Inspector T. Bulmer was taken into custory yesterday on the charge of having accepted a bribe.

According to Toyne, a bottle of whisky was found on his property, and he asked license officials, Hallam and Bulmer, whether he could settle the matter for a financial consideration. He was told three hundred dollars would fix it, and, obtaining the money from the bank, he handed it over to Bulmer in the presence of Constable Kennedy.

On witnessing the transaction, the constable took Bulmer into custody, and he will appear in the Leamington Police Court this afternoon.

Mrs. Toyne said that in conversation with her, Bulmer said, "It seems a shame to lay a charge for such a little bit of liquor as that, but a little money goes a long way."

THE HOME CIRCLE

A GIRL'S BEST FRIEND.

Remember that the best friend, the best confident, is your mother. Have no friend with whom she is not acquainted. Make her interested in what you are doing, and if the trials of her life are many, just remember that to gain sympathy you must give it. Make yourself your mother's companion and friend, then she will be yours. Do nothing that you conceal from her, and never believe for a minute that when you have really made her understand, she will not care for what interests you. Mother isn't very much older than you after all — it hasn't been such a long time since she enjoyed just what you do, since life seemed as full of brightness as does yours since she made as many inquiries and tried to think out as many problems as you do and once you two can meet on this common ground, be sure that you will have nobody who will as thoroughly sympathize with you as does your mother.

Fortunate indeed is the man who rises each morning to an assigned task. He is the happiest in the long run and his lot is envied by his idle brother who rises each morning with no task — no incentive, and who knows that all the mornings for many months will be the same. Leisure is something we all pretend we are after yet when we get it we can't use it. Men die of overwork, but it is a far more satisfactory death than one from idleness. At least you feel that you have left your impression on the world. So don't go about with a long face if you have to hustle around pretty much of the time. There are a lot of idle fellows who would like to be in your boots.

A great deal has been written about home, the many ways of decorating and beautifying this home, which every woman ought to do, as far as her health and income will allow, but the sweetest homes and the most beautiful ornament that ever adorned the home of any man, is a patient, tender-hearted, godly woman, one that is so full of God's love and his goodness that she will be able to turn a log cabin into a palace. It is not always the wealthy and those that live in fine houses that are the happiest.

There is a demand for good boys. The boy who is honest, earnest and industrious, will not be long out of a job. There are lots of prosperous business men, merchants and mechanics, who are constantly on the look out for good boys. They do not look for them on the streets, however, but in some sort of employment. They have no use for an idle boy. He is too apt to make an idle man.

Better appreciate your mother before your appreciation of her will be no kindness to her, and the post mortem regrets will be more and more of an agony as the years pass on. Big headstones of polished Aberdeen and the best epitaphs which the family put together could compose and a garland of whitest roses from the conservatory are often the attempt to atone for the thanks we ought to have uttered in living ears and the kind words that would have done more good than all the calla lilies ever piled up on the silent mounds of the cemeteries.

We all know the man, the mere grip of whose hand puts new life and strength into us, and the woman whose brave, cheery smile — amidst disappointment and trouble — makes us ashamed to despair and give up. And why should be not resemble them? It is surely better to be like a bright, cheerful fire, at which our friends can warm and revive their drooping hearts, than like the proverbial wet blanket which can effectually put out the flames of love and hope.

Now, young sir, get rid of the nonsense that your a genius, settle down to the conclusion that you are just an average boy and then start in. Keep yourself alert, look after your digestive apparatus, don't smoke cigarettes, get to bed early, be square-toed in all your dealings, and we will wager a cookie that at sixty you will have to look backward for those who began the race when you did. Are you ready? Then go!

Young man, you will never catch any of the golden fish that swim in the world's waters by standing with your hands in your pockets and watching another hold the pole.

This world is but the stepping stone of an immortal life. Every action of our life touches on some chord that will vibrate in eternity.

Every successful man owes independence to individual energy and enterprise.

CHEESE WEAKER TO-DAY, SOLD BELOW LAST BOARD'S PRICE

1,415 BOXES DISPOSED OF TO-DAY—BIDDING WAS SLOW BECAUSE OF SLIGHT EXPORT ATTENTION—INDUSTRY SUFFERING FROM EXCHANGE RATE—25 7-16c TO-DAY'S PRICE.

The price of cheese was lower on this morning's cheese board than the price of two weeks ago. A slight drop in price was expected, for the overseas markets are taking very little Canadian cheese because of the prohibitory exchange rate. The buyers considered they were paying a good price and the salesmen were satisfied with the 25 7-16 cents a pound they received.

The price two weeks ago was 26 3-16 cents and five weeks ago 27 1-16c. An interesting comparison may be drawn with the prices of 1909 and the quantity of cheese boarded. Just now great the falling off in the manufacture of cheese has been is shown by these figures. On Sept. 15, 1909 there were 3,569 boxes boarded and 11 3-16 cents a pound paid. On June 30th the same year 4,371 bopes were boarded and 11 3-8c. received. To-day there were 1,415 boxes boarded, listed as follows:

Warminister	135
Selwyn	150
Villiers	100
Warsaw	165
Ormonde	150
Young's Point	150
Lang	70
North Dummer	75
Stoney Lake	30
Norwood	260
Killarney	110
Total boxes	1,415

Four buyers were in attendance to-day: G. A. Gillespie, James Cook of W. S. Cook & Son, Belleville, H. R. Free of Cobourg for the Harris Abattoir, and H. S. Johnston, Lindsay, for Flavelles Ltd.

The bidding was slow. Mr. Gillespie opened at 24 cents. Free bid 24 1-8 and Gillespie raised to 1-4. Cook bid 1-2 and Johnston came in at 9-16. After much hesitation and long intervals between bids 25 cents was reached by Mr. Free. Gillespie, Cook and Free raised each other until Gillespie got selections at 25 7-16.

Gillespie's choice were all but Stoney Lake, Norwood and Killarney. He offered 25 3-8 for these, but Flavelle's buyer took them at 25 7-16.

The board adjourned for four weeks.

This sale, at the end of October, when the month's cheese will be disposed of, is the last board of the season.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of Pte. Walter McIlmoyle, who was killed at Cambrai, September 29, 1918.
He was a pal, a good old pal, a pal who was good and true,
Who went to fight for the cause of right,
For Justice, Freedom and you.
But alas, one day he was called away,
To the fields that knew no sin.
—From his Chum, Tommy.

In loving memory of our dear son and brother, Pte. Walter V. McIlmoyle, who was killed in France. He died on the Cambrai-Dourai road Sept. 29, in 1918:

He died in a foreign land
No mother near to take his hand or
Him a sister's love attend.
No brother nigh to say good-bye,
Far from his native land.

The blow is bitter, the loss severe
To part with one we loved so dear.
Our loss is great, we'll not complain
But hope in heaven to meet again.

Grieve not dear mother, but be content,
For I to you was only lent.
For love I lived, for my country I died.
—Inserted By His Mother, Brother and Sisters.

In ever loving memory of our dear son, Pte. Edward W. Payne, killed in action on the Somme Oct .1st, 1916:
Now parents dry your weeping tears,
Your son is now at rest,
He is safely poised in paradise
To dwell among the blest.
Sisters grieve not as other grieve
But in submission bow,
For if you do God's words believe
You know I am happy now.

Dear brothers and sisters grieve no more
Though death is a solemn thing,
But Jesus going on before
Extracted every sting.
And from death's cold embrace he rose
Triumphant over the grave
And everything that might oppose
His chosen ones to save.

Dear loved ones go to Jesus now
Before Him plead your case,
In supplication you must bow
And plead for saving grace.
Then strive to meet your loved again
When we shall part no more
Where there's no sorrow, pain or death
On that immortal shore.
—Inserted By His Parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. Payne, 215 Carlisle Ave.

CICOTTE, JOE JACKSON AND LEFTY WILLIAMS

retired from organized baseball for the rest of your lives, if I can accomplish it.

"Until there is a finality to this investigation it is due the public that I take this action, even though it costs Chcago the pennant."

The Confession.

Eddie Cicotte confessed that he engineered the deal by which the White Sox lost last year's world series, an official of the Court announced this afternoon.

The details of Cicotte's confession follow closely the story told in Philadelphia last night by Billy Maharg, former prize fighter, it was stated.

Cicotte told the grand jury, it was announced, that he received $10,000 for his part in losing the series. He never saw the man who paid the money, he said. He was told he would find the $10,000 under his pillow in his hotel room on the night before the first game at Cincinnati, and when he returned to his room the money was there.

Joe Jackson received $5,000. Like Cicotte, he found the money in his bed when he returned to his room on the night before the first game.

A court official who was present when Cicotte went on the stand, described the scene when the star pitcher broke down and cried as he told the jury of his part in the series "fixing."

"My God, think of my children!" he cried. Cicotte has two small children.

"I've lived a thousand years in the last year," the court official quoted him as saying.

"I never did anything I regretted so much in my life," the witness added, according to the state official. "I would give anything in the world if I could undo my acts in the last world series. I've played a crooked game, and have lost, and I am here to tell the whole truth.

"In the fourth game played at Chicago, which I also lost, I deliberately intercepted a throw from the outfield to the plate which might have cut off a run. I muffed the ball on purpose. At another time in the same game I purposely made a wild throw. All the runs scored against me were due to my own deliberate errors. I did not try to win."

Cicotte also admitted, it is said, that charges made by Ray Schalk that Williams and Cicotte double-crossed him on signals are true.

Cicotte said he lobbed the ball to the plate so slowly "you could read the trade mark on it," in the first game at Cincinnati when he was taken out of the box after three and two-third innings had been played.

In Trouble Before.

Jackson in his confession said:

"I wanted $20,000 for my part in the deal, and Gandil told me he would get that much out of it. After the first game Williams came into my room at the hotel and slipped me $5,000. He said the rest would come as soon as we showed the gamblers we were on the 'square' with them. But that is all I ever got. I raised a howl several times as the games went on, but it never got me anywhere. I was hog-tied. I couldn't do anything about it."

APPEALS TO SINN FEINERS.

Sir Horace Plunkett Urges Them to Abandon Republican Idea.

LONDON, Sept. 20.—Sir Horace Plunkett, advocate of Dominion Home Rule for Ireland, has re-entered the Irish controversy with an appeal to the Sinn Feiners to abandon the Republican idea and accept his policy as the only solution of the Irish problem.

CELEBRATED THEIR GOLDEN WEDDING

MR. AND MRS. WM. MIDDLETON WERE FIFTY YEARS MARRIED YESTERDAY.

Mr. and Mrs. William Middleton, 596 George Street, celebrated their golden wedding on Tuesday evening, 28th September. The guests, numbering forty, assembled about five o'clock, when supper was served, after which presentations were made and an impromptu programme rendered. Mr. Frederick McKee, of Smith, read the address, and Mrs. M. Welch, of Port Hope, and Mrs. C. A. Beatty, city, made th presentation. Rev. R. W. Middleton, eldest son of the happy couple, acted as master of ceremonies, and several of the guests made complimentary adresses or recalled scenes connected with the wedding on 28th September, 1870. Mrs. (Dr.) J. E. Middleton sang in her usual charming way, and with chorus singing the celebration ended.

All their friends join in hoping that Mr. and Mrs. Middleton may live to hold the diamond wedding a few years hence.

AN AMATEUR SHOW

Usually when people go to see an amateur show they do so with the idea of patronizing the affair and after it is over, saying "Well, it wasn't bad for an amateur show."

The Y.M.C.A. Minstrels want people to come next week to the Opera House with an assurance that they will be really getting their money's worth, and that they can feel sure that their will be nothing amateurish in the whole performance. Every person who takes part, whether as soloist or a member of the chorus, is a real artist. The chorus resembles in fact a big choir in the quality of its singing.

The director, Mr. Asa Huycke, has had a wide experience as a conductor and h s had flattering offers from John B. Rodgers, Producing Co., producers of such operas as F., Fi, etc., and the Elman Producing Co.

The cast includes eight end men who are really funny. Don't overlook the dates, next week, Thursday and Friday nights, October 7th and 8th. Subscribers tickets, which can be reserved on Monday ,can be secured until Friday of this week at the Y.M. C.A., or from members of the cast. Regular seat plan opens Tuesday, October 5th. 1d76 2864

PRESENTATION TO J. HEATON AT SOLDIERS' REUNION FRIDAY NIGHT.

The Peterborough Branch of the G.W.V.A. have arranged a Soldiers' Re-union on the occasion of the visit to this city of Brig.-General W. B. King, G.O.C. M.D. No. 3, and Mr. William Turley, Provincial Secretary of the G.W.V.A., on the evening of 1st October, and all soldiers of the Allies, whether they served with the Canadians, the Anzacs, the Imperials, the French, or the Americans, are urged to attend and bring their wives or lady friends.

A feature of the evening's programme will be the presentation to Sergt. J. Heaton, of the Military Hospital, Kingston, of the cheque for $1,000 for the Maxwell car that he won in the G.W.V.A. draw.

It is hoped that every returned soldier in Peterborough will take advantage of this re-union to meet their ex-officer and renew acquaintances with their old comrades.

LECTURE AT GILMOUR MEMORIAL CHURCH.

Those who were present at the Gilmour Memorial Church on Monday evening were highly favoured. The main item of interest was a lecture by Rev. Professor J. L. Gilmour, D.D., of McMaster University. Taking as his subject, "Nails and Men," he drove into the wall seven different kinds of nails—the rusty nail, the crooked nail, the broken nail, the educated nail, the screw nail, the spike, and the tack—on which were hung seven different types of character. From first to last the lecture simply sparkled and gleamed with gems of wit and wisdom. Excellent music was rendered by Mr. Douglas Carlisle and Mrs. James Young.

Seventy-Five Lovely Georgette and Silk Blouses Go on Sale for Three Days

THURSDAY, FRIDAY AND SATURDAY

See The Arcade Window

Rarely are Peterboro women confronted with such an opportunity at the commencement of a season or at any time, in fact.

Most of these blouses have arrived since late Spring and early Summer. There are seventy-five, that means there will be seventy-five women well satisfied with their purchases when this sale is over.

We could have held this sale months ago but we thought it better for all concerned to hold it now when women really need new blouses and will welcome an opportunity to buy at prices that are considerably less than regular.

LOT 1

This Lot Is Made Up of Regular $12 Models They Will Be Sold for $8.50

There is not one that you would not be glad to own. Of course, there are some that you will like better than others. The materials are georgette and crepe de chines

There are so many styles and distinctive touches, that it is impossible to name them all, but you will be pleased to know that long sleeves, ¾ sleeves or elbow sleeves, are to be had; also high and low necks and collarless styles. Some of the colours are flesh, white, maize, peach, navy and black.

LOT 2

These Are $15 to $16.50 Ones and Will Be Sold at $9.95

They are of georgette and the embroidery and bead workings are more elaborate than the above, but of course the price is higher. You'll easily recognize them as better models.

You will find wonderful shades of green, maize, flesh, navy, taupe, apricot and also white and black. And you'll find some with touches of lovely lace and others with garnitures of velvet ribbon in contrasting but harmonious colours. The massive and delicate tracings of coloured beads will also make a strong appeal.

Just Yesterday We Were Selling Them for $18.50 and $19.50 To-morrow They Will Be $14.95

We were astonished, when we laid out these models in a long row. Astonished to find that they were so handsome and so expertly made. You'll be surprised that the price can be so low and the quality and styles so good.

Monkey blouses, tablier blouses and blouses, cut on staple lines; long, elbow and ¾ sleeve ones and high and low necked kinds and some with no collars at all; fascinating beadings, embroidery workings and very effeminate looking fronts with much lace and pleatings and a whole vista of beautiful colours to select from.

You will see a few in the window, but many more on 2nd floor.

KENT FARMERS PLOWING WITH TRACTORS IN THE MOONLIGHT

PROVINCIAL DEPARTMENT REPORTS GREATER ACTIVITY IN ONTARIO APPLES THAN FOR YEARS—BUCKWHEAT IS YIELDING WELL.

CORN RIPENING FAST

TORONTO, Sept. 28.—The following is a summary of the weekly reports made by the agricultural representatives to the Ontario Department of Agriculture:

Districts as far apart as Essex and Fort William report that some grain is still in the field in stooks.

The unusually warm weather of the past week has hastened the ripening of corn, and cutting has been general. Essex states that farmers are offering $4.00 an acre for cutting and stooking it.

Kent complains that the ground is so hard that it is difficult for farmers to plough out their beets.

Buckwheat is reported as turning out from fair to average in yield and quality.

Fine Tobacco Crop.

About 75 per cent. of the tobacco crop had been harvested at the end of the week under what are described as splendid conditions. Kent remarks that good men for this class of work are hard to find, notwithstanding that from $7.00 to $8.00 a day are offered for fit men.

The Orchards.

There is greater activity in apple orchards than for some years. More apples are being sent out in boxes than formerly. Apple pickers are reported to be scarce. Norfolk reports that greenings are being barrelled in large quantities.

Cattle.

The marketing of cattle has been slow, generally speaking, although selling well at auction sales. Middlesex, however, reports that about 600 choice steers were sold by a local dealer to a Chicago firm during the week. Dufferin also states that five cars of cattle were shipped from Orangeville last Tuesday.

The milk flow continues to be very fair for the time of year, but many farmers are supplementing pasture with corn and other feeds. Middlesex states that some of the local condenseries are ceasing powdering and are making butter.

Leeds reports regarding dairy cows: "Milch cows, springers, are selling at sales up to $152.00, while average cows freshening next spring brought from $75.00 to $90.00.

Report from Peterborough.

The Peterborough representative says that the hog industry is at a low ebb in this county, as a large number of farmers have gone out of the business.

Fall wheat sown early is looking remarkably well, but that put in later to escape the Hessian fly is not likely to germinate so well, owing to the dry condition of the soil at sowing time and since. The acreage is likely to be smaller than that of last year.

A good deal of fall ploughing has been done, but just now a soaking rain is necessary, as the hot, dry weather of the past week has made the ground very hard. Many tractors are helping out in this work.

GIFT FROM FRIENDS.

Howard Hall Received Gold Cuff Lniks.

In view of his departure on Thursday for Kingston, where he will take a vocational course, a number of the friends of Mr. Howard Hall spent a social evening at his home on Monday evening. With games and music the evening passed all too quickly. Dainty refreshments were served, after which Mr. Edward Harris, on behalf of Mr. Hall's many friends, in a few words, presented him with a pair of handsome gold cuff links, suitably initialed. Mr. Hall briefly expressed his thanks for the unexpected remembrance. After wishing Mr. Hall every success in his course, the guests departed.

PARTRIDGE ROOST ON VERANDAH RAILS

SEASON OPENS ON NOVEMBER 5TH AND EXTENDS TO THE 20TH.

Partridge are exceptionally plentiful at Stoney Lake this fall, and are proving a sore temptation to the cottagers who are still at the Lakes, and who are prevented by the game laws from availing themselves of a tempting repast.

One cottager returning yesterday from the Lakes said that on opening the cottage door yesterday morning, he counted twelve partridge on the verandah, while he had seen flocks of them in the woods on the island several times.

Season Opens 5th November.

The partridge season opens this year on 5th November, and lasts until 20th November. The limit is five partridges a day for one person, and not more than ten during the season.

Reports from several districts indicate that the slaughter of these birds has already begun.

C.P.R. PORTER HELD ON THEFT CHARGE

$490 STOLEN FROM J. W. HOLDCROFT OF HAVELOCK LAST NIGHT.

L. Ellis, sleeping car porter on Canadian Pacific Railway train No. 34, running from Toronto to Ottawa, was charged with stealing $490.00 from J. W. Holdcroft, son of Dr. Holdcroft, of Havelock, in Police Court this morning.

Holdcroft, who was travelling from Toronto to his home in Havelock on the Toronto-Ottawa train, missed $490.00 which he had in his possession, and at once notified the conductor of his loss.

On the arrival of the train in Havelock at 2.13 o'clock this morning, C.P.R. Constable J. A. Evans boarded the train and instituted a search, in company with the train crew. A coresponding sum of money was found wrapped up in the blankets of the porter's bunk, and he was arrested on suspicion.

No witnesses were available this morning, as they had proceeded with the train, and the case was remanded for a week.

FORMAL UNION OF TRENTINO TO ITALY

HISTORICAL RESULT OF THE WAR FITTINGLY CELEBRATED— WOMEN IN TEARS.

ROME, Sept. 25.—To-day's sitting of the Senate, which unanimously approved the treaty of St. Germain, which annexes Trentino to Italy, will remain among the most memorable events in the history of the Italian parliament. When the vote was announced the entire Senate arose and joined with those who crowded around The Tribune, applauding and shouting "long live Italy! long live the king!" intense emotion was displayed, some of the women present shedding tears.

Senator Zippel, Mayor of Trent, amid a deep silence, said he voiced the feelings of the entire population of Trentino in expressing their exultant joy in having at last realized hopes cherished throughout the centuries. "Our joy is only dimmed," he added, "by regrets that we have not at our side other brothers whom history and nature proclaim sons of Italy."

There was a great outburst of applause and cries of "Long live Fiume! Long live Dalmatia!"

Premier Giolitti said: "The words of the first representative of the provinces joining the kingdom to-day come straight out of his heart. We greet in him our new brothers." He then added, with force: "I wish to assure the Senate that I fully share his sentiments."

The evident allusion to the Italians on the eastern coast of the Adriatic caused another long ontburst of applause.

MANY FORDSON TRACTORS BEING SOLD AT THE NEW PRICES

Deliveries have been the bugbear of many of of Farm Tractor purchasers. Especially has this been true in the past year or two. This has been caused largely by makers being unable to supply the machines fast enough to meet the demand.

The advantage in dealing with the Duffus Motor Sales is pointed out in an announcement made in this issue; and purchasers in this territory are advised that deliveries are guaranteed. Duffus Motor Sales will bend its efforts to taking care of prompt deliveries in every case.

Fordson Tractors are now in good production, and are being distributed to principal dealers. Look over the specifications of the Fordson and note that in every detail it measures up to the highest standard of farm tractors construction.

A large percentage of the hot weather mortality among horses might have ben preventable by the use of Tractor power, is the statement of Prof. C. D. McGilvray, Principal of the Ontario Veterinary College. He says:

"Announcement that within a radius of 15 miles from the town of Perth some 50 horses had died of sunstroke, brings forcibly to our view the serious losses in horses that have occurred on Ontario farms this year, a condition that is by no means confined to Lanark county."

The foregoing remarks by Prof. McGilvray are among the hundreds of excellent reasons why tractor power is more beneficial than animal power.

It should also be noted that in working horses during hot weather, one of the greatest curses to endure is the flies. There are no flies on the tractors.

MANY GUESTS AT WEDDING LUNCHEON

A charming social event took place in Douro after the wedding of Miss Mary Leahy and Mr. John Casey of Otonabee, the sixty guests at the ceremony returning to the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Leahy, where a wedding breakfast was served in the prettily decorated dining room about which an abundance of flowers, autumn leaves, evergreens and fruits were tastefully arranged.

An enjoyable afternoon was spent in dancing and games and in viewing the many costly and beautiful presents received by the popular bride and groom, which presents included a handsome mantel clock, a purse of gold from the groom's father, a steel engraving from the bride'smaid and several substantial cheques. Later Mr. and Mrs. Casey left to take the train in Peterborough for Toronto and Lindsay and will reside in Otonabee.

Too much stress can hardly be laid on the fancy for metal effects in the line-up of millinery trimmings.

SANITY STILL QUESTIONED.

SOLD 700 BASKETS OF PEACEES TO-DAY

ENTIRE CAR QUICKLY DISPOSED OF —FOUR CARS HERE TO-MORROW.

Downtown fruit stores were practically deserted this morning, yet dozens of people were carrying baskets of peaches on both arms up George and Charlote Streets, men were trying to do the difficult trick of steering a bicycle with one hand and carrying one, two, or three baskets of peaches on the other; perambulators were even seen with a basket of the luscious fruit where babes generally reposed, and almost every car had at least one basket in it. Where was all this fruit coming from?

Three fruit store proprietors of this city were responsible for this sudden flood of peaches. Down on the C. N. R. siding on Aylmer Street, back of the station, they were handing out 11 quart baskets of Grade No. 1's as fast as they could pass them down from the refrigerator car, at 70 cents a basket.

At 8 o'clock the rush on the car started, and from then till after 10 o'clock, all roads led to the peach car. People carried away the fruit in every conveyance imaginable. Well-dressed, prominent people stepped out of their motor cars and mixed with men in overalls, and women who had evidently hurried away from their household duties to get peaches at the old pre-war price. By ten o'clock there were less than 20 baskets of the ten unsold, and people still clamoured for their share and others came back for "another basket."

To-morrow's sale, though, will make the sale to-day look as if there were only playing store, for 4 cars will be sold at the same price: and if one wants to ensure getting some, the advice is to "come early and avoid the rush."

POPULAR LITTLE GIRL WELL AGAIN

ALICE BOUCHARD IS WONDERFULLY BENEFITTED BY TANLAC, STATES MOTHER.

A statement which will be read with interest throughout the province of Quebec was made recently by Mrs. Joseph Bouchard, of 1131 Ethel Verdun, a suburb of Montreal, concerning the benefit her daughter Alice had derived from the use of Tanlac.

Alice Bouchard was the young lady who at the big Pageant on June 24, impersonated Marguerite Bourgeois in the tableaux representing the founder of the Ladies of the Congregation of Montreal teaching Indian girls and the children of the early settlers.

"Alice has been in poor health for a long time and had indigestion so bad there was little that she could eat without suffering great distress," said Mrs. Bouchard. "After eating she complained as though she had swallowed a stone, and so much gas would form on her stomach she could hardly breathe. She often lay awake for hours at night feeling like she was going to choke She was constipated and had frightful headaches. She had little or no appetite, became very thin, and her complexion was bad. She complained of feeling weak all the time and we thought she would have to take to her bed altogether.

"A neighbor told us about Tanlac and we got some for Alice. She now has an excellent appetite and can eat anything without having indigestion afterwards. She sleeps well at night has gained in weight and feels better in every way."

CUPID FINDS WAY TO UNITE LOVERS

If you were married to a pretty girl whom you love madly and your aunt, who was wealthy and straight-laced, and upon whose bounty you depended, objected to your bride because she had formerly been on the stage, what would you do? And if she left a will bequeathing you two million dollars provided you divorced your adoring mate, how would you meet the situation?

That's the sort of problem Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie Smith have to face in "La La Lucille," one of last season's biggest Broadway musical comedy successes produced on the screen by Eddie Lyons and Lee Moran to be shown at the Grand Theatre to-night and to-morrow, Thursday.

Johnnie Smith and his wife do not want to separate, and oh, how they could use that two million! So they decide to get a divorce and immediately remarry after collecting the inheritance. In order to do this there must be a co-respondent, and Lucille is too jealous to let Johnnie select his own paramour; she therefore picks out Fannie, the janitor's wife, who is the homeliest woman in New York.

It also happens that about the same time Britton Hughes elopes with a pretty Southern girl and hastens to New York for the honeymoon, engaging a suite of rooms connecting with that assigned to Johnnie Smith and his co-respondent.

Why go further? With Eddie Lyons in the role of the would-be divorcee and Lee Moran as the eloping bridegroom there can be but one result—five reels of convulsive laughter.

A scenic background as elaborate as ever provided for any feature adds "class" to the comedy, while the splendid supporting company, includes Anne Cornwall, Gladys Walton, Rosa Gore, Dorothy Wolbert, Burton Halbert, Charles McHugh, Arthur Thalasso, Henry Meyers, Fred Gamble, Frank Earle and many others.

FIXED SERIES FOR $100,000 DOUBLE CROSSED BY A. ATTELL

CHICAGO, Sept. 28.Eight members of th White Sox team during the 1919 world series were to-day indicted by the Cook County Grand Jury on charges of conspiracy to do an illegal act. The indictments were returned by the Grand Jury which investigated the alleged crookedness in baseball.

Those indicted were: "Hap" Felsch, centrefielder; "Buck" Weaver, third baseman; Fred McMullin, utility infielder; Swee d Risberg, shortston; Eddie Cicotte, pitcher; Claude Williams, pitcher; Chick Gandil, former first baseman; Joe Jackson, outfielder.

Charles Comiskey, president of the White Sox, to-day suspended every member of the team indicted. Seven of the eight indicted are affected by the suspension. Chick Gandil, the eighth, is not playing this year. The suspension practically kills all hope of the White Sox winning the American League pennant this year.

Assistant States Attorney Replogle announced that Cicotte was taken into custody after leaving the grand jury room.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 28.—Billy Maharg, whose story revealing what he claimed to be the plan for "throwing" last year's world's series baseball games, was published here to-day declined to say whether he would go to Chicago to present his evidence to the Cook County Grand Jury.

According to Maharg's story, the first, second, and final games of the 1919 world series were "thrown" to Cincinnati by eight members of the Chicago Americans. He said he and "Bill" Burns, a business partner and former American League pitcher, were approached by Eddie Cicotte, Chicago pitcher, who told them a group of prominent Chicago players would be willing to "throw" the series if they were given $100,00.

Maharg said the White Sox players were "double crossed" by Abe Attell, former featherweight boxing champion, who acted as the "fixer" and "go-between," and that they received only $10,000. Attell made the bets, turned over $10,000 to Burns for the Burns said: 'Do you know any gamblers who would be interested in this proposition?'

"I said I would go to Philadelphia and see what I could do. Burns went to Montreal on an oil deal. Sox players, and double-crossed them out of $90,000.

Man Higher Up.

"When Cicotte left, Burns turned to me and repeated Cicotte's conversation, part of which I had heard.

"I then went to Philadelphia and saw some gamblers there; they told me it was too big a proposition for them to handle, and they recommended me to Arnold Rothstein, a well-known and wealthy New York gambler."

Maharg then declared that they made an effort to interest Rothstein, but failed. Later, he said, Burns had arranged through Abe Attell to put the thing over. He and Burns went to Cincinnati to meet Attell.

"Attell was in Cincinnati, quartered in a large suite in the Sinton." Maharg's statement continues, "and had a gang of about 25 New York gamblers with him. He said they were working for Rothstein.

"I had my first suspicion on the morning of the first game, when Burns and I visited Attell. We asked for the $100,000 to turn over to the White Sox players to carry out our part of the deal.

"Attell refused to turn over the $100,000, saying that they needed the money to make bets. He made a counter proposal that $20,000 would be handed the plaers at the end of each losing game. Burns went to the Sox players, and they seemed satisfied with the new arrangement.

"We all bet on Cincinnati the first day, and won. The next morning Burns and I went around to Attell again at his headquarters. Stacks of bills were being counted on dressers and tables.

"Again Atell stalled us off. He said he wanted to keep the money to bet. We grew suspicious, and asked Abe if Rothstein was really in the deal. Then Abe flashed the fake telegram.

"We learned later that this was a fake telegram, and that somebody had wired to New York to have it sent. The telegram used the expression 'grand,' which is gambler's lingo for a thousand. As a matter of fact, Rothstein was never involved.

"After the second game, we again found Attell and his confederates. Attell again made excuses about needing the coin to make further wagers, but did place $10,000 on the table. He said: 'Give that to the players.' Burns asked me to take the money and I refused. He finally took it himself, and turned it over to one of the players.

"Burns told me that he saw the players were restless and wanted the full amount. The players, however, told Burns that if they lost behind Cicotte and Williams, they wouldn't win for Kerr. So we went to Chicago and bet all of our personal winnings of the first two days on Cincinnati to win the third game. As a matter of fact, the Sox won this game.

"Burns and I lost every cent we had in our clothes. The whole upshot of the matter was that tAtell and his gang cleaned up a fortune, and the Sox players were double-crossed out of $00,000 that was coming to them."

TO MOTHERS AND FATHERS

Tradition says that experience is the champion school teacher of the world, yet how many people ever profit by the experience of others. Have you, fathers and mothers, ever given your children the benefit of your experience in life?

In a few days a play will be presented in Peterborough which should interest the citizens of this community. There are thousands of fathers and mothers in this city who should send their children, their sons and daughters, all ignorant of the snares and pitfalls of life, to see this play.

This play, "Experience," is the eternal, never-dying story of youth, his early struggles, his venture into the great world to seek fame and fortune, his trials and temptations, his triumph over evil and wickedness through the everlasting influence of a woman's love; just the sort of experience that your boy may be about to endure.

"Experience" teaches a great moral lesson. It has been endorsed by clergymen of all denominations, wherever presented. It has a wonderful effect upon the audience, because it points out to every man, woman, and child the evils of a life of pleasure upon the primrose path, and brings home to every heart the old, old story that the straight and narrow path alone is the road to happiness.

The play is presented in ten scenes by a company of forty-two people, and comes here direct after a phenomenal engagement of nine months in New York, seven months in Chicago, and five months in Boston. It opens at the Grand Opera House on Saturday, 2nd October, with a matinee at 2.30 p.m., evening at 8.15. The seat sale opens to-morrow morning.

USES TRICKERY TO WIN WIFE AND LOSES HER LOVE AND RESPECT

Henry Lowe, millionaire profiteer, won his wife by trickery and coercion, lost any regard and affection she might possibly have had for him by her contemptible conduct, and then tried to get her to use her influence with her former sweetheart to save him from the penitentiary, offering her a divorce as a reward for the service.

Many other strange and disturbing experiences are undergone by Helen Reardon, afterward Mrs. Lowe, in "The Prey," an Alice Joyce Special Vitagraph production. The intense society drama provides the popular star with unusual opportunities for the display of her remarkable talent and will be shown at the Allen Theatre on Wednesday and Thursday.

CASH CONTEST FOR AMATEUR CRITICS

When May Anderson appears here next Friday, October 1st, at the Grand with her presentation of George C. Tyler's big comedy success "On the Hiring Line," residents of Peterboro will have an opportunity of witnessing the first big recent New York production, directed, staged and produced for Canada by a woman.

To stimulate interest in this all-Canadian effort and to get the impartial view of lovers of clean, wholesome comedy, the Examiner is offering a cash prize of $15 for the best criticism of the performance, subject to the following conditions.

1. No member of this newspaper staff or theatre staff is eligible.

2. Criticisms must be impartial and reflect the personal impressions of the writer.

3. The prize will be awarded to that criticism displaying the most interesting and intelligent analysis of the play and performance.

4. All criticism submitted becomes the property of this paper and will not be returned. Criticisms must be in this office by Saturday evening, October 2nd.

5. An award will be made and announced through the columns of this paper within one week after the performance.

6. All criticisms must be neatly written on one side of the paper with the name and the address of writer.

As an example of the criticism, we publish here extracts from the comment of Alexander Woolcott, in the New York Times on Oct. 21, 1919, after the opening in New York:

"Those confirmed collaborators, Harevy O'Higgins and Harriet Ford, have been at it again and the result is a pretty continuously entertaining play called "On the Hiring Line" which made its first appearance last evening at the Criterion Theatre. As its name implies, it courageously makes light of that present source of grief, the servant problem. The plot is an ingenious one and it is touched again and again with those same little bits of poignant lifelikeness which always enrich Harvey O'Higgins stories and comedies.

"On the Hiring Line" unfolds the perplexities which beset an irritable business man who has a servantless house in the country and a wife so reluctant to remain in the country that she makes no effort to have things go well. He feels that all Washington and the ordinary household need is the kind of ordinary masculine management that a good business man could give them, and taunted by his wife's facetious comment he vows to install servants in his own house who will not only come but who will stay.

"So, in a moment of inspiration he calls up the Babbing Detective Agency, and engages two sleuths to come out to his house disguised as a cook and a butler. How the sleuths, pardonably assuming that something must be wrong in the house, go poking around till they find a-plenty, is the development which makes the last two acts of the new piece at the Criterion quite hilarious.

The cast assembled by George Tyler is all that one could ask. The inimitable Laura Hope Crews as the wife, Sidney Toler of Halifax, as the butler, and Robert Hudson as a neighbor, are rather in the lead. Miss Crew's sparkle is a familiar asset in American comedy. Mr. Toler is flawless and vastly amusing as the gumshoe butler. For some reason the american stage invariably plays detectives and hotel clerks to the manner born. Then Mr. Hudson proves himself one of those effortless comedians who are priceless in such pieces.

"Then Cyril Scott as the husband Donald Gallaher as a juevnile, turned loose on the play, and Vivian Tobin, undergoing the martyrdom of having to play a Helen Hayes part, are all in good form."

YOUNGER MENNONITES MAY COME EASTWARD.

(Canadian Press).

QUEBEC, Sept. 28.—Younger Mennonites of Manitoba, who were at first unwilling to leave that province with the older members of their sect, on account of educational restrictions, have notified the Quebec Government that delegations would be sent to the Abitibi region, with a view to selecting land to locate on.

NO CANADIAN AMBASSADOR

Representative in Washington Will Not Be Appointed for Long Time

(Canadian Press.)

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—Canadians here are particularly interested in a cable report printed by the Sun and Herald this morning which states that in "High Diplomatic Circles", in London it is declared there is no likelihood of a Canadian Ambassador to Washington. 'For a Long Time to Come." According to this report the scheme for a Canadian Ambassador to the United States has been abandoned at least for the present. A despatch states that while there is no objection in Downing Street to the scheme, it was found neither a special Canadian Ambassador nor Special Canadian representative sub-ordinate to Sir Auckland Geddes could have escaped difficulties which would have crippled nation.

Ottawa Not Surprised.

OTTAWA, Sept. 29.—Cabled reports that appointment of Canadian ambassador to Washington is likely to be delayed for while are in agreement with general impression that has prevailed here for some time past. There is no indication, however, that plan will be abandoned. It is understood that no Canadian Statesman with necessary qualifications for the post has yet indicated any strong desire to become the representative at United States capital.

WEDDING BELL

PARTRIDGE—SINCLAIR.
The wedding was solemnized last evening at seven o'clock in Trinity Methodist Church, Rev. F. E. Malott officiating, of Annetta Gladys Sinclair, 170 Hubridge Street, and Herbert Sidney Partridge, of Stratford, before a large number of friends and relatives. After their honeymoon, they will reside in Stratford.

HARRIS—BENNETT.
The marriage took place quietly at the home of Mrs. E. J. Bennett, 785 Water Street, at 10.30 this morning, of her youngest daughter, Margaret Audrey, and Gordon Wallace Harris, Rev. W. H. Young, of George Street Church, conducted the ceremony. The wedding march was played by Miss Elsie Clinkscale. The bride, who was given away by her brother, wore a travelling suit of taupe velour, seal cape, and black hat, and carried yellow mums. During the signing of the register, Miss Trucie Pearson sang "Until." After the wedding breakfast Mr. and Mrs. Harris left on the 11.45 C.P.R. train for Ottawa and Montreal, and on their return will reside at 264 Hunter Street.

SMITH—RATHBONE
Murray Street Baptist Church was the scene of a pretty wedding at 1 o'clock to-day when Aimee Louise daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Rathbone 167 Antrim street was united in matrimony to MacGregor Arthur Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Smith, of 576 Sherbrooke street. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. R. Webb assisted by Rev. McGregor Fraser of Gilmour church.

The bride, who entered the beautifully decorated church on the arm of her father to the strains of the wedding march played by Miss Ida Sanderson, looked lovely in a suit of taupe velour broadcloth, blue velvet and moleskin hat and shower bouquet of sweetheart roses. She was attended by Edith Mary Edwards, Toronto, the groom's cousin, who wore a tailored suit of navy blue and fawn hat and carried a bouquet of mauve and pink asters. The groom was supported by Mr. Donald Smith, his brother.

Miss Doris Rathbone, who sang during the service looked charming in a suit of navy blue, taupe fur, taupe plush hat, and carried a large bouquet of roses.

REFORMS FOR WOMEN

Better Treatment in Asylums and Prisons Sought by Deputation

(Canadian Press.)

TORONTO, Sept. 29.—Many reforms in legislation and regulations dealing with treatment of women inmates of asylums and prisons in Ontario were urged by provincial committee of National Council of Women which under leadership of Vice President, Dr. Stowe Gullen, waited on Hon. WHITE RIVER WAS THE COLDEST PLACE TO-DAY

Canadian Press.

TORONTO, Oct. 1. — As to temperatures, White River registered its annual record as the coldest place on the weather may by recording 6 degrees of frost last night. The mercury at the Soo and at Edmonton touched the freezing point while in Toronto, Winnipeg and Calgary, the coldest recorded during the night was a few points above the frost mark. The Pacific Coast is experiencing rather cooler weather than usual, but Quebec and the Maritime Provinces retain a comparatively balmy atmosphere.

HON. FERGUSON DENIES IMPROPER MOTIVES

(Canadian Press.)

TORONTO, Oct. 1. — Protesting that the public was getting the wrong impression of his attitude from newspaper reports and comments by commissioners, Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, former Minister of Lands, Forests and Mines, this morning took issue with Timber Commissioners Justices Riddell and Latchford, stating their object seemed to be a personal attack on him.

The papers can't get all the evidence and a wrong impression is being given to the public. "I object to the comment of the commissioners which seems to attribute to me improper motives," declared Mr. Ferguson.

Pretext For Grant.

In one instance, Justice Latchford said the brush burning experiments were "a mere pretext" for making the Graves' big wood grant. "I say that is unfair and there is no evidence to support it," declared the former minister.

Justice Latchford — "We will see about that."

Mr. Ferguson — "I intend to see about it, I am not through yet. We will see as we go along."

Who's Running Enquiry.

Justice Latchford then asked whether Mr. Harding or Mr. Ferguson was running the enquiry, to which the latter replied that he would give his story, and Mr. Harding could ask what he liked about it. Justice Riddell, however, stated that the investigation would be conducted in the manner desired by Mr. Harding until there appeared reason for a change. He promised Mr. Ferguson opportunity to place any information before the commissioners.

This passage was occasioned by a resumption of examination of the former minister regarding letters missing from file. Regarding one letter being missing from the file, Mr. Ferguson said he was at a loss to tell what had become of it.

"I have been charged with abstracting letters, and I can't understand all this furore, unless it is the intention to make a personal attack on me," he said hotly.

FISHERY JOBS FOR VETERANS

TORONTO, Oct. 1.—As part of the reorganization scheme in the Department of Games and Fisheries, which becomes effective to-day, Hon. F. C. Biggs, Minister of Public Works has appointed 33 overseas, nine of whom are former officers and 24 are newly appointed returned soldiers. Recently the resignations of 243 part time officials were secured.

The members of the new staff must devote their whole time to the work and sign up o go to any part of the province where their services may be required. The Games and Fisheries supervision will be divided among four districts, each under a warden.

Headquarters will be established for western Ontario at London, for eastern Ontario at Ottawa, for central northern Ontario at North Bay, and for northern Ontario at Fort William. Wardens will be paid $2,000 a year and overseas $1,100. The new scheme for permanent officials will cost just about the same as the old scheme, whereby most of the 243 employes only served part time.

ODDFELLOWS HELD A SOCIAL EVENING

H. G. Robertson of Barrie, Grand Master of the Independent Order of Oddfellows, paid an official visit to the local lodge last evening, and last night was tendered a banquet by the two local lodges under the able management of the Golden Link Lodges. Well over one hundred members sat down to the delightful banquet prepared by the ladies.

Following the banquet the lodge went into session and after the transaction of business addresses were given by the Grand Master and prominent local officers. In a spirited address he referred to the progress made by the order and he commended the aged home for Oddfellows now being erected in Toronto. The work, he said, was going ahead rapidly.

He paid a tribute to the excellent membership in Peterboro. Speeches were also made by the chairman, Col. J. W. Miller and the District Deputy Grand Master, Ira Goodfellow.

Mr. Robertson will address the order at Pontypool this evening.

THE WEATHER

We had the first cold fall rain last night, and which has continued to-day. The total last night was 7-10 of an inch. Some snow was also to be seen this morning, and was the first of the season. The rainfall for September was 4 inches and 1-10, somewhat heavier than usual. The highest temperature during the month was 90 degrees. This was also the highest of the summer. The lowest was 31 degrees.—W. P.

RACE COULD NOT BE FINISHED TO-DAY

(Special to Examiner)

KINGSTON, Oct. 1.—Owing to a heavy down pour of rain all day yesterday, the horse races at the horses races at the Kingston Fair had to be called off. Rain has been falling all morning and it is doubtful if any af the events can be run off this afternoon. The 2.15 class in which a Peterboro horse, E. W. Jones, Hazel H. got two firsts, was to have been finday yesterday horses races at the what was expected to be the most interesting race of the Fair.

Woman Vanishes

LEAVES FAMILY AT DINNER AND DISAPPEARS FROM SIGHT.

BEAVERTON, Oct. 1.—In the disappearance of Mrs. tephen West, the wife of a truckman employed on the C.N.R., Beaverton has a mystery which has caused intense excitement throughout the whole district. The harbor has beendragged twice, search parties have combed the country for a distance of fifteen miles in all directions, the water above the dam has been let down, and the lake shore and river flats have been careully searched, but not one trace of the missing woman has been found. Mrs. West left her home last Tuesday evening shortly before 7 o'clock. The family had just concluded dinner when she rose and let the house, the others remaining at the table. As she was wearing a white house dress and slippers at the time, it was thought she might have gone to visit a neighbor. Her husband, only son and a sister are in deep distress over her disappearance. Ms. West has black hair and a dark complexion and is of medium build. No cause can be assigned for her mysterious disappearance.

WINNERS OF THE TWO CAKES AT EXHIBITION

The two fruit cakes, given by the Campbell Flour Mils Co. to the persons holding the lucky numbers in a drawing of tickets at the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition, have been forwarded to the winners. Miss Drummond, R. R. No. 8, won the Potvin cake, while Miss Clara Dunk, 137 Lock Street, won the Coleman cake.

The drawing of the numbered tickets to decide these two winners was made by President Roland Denne, President of the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition Board.

ENTERTAINED A BRIDAL COUPLE

In honor of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Heather (nee Eva Nesbitt) who returned this week from their honeymoon trip to reside in the city, Mrs. Albert Lightheart, 147 Stewart Street, entertained at a miscellaneous shower at her home last evening.

During the evening a gaily decorated cart drawn by Kennie Johnston, and containing the numerous and valuable presents, was brought into the room, and during supper, the guests numbering about 35, stood about the table, upon which a miniature wedding cake was placed, nad drank a toast to the bride and groom.

The balance of the evening was spent in singing, dancing and games, the young people departing after wishing Mr. and Mrs. Heather every happiness.

CONFERENCE ON MINERS' DISPUTE

LONDON, Oct. 1.—Further steps were taken to-day in an effort to solve the difference between the coal miners and the mine owners, over which strike notices are pending.

After the conference with Lloyd-George this morning, representatives of the two sides to the dispute appointed a small negotiating committee to consider the crisis.

KUNMER TO GET $5,000 FOR RIDING MAN O' WAR

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.— Clarence Kummer the jockey, will receive $5,000 for riding Man o' War in the $7,000 match race against Commander J. K. L. Ross' Sir Barton at Kenilworth, Windsor, Ont., on October 12th, it was announced here.

This sum is one of the largest ever offered to a jockey for riding one race on this continent. Tod Sloan received $10,000 from the late W. C. Whitney for coming here from England to ride Bally Hoo Bey in the Futurity more than a decade ago.

Samuel Riddle, Man o' War's owner visited the colt yesterday and expressed the opinion that the champion never looked better.

Enforce the Law

TWENTY-THREE GLARE CHECKING DEVICES HAVE BEEN APPROVED.

TORONTO, Oct. 1.—Hon. F. C. Biggs yesterday announced the names of twenty-three glare-checking devices which the Lepartment of Highways will accept as complying with the anti-glare law passed last session and now in effect. For some time Prof. Laing, of the University of Toronto, acting under instructions from Hon. Mr. Biggs, has been testing the various devices and his report has just been presented to the Minister.

The Act of last session makes it unlawful for any motor vehicle to carry headlights that throw a beam of light that rises more than 42 inches from the ground when measured 75 feet from the lamps. The Act further declares that any device approved by the Minister and properly adjusted, shall be considered as being in conformity with the foregoing section.

The motorist therefore must choose a device from among the following, unless he cares to take a chance on a home-made glare-reducer, which of course, is perfectly within the Act if it answers the test provided in the Act:—Sun-Ray, Holophane, Sills (green top), Sills (clear), Benzer, Primolite, Violet Ray, Sunlite, Warner-Patterson, Lee Knight, McBride, Levelite, Raydex, Conophore (clear), Conophore (covial), McKee, Osgood, Shaler Roadlighter, Lexalite.

Hon. Mr. Biggs, in announcing the list yesterday, expressed the hope that motor car manufacturers would co-operate by installing proper devices on their cars in the future. He pointed out, further, that though motorists will comply with the Act without delay, it would not be unreasonable for the police uathorities throughout the province to delay a rigid enforcement of the Act until January, 1921, concurrent with the beginning of the new license year, in order that ample time or compliance with the Act may be given.

SUGAR AGAIN DROPS, SELLING AT 18 CENTS

AND BROKERS' PRICES AT HALIFAX DESCEND STILL LOWER.

HALIFAX, Oct. 1.—So-called second-hand sugar took another drop here following the $1.50 per hundred pound decrease in the price of "regular" or refinery sugar by all Canadian refiners the day before.

Over 1,000 bags of sugar from the Government warehouse at the South-end Terminals were sold yesterday at 18 cents a pound, and another broker was offering sugar at 17 cents.

The regular wholesale price is now $19.60 per 100 pounds, so that the brokers are still keeping nearly two cents below the refineries. They have been doing this right along, ever since the wholesale price was $24.10, and dealers stated yesterday that the refiners would have to announce another cut if they expected to compete with the brokers and bring about a stable market.

THE SCORES OF TO-MORROW'S GAME

The scores of to-morrow's championship game at Hamilton between Peterborough and Hamilton will be given out after each innings at the store of the Regent Tailors, George street.

MAYOR WILL NOT TRY ANY MORE O.T.A. CASES

TORONTO, Oct. 1.—Attorney-General Raney announces thae W. A. McCormack had ben appointed police magistrate of the town of Amherstburg. Interest is lent to the appointment by the fact that Mayor Reid of the town, who has by virtue of his office been sitting as a justice of peace and hearing offences against the O.T.A., was himself fined for a breach of the Act. Mr. Reid is not a regularly appointed J. P. but sat with his brother, (who is, because of his position of mayor. In future, therefore, all the town's court cases will be heard by the new magistrate.

DEFEAT OF THE RUSSIANS ON THE NORTHERN FRONTS SEEMS VIRTUALLY COMPLETE

A TOUCH OF WINTER THROUGHOUT ONTARIO

Canadian Press.

TORONTO, Oct 1. — Strong northerly gales during the night followed by heavy snowfalls this morning, gave this part of the Dominion an early taste of wintry weather. The temperature is quite low and the prospects are for a continuation of the inclement weather throughout the day. While there is considerable anxiety regarding slopping on the Great Lakes there are up till 10 a.m. no definite reports of vessels in trouble.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET

(United Press.)

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—The stock market opened firm to-day. Leading prices were:

American Smelting 59 up 1-4, Reading 94 1-4 up 5-8, New Haven 35 7-8 up 1-4, Pan-American 88 up 3-8, Southern Railway 31 1-2 off 1-8, Baldwin 108 1-2 up 7-8, U.S. Rubber 75 5-8 up 1-8, Sinclair Oil 30 3-8 off 1-4, Chespeake, Ohio, 67 unchanged, Can. Pac. 122 1-2 up 1-2, Southern Pacific 98 5-8 up 1-2, Willys-Overland 10 1-4 off 3-4, Studebaker 53 3-4 off 1-8, General Motors 17 up 1-2, Bethlehem B. 69 1-2 up 1-4, Union Pacific 125 5-8 up 7-8, U.S. Steel 86 1-4 up 1-4.

Oils were reactionary and opening recoveries were not retained. Texas Co. made an opening high of 48 1-2 compared with the week's low of 46 3-4. Mexican Pet. after opening at 186 1-4, reacted to a new low under 182.

Traders looking around for favorable spots sold sugars. American sugar made a new low for the year at 100 but quickly rallied to 103; Studebaker rallied 2 points to 55 in the second hour traders said it indicated motor stocks had been oversold.

EXCHANGE MARKET.

(United Press.)

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—Prices on the foreign exchange market to-day opened as follows: Demand sterling $3.47 1-4, Francs $.0665, Lire $.0417, Marks $.0162, Canadian dollars $.9030.

Stock Market Bulletin, Sept. 30, /20 Campbell, Stratton & Co., Members Toronto Stock Exchange.

U. S. Steel Corpn' agrees to finance rehabilitation of French steel industry and Judge Gary when in Paris said to have perfected arrangements whereby Spanish iron ore will be furnished France to start trade according to special London despatch to New York American. Gary due here Sunday.

Foreign exchange nervous and irregular with decline in Sterling chief feature, believed to have been due largely to liberal offerings of commercial bills, particularly against exports of cotton. Closed 3.47 and Francs 6.66.

Announcement of the closing of the Willys Overland plant was the signal for another drive on the motors which sent many of the group to new low figures. This movement was shared by the Rubber and other accessory stocks.

Pittsburg.—Those who know say they look for no cut in crude oil prices at least as it applies to the Pennsylvania grades and it is the Penn that usually set the pace up or down. Present prices are predicted for sometime according to these authorities.

The Standard railroad stocks continued their upward course this afternoon and while there were some fractional reactions at the close the group of such issues as Union Pac. S. P. Atch. and N.Y.C. had scored an average advance of about two points. The pressure on the industrials lifted somewhat but the oil group and motor stocks remained practically at bottom figures. The tire stocks were also weak and it was reported that reductions in tire prices will be announced by certain concerns within the next day or so. The Steel stocks sagged off slightly but the equipments hung on quite firmly. Baldwin was reported to have taken orders for forty new engines. Money got up to 9 p.c. this afternoon but did not appear to be a factor.

On the Toronto market.—Traction stocks grew suddenly popular this morning following on the improvement in that group in the New York market. An influx of orders from all quarters created activity in Twin City, Duluth Superior, Brazilian and C.P.R. Twin City opened at 38, advanced 3 points beyond yesterday, closing ac-

ONE RUSSIAN DIVISION SURRENDERED TO THE POLES—BOLSHEVIK RESISTANCE SMASHED.

(Canadian Press.)

WARSAW, Oct. 1.—The defeat of Russians on Polish northern front seems virtually complete. Soviet troops are reported fleeing northward in disorder in an effort to avoid being surrounded by the Poles, who are in close pursuit. The result of the Polish victory is declared by military experts as eliminating any chance of Bolsheviki launching a fall offensive, which War Minister Trotsky was credited with planning to drive back the Poles from the territory they occupied after the failure of the Soviet drive on Warsaw. Advices from the front report that one Russian division surrendered to the Poles after having murdered all commissionaries with it who tried to compel the troops to offer resistance to the Polish advance. Official communique declares Bolsheviki all along the northern front were whipped unmercifully much to the discouragement of their commanders. The commander of the third Bolshevik army committed suicide, it is asserted, when he realized that his command had been completely smashed.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 1. — Kharkov, in Southern Russia, north of the Sea of Azov, has been captured by Baron Wrangel's forces. The capture of this city, together with the advance o fthe Polish-Ukranian forces west of Kiev is considered here as having imperilled communications of Russian Soviet troops in the vicinity of Nikolaiv, near Odessa.

FOR REAL HEROES

NOT WON BY MERE BRAVERY.

It Takes a Deed of Almost Superhuman Fearlessness to Gain This Coveted Badge, the Hardest to Win of All National War Decorations.

"Hardest to gain, fewest in numbers, the least known of the military decoration of honors of the world," sums up the medal of honor of the United States, the bit of ribbon and the piece of metal that are so eagerly coveted and highly prized by the soldiers and sailors of Uncle Sam.

When you see a man with the conspicuous bronze star pinned to his coat by a blue ribbon on which are thirteen white stars you may know that he has done a deed that has placed his life in such jeopardy that escape from it was nearly a miracle.

The medal of honor was first authorized by congress in 1862 and was for noncommissioned officers and privates only. But in the following year the law was changed to extend the award to commissioned officers also. In all about 1,500 of the medals were presented for services in the war between the states, and it is a remarkable fact that 90 per cent of them went to private soldiers.

In its present form the medal of honor is a five pointed star with a medallion in the center bearing the head of Minerva and around it "United States of America" in relief. On each ray of the star is an oak leaf, and the points themselves are trefoil shaped. A laurel wreath in green enamel encircles the whole, and this wreath is surmounted by "Valor," which in turn is surmounted by an eagle that attaches the decoration to its ribbon.

Accompanying this medal there is a badge, or lapel button, hexagonal and made of blue silk with the thirteen original stars in white. The army medal is represented by a small blue button studded with stars, while the navy medal is represented by a small red, white and blue bowknot.

It was not until 1897 that regulations definitely enunciating the conditions under which the medal should be awarded were promulgated. They emphasized the difficulty of winning the decoration and the great honor attaching to its possession.

"Medals of honor authorized by the act of congress approved March 3, 1863," say the regulations, "are awarded to officers and enlisted men in the name of congress for particular deeds of most distinguished gallantry in action. In order that the congressional medal of honor may be deserved, service must have been performed in action of such conspicuous character as to distinguish clearly the man for gallantry and intrepidity above his comrades, service that involved extreme jeopardy of life or the performance of extraordinarily hazardous duty. Recommendations for the decoration will be judged by this standard of extraordinary merit, and incontestible proof of performance of the service will be exacted.

"Soldiers of the Union have ever displayed bravery in battle, else victories could not have been gained. But as courage and self sacrifice are the characteristics of every true soldier, such a badge of distinction as the congressional medal is not to be expected as the reward of conduct that does not clearly distinguish the soldier above other men whose bravery and gallantry have been proved in battle."

In other words, the medal of honor is a medal for superheroes, for men who not only risk their lives in some extraordinary way, but who display such intelligence in the action that it stands out as something apart from conduct in the line of duty. Executive orders prescribe as follows the way in which the medal may be gained:

The recommendations must be presented by some one other than the proposed recipient, one who is personally familiar with all the facts and circumstances claimed as justifying the award, but the application may be made by the one claiming to have earned it, in which case it will be in the form of a deposition reciting a narrative description of the distinguished service performed. Recommendations will be made by the commanding officer at the time of the action or by a soldier or an officer having personal cognizance of the act for which the badge of honor is claimed.

The regulations also provide for exhaustive examination of the circumstances in each case and for an investigation that removes every possibility of fraud. Affidavits from witnesses are required, and the system safeguarding the distinction is hedged about with innumerable restrictions. It may be taken for granted that a man who secures one of the coveted medals has earned it with interest.

Akron and Rubber.

There are thirty or more rubber factories in and around Akron. Three of them are so vast that the visitor feels a bewilderment that merges into awe as he follows his guide hour after hour through titanic shops. These three colossal plants are said to represent 70 per cent of Akron's life, while Akron itself stands for 60 per cent of the total rubber production of the United States.—Edward Mott Woolley in McClure's.

The only thing that walks back from the tomb with the mourners and refuses to be buried is character.—W. M. Hunt.

The Wise Ones.

"Don't you wish you knew as much as your children think you do?"

"No. I wish I knew as much as my children think they do."—Houston Post.

If you bring a smile to the trembling lips of another you will soon discover that a smile is alighting on your own lips.

RUNNING AND BREATHING.

Why the Exertion Makes the Lungs Gasp For More Air.

It is hard to breathe after running awhile, because your body requires more blood in circulation. The efforts of your heart, brain and lungs make breathing difficult. We breathe to take air into the lungs, where the blood which has once been through the arteries and comes back on its return trip to the heart is exposed to the air in the lungs before going back into the heart. The air which we take into our lungs purifies the once used blood and makes it into good blood again.

When you run the heart pumps blood into your arteries faster to enable you to run, we are told by the Book of Wonders. Thus also the arteries send much more blood back to the heart through the veins, and this must be purified by the lungs before going back into the heart. To attend to purifying this extra amount of spoiled blood the lungs need more air, and thus you are made to breathe in more air for the purpose.

Unless you are in good training—your wind in good condition, as we say—it is almost impossible for you to supply the lungs with enough air for the purpose, but whether you can do it or not the lungs call upon you for more air and cause you to try to get it, and that is what makes you get out of breath.

SINGING IN ENGLISH.

The Difficulty of Sounding Certain Words on High Notes.

English as is commonly sung has become so hard to understand that musical authorities are earnestly seeking a remedy. And the composer is principally to blame, says Francis Toye, writing in the London Nation.

"That there are difficulties in singing certain English syllables on certain notes may be admitted," says Mr. Toye. "English, unlike German and Italian, is not predominantly a language of broad vowel sounds. It is awkward, for instance, to sing 'fix' or 'her' or 'sun' with a loud, sustained tone on a high note. But if composers knew their business they would not, save in any exceptional circumstances, ask the singer to do anything of the kind.

"Half the imaginary difficulties of singing English arise from the incompetence of many composers in setting it to music. They seem neither to think in terms of singing nor to study the natural rhythm of the language. When they do the 'problems' of singing in English vanish like the mist before the sun."

TO THE DELEGATE OF WORLD'SS BROTHERHOOD CONFEDERATION

(By T. TOOMS, M.P.P.)

Religion of to-day is held back, we are not progresing with the mind of the people. We are tethered as it were to hard and fast doctrines set down for our guidance truly! But if we attempt to progress one step beyond a profesed doctrine, we are pulled up as it were, by the tether rope of tradition, sometimes violently if we attempt to go headlong. We keep running round and round the circle just as far as the rope's length will permit us.

The centre we may say is the founder of the religion professed. The same thing applies to the religion of Islam Buddah system, and not much else with Christendom. Therefore we may say that the error proceeds from one grand cause. We may leave out the minor factors of greed of gold, and of power, and if that side shoot of earnestness called fanatism, of hypocrisy which generates so much blindness in those who think they are sincere, and speak of one cause fundamental. Whenever men ask what they should do, in this case or that, in order that they should not fail to coordinate ther own acts with the will of Christ. The answer was, look backward to Him and learn of Him. And if any men inquired further where he would be able to find the will of the Christ expressed, the answer was that such expression be found in the book of records of His acts and words. Naught but what was found therein was to be believed as His will, and on His will therein expressed; the doings of Christendom are shaped. And so it came to pass that Christendom became tied with a tether to the book The church was truly active with the life of Him. His spirit filled it up like the living, coursing blood in a human body. But that life is being strangled and the body begins to halt and at last to go round more slowly in that circumscribed orbit. Truly His works and acts recorded were a most precious heritage. They were meant to be the Sheckinah to guide the church through the wilderness of the ages. But note well; the Sheckinah went before the children of Jacob and led them. The Book of the new Covenant did not go before but was enthroned behind. The light cast was true light as from a beacon on top of a hill. But it lighted men from behind and threw their shadows before them. If they would look to the light they must turn their glances over their shoulders backwards. "Then they stumbled." It is not of orderly advance to be turning backward in order to see how to go forward. That is the error men made. He is our captain. He goes before us, and we follow Him, through death and resurrection into His heaven beyond. But for a sight of this Captain going before them, they turn round and look to the rear, which is not conducive to orderly advance nor agreeable with reason. Some men made bold to move forward. They suffered of their fellow men, but the seed sown bore its harvest. Understand that the mistake men made was, to hamper a living, moving life with a Book. They regarded that Book not what it was and is; wonderful, beautiful, but as both infallible and complete. The few words and acts of Him in the Book of the four evangelists are not even as the source from which the river of Christendom flows. They are merely a few ripples on its broader tide to show what way it rides to the sea. Men are beginning to see this now, and to go forward glad of the beacon light behind, but with greater gladness towards the more radiant light ahead. He promised He would lead you. Follow Him, He may not tarry on your hesitancy.

EARLY SURGEONS PAID DEARLY FOR MISTAKES

In the days of Hammurabi, 2,000 years B. C., the surgeon was an accepted member of the social order, and filled a much higher plane in society than he did centuries afterward, when he combined the trade of physician and barber. But what he gained in social standing he lost in the walls by which his acts were surrounded, and his desire for operations was tempered with a cautious diagnosis, for failure meant much more than a dissatisfied patient or surviving relative.

If a patient died after an operation, the surgeon's hands were cut off, to make sure he would do no more bungling — unless the patient happened to be a slave, and in that case he had to replace the lost one.

If he merely lost the slave's eye in his work he had to pay half the market value of the servant, and a similar code of values was placed on the various limbs of the slave under treatment. A socialist arrangement was also in force relative to his fees. Thus, he was allowed to charge a rich man five shekels, a commoner only three, while a slave could have the same bit of surgery done for a single shekel. Operations came a little higher, 10 shekels being allowed for a major affair on an aristocrat and five for a commoner, while a slave could have his appendix sliced out for a paltry two.

Catarrh Germs

Move Out When Hyomei Moves In

No stomach dosing. Hyomei is made chiefly of oil of eucalyptus taken from the eucalyptus forests of inland Australia, and combined with other excellent antiseptics.

In inland Australia the atmosphere is so impregnated with balsam thrown out by the eucalyptus trees that germs do not thrive, and in consequence coughs, colds, catarrh and other nose and throat afflictions are practically unknown.

Hyomei is sold by druggists everywhere or by mail $1.35 for complete outfit; 75 cents for extra bottle liquid Booth's Hyomei Co., Listowell, Ont., on a guarantee of satisfaction or money refunded.

STIRRING ADDRESS AT THE HARVEST FESTIVAL HELD IN ALL SAINTS' CHURCH LAST EVENING.

All Saints' Church last evening celebrated the annual Harvest Thanksgiving and the church was radiant with offerings of wheat, fruit and vegetables, the generous contributions being in keeping with the unusually bounteous harvest. The chancel was brilliant with sheaves of wheat and panels of autumn flowers, while the choir loft was banked with emblems of the harvest.

Eloquent Sermon.

Rev. T. W. Murphy, Rector of All Saints' church, Toronto, preached an eloquent sermon in which he deplored the covetousness of man, who by profiteering, holding up the market, and by cold storage plants, in which goods are allowed at times to waste, defeat the end of God who had made bountiful provision for the people of the world.

"All good things come from God, that we may be strengthened and blessed," the speaker said in part, referring to the many passages in the Psalms, from which that message is borne to us. God reveals himself to us in nature and in the recurrent harvests. How lovingly, he said, God attends to all steps needed for grain gathering, sending showers to the growing grain, and in the sunshine smiling a tender benediction. God's is the only voice. His action is present in all material changes. There is no power but God's.

Crowning Time.

In a special sense, the speaker continued, harvest is the crowning time of the year. In one sense every day is marked by the presence of God but harvest is the crowning time of a year of toil—the coronation time of the year, the time of joy when we receive from Almighty God the fruit of all our labours. His gifts in harvest are plentiful ,gifts which satisfy.

The true standard of wealth, Mr. Murphy ocntended, is not gold but wheat. The wheat market effects the life of every country and every citizen. Sometimes, he continued, some have a false idea of the preciousness of things. God, however, knows that it is the common things of life which are the most precious. His gifts in harvest are the truly precious things of life .

Referring to the harvest of this year ,the speaker said that he did not believe that there had ever previously been such a harvest. It is wonderful, he said, that God has made such provision for the wants of the world, sending enough to satisfy every person, and on top of all this we find rich men holding up prices, the profiteering extorting the last cent out of the multitude.

His Wealth.

The speaker strongly endorsed the system of giving one-tenth of our wealth to God, using then our riches as He ,the owner, wishes us. Honor God, the speaker concluded, by acknowledging him as Lord and Master. Go forward in truth and honor Him with the first fruits.

The Church.

Previous to his sermon, Mr. Murphy spoke of the beauty of All Saints Church, Peterboro, and referred to the fact that he and the Rector, Mr. R. B. Grobb, had been class mates at college. The music was particularly good.

"I don't like Mrs. Wombat. Wants to talk about her poodle all the time." "Is that so?" "Yes; never cares to hear about my canary."

Young Husband (to Wife): "Didn't I tell you not to bring your mother with you." Young Wife: "I know. That's what she wants to see you about. She read the telegram."

Mrs. Benham: "You used to say that I was the aple of your eye." Benham: "Nothing; except that you don't seem to care so much for fruit as you once did."

The birdes were becomingly attired in white satin draped with georgette crepe with hat and gloves to match.—From Rural Paper.

THE HOME CIRCLE COLUMN

BE CHEERFUL.

Keep a stiff upper lip, and rise above the clouds of adversity, tho they threaten momentarily to overwhelm you. Thus may you be led to forget your precarious position, until soon a ray of hope penetrates the darkness and the day dawns forth with renewed brilliancy.

Don't allow your mind to dwell on dismal themes, lest a gloomy imagination run away with you. It always augments grief and magnifies misfortune.

Interest yourself in the present and diffuse the extra pleasures of the day through succeeding ones, in order to enliven the whole week.

Preserve the memory of past happiness until sure of a fresh supply, but never place yourself in the position to lose sight of both. It is as oppressive as the darkness of a total eclipse.

About the most disagreeable habit that anyone can get into is the nagging habit. We all have times when we feel like nagging and the best way for anyone to avoid unpleasantness at such times is to go off by one's self and fight off the ugly mood. Nagging has ruined more homes than anyone realizes because it is at the start of many more conspicuous evils.

Your best blessings are not recognized by you till they have vanished; your common privileges have little value to you till you are deprived of them. Your home inspires no special gratitude till you are cast homeless upon the world. Your friends, the companions of your life, the dear sharers of your every-day experience—how little do you prize the tenderness of their love or the beauty of their character, until the quiet, unceasing ministry of goodness has ceased forever.

One of the most encouraging signs of national advancement is the increased and deeper thinking on the part of our young women. They are filling a growing number of important positions in our larger concerns.

The kitchen in a house may represent an engine room in a steamship, and the cook may represent the engineer. However beautifully furnished the rest of the ship is, if the engineer is incapable, or the engine is broken, all will go wrong; so it is with the home; no matter how nice the parlours are furnished, if the cook is not competent, everyone connected with the home will have to suffer the consequences.

Stirring up bitterness in a neighbour's heart is never profitable or pleasant.

Most of us are inclined to take our family too much for granted just the same as we take our town and very often a family, or certain members of it, need boosting quite as well as a town.

It doesn't pay to gossip about one's neighbours. Let us have only kind thoughts and good words for every one, and be sure to lend a helping hand whenever occasion calls for it. In trying to lighten another's burden, we forget our own; and the kind thoughts we send out come back to us like echoes.

The person that has wiped wet eyes, moistened parched tongues, put a new star in the sky of a dark life, added beauty and bloom? the song of birds and the blossom of flowers to the lot of another is—whether he be rich or poor, known or unknown, bound or free—one of God's nobility.

The past is fixed. No tears can wash away its facts. We should waste no regrets upon it; but, from the wisdom which its very sins have taught us, we should start afresh on the race.

Take as much care of your money as you can if your means are limited, but don't try to save your smiles or kind words. The more liberal you are with these the more you will have.

WHITE RIVER WAS THE COLDEST PLACE TO-DAY

Canadian Press.

TORONTO, Oct. 1. — As to temperatures, White River registered its annual record as the coldest place on the weather may by recording 6 degrees of frost last night. The mercury at the Soo and at Edmonton touched the freezing point while in Toronto, Winnipeg and Calgary, the coldest recorded during the night was a few points above the frost mark. The Pacific Coast is experiencing rather cooler weather than usual, but Quebec and the Maritime Provinces retain a comparatively balmy atmosphere.

HON. FERGUSON DENIES IMPROPER MOTIVES

(Canadian Press.)

TORONTO, Oct. 1. — Protesting that the public was getting the wrong impression of his attitude from newspaper reports and comments by commissioners, Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, former Minister of Lands, Forests and Mines, this morning took issue with Timber Commissioners Justices Riddell and Latchford, stating their object seemed to be a personal attack on him.

The papers can't get all the evidence and a wrong impression is being given to the public. "I object to the comment of the commissioners which seems to attribute to me improper motives," declared Mr. Ferguson.

Pretext For Grant.

In one instance, Justice Latchford said the brush burning experiments were "a mere pretext" for making the Graves' big wood grant. "I say that is unfair and there is no evidence to support it," declared the former minister.

Justice Latchford — "We will see about that."

Mr. Ferguson — "I intend to see about it, I am not through yet. We will see as we go along."

Who's Running Enquiry.

Justice Latchford then asked whether Mr. Harding or Mr. Ferguson was running the enquiry, to which the latter replied that he would give his story, and Mr. Harding could ask what he liked about it. Justice Riddell, however, stated that the investigation would be conducted in the manner desired by Mr. Harding until there appeared reason for a change. He promised Mr. Ferguson opportunity to place any information before the commissioners.

This passage was occasioned by a resumption of examination of the former minister regarding letters missing from file. Regarding one letter being missing from the file, Mr. Ferguson said he was at a loss to tell what had become of it.

"I have been charged with abstracting letters, and I can't understand all this furore, unless it is the intension to make a personal attack on me," he said hotly.

FISHERY JOBS FOR VETERANS

TORONTO, Oct. 1.—As part of the reorganization scheme in the Department of Games and Fisheries, which becomes effective to-day, Hon. F. C. Biggs, Minister of Public Works has appointed 33 overseas, nine of whom are former officers and 24 are newly appointed returned soldiers. Recently the resignations of 243 part time officials were secured.

The members of the new staff must devote their whole time to the work and sign up o go to any part of the province where their services may be required. The Games and Fisheries supervision will be divided among four districts, each under a warden.

Headquarters will be established for western Ontario at London, for eastern Ontario at Ottawa, for central northern Ontario at North Bay, and for northern Ontario at Fort William. Wardens will be paid $2,000 a year and overseas $1,100. The new scheme for permanent officials will cost just about the same as the old scheme, whereby most of the 243 employes only served part time.

ODDFELLOWS HELD A SOCIAL EVENING

H. G. Robertson of Barrie, Grand Master of the Independent Order of Oddfellows, paid an official visit to the local lodge last evening, and last night was tendered a banquet by the two local lodges under the able manage ment of the Golden Link Lodges. Well over one hundred members sat down to the delightful banquet prepared by the ladies.

Following the banquet the lodge went into session and after the transaction of business addresses were given by the Grand Master and prominent local officers. In a spirited address he referred to the progress made by the order and he commended the aged home for Oddfellows now being erected in Toronto. The work, he said, was going ahead rapidly.

He paid a tribute to the excellent membership in Peterboro. Speeches were also made by the chairman, Col. J. W. Miller and the District Deputy Grand Master, Ira Goodfellow.

Mr. Robertson will address the order at Pontypool this evening.

THE WEATHER

We had the first cold fall rain last night, and which has continued today. The total last night was 7-10 of an inch. Some snow was also to be seen this morning, and was the first of the season. The rainfall for September was 4 inches and 1-10, somewhat heavier than usual. The highest temperature during the month was 90 degrees. This was also the highest of the summer. The lowest was 31 degrees.—W. P.

Woman Vanishes

LEAVES FAMILY AT DINNER AND DISAPPEARS FROM SIGHT.

BEAVERTON, Oct. 1.—In the disappearance of Mrs. tephen West, the wife of a truckman employed on the C.N.R., Beaverton has a mystery which has caused intense excitement throughout the whole district. The harbor has beendragged twice, search parties have combed the country for a distance of fifteen miles in all directions, the water above the dam has been let down, and the lake shore and river flats have been carefully searched, but not one trace of the missing woman has been found. Mrs. West left her home last Tuesday evening shortly before 7 o'clock. The family had just concluded dinner when she rose and let the house, the others remaining at the table. As she was wearing a white house dress and slippers at the time, it was thought she might have gone to visit a neighbor. Her husband, only son and a sister are in deep distress over her disappearance. Ms. West has black hair and a dark complexion and is of medium build. No cause can be assigned for her mysterious disappearance.

WINNERS OF THE TWO CAKES AT EXHIBITION

The two fruit cakes, given by the Campbell Flour Mils Co. to the persons holding the lucky numbers in a drawing of tickets at the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition, have been forwarded to the winners. Miss Drummond, R. R. No. 8, won the Potvin cake, while Miss Clara Dunk, 137 Lock Street, won the Coleman cake.

The drawing of the numbered tickets to decide these two winners was made by President Roland Denne, President of the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition Board.

ENTERTAINED A BRIDAL COUPLE

In honor of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Heather (nee Eva Nesbitt) who returned this week from their honeymoon trip to reside in the city, Mrs. Albert Lightheart, 147 Stewart Street, entertained at a miscellaneous shower at her home last evening.

During the evening a gaily decorated cart drawn by Kennie Johnston, and containing the numerous and valuable presents, was brought into the room, and during supper, the guests numbering about 35, stood about the table, upon which a miniature wedding cake was placed, nad drank a toast to the bride and groom.

The balance of the evening was spent in singing, dancing and games, the young people departing after wishing Mr. and Mrs. Heather every happiness.

CONFERENCE ON MINERS' DISPUTE

LONDON, Oct. 1.—Further steps were taken to-day in an effort to solve the difference between the coal miners and the mine owners, over which strike notices are pending.

After the conference with Lloyd-George this morning, representatives of the two sides to the dispute appointed a small negotiating committee to consider the crisis.

KUNMER TO GET $5,000 FOR RIDING MAN O' WAR

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.— Clarence Kummer the jockey, will receive $5,000 for riding Man o' War in the $75,000 match race against Commander J. K. L. Ross' Sir Barton at Kenilworth, Windsor, Ont., on October 12th., it was announced here.

This sum is one of the largest ever offered to a jockey for riding one race on this continent. Tod Sloan received $20,000 from the late W. C. Whitney for coming here from England to ride Bully Hoo Bey in the Futurity more than a decade ago.

Samuel Riddle, Man o' War's owner visited the colt yesterday and expressed the opinion that the champion never looked better.

Enforce the Law

TWENTY-THREE GLARE CHECKING DEVICES HAVE BEEN APPROVED.

TORONTO, Oct. 1.—Hon. F. C. Biggs yesterday announced the names of twenty-three glare-checking devices which the Department of Highways will accept as complying with the anti-glare law passed last session and now in effect. For some time Prof. Laing, of the University of Toronto, acting under instructions from Hon. Mr. Biggs, has been testing the various devices and his report has just been presented to the Minister.

The Act of last session makes it unlawful for any motor vehicle to carry headlights that throw a beam of light that rises more than 42 inches from the ground when measured 75 feet from the lamps. The Act further declares that any device approved by the Minister and properly adjusted, shall be considered as being in conformity with the foregoing section.

The motorist therefore must choose a device from among the following, unless he cares to take a chance on a home-made glare-reducer, which of course, is perfectly within the Act if it answers the test provided in the Act:—Sun-Ray, Holophane, Sills (green top), Sills (clear), Benzer, Primolite, Violet Ray, Sunlite, Warner-Patterson, Lee Knight, McBride, Levelite, Raydex, Conophore (clear), Conophore (covial), McKee, Osgood, Shaler Roadlighter, Lexalite.

Hon. Mr. Biggs, in announcing the list yesterday, expressed the hope that motor car manufacturers would co-operate by installing proper devices on their cars in the future. He pointed out, further, that though motorists will comply with the Act without delay, it would not be unreasonable for the police authorities throughout the province to delay a rigid enforcement of the Act until January, 1921, concurrent with the beginning of the new license year, in order that ample time or compliance with the Act may be given.

SUGAR AGAIN DROPS, SELLING AT 18 CENTS

AND BROKERS' PRICES AT HALIFAX DESCEND STILL LOWER.

HALIFAX, Oct. 1.—So-called second-hand sugar took another drop here following the $1.50 per hundred pound decrease in the price of "regular" or refinery sugar by all Canadian refiners the day before.

Over 1,000 bags of sugar from the Government warehouse at the Southend Terminals were sold yesterday at 18 cents a pound, and another broker was offering sugar at 17 cents.

The regular wholesale price is now $19.60 per 100 pounds, so that the brokers are still keeping nearly two cents below the refineries. They have been doing this right along, ever since the wholesale price was $24.10, and dealers stated yesterday that the refiners would have to announce another cut if they expected to compete with the brokers and bring about a stable market.

THE SCORES OF TO-MORROW'S GAME

The scores of to-morrow's championship game at Hamilton between Peterborough and Hamilton will be given out after each innings at the store of the Regent Tailors, George street.

MAYOR WILL NOT TRY ANY MORE O.T.A. CASES

TORONTO, Oct. 1.—Attorney-General Raney announces that W. A. McCormack had ben appointed police magistrate of the town of Amherstburg. Interest is lent to the appointment by the fact that Mayor Reid of the town, who has by virtue of his office been sitting as a justice of peace and hearing offences against the O.T.A., was himself fined for a breach of the Act. Mr. Reid is not a regularly appointed J. P. but sat with his brother, who is, because of his position of mayor. In future, therefore, all the town's court cases will be heard by the new magistrate.

DEFEAT OF THE RUSSIANS ON THE NORTHERN FRONTS SEEMS VIRTUALLY COMPLETE

A TOUCH OF WINTER THROUGHOUT ONTARIO

Canadian Press.

TORONTO, Oct 1. — Strong northerly gales during the night followed by heavy snowfalls this morning, gave this part of the Dominion an early taste of wintry weather. The temperature is quite low and the prospects are for a continuation of the inclement weather throughout the day. While there is considerable anxiety regarding shipping on the Great Lakes there are up till 10 a.m. no definite reports of vessels in trouble.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET

(United Press.)

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—The stock market opened firm to-day. Leading prices were:

American Smelting 59 up 1-4, Reading 94 1-4 up 5-8, New Haven 35 7-8 up 1-4, Pan-American 88 up 3-8, Southern Railway 31 1-2 off 1-8, Baldwin 108 1-2 up 7-8, U.S. Rubber 75 5-8 up 1-8, Sinclair Oil 30 3-8 off 1-4, Chespeake, Ohio, 67 unchanged, Can. Pac. 122 1-2 up 1-2, Southern Pacific 98 5-8 up 1-2, Willys-Overland 10 1-4 off 3-4, Studebaker 53 3-4 off 1-8, General Motors 17 up 1-2, Bethlehem B. 69 1-2 up 1-4, Union Pacific 125 5-8 up 7-8, U.S. Steel 86 1-4 up 1-4.

Oils were reactionary and opening recoveries were not retained. Texas Co. made an opening high of 48 1-2 compared with the week's low of 46 3-4. Mexican Pet. after opening at 186 1-4, reacted to a new low under 182.

Traders looking around for favorable spots sold sugars. American sugar made a new low for the year at 100 but quickly rallied to 103; Studebaker rallied 2 points to 55 in the second hour traders said it indicated motor stocks had been oversold.

EXCHANGE MARKET.

(United Press.)

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—Prices on the foreign exchange market to-day opened as follows: Demand sterling $3.47 1-4, France $.0665, Lire $.0417, Marks $.0162, Canadian dollars $.9030.

Stock Market Bulletin, Sept. 30, /20. Campbell, Stratton & Co., Members Toronto Stock Exchange.

U. S. Steel Corpn' agrees to finance rehabilitation of French steel industry and Judge Gary when in Paris said to have perfected arrangements whereby Spanish iron ore will be furnished France to start trade according to special London despatch to New York American. Gary due here Sunday.

Foreign exchange nervous and irregular with decline in Sterling chief feature, believed to have been due largely to liberal offerings of commercial bills, particularly against exports of cotton. Closed 3.47 and Francs 6.66.

Announcement of the closing of the Willys Overland plant was the signal for another drive on the motors which sent many of the group to new low figures. This movement was shared by the Rubber and other accessory stocks.

Pittsburg.—Those who know say they look for no cut in crude oil prices at least as it applies to the Pengrades and it is the Penn that usually set the pace up or down. Present prices are predicted for sometime according to these authorities.

The Standard railroad stocks continued their upward course this afternoon and while there were some fractional reactions at the close the group of such issues as Union Pac. S. P. Atch. and N.Y.C. had scored an average advance of about two points. The pressure on the industrials lifted somewhat but the oil group and motor stocks remained practically at bottom figures. The tire stocks were also weak and it was reported that reductions in tire prices will be announced by certain concerns within the next day or so. The Steel stocks sagged off slightly but the equipments hung on quite firmly. Baldwin was reported to have taken orders for forty new engines. Money got up to 9 p.c. this afternoon but did not appear to be a factor.

On the Toronto market.—Traction stocks grew suddenly popular this morning following on the improvement in that group in the New York market. An influx of orders from all quarters created activity in Twin City, Duluth Superior, Brazilian and C.P.R. Twin City opened at 38, advanced 3 points beyond yesterday, closing ac-

ONE RUSSIAN DIVISION SURRENDERED TO THE POLES—BOLSHEVIK RESISTANCE SMASHED.

(Canadian Press.)

WARSAW, Oct. 1.—The defeat of Russians on Polish northern front seems virtually complete. Soviet troops are reported fleeing northward in disorder in an effort to avoid being surrounded by the Poles, who are in close pursuit. The result of the Polish victory is declared by military experts as eliminating any chance of Bolsheviki launching a fall offensive, which War Minister Trotsky was credited with planning to drive back the Poles from the territory they occupied after the failure of the Soviet drive on Warsaw. Advices from the front report that one Russian division surrendered to the Poles after having murdered all commissionaries with it who tried to compel the troops to offer resistance to the Polish advance. Official communique declares Bolsheviki all along the northern front were whipped unmercifully much to the discouragement of their commanders. The commander of the third Bolshevik army committed suicide, it is asserted, when he realized that his command had been completely smashed.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 1. — Kharkov, in Southern Russia, north of the Sea of Azov, has been captured by Baron Wrangel's forces. The capture of this city, together with the advance o fthe Polish-Ukranian forces west of Kiev is considered here as having imperilled communications of Russian Soviet troops in the vicinity of Nikolaiv, near Odessa.

FOR REAL HEROES

NOT WON BY MERE BRAVERY.

It Takes a Deed of Almost Superhuman Fearlessness to Gain This Coveted Badge, the Hardest to Win of All National War Decorations.

"Hardest to gain, fewest in numbers, the least known of the military decoration of honors of the world," sums up the medal of honor of the United States, the bit of ribbon and the piece of metal that are so eagerly coveted and highly prized by the soldiers and sailors of Uncle Sam.

When you see a man with the inconspicuous bronze star pinned to his coat by a blue ribbon on which are thirteen white stars you may know that he has done a deed that has placed his life in such jeopardy that escape from it was nearly a miracle.

The medal of honor was first authorized by congress in 1862 and was for noncommissioned officers and privates only. But in the following year the law was changed to extend the award to commissioned officers also. In all about 1,500 of the medals were presented for services in the war between the states, and it is a remarkable fact that 90 per cent of them went to private soldiers.

In its present form the medal of honor is a five pointed star with a medallion in the center bearing the head of Minerva and around it "United States of America" in relief. On each ray of the star is an oak leaf, and the points themselves are trefoil shaped. A laurel wreath in green enamel encircles the whole, and this wreath is surmounted by "Valor," which in turn is surmounted by an eagle that attaches the decoration to its ribbon.

Accompanying this medal there is a badge, or lapel button, hexagonal and made of blue silk with the thirteen original stars in white. The army medal is represented by a small blue button studded with stars, while the navy medal is represented by a small red, white and blue bowknot.

It was not until 1897 that regulations definitely enunciating the conditions under which the medal should be awarded were promulgated. They emphasized the difficulty of winning the decoration and the great honor attaching to its possession.

"Medals of honor authorized by the act of congress approved March 3, 1863," say the regulations, "are awarded to officers and enlisted men in the name of congress for particular deeds of most distinguished gallantry in action. In order that the congressional medal of honor may be deserved, service must have been performed in action of such conspicuous character as to distinguish clearly the man for gallantry and intrepidity above his comrades, service that involved extreme jeopardy of life or the performance of extraordinarily hazardous duty. Recommendations for the decoration will be judged by this standard of extraordinary merit, and incontestible proof of performance of the service will be exacted.

"Soldiers of the Union have ever displayed bravery in battle, else victories could not have been gained. But as courage and self sacrifice are the characteristics of every true soldier, such a badge of distinction as the congressional medal is not to be expected as the reward of conduct that does not clearly distinguish the soldier above other men whose bravery and gallantry have been proved in battle."

In other words, the medal of honor is a medal for superheroes, for men who not only risk their lives in some extraordinary way, but who display such intelligence in the action that it stands out as something apart from conduct in the line of duty. Executive orders prescribe as follows the way in which the medal may be gained:

The recommendations must be presented by some one other than the proposed recipient, one who is personally familiar with all the facts and circumstances claimed as justifying the award, but the application may be made by the one claiming to have earned it, in which case it will be in the form of a deposition reciting a narrative description of the distinguished service performed. Recommendations will be made by the commanding officer at the time of the action or by a soldier or an officer having personal cognizance of the act for which the badge of honor is claimed.

The regulations also provide for exhaustive examination of the circumstances in each case and for an investigation that removes every possibility of fraud. Affidavits from witnesses are required, and the system safeguarding the distinction is hedged about with innumerable restrictions. It may be taken for granted that a man who secures one of the coveted medals has earned it with interest.

Akron and Rubber.

There are thirty or more rubber factories in and around Akron. Three of them are so vast that the visitor feels a bewilderment that merges into awe as he follows his guide hour after hour through titanic shops. These three colossal plants are said to represent 70 per cent of Akron's life, while Akron itself stands for 60 per cent of the total rubber production of the United States.—Edward Mott Woolley in McClure's.

The only thing that walks back from the tomb with the mourners and refuses to be buried is character.—W. M. Hunt.

The Wise Ones.

"Don't you wish you knew as much as your children think you do?"

"No. I wish I knew as much as my children think they do."—Houston Post.

RUNNING AND BREATHING.

Why the Exertion Makes the Lungs Gasp For More Air.

It is hard to breathe after running awhile, because your body requires more blood in circulation. The efforts of your heart, brain and lungs make breathing difficult. We breathe to take air into the lungs, where the blood which has once been through the arteries and comes back on its return trip to the heart is exposed to the air in the lungs before going back into the heart. The air which we take into our lungs purifies the once used blood and makes it into good blood again.

When you run the heart pumps blood into your arteries faster to enable you to run, we are told by the Book of Wonders. Thus also the arteries send much more blood back to the heart through the veins, and this must be purified by the lungs before going back into the heart. To attend to purifying this extra amount of spoiled blood the lungs need more air, and thus you are made to breathe in more air for the purpose.

Unless you are in good training—your wind in good condition, as we say—it is almost impossible for you to supply the lungs with enough air for the purpose, but whether you can do it or not the lungs call upon you for more air and cause you to try to get it, and that is what makes you get out of breath.

SINGING IN ENGLISH.

The Difficulty of Sounding Certain Words on High Notes.

English as is commonly sung has become so hard to understand that musical authorities are earnestly seeking a remedy. And the composer is principally to blame, says Francis Toye, writing in the London Nation.

"That there are difficulties in singing certain English syllables on certain notes may be admitted," says Mr. Toye. "English, unlike German and Italian, is not predominantly a language of broad vowel sounds. It is awkward, for instance, to sing 'fix' or 'her' or 'sun' with a loud, sustained tone on a high note. But if composers knew their business they would not, save in any exceptional circumstances, ask the singer to do anything of the kind.

"Half the imaginary difficulties of singing English arise from the incompetence of many composers in setting it to music. They seem neither to think in terms of singing nor to study the natural rhythm of the language. When they do the 'problems' of singing in English vanish like the mist before the sun."

AVOID ALUM IN FOOD

Baking Powder is one of the most important food ingredients. Alum or other injurious acids are frequently used by some concerns to lower the cost of production.

MAGIC BAKING POWDER

Contains No Alum

It is a pure phosphate baking powder and is guaranteed to be the best, purest and most healthful baking powder possible to produce.

W. Matthew Williams, in "Chemistry of Cooking," says: "Phosphates are the bone-making material of food and have something to do with building up of brain and nervous matter."

Made in Canada

WORK OF THE CHICKADEE.

This Little Bird Is a Formidable Foe of the Cankerworm.

In May the chickadees build their nests in the cavity of a decayed tree trunk or limb and line them with moss, plant down and feathers. From five to eight white eggs spotted with reddish brown are laid in each soft cradle. The chickadees eat in the summer many insects and their eggs. Farmers dread the cankerworm, which, unchecked, completely destroys apple orchards. At one meal this tiny bird will eat 250 eggs of the cankerworm and will have several meals a day.

During its migration in October the chickadee is more numerous in the New England states than in the summer. Throughout the greater part of its range, from Labrador to Maryland and in the Alleghenies southward to North Carolina, these merry midgets are found at all seasons. But it is with the fall and winter that they are generally associated. No one need feel lonely when these little black and white birds are around. They are so friendly and tame and some of their notes sound so much like words that they seem to be talking. Besides the familiar "chick-a-dee" call they have a high, sweet whistle of two or three notes.

In the autumn the partridge berries are ripe, and upon them these birds have many a feast. And later the berries of the wintergreen, Solomon's seal, dogwood and Indian cucumber may be used as food.

Safe Fat Reduction

Reduce, reduce, reduce, is the slogan of all fat people. Get thin, be slim, is the cry of society and fashion. The overfat wring their hands in mortification and helplessness; revolting at nauseating drugs, afraid of violent exercise, dreading the unwelcome and unsatisfying diet, until they hit upon the harmless Marmola Tablets which quickly and safely reduce weight at the rate of two, three or four pounds a week without any change in the mode of life. The ideal figure is soon obtained, with a smoother skin and a better appetite and health improved. Marmola Tablets contain all the ingredients which made the Marmola Prescription famous. It behooves you to learn the satisfactory, beneficial effects of this great, safe fat reducer by giving to your druggist the reasonable price, one dollar, for a good size box or sending a like amount to the Marmola Co., 95 Garfield Building, Detroit, Mich., with a request that they mail to you a full box of Marmola Prescription Tablets.

OLD NEW ENGLAND CUSTOMS.

In the Days When Brides Were Stolen and Had to Be Ransomed.

A half savage custom prevailed in many early New England towns. A group of those young men who had not been invited to the wedding would invade the house when the marriage ceremony had been performed and drag away the bride to an inn or some other house, when the groom and his party would follow and rescue her by paying a forfeit of a dinner to the bride stealers. In western Massachusetts this custom lingered until Revolutionary times. In Judd's "History of Hadley" the names of stolen brides are given. Mrs. Job Marsh, married in 1783, is said to have been the last bride thus stolen. A very rough variation of this custom is reported to be still in vogue in some localities in Rhode Island. Mme. Sarah Knights in her journal of a horseback ride from Boston to New York in 1704 tells of a ridiculous alteration of this marriage custom, which she saw in Connecticut—to steal the bridegroom.

Many other curious fashions prevailed in different localities. In some towns the young men rode or ran to the bride's house for a bottle of rum. In others the bees were told of the wedding and given bride cake. In still others the unmarried girls scrambled for the bride's garter to see who would be married next.—Alice Morse Earle in Magazine of American History.

High Cost of High Living.

According to James Churchill, one of the famous New York restaurateurs, it costs the men who cater to the great throng of cabaret diners some $709,317,000 a year to keep things going in the proper Gotham style. In itemized form he reckons rent at 40 millions, license tax and stamps 30¼ millions, payroll 175¼ millions, supplies 327 millions.

This neat little sum is merely what it costs the proprietors, be it understood. The amount paid in by regular and occasional habitues of the "lobster palaces" may safely be put at 50 per cent more, or $1,063,975,500. Yes, high living comes high, and it is time to think of having less of it.

Imitation.

"What a wonderful sunset!"

"Yes. It actually seems to be trying to look like some of the pictures in the art store."

Courage consists not in blindly overlooking danger but in seeing it and conquering it.

FOR SPLINT LAMENESS

How to Deal With This Trouble in Young Horses.

A Bone Affection — Young Animals Most Commonly Affected—Symptoms Described and Treatment Offered.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

SPLINT lameness is a common complaint in young horses, and occasionally seen in horses of any age. It is rarely noticed in the hand limbs.

In order to understand and appreciate the trouble it is necessary to have an intelligent idea of the bony anatomy of the horse from the knee to the fetlock. This part is usually called the cannon. It consists of three bones: one large cannon bone extending the whole distance, from the knee in the fore limb, and from the hock in the hind limb to their respective fetlock joints. This bone has a broad and somewhat flat posterior surface. To each edge of this surface is attached (by ligamentous attachment) a small somewhat triangular-shaped bone, of considerable size above, where it articulates with the bones of the knee joint, and gradually decreases in size as it extends downwards, becoming quite small, and terminating in a small somewhat pea-shaped nodule, a little more than two-thirds down the large bone. These nodules can be readily felt, one on each side of the posterior aspect of the large bone, a few inches above the fetlock.

Inflammation is set up, usually by concussion during travelling, especially on hard roads. As a result of this inflammation an exudate is thrown out, and the ligamentous attachment is destroyed. The exudate is, of course, soft at first, but soon become converted into bone and unites the large and small bones by bony union. An enlargement of greater or less size can usually be seen, which, in most cases, gradually disappears, by absorption until nothing can be noticed, and in many cases cannot be detected even by manipulation; at the same time the ossific (bony) union between the bones is permanent. Hence a horse that once has a splint will always have it, although all visible symptoms may have disappeared.

We often hear people say that "A horse over seven years old never has splints." This arises from the fact that the visible enlargement has usually disappeared, but the union of the bones remains. This absorption does not always occur. It is not uncommon to observe well marked splints in horses of any age. In some cases the splint is double—that is, an enlargement is noticable on each side of the limb. In auce cases there is usually a bony deposit extending across the posterior surface of the large bone, from one splint to the other. This often causes an irritation to th esuspensory ligament (which passes down this surface) and causes permanent lameness. Splints seldom cause persistent or permanent lameness.

Symptoms.—In many cases no lameness is caused. The first intimation of the presence of splint is the appearance of the enlargement, which usually gradually disappears. In other cases lameness is well marked, and is usually characteristic. A horse lame from splint will usually stand and walk sound, but if asked to jog or trot will show well marked lameness, the head dropping decidedly when the foot of the sound leg touches the ground. The lameness is often noticed before there is any visible enlargement. The lameness is more marked when the horse trots down grade, and the intensity of the lameness usually increases as exercise is continued. Manipulation will usually reveal the seat of the trouble. By pressing between the thumb and finger the line of attachment between the large and small bones from the knee downwards, the seat can be located by the horse flinching when the seat of the trouble is pressed. And, if severe pressure be applied he will often rear on his hind legs. The usual seat of splint is on the inner surface of the fore cannon, or it may be on the outer surface, or both, and is usually one to three inches below the knee, but may be either higher or lower. The hind limb is seldom affected, but when it is the seat is usually on the outer surface.

Treatment.—Lameness is usually present only during the inflammatory stage. When the exudate becomes ossified (converted into bone) the inflammatory action ceases and lameness disappears, except the enlargement be of sufficient size, or so situated that it irritates the suspensory ligament or involves the joint. Hence treatment should be directed to allay inflammation as promptly as possible. Splint lameness usually appears very suddenly. A horse may go perfectly sound and after a rest of a variable duration when taken out to drive again, may show the characteristic symptoms noted.

The patient should be given perfect rest, and the seat of the splint should be showered with cold water frequently, or pounded ice kept to it for a few days. This will often be all that is necessary. In other cases lameness is more persistent, and it is necessary to apply a blister. A blister made of one dram each of biniodide of mercury and cantharides mixed with one oz. vaseline, and applied in the ordinary way will usually effect a cure. In some cases it is necessary to blister the second time (in about a month). In rare cases an operation by a veterinarian is necessary.

When lameness is not shown it is seldom considered necessary to treat splint, as the enlargement usually gradually disappears without treatment.—J. H. Reed, V.S., O. A. College, Guelph.

Modern Improvements.

Patient—Doctor, I'm having an awful lot of trouble with the gas in my stomach. Doctor—Yes, yes; I know. Those old fashioned fixtures are giving people a lot of unnecessary trouble these days. Just step into the next room, and I'll have my engineer wire you for electric lights.

REAL LIFE INSURANCE.

Its Cost Is Simply the Price of the Prevention of Disease.

"Real life insurance," says the North Carolina state board of health, "is not the kind on which you have to pay annual premiums as long as you live in order to hold it or for your family or some one else to get the benefits only when you are dead. Real life insurance is that which insures you against death—preventable sickness and a premature departure from this world—and allows you to enjoy the benefits while you yet live. Furthermore, it promises you long life and a happy one, a healthy life and a prosperous one. It may be had by anybody, and, like other kinds of insurance, he who puts most in it gets most out of it.

"Real life insurance has its price. The adoption of correct living habits—moderate eating and drinking, regular work and play, plenty of rest in the fresh air and a disposition not to worry—is the price of a long, happy life, free from diseases of the kidneys, heart and arteries, the diseases that sneak in upon a man's life when he is not aware.

"Then there's another source of attack you need protection against—typhoid fever. Homes with pure water, screened doors and windows, clean premises free from flies and anti-typhoid vaccination is the price you pay for protection against typhoid. The price against malaria is whatever it takes to prevent mosquitoes from breeding and from biting you after they have bitten people with malaria.

"Security against tuberculosis, bronchitis, grippe, colds and pneumonia is to be had mainly at the great price of preventing people from spitting in public places. It is to be had also by living on friendly terms with fresh air day and night, by avoiding overheated homes or offices, by creating a resistance to cold by a daily cold water bath about the neck and shoulders and by proper living habits.

"After all, the prevention of disease is the price of real life insurance. If we invest liberally and wisely in the means and methods of preventing sickness we may expect handsome returns in a long, useful, happy life."

EDISON IS AN INVENTOR.

And That, He Claims, Is Very Different From a Discoverer.

Thomas A. Edison has always disliked the term "discoverer" as applied to himself. "Discovery is not invention," he once remarked to an intimate associate. "A discovery is more or less in the nature of an accident. A man walks along the road intending to catch a train. On the way his foot kicks against something and, looking down to see what he has hit, he sees a gold bracelet imbedded in the dust. He has discovered that, certainly not invented it. He did not set out to find a bracelet, yet the value of it is just as great to him at the moment as if, after long years of study, he had invented a machine for making a gold bracelet out of common red metal.

"Goodyear discovered the way to make hard rubber. He was at work experimenting with india rubber, and quite by chance he hit upon a process which hardened it—the last result in the world that he wished or expected to attain. In a discovery there must be an element of the accidental, and an important one, too, while an invention is purely deductive.

"In my own case but few, and those the least important, of my inventions owed anything to accident. Most of them have been hammered out after long and patient labor and are the results of countless experiments, all directed toward attaining some well defined object.

"All mechanical improvements may safely be said to be inventions and not discoveries. The sewing machine was an invention. So were the steam engine and the typewriter."

Birds Will Come Back.

The strongly developed homing instincts of birds can be relied on to attach them to the neighborhood where they first saw the light, and the identical pairs which nest in the houses provided for them one year will often return the next season to enjoy the same bounty and protection.

Turmeric Dye.

The turmeric, which yields a yellow powder, grows wild over a considerable portion of Porto Rico and is fairly abundant. It is used by natives as a dye for the fibers from which hammocks are woven, for ribbons, cloths and the like.

Our Government.

We customarily speak of this republic as a new nation, although our senate has been in continuous existence as a legislative body since 1789. How many nations have maintained unchanged a system of government for a longer period? What a distinction it would be—for a republic—to present the oldest structure of government on earth, and we are well in the forefront of that race now. Look over the nations and see.

The Forgetful Parson.

Field Marshal Sir Henry Wilson tells an amusing story of an old West country parson who had to hold two services, one in his own church and one in the church over the moor.

On arriving at the latter church he got into the pulpit and said he was awfully sorry, but he had forgotten to bring a most admirable sermon which he had written.

"Luckily," he continued, "as I came across the moor, I remembered a beautiful story, which I will tell you in place of the sermon. Er-er-well, dash it, I've forgotten that, too!"

COMB SAGE TEA IN FADED OR GRAY HAIR

If Mixed With Sulphur It Darkens so Naturally Nobody Can Tell.

Grandmother kept her hair beautifully darkened, glossy and attractive with a brew of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect. By asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, all ready to use, at very little cost. This simple mixture can be depended upon to restore natural colour and beauty to the hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says everybody uses Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied—it's so easy to use, too. You simply dampen a comb or soft brush and draw it through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, it is restored to its natural colour and looks glossy, soft and beautiful.

A Link With Primitive Times.

All ceremonial maces at court, in parliament, of learned societies and municipal bodies, field marshals' batons, gold and silver sticks, etc., are descended from the heavy fighting sticks and clubs of primitive savages. The chiefs always had the best carved clubs, which were the symbols of prowess and authority. The Australian boomerang and the Irish shillalah are both maces.—London Standard.

Save the Tooth if Possible.

The mania of many physicians for ordering diseased teeth extracted is meeting with outspoken protest from dentists and doctors. They say that teeth should be pulled only when the abscesses at their roots cannot be healed.

STARTING BEEKEEPING

Suggested Outfit for the Apiary Novice.

Start With the Right Hive — The 10-Frame Langstroth Is Regarded as the Best—How to Prevent Swarming — Care of Freshening Cow.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

EXTRACTED honey production is the most satisfactory for beginners. Start with three colonies and sufficient up-to-date equipment and then make the bees pay their way. One colony does not give the beginner an opportunity to right mistakes or accidents profitably. Three colonies can be managed by devoting one evening weekly to the apiary.

Avoid many troublesome pitfalls by starting with the right hive. The 10-frame Langstroth hive has given the best satisfaction in Ontario. All beekeepers' supply houses carry this hive and its parts in their regular stock. Buy your first hives from a good manufacturer. It is very necessary to have all hive parts interchangeable so that they may be used in any colony in the apiary. Uniformity and accurate workmanship alone can ensure this need.

One complete 10 fr. Langstroth hive consists of:

1. A bottomboard.
2. A hive-body with self spacing frames and wire.
3. A telescoping metal roof cover.

In addition the beginner should provide for each colony one queen excluder; two extra hive-bodies complete with frames; and 7 lbs. of Medium Brood Foundation which runs six sheets to the pound, to fill the frames with a guide and foundation for the future combs. All hive material should be nailed, wired and painted before the opening of the spring rush.

It is advisable to commence with a 2-lb. package of bees and queen; a swarm or a nucleus. Less danger from disease attends the buying of pound packages than the buying of swarms and nuclei. Pound packages may be secured for delivery from May 1st to June 30th. Early packages will yield a surplus if carefully handled. Enquire of the Provincial Apiarist re disease in your locality before buying swarms, nuclei or colonies. A small colony of bees is much less vindictive than a full colony and thus offers a better opportunity for the beginner to grow with his bees.

1. A veil of black cotton tulle.
2. A standard bee smoker.
3. A hive tool.
4. A spur wheel wire embedder.
5. An uncapping knife.
6. An uncapping box.
7. A complete set of Department literature, Bulletins 213, 233 and 256, and a good reference bee book.
8. A small honey extractor.

With the exception of Nos. 6 and 8 it is advisable to acquire the material needed from a supply firm at once. The uncapping box can be made at home, and the beginner could probably co-operate with another beekeeper in securing the use of an extractor. With the increase of colonies to ten, it would then be advisable to provide a storage can to assist in handling the crop.—W. A. Weir, O. A. College, Guelph.

The height of the giraffe varies from 15 to 18 feet.

Just a minute, please!

And that's healthy. But the sort of pride that sneers at an Ingersoll watch because it's low priced is the pride that leads to extravagance and waste.

Thomas A. Edison isn't too proud to carry a Maple Leaf Ingersoll. Plenty of other men whose foot prints are on the sands of time keep time with an Ingersoll.

As a matter of fact an Ingersoll is a watch to be proud of. If you had a servant or an employee who gave the sort of accurate, trustworthy, faithful service in all weathers and conditions that an Ingersoll Maple Leaf gives, you'd be justly proud. You'd think you were a good picker.

And when you can pick out an Ingersoll Maple Leaf for $3.25—or $4.00 if you want the Radiolite that tells time in the dark—you ought to be proud of the chance.

"Peterborough Presents Possibilities Unsurpassed."

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 1ST, 1920.

A WELCOME SIGN.

The announcement of the decision of another large theatrical concern to build a theatre in Peterborough will be welcomed as a sign that the steady advancement of the city is attracting the attention of shrewd business men. Theatrical promoters are as a rule to be placed in that class and they are not accustomed to locate their enterprises in centres whose future does not appear promising. The coming to Peterborough of still another theatre is proof that the heads of the company have every confidence in the city's future and regard it as an excellent field for their undertaking. Dead towns and cities seldom attract amusement houses of this kind so that there is logical reason for regarding the latest addition to Peterborough's list of theatres as an endorsation of the fact that this city is regarded as a live centre that is bound to make progress.

WHAT THE SCHOOLS CAN DO.

In connection with Fire Prevention Day, on Oct. 9th, the League is very wisely appealing to the principals and teachers of the various schools in the province to assist in the campaign. Probably no other class could do so much in preaching the necessity of greater care in regard to fire prevention methods. Hon. R. H. Grant, Minister of Education in Ontario, in a letter to the teachers endorsing the efforts of the Fire Marshal says: "There is work to be done in the schools in behalf of the cause of preventing fire waste. I therefore cordially continue the endorsation of my Department to the work of the Fire Marshal of the Province who is by various means seeking to bring home to our people the wastefulness and danger caused by failing to take preventive measures against fire loss."

The children of the schools with their minds in receptive condition should be taught the danger of fire, taught not to play with matches, taught that every dollar lost by fire is lost forever—that it is pure waste. And in addition there is direct responsibility upon the Board of Education and the staffs of the schools to see that the school buildings themselves are protected as far as possible from fires, that they are equipped with facilities for fighting an incipient blaze, that the doors open properly and easily and that rooms, lofts, basements and spaces under the stairs are free from fire hazards. These matters are of the utmost importance.

WILL LACROSSE COME BACK?

Lovers of Canada's national game to the number of three thousand gathered at Lansdowne Park on Saturday to witness the final for the Canadian amateur lacrosse championship. The game was not without its unpleasant features. Keen lacrosse at its best is not a parlor game, but when rough play is deliberately interjected the players responsible must see that they are placing serious obstacles in the way of a come-back to the days of the popularity of the sport. Many lacrosse lovers who had looked for a revival in Ottawa fear that Saturday's contest will not assist to that desirable end.

We are told by some people that lacrosse is an Indian game and necessarily rough. They will remember, however, that before the days of professionalism and the introduction of brutalism by paid rowdies an event such as that of Saturday excited the liviest interest and was supported by practically all the sport-loving people of the Capital. It did not take many years for professionalism to kill interest and lacrosse has been on the decline ever since.

Lacrosse may not again take its place as a popular sport. There have been two or thre attempts to revive it, but they have been frustrated by the callous indifference of some of the players to the wishes of the public who want and will pay for only clean sport. Throughout Canada there are many who desire to awaken interes in lacrosse. The game calls for speed, endurance, quick handling, quick thinking and many other qualities that improve both the body and the mind of the athlete. The strong, sinewy young man who excels in these things commands the admiration of the throng; but the sight of a player cut and bruised by the deliberate clubbing of an opponent at once disgusts and abhors.

Undoubtedly those who love the game and devoutely wish its revival should get together and make such a revision of the rules as will safeguard the public from further impositions. If the game cannot be played without the attendance of a corps of doctors and nurses, with ambulances and stretchers waiting at the agte, then perhaps, it is well to make no further effort—the sport will die for lack of patronage. But surely rules can be devised to elminate the objectionable features of a pastime that has still many friends despite the efforts of certain players who have done their best to assassinate it.—Ottawa Journal.

COMMUNITY HALLS.

If there is any feature of the work of the Ontario government that should commend itself to the people of rural Ontario by which the majority of its members were elected, it is the effort that is being made to encourage rural municipalities to take advantag of the legislation of last year providing for the establishment of community halls and athletic fields. The movement is one that should be welcomed by the farmers and their families. The establishment of such halls would provide facilities for social enjoyment and knit the people of the country into closer and more friendly relationships, making life on the farm more enjoyable and congenial and doing much to head off the movement from the land into the cities, about which the farmers are complaining so much at the present time. The Provincial government to encourage the establishment of these centres offers to contribute 25 per cent. of the cost, provided that no grant is to exceed $2,000. It is provided by the Act that the hall must have an assembly room, a stage, movable seats and at the discretion of the Minister of Agriculture a library and reading room. The whole community is to have general use of these facilities. In addition an athletic field is to be established providing facilities for the young people to indulge in healthful recreation. So far Peterborough county has taken no advantage of the government's offer. Some of the townships might find it worth while considering.

VALUE OF THE COCONUT.

It Might Pay Well to Cultivate the Plant In This Country.

Americans have entirely ignored or else have never known of the really wonderful possibilities which exist to accumulate a fortune by growing cocoanuts for exporting or for the production of the coconut tree's numerous marketable byproducts.

In the West Indies, Central and South America the fruit is used chiefly for local consumption, the water from the green coconut being a beverage decidedly cool and refreshing, with medicinal values. The leaves from the center of the top of the tree make an excellent salad and are to be found in all Latin American markets in the zones in which they grow. The hewn tree serves the native for a habitation, and a roof is made from the gigantic fronds. From the smaller leaves excellent hats of a high grade are fashioned, but few of which reach this country. From some localities ripened nuts are exported in bulk in the holds of ships, often as ballast, to this country, where a few concerns are engaged in grating coconut meat for the use of confectioners and bakers.

In the West Indies housewives make their own butter from coconuts, four nuts yielding a pound of high grade butter at a cost of less than 10 cents.—W. E. Aughinbaugh in Leslie's.

VIRTUE OF THRIFT.

Cultivate It Earnestly, but Do Not Carry It to Excess.

Thrift is a composite quality. It embraces within itself nearly all of the great virtues. It involves industry, prudence, forethought, self denial.

It certainly has no relation to niggardliness or meanness.

Some men would let their grandmothers starve for the sake of a few dollars. Such action cannot be called thrifty. A virtue carried to excess becomes a vice and is no longer a virtue.

Thrift that does not take into partnership honesty of character develops into covetousness and avarice.

Thrift is the opposite of thriftlessness, prodigality, improvidence and waste.

Thrift means better homes and better food, more comfort and enjoyment, less waste and less anxiety.

It is possible that a large proportion of people have earnings so small that saving seems impossible. But this is no reason for their being unthrifty. On the contrary, it is reason for making the best and the most of the little they have for their health, comfort and true happiness.

A few dollars in a home or a savings bank, or any safe invesment, is as good seed as ever was sown.

Out of it grow confidence, quickened energies, firmer courage, more stalwart thought and hope, more orderly citizenship, education for the children and the independence and self respect that lift aimless, hopeless drudges up to the true manhood that aspires and achieves. —Christian Herald.

Mats For Potted Plants.

Leftover pieces of oilcloth or linoleum can be cut any shape or size and by being painted or varnished make excellent mats for potted plants and flowers. They can be painted any desired color and are easily cleaned by wiping with a damp cloth. These mats prevent the porch or stand from being scratched or stained by the pots.

Absinth.

Absinth, the most harmful and even fatal intoxicant, is made from a bluegreen oil that is obtained from artemisia absinthium, a member of the wormwood family. Several less harmful species of artemisia grow throughout California.

TUBERCULOUS CHICKS

Pullets Having Tuberculosis Are Common in Ontario.

The Disease Chronic Rather Than Acute — Symptoms Described— The Birds Should Be Killed Off and Destroyed.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

TUBERCULOSIS in chickens is very common in Ontario. There is not a county in the Province from which we have not received for examination hens either dead of, or suffering from, this disease. Almost invariably a letter accompanies such birds stating that deaths are occurring in the flock at irregular intervals, the birds usually getting thin and lame before death. The following is a sample letter received:

"Jan. 12, 1920.

"Dear Sir,—Will you kindly investigate this fowl and let me know what is the matter and how to treat them. Out of 150 birds I have lately lost over a dozen. Some of them went lame on the start, some in right foot and some in left, and some just moped around without being lame. I have sold all my old hens and have now 120 pullets and thirty last year's pullets. They started this in early fall. Thanking you in advance,

Yours respectfully,

....."

Examination of this pullet showed it to have been suffering from advanced tuberculosis. The liver, spleen and intestines were all badly tubercular. The immediate cause of death had been the rupture of a large blood vessel in the liver due to the development of tubercles.

Tuberculosis results in considerable financial losses to the poultryman, due to decrease in egg production and heavy mortality in the flocks where it is present.

The disease is chronic rather than acute. That is, it does not cause death suddenly, but takes time to develop, usually causing the bird to gradually lose flesh, turn pale around head, become listless, mopy, and frequently lame, while egg-laying is reduced to a minimum.

To be sure, however, that such a condition of birds in a flock is due to tuberculosis it is necessary to hold a post-mortem examination on one of them. The bird should be killed and opened up. If tuberculosis is present, the liver and spleen will be spotted with white or cream-colored spots varying in size from a small pin head to a pea or bean, and in number from a few to thousands. These are the so-called tubercles, each one a mass of dead tissue that has been killed by the action of the poison secreted by the tuberculosis bacteria which have developed there. These tubercles are frequently found on the intestines and in the lungs and bones as well as in the liver and spleen. A microscopic examination of a portion of one of these tubercles will show large numbers of tubercle bacteria present.

These tubercle bacteria are the cause of the disease. They are so small as to be altogether invisible without the use of a high power microscope. They are not the same variety as those which cause tuberculosis in human beings.

Birds suffering from the disease give off large numbers of the bacteria in their droppings. Other birds in the flock scratching around and feeding with such birds pick up the bacteria with their feed and grit and so get infected. The bacteria are absorbed into the system with the food and get circulated in the blood and lymph streams until they get located in the tissues, more particularly the liver and spleen, where they rapidly multiply and secrete their poison. This acts on the tissue immediately around them, causing it to die and turn white and thus become a characteristic tubercle.

When this disease is found in a flock it is advisable to kill off all the birds. Then these birds which on examination do not show evidence of the disease may be used as food. Those that show the disease should be destroyed by burning or by burying deeply in quicklime.

The entire premises in which the birds have been kept should then be well scraped, cleaned and thoroughly disinfected by the application of a disinfectant wash or spray, as quicklime, senoleum, cresol, etc. The runs should be well covered with quicklime and then ploughed in deeply. Even after such treatment it would be preferable to establish new runs on fresh ground and then re-stock from flocks that are known to be healthy.

Anyone suspecting the disease in a flock and wishing to have the case determined, should send a suspected bird, either alive or dead, express prepaid, to the Bacteriological Department, O. A. C., Guelph, when an examination and report will be made at once. An illustrated bulletin dealing with this disease may be had on application to the Department of Agriculture, Toronto.—Prof. D. H. Jones, O. A. College, Guelph.

Wallop the Weeds.

Do not neglect to cut weeds on roadsides, in fence corners and waste places. And do not allow weeds to go to seed in hoed crops. A well-cared-for hoed crop will rid the field of many weeds, but a neglected hoed crop is a nursery for weeds and a source of contamination for every field on the farm.

Early after harvest cultivation will destroy many annual and winter annual weeds, such as False Flax, Corn Cockle and Wormseed Mustard. Plough shallow immediately after harvest and harrow and cultivate frequently. By shallow ploughing the weed seeds are kept near the surface and by the frequent stirring of the soil they are made to sproute, and having sprouted they are easily destroyed by further cultivation.

THE BANK TELLER.

His Title Comes From the Old English Use of Wooden Tallies.

Formerly accounts were kept and large sums of money paid and received by the king's exchequer in London, with little other form than the exchange or delivery of tallies, pieces of wood notched or scored, corresponding blocks being kept by the parties to the account. From this usage one of the head officers of the exchequer was called the "tallier" or "teller." These tallies were often negotiable. Adam Smith in his "Wealth of Nations" says that "in 1603 tallies had been at 40 and 50 and 60 per cent discount, and banknotes at 20 per cent."

The system of tallies was discontinued about 1830, and the destruction in the night of Oct. 16, 1834, of the old houses of parliament is thought to have been occasioned by the overheating of the flues when the furnaces were employed to consume the tallies, rendered useless by the alteration in the mode of keeping the exchequer accounts. An account of the ancient tally system was written by William Hone.

Some Leaves Live Long.

Evergreen trees do not retain their leaves forever, but are so called because the new leaves appear before the old ones are shed. Miss Vinnie A. Pease has been studying the many evergreens of the Pacific Northwest to ascertain how long the several species retain their leaves. She finds a wide variety, the shortest being the California buckthorn, which sheds some of its leaves in autumn and retains the others only until those of the coming season are mature. The longest is the short leaved yew, which retains its leaves for from five to twelve years, some of them persisting for as long as twenty-three years. Saplings lose their leaves more quickly than mature trees and trees in the open more quickly than those in shady places.

Frogs and Mud Forts.

There is a frog indigenous to Brazil which builds a regular mud fort during the breeding season in order to protect her eggs and tadpoles. The female frog dives to the bottom of the water, scoops up two handfuls of mud and repeats the process until she has erected a circular wall about one foot in diameter. She keeps on till the wall stands at least five inches above the surface of the water, and the whole is most carefully smoothed down with her broad, webbed hands. The work is performed only at night, and when it is completed the eggs are deposited.

Cleaning White Kid Gloves.

Put the gloves on your hand and wash with a clean white soap and rinse in gasoline. Remove from hand, turning the gloves right side out and roll in cornstarch. Wrap them in a towel and let them remain in this condition overnight, then shake out the cornstarch and you will find your gloves as soft and white as if you had sent them to the cleaner to be cleaned. Gasoline is inflammable and must not be used where there is a light or a fire.

The Two Sides.

"There are two sides to every argument," said the ready made philosopher.

"Yes," replied the gloomy person, "but it makes a difference which side you choose. There are two sides to a piece of fly paper."

How to Begin the Day.

Begin the morning by saying to thyself: I shall meet this day with the busybody, the ungrateful, the arrogant, deceitful, envious, unsocial. All these things happen to them by reason of their ignorance of what is good and evil. But I, who have seen the nature of the good that it is beautiful and of the bad that it is ugly, cannot be injured by any of them.—Marcus Aurelius.

Doesn't Always Work.

"Take my advice," said the man who has a great deal of litigation. "Do anything rather than go into court."

"I tried that once, and it taught me a lesson."

"How so?"

"I was given a stiff fine for resisting an officer."

Asmodeus.

Asmodeus is an evil genius or demon. In the apocryphal book of Tobit he is represented as slaying the seven husbands of Sarah. In the Talmud he is described as the prince of demons and is said to have driven Solomon from his kingdom.

Just a minute, please!

Put in an Ingersoll Maple Leaf with a Radiolite dial—the face that lights up in the dark.

The cost will be $4.00, and for that you'll have a hardy, handy, husky watch, built to keep going wherever you're going; to stand any rough stuff you can stand, to give you faithful record of the time of day and time o' night.

Thus you can give your expensive watch a vacation in a nice comfortable strong box, knowing that the Maple Leaf will tell just as good time and bear hardships much more cheerfully.

Then if you lose the Maple Leaf Radiolite—you should worry, when you realize you've only lost $4.00. Suppose it had been your high priced watch!

And there isn't any town too small to supply you with a new Maple Leaf.

GRUMBLING IN THE GLOOM.

Try to Forget Your Aches and Pains and the Bad Weather.

It was a wise old wit who remarked that if talk about our aches and pains were suppressed a third of the conversation of civilized life would cease. If to this interdicted subject were added that of unsatisfactory weather another third would be chopped off.

It is amazing to hear humanity devoting so much of the brief time allotted us here to painfully detailed diagnoses of our headaches, backaches, stomach aches and innumerable other miseries.

The comical part of it lies in the solemn patience with which each listens to the other. He or she knows, however, that his or her turn comes next, and the luxury of unloading sickening accounts of sickness will be indulged.

Many of us are not miserable enough with the pains of the present, but must treasure up the pains of the past as constantly accumulating reservoirs of misery and borrow them of the future as a debt under which to groan and grumble.

If we could forget it all and permit others to forget it, throwing open our spiritual side to the boundless blessings offered it, what a universe of joy and cheer and brightness before unseen would lie before us!

It is all a matter of mental turn. We may shut the shades of the windows of our minds on the sunny side and moan in darkness, or we may open the same windows wide and laugh in the sunlight.

Playing For Bigger Stakes.

"Why didn't you accept the Browns' offer to take us in their car to the party?"

"I thought I'd wait. They have just an ordinary auto, and the Watsons have a limousine. They might offer to pick us up."

Also Think of the Advice He Had.

"How did King Solomon get the reputation of being so wise?"

"Well, you see, he had a very great number of wives, and every woman does her best to brag about what an awful smart man her husband is."

Some Support.

"Mr. Flubdub, I am a candidate for your daughter's hand."

"Well, I'm unpledged, my boy. If a ballot is taken you can have my vote."—Kansas City Journal.

Torpedoes From a Submarine.

The torpedo from a submarine can be fired either while the submarine is on the surface or completely submerged. Usually a submarine comes within ten feet of the surface, with only the periscope showing, and discharges its torpedo. If there is danger of the submarine being fired upon by the ship the submarine gets the proper position of the ship, submerges itself completely and then fires.

OLD JAIL HORRORS

When Imprisonment For Debt Was the Law of the Land.

TORTURE FOR ITS VICTIMS.

Poor Wretches Unable to Pay the Trifle They Owed Were Flung Into Prison to Starve to Death Unless Rescued by Charity or Their Creditors.

In the early part of the last century there was started an earnest effort to entirely abolish or at least to regulate the old colony law of imprisonment for debt. The movers in this abolishment felt that no class of the community deserved consideration more.

It had been the inhuman rule that for the smallest debt possible to contract, though it were but a cent in value, the body of the debtor, whether man or woman, would be seized by the creditor and cast into jail.

Each year poor wretches had been dragged to prison by thousands on what were truly called "spite actions." Once behind the prison walls they were consigned to a fate harder than that which awaited worse criminals.

Murderers and thieves, forgers and counterfeiters, real criminals of all kinds, were fed, clothed and cared for at the expense of the state, but for the unhappy man whose only offense was his inability to pay a trifling sum of a few cents no such provision was made. The food he ate, the shreds that covered him, the medicine he took—nay, the very rags he wrapped about his sores—were provided, if provided at all, by his friends, by the public or by some humane society.

The room in which he was confined with scores of other offenders was utterly without furniture of any sort. In it were neither beds, nor tables, nor chairs, nor so much as a bench or stool. He sat on the floor, ate off the floor and at night lay to sleep on it like a dog, and this misery he endured until he died or his debt was paid or his creditor released him.

Against this at length humanity revolted, and in 1794 a change for the better was ordered. It was stipulated that the inspector should provide fuel and blankets for such debtors as, by reason of their dire property, could not get them and should make an allowance of 7 cents a day for food and charge this against the creditors. If any creditor refused to pay after ten days' notice his debtor was to be discharged.

For twenty-two years the community seemed to have thought that this mild concession was all that humanity required, for no further change was made until 1814. Then was passed the "bread act," under which each prisoner whose debt did not exceed $15 was entitled to a discharge after an imprisonment of thirty days.

From documents presented to the senate of New York in 1817 it appears that the keeper of the debtors' jail in New York city certified that during 1816 1,984 debtors were confined and that upward of 600 were always in the prison. The sheriff of the county certified that 1,129 were imprisoned for debt under $50, that of these 729 owed less than $25 and that every one of them would have starved to death but for the assistance of the Humane society.

One man remained, it was noted, in the New York jail for three years, who was only indebted to the extent of $50, before death ended his misery and during the entire time was fed by the Humane society. Another unfortunate had been imprisoned six years and was supported by charity. In the face of such striking evidence the legislature of New York state relented and in 1817 forbade the imprisonment of debtors for sums less than $25. This led the way, and state after state followed.

When the new states in the west framed their constitutions they ordered that no one should be imprisoned for debt. The old statute was finally stricken from the laws of the eastern states until today none of our states has a law requiring that a debt is punishable by imprisonment, unless it has been contracted under some fraudulent misrepresentation.—Philadelphia Press.

When Death Cools His Sting.

There is a curious superstition in Jamaica that if a death occurs in the house all the water in it is poisoned at once and must be thrown away, the reason given being that Death cools his "sting" after destroying life in the first water he finds, and as no one can tell—death being invisible—what jar he may choose it is safest to throw it all away. Careful people to save trouble even carry all water out of the house immediately before a death is expected.

Imitation Marble.

If by any chance you should happen to be admiring some very fine carved marble it would not strike you that the so called marble might easily be sawdust. Wonderful imitations of valuable woods and marbles have been made from sawdust, and even experts have been deceived at first sight. Spirit, too, can be made from sawdust.

Pretty Close.

Mabelle—Certainly I do.

"Well, my dear, that comes pretty close to wearing your heart on your sleeve, doesn't it?"—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Kid Gloves and Paper Collars.

The Twelfth corps of the Army of the Potomac was named "kid gloves and paper collars" by the Fourteenth corps of the Western army, owing to the West Point discipline of the Twelfth corps, which was the natural result of having been commanded first by Mansfield and then by Slocum, with as subordinate commanders such men as Williams, Hamilton, Gordon, Ruger, Andrews, Hawley and others.—Magazine of American History.

Too Economical.

"The servant that works for me must be very, very economical," said the boarding house mistress to the applicant for work.

"I'm such a one, ma'am," promptly returned the applicant. "Indeed, me last mistress discharged me for bein' that way."

"For being economical?"

"Yes, with me clothes. I used to wear hers."

Changing the Story.

"Anyhow, we can change the story to our children a little."

"What do you mean?"

"We can tell them that when we were married I was making $75 a week, and we had a mighty hard time of it to get along at that."

Matrimonial Amenities.

Not Stingy.

"If you kiss me I shall call auntie."

"Well, I guess I can spare her a little kiss too."

FORGED ANTIQUES.

Even British Museum Experts Have Been Fooled by Them.

The "antiquity" manufacturer is a man who thrives on expert forgery. Furniture, prints, china, pictures, plate, tapestry—he imitates them all most successfully. Each man has his specialty. One devotes himself to old leather jacks, another produces horn books, a third turns out "medieval" MSS.

The British museum once bought a Palissy plate for £250. While an attendant was handling it one of the seals attached to its back attesting its genuineness became detached, disclosing the mark of a modern French potter.

On other occasions terra cotta figures of Isis and Osiris, bought by the institution for hundreds of pounds, have been discovered to be composed of modern clay.

A good story is told of a forged silver cup in Rome that purported to have come from some secret excavation in Sicily. This ancient cup was ornamented with a circular bas-relief, representing the frieze of the Parthenon. But in the height of his innocence the forger had given the frieze in its present ruined condition. The exhibition of the cup was received with shouts of laughter.—London Standard.

Effect of Bad Teeth.

A paper by a dental surgeon in the Journal of the American Medical association, tells the story of bad teeth and the effects on the laboring man's efficiency. The dentist said he made 30,000 examinations in sixteen months of 17,000 Americans and 13,000 foreigners and found 90 per cent in need of dental service. "In 30,000 mouths," the dentist said, "we find 60,000 cavities and 18,000 extractions necessary, 78,000 in all. If each one causes an average loss, through waste of time and cost to repair, of $2 it means a cost of $156,000. In New York city last year 67,000 children failed to be promoted to higher grades because of defective teeth, and it costs New York city $1,037,650 to duplicate a year's schooling to those who fail."

Digestibility of Cheese.

By experiments on the digestibility of cheese it has been shown that much depends on the special physical characters of the food. All fat cheeses are said to be dissolved and digested with great rapidity, because the molecules of casein—the nitrogenous part of the cheese—are separated only by the fat, and so the gastric juice can attack a large surface of the cheese at one time. Whether the cheese be hard or soft does not appear to influence digestion, and there is no connection between the digestibility and the percentage of water present in the cheese.

Stunning.

A Good Rule.

Do all the good you can to all the people you can as long as ever you can in every place you can.

Our deeds determine us as much as we determine our deeds.

Oddly Expressed.

In one of his letters William Brookfield tells how as school inspector he had to give an examination on physical science. "What was I to do? I knew nothing about hydrogen or oxygen or any other 'gen.' So I set them a paper which I called 'applied science.' One of my questions was, 'What would you do to cure a cold in the head?' A young lady answered, 'I should put my feet into hot water till you were in a profuse perspiration.'"

Poor Richard.

"In December of the year 1732," says Bigelow's "Life of Franklin," "Franklin commenced the publication of what he styled 'Poor Richard's Almanac,' price fivepence. It attained an astonishing popularity and at once. Three editions were sold within the month of its appearance. The average sale for twenty-five years was 10,000 a year."

How It Ended.

Bacon—I understand that your wife had a quarrel with my wife over the telephone.

Egbert—I believe so.

"How did it end?"

"Like all women's quarrels—in talk."

No Disgrace to Be Hypnotized.

An idiot or a person without considerable ability in concentrating his mind can not be hypnotized. The fact that one has been hypnotized is proof that he can hold his mind on one subject. It is, therefore, not to his discredit, but rather the contrary.

Plaster Casts.

When plaster casts become soiled, dip them into cold liquid starch. When they are dry, brush the starch off and the dirt will come off with it, leaving the cast clean and white like new.

Birds Lack "Homing" Sense.

Although birds build nests, these are only used for breeding. Thousands of birds are killed by the cold each winter because they have no real "homing" sense.

STIRRING ADDRESS AT THE HARVEST FESTIVAL HELD IN ALL SAINTS' CHURCH LAST EVENING.

All Saints' Church last evening celebrated the annual Harvest Thanksgiving and the church was radiant with offerings of wheat, fruit and vegetables, the generous contributions being in keeping with the unusually bounteous harvest. The chancel was brilliant with sheaves of wheat and panels of autumn flowers, while the choir loft was banked with emblems of the harvest.

Eloquent Sermon.

Rev. T. W. Murphy, Rector of All Saints' church, Toronto, preached an eloquent sermon in which he deplored the covetousness of man, who by profiteering, holding up the market, and by cold storage plants, in which goods are allowed at times to waste, defeat the end of God who had made bountiful provision for the people of the world.

"All good things come from God, that we may be strengthened and blessed," the speaker said in part, referring to the many passages in the Psalms, from which that message is borne to us. God reveals himself to us in nature and in the recurrent harvests. How lovingly, he said, God attends to all steps needed for grain gathering, sending showers to the growing grain, and in the sunshine smiling a tender benediction. God's is the only voice. His action is present in all material changes. There is no power but God's.

Crowning Time.

In a special sense, the speaker continued, harvest is the crowning time of the year. In one sense every day is marked by the presence of God but harvest is the crowning time of a year of toil—the coronation time of the year, the time of joy when we receive from Almighty God the fruit of all our labours. His gifts in harvest are plentiful ,gifts which satisfy.

The true standard of wealth, Mr. Murphy ocntended, is not gold but wheat. The wheat market effects the life of every country and every citizen. Sometimes, he continued, some have a false idea of the preciousness of things. God, however, knows that it is the common things of life which are the most precious. His gifts in harvest are the truly precious things of life .

Referring to the harvest of this year ,the speaker said that he did not believe that there had ever previously been such a harvest. It is wonderful, he said, that God has made such provision for the wants of the world, sending enough to satisfy every person, and on top of all this we find rich men holding up prices, the profiteering extorting the last cent out of the multitude.

His Wealth.

The speaker strongly endorsed the system of giving one-tenth of our wealth to God, using then our riches as He ,the owner, wishes us. Honor God, the speaker concluded, by acknowledging him as Lord and Master. Go forward in truth and honor Him with the first fruits.

The Church.

Previous to his sermon, Mr. Murphy spoke of the beauty of All Saints Church, Peterboro, and referred to the fact that he and the Rector, Mr. R. B. Grobb, had been class mates at college. The music was particularly good.

"I don't like Mrs. Wombat. Wants to talk about her poodle all the time." "Is that so?" "Yes; never cares to hear about my canary."

Young Husband (to Wife): "Didn't I tell you not to bring your mother with you." Young Wife: "I know. That's what she wants to see you about. She read the telegram."

Mrs. Benham: "You used to say that I was the aple of your eye." Benham: "Nothing; except that you don't seem to care so much for fruit as you once did."

The birdes were becomingly attired in white satin draped with georgette crepe with hat and gloves to match.—From Rural Paper.

THE HOME CIRCLE COLUMN

BE CHEERFUL.

Keep a stiff upper lip, and rise above the clouds of adversity, tho they threaten momentarily to overwhelm you. Thus may you be led to forget your precarious position, until soon a ray of hope penetrates the darkness and the day dawns forth with renewed brilliancy.

Don't allow your mind to dwell on dismal themes, lest a gloomy imagination run away with you. It always augments grief and magnifies misfortune.

Interest yourself in the present and diffuse the extra pleasures of the day through succeeding ones, in order to enliven the whole week.

Preserve the memory of past happiness until sure of a fresh supply, but never place yourself in the position to lose sight of both. It is as oppressive as the darkness of a total eclipse.

About the most disagreeable habit that anyone can get into is the nagging habit. We all have times when we feel like nagging and the best way for anyone to avoid unpleasantness at such times is to go off by one's self and fight off the ugly mood. Nagging has ruined more homes than anyone realizes because it is at the start of many more conspicuous evils.

Your best blessings are not recognized by you till they have vanished; your common privileges have little value to you till you are deprived of them. Your home inspires no special gratitude till you are cast homeless upon the world. Your friends, the companions of your life, the dear sharers of your every-day experience—how little do you prize the tenderness of their love or the beauty of their character, until the quiet, unceasing ministry of goodness has ceased forever.

One of the most encouraging signs of national advancement is the increased and deeper thinking on the part of our young women. They are filling a growing number of important positions in our larger concerns.

The kitchen in a house may represent an engine room in a steamship, and the cook may represent the engineer. However beautifully furnished the rest of the ship is, if the engineer is incapable, or the engine is broken, all will go wrong; so it is with the home; no matter how nice the parlours are furnished, if the cook is not competent, everyone connected with the home will have to suffer the consequences.

Stirring up bitterness in a neighbour's heart is never profitable or pleasant.

Most of us are inclined to take our family too much for granted just the same as we take our town and very often a family, or certain members of it, need boosting quite as well as a town.

It doesn't pay to gossip about one's neighbours. Let us have only kind thoughts and good words for every one, and be sure to lend a helping hand whenever occasion calls for it. In trying to lighten another's burden, we forget our own; and the kind thoughts we send out come back to us like echoes.

The person that has wiped wet eyes, moistened parched tongues, put a new star in the sky of a dark life, added beauty and bloom? the song of birds and the blossom of flowers to the lot of another is—whether he be rich or poor, known or unknown, bound or free—one of God's nobility.

The past is fixed. No tears can wash away its facts. We should waste no regrets upon it; but, from the wisdom which its very sins have taught us, we should start afresh on the race.

Take as much care of your money as you can if your means are limited, but don't try to save your smiles or kind words. The more liberal you are with these the more you will have.

Enjoy the blessings of to-day, if God sends them, and the evils of it bear patiently and sweet.

The rarest feeling that ever lights the human face is the contentment of a loving soul.

Distances.

"Where do you live in the city—close in?"

"Fairly so—thirty minutes on foot, fifteen by motor car, twenty-five by street car, and forty-five by telephone."—Kansas City Star.

TO THE DELEGATE OF WORLD'SS BROTHERHOOD CONFEDERATION

(By T. TOOMS, M.P.P.)

Religion of to-day is held back, we are not progresing with the mind of the people. We are tethered as it were to hard and fast doctrines set down for our guidance truly! But if we attempt to progress one step beyond a profesed doctrine, we are pulled up as it were, by the tether rope of tradition, sometimes violently if we attempt to go headlong. We keep running round and round the circle just as far as the rope's length will permit us.

The centre we may say is the founder of the religion professed. The same thing applies to the religion of Islam Buddah system, and not much else with Christendom. Therefore we may say that the error proceeds from one grand cause. We may leave out the minor factors of greed of gold, and of power, and if that side shoot of earnestness called fanatism, of hypocrisy which generates so much blindness in those who think they are sincere, and speak of one cause fundamental. Whenever men ask what they should do, in this case or that, in order that they should not fail to coordinate ther own acts with the will of Christ. The answer was, look backward to Him and learn of Him. And if any men inquired further where he would be able to find the will of the Christ expressed, the answer was that such expression be found in the book of records of His acts and words. Naught but what was found therein was to be believed as His will, and on His will therein expressed; the doings of Christendom are shaped. And so it came to pass that Christendom became tied with a tether to the book The church was truly active with the life of Him. His spirit filled it up like the living, coursing blood in a human body. But that life is being strangled and the body begins to halt and at last to go round more slowly in that circumscribed orbit. Truly His works and acts recorded were a most precious heritage. They were meant to be the Sheckinah to guide the church through the wilderness of the ages. But note well; the Sheckinah went before the children of Jacob and led them. The Book of the new Covenant did not go before but was enthroned behind. The light cast was true light as from a beacon on top of a hill. But it lighted men from behind and threw their shadows before them. If they would look to the light they must turn their glances over their shoulders backwards. "Then they stumbled." It is not of orderly advance to be turning backward in order to see how to go forward. That is the error men made. He is our captain. He goes before us, and we follow Him, through death and resurrection into His heaven beyond. But for a sight of this Captain going before them, they turn round and look to the rear, which is not conducive to orderly advance nor agreeable with reason. Some men made bold to move forward. They suffered of their fellow men, but the seed sown bore its harvest. Understand that the mistake men made was, to hamper a living, moving life with a Book. They regarded that Book not what it was and is; wonderful, beautiful, but as both infallible and complete. The few words and acts of Him in the Book of the four evangelists are not even as the source from which the river of Christendom flows. They are merely a few ripples on its broader tide to show what way it rides to the sea. Men are beginning to see this now, and to go forward glad of the beacon light behind, but with greater gladness towards the more radiant light ahead. He promised He would lead you. Follow Him, He may not tarry on your hesitancy.

Mr. Clif. Knox, of London, was in town last week attendin gthe funeral of the late Carpenter Davidson.

ATTRACTIVE HAIR

One cannot be attractive if the Hair is dead one whose hair bristles with life and health, attracts attention. To have beautiful hair, use Delmays "Vitalene" French Hair Tonic. It makes hair fairly bristle, a beautiful, non sticky, perfumed hari tonic. Price $1.00 a bottle. Sold by Bond's drug store.

EARLY SURGEONS PAID DEARLY FOR MISTAKES

In the days of Hammurabi, 2,000 years B. C., the surgeon was an accepted member of the social order, and filled a much higher plane in society than he did centuries afterward, when he combined the trade of physician and barber. But what he gained in social standing he lost in the walls by which his acts were surrounded, and his desire for operations was tempered with a cautious diagnosis, for failure meant much more than a dissatisfied patient or surviving relative.

If a patient died after an operation, the surgeon's hands were cut off, to make sure he would do no more bungling — unless the patient happened to be a slave, and in that case he had to replace the lost one.

If he merely lost the slave's eye in his work he had to pay half the market value of the servant, and a similar code of values was placed on the various limbs of the slave under treatment. A socialist arrangement was also in force relative to his fees. Thus, he was allowed to charge a rich man five shekels, a commoner only three, while a slave could have the same bit of surgery done for a single shekel. Operations came a little higher, 10 shekels being allowed for a major affair on an aristocrat and five for a commoner, while a slave could have his appendix sliced out for a paltry two.

Catarrh Germs

Move Out When Hyomei Moves In

No stomach dosing. Hyomei is made chiefly of oil of eucalyptus taken from the eucalyptus forests of inland Australia, and combined with other excellent antiseptics.

In inland Australia the atmosphere is so impregnated with balsam thrown out by the eucalyptus trees that germs do not thrive, and in consequence coughs, colds, catarrh and other nose and throat afflictions are practically unknown.

Hyomei is sold by druggists everywhere or by mail $1.35 for complete outfit; 75 cents for extra bottle liquid. Booth's Hyomei Co., Limited, Ont., on a guarantee of satisfaction or money refunded.

MI-O-NA

Ends indigestion

It relieves stomach misery, sour stomach, belching and all stomach disease or money back. Large box of tablets 75 cents. Druggists in all towns.

An Indianapolis contractor was married by a justice of the peace recently on a platform at the top of a 176-foot chimney he was building.

MR. P. A. FERGUSON TO LEAVE THE CITY

WILL TAKE CHARGE OF MANITOBA FIELD.

Policyholders of the Dominion Life and the many friends of Mr. P. A. Ferguson will learn with regret that he is about to leave Peterboro. They will be glad to know, however, that his services here in the past six years have been well rewarded and that he has been appointed Provincial Manager for the company for Manitoba.

This promotion is the result of conscientious work and long service with his company and is well earned. Mr. Ferguson has been connected with life insurance for some eighteen years. It has always been his aim and object to render the best of service to the public in that line.

Sixteen years have been spent in the Dominion Life and a policyholder, whether new or old, receives the same courteous attention.

The company will continue to maintain its office here and, the interests of all insured will be cared for in the same systematic way in which they have been tended during Mr. Ferguson's term of office.

His experience, however, in the past has fitted him to manager larger fields and his organizing ability will find full scope in a wider western field. With headquarters at Winnipeg, Mr. Ferguson will take charge on or about the tenth of October.

BAD DAY FOR THE MILLBROOK FAIR

The Millbrook Fair Directors received a rude shock this morning when they rolled out of the hay only to find that prospects for fine weather had been dissipated by the rain. After solemn conclave during the morning it was decided to cancel the outside section of the Fair and weather permitting go through with the interior section. A new building for housing the exhibits was erected on the Fair grounds this year at a cost of three thousand dollars. The directors will be partly recompensed by "fair insurance" which is provided by the Provincial government in event of wet weather.

DEMAND TURKISH PENSIONS

7,000 Soldiers Want Back Pay, But War Office Has No Funds.

CONSTANTINOPLE.—Five hundred Turkish reserve officers went to the War Office late last week, demanding that two months' back pensions be paid 7,000 men whom they represented. They declared that they would resort to violence if their demands were not met with within two days.

Hussein Husni Pasha, Minister of War, offered something on account within a week, saying he would resign if he failed to carry out his promise. His ability to do so, however, is doubted, as the Government is declared to have no money for any purpose.

STOCK MARKET

tively at 40. Brazilian was up 3-4 and moderately in demand. The renewed interest in tractions and public utilities coincides with the lull in paper share trading. Sentiment of the market favors the view that the tractions have a better day in store for them, and are a good speculative buy at present low prices. The announcement of record high earnings by Brazilian this morning for the month of Aug. was a timely incident confirming this view.

Merger stocks continue their recovery.

MUST ALLOW EMPLOYE TO STATE GRIEVANCE

IMPORTANT RULINGS BY JOINT COUNCIL OF INDUSTRY.

WINNIPEG, Oct. 1.—Two important rulings were handed down by Rev. Dr. C. W. Gordon, chairman of the Joint Council of Industry. One was to the effect that no employer can act in a purely arbitrary manner in dismissing his employee without stating his grievances, and the other provided that no individual may break his agreement or contract with regard to the question of work.

The Council arrived at the decision that overtime is part of an agreement, and therefore conditions that govern regular time also govern overtime, and in the minds of members of the Joint Council the employee is under the same discipline and jurisdiction while working overtime.

Colours are Grey, Green, Brown, and Burgundy. All sizes in the lot $22.95

Beauty Notes

Have you noticed in street cars, in offices, or at social gatherings, a person with an objectionable odour?

She may not know it; she may be very dainty; but that odour always clings to her, and she is seriously handicapped. Her friends may avoid close contact with her, or she may be less welcome in the office; less liable to be promoted to a position of trust and intimate contact.

The difficulty can be instantly and easily overcome. One application of MELBA DEODORANT takes all odour away. It also prevents perspiration.

MELBA DEODORANT does not conceal odours, but destroys them. It does not injure Clothes or Skin. It is economical; only a little needed at a time, and it lasts from bath to bath.

This may be obtained at our Toilet Counter, Main Floor.

POWER SHORTAGE IN CITY REACHED A CRISIS TO-DAY WITH CLOSING OF PLANTS

would alleviate the situation he refused to give an opinion. Told that others had expressed themselves as believing that it would he stated that everyone was capable of forming his own opinion:

Another View of the Situation.

Following is the Kingston "Standard's" comment:—

The Standard is informed by Chairman Elliott of the Civic Utilities and by other officials that the local power situation is very serious and that unless conditions speedily improve the supply of power to the city may be decidedly curtailed if indeed not entirely shut off. So serious, indeed, was the situation this morning that the Hydro-Electric officials were in almost constant telephonic communication wieh the local officials as to the continuance of the power supply even for to-day.

From what The Standard hears the present difficulty is due to the very low water in the Trent River and the only way it can be relieved is by a greater flow of water there, which can be obtained by lowering the level of Rice and Stoney Lakes, which flow into the Trent River by at least 1 1-2 feet. If this is not done, it is declared the industrial power situation in all Central Ontario as well as here will be seriously threatened.

Chairman Eliott has telegraphed Premier Meighen at Ottawa urging that the Dominion Government do all in its power to help the Ontario and Hydro authorities at this time.

That the heavy rainfall would help materially in decreasing the shortage was the optimistic opinion of those who were in close touch with the situation this morning. Last night the rainfall had amounted to 0.70 inches and to-day this should be greatly increased. The total rainfall for the month af September was 4.10 inches which is exceptionally heavy.

At noon both the Bonner-Worth and Auburn plants of the Canadian Woollens closed their doors until Monday for lack of power. Practically all the industries of the city have been cut down on power deliveries, the amount of the reduction depending upon their orders. The De Laval supply of 1000 horse power was reduced to 950 yesterday afternoon.

Previous Power Crises

This is not the first time that Peterboro has forced a power shortage but it is the first time in recent years that a trick of fate has not intervened and saved the situation.

The street railway is running on half its usual allotment of power, and as a result is giving 25 minute service instead of 10 minute to the west end.

BETTER TRAIN SERVICE HERE

CHANGES WILL TAKE EFFECT ON SUNDAY NEXT.

The new C. P. R. time-table that comes into effect on Sunday, Oct. 3rd will be gladly heralded by the travelling public of Peterborough. Better train service with Toronto and Montreal is given by the numerous changes that have been made. Two new trains have been added to this line. Peterborough will have an early Sunday morning train to Montreal, leaving here at 2.19, leaving Toronto at 11.59 Saturday night and making only three stops between Toronto and the eastern city. These are at Peterborough, Havelock and Smith's Falls.

There has been added a Sunday morning train to Toronto from Montreal that arrives at Peterborough at 7.20. This train, like the one going east, only makes the three divisonal stops. It leaves Montreal at 11.6 Saturday night.

From the C.P.R notice of the other changes in the time of the trains arriving and leaving Peterborough it will be seen that Peterborough has benefitted greatly from the changes in the time-table.

DIVISION COURT SITTING TO-DAY

A NUMBER OF CASES DISPOSED OF THIS MORNING.

In the Division Court this morning judgment was given by His Honour Judge E. C. S. Huycke to G. W. Hatton against William Jackson, a local candy maker, for $62.48 rent that the plaintiff alleged was owing him.

Two cases, in which the Township of Douro and Patrick Farley are suing James Crowley and Thomas Kemp for $35.63 and $41.90 respectively, were adjourned till the next Court.

The case of Rowland Hazelwood vs. Frank Whitehouse for $35.00 was settled out of Court.

The case of the Singer Sewing Machine Company vs. Louis O'Neil for $86.00 was adjourned to the next Court, as was the claim of Mrs. Percy Fitzgerald for $32.25 against J. L. Hamilton; and the claim of Robertson Bros. against Dan. Sullivan for $40.50.

An alleged fraudulent horse deal was the foundation on which George Boatman sued Alexander Calder for $60.00. Both plaintiff and defendant are farmers living near Warsaw. B. Hall appeared for the plaintiff and V. J. McElderry for the defendant.

Boatman alleges that he purchased a horse off Calder, that Calder declared was a good driver, for $140.00. When he got home he found that he could do nothing with the horse. He declared it was unruly, he could not drive it, or handle it in any way, so he sent it back to Calder. He had paid $60.00 on it, and this he claimed on the ground of false representation.

The evidence of the defence pointed to the contrary. David Down, who raised the colt, declared it was a good driver and not at all unruly. Calder stated that the only fault with the horse was that it wanted to travel fast.

His Honour pointed out that Boatman should have given the horse a real test before he bought it, and he was too hasty in deciding it was unruly.

Judgment was given in favour of the defendant, the horse to be returned to Boatman and Boatman to pay the balance of $80.00 on the horse.

The claim of G. N. Gordon against T. P. McGarrity and Mary McGarrity for $187.80 was adjourned till next Court, as was that of M. Freeman vs. R. G. Furlong for $01.20.

A physician was called at a house where a child had the scarlet fever.

"Oh, yes, indeed," was the mother's reply. "I don't let him come near the others except for meals."—Boston Transcript.

NO PROSPECT OF LOCATING SMALL

CHICAGO POLICE FIND NO CLUE TO WHEREABOUTS OF THEATRICAL MAGNATE.

(Canadian Press.)

CHICAGO, Oct. 1.—Police officials here now admit that they have no prospect of locating Ambrose J. Small, the missing Toronto theatrical magnate, and his private secretaray, John Doughty. A report received at headquarters last Sunday led Chief of Detectives Mooney to believe that he could trace the whereabouts of the men, and he issued a statement saying he expected them to be located within twenty-four hours. Detectves have been on the case since then, but have found no trace of the missing men.

FOUR BUILDING PERMITS ISSUED

Four building permits were issued from the city hall during the past week, all for small amounts:

Messrs. Western Clock Company, $350, 383 George street south.

M. A. Olin $25, small verandah, 521 Cedar street.

George Sloan $150, garage, 573 Chamberlain street.

Peace is his who can shut the door of the mind and throw away the key.

Hard luck had struck Smith a fearful blow. In desperation he took on a job to sell books from door to door.

All down one street he went without making a single sale. Then, turning the corner, he determined to try a new method. At the first house he came to a woman answered his knock.

"Have you a Charles Dickens in your home?" he asked politely.

"No-" snapped the woman.

"Or a Robert Louis Stevenson?"

"Or a Walter Scott?" asked Smith hope dancing momentarily in his eyes.

"No, we ain't!" said the woman, sharply, "and what is more, this ain't a boarding house. If you're looking for them fellers you might try next door."

It is only a step from girlhood to womanhood, from dolls to dollars, says an American cynic.

Only twelve per cent. of French women are blondes, and experts predict that the auburn type will gradually eliminate all other half shades, making France monotonous, with no extremes to offset the neutralized blonde-brunette mixture.

MORE EFFICIENT LABOUR IS AIDING TO LOWER COST

CONSUMER MUST SOON FEEL BENEFIT OF SUBSTANTIALLY CHEAPER GOODS.

MORE PRICE-CUTTING

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—Price-cutting has taken hold of the wholesale trade in the United States to an extent that soon must be felt substantially in lower prices to consumers, according to the federal reserve board's monthly business review, made public last night.

Revival of the wave of price reduction and its spread to many retail lines was attributed to "a more exacting demand by the buying public as to price and quality." Retail purchasers are showing continued determination to await a move by the dealers to meet those demands while foregoing luxuries and semi-luxuries, reports to the board declared.

Although the board believed the buying public was largely dominating the market now, it is said that labor and production were having a marked effect on prices. There was much evidence, it said, of increased efficiency on the part of labor, and, as a result, production was on the increase and factory operation beginning to approach normal.

Greater Stability.

Summed up, the board's findings were that business conditions are now definitely on the road toward stability of as great and confirmed a nature as the disturbed position of the world at large permits."

"Continuance of the process of readjustment in business and industry has been an outstanding feature of the last month," the review said. "This has been accompanied by price reductions and by the resumption of work in branches of industry where hesitation as to future outlook has led to suspension.

"After an apparent slowing down in the price reduction movement during midsummer, it has again reappeared and the month of September saw substantial cuts in well-known makes of automobiles, various classes of textiles, shoes and leather and other wholesale prices. Reductions have occurred in a variety of staples including wheat. Changes in prices have tended to make business men and bankers cautious about future commitments."

Wheat Slumps Again.

CHICAGO, Oct. 1.—Wheat futures broke 7½c to 9¼ yesterday the December option touching $2.16 and March $2.11. Corn, oats and provisions were also weak.

The slump in wheat was attributed to heavy purchases of Canadian wheat by U.S. millesr and to reports that India was ogering wheat to Europe at lower prices.

Tires Off 20 Per Cent.

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—The Lee Tire and Rubber Co. announced yesterday a reduction in the price of its entire line of tires, from 15 per cent. to 20 per cent.

Shirt Prices Down.

TROY, N.Y., Oct. 1.—Earl and Wilson, one of the largest collar and shirt manufacturers in the United tates, have announced reductions in the wholesale price of shirts. The reductions cover practically every grade of shirt manufactured by the company, and range from $1.50 to $24 per dozen.

About a week ago this company annouced a reduction in the prices of collars made by them.

TELLS DYSPEPTICS WHAT TO EAT

Avoid Indigestion, Sour Acid Stomach, Heartburn, Gas on Stomach, Etc.

Indigestion and practically all forms of stomach trouble, say medical authorities, are due nine times out of ten to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach. Chronic "acid stomach" is exceedingly dangerous and sufferers should do either one of two things.

Either they can go on a limited and often disagreeable diet, avoiding foods that disagree with them, that irritate the stomach and lead to excess acid secretion or they can eat as they please in reason and make it a practice to counteract the effect of the harmful acid and prevent the formation of gas, sourness or premature fermentation by the use of a little Bisurated Magnesia at their meals.

There is probably no better, safer or more reliable, stomach antiacid than Bisurated Magnesia, and it is widely used for this purpose. It has no direct action on the stomach and is not a digestant. But a spoonful of the powder or a couple of five grain tablets taken in a little water with the food will neutralize the excess acidity which may be present and prevent its furather formation. This removes the whole cause of the trouble and the meal digests naturally and healthfully without need of pepsin pills or artificial digestents.

Get a few ounces of Bisurated Magnesia from any reliable druggist. Ask for either powder or tablets. It never comes as a liquid, milk or citrat eand in the bisurated form is not a laxative. Try this plan and eat what you want at your next meal and see if this isn't the best advice you ever had on "what to eat."

LAD ELECTROCUTED ON FRANKFORD BRIDGE

BELLEVILLE, Oct. 1.—Frankford bridge was the scene of a terrible fatality at four o'clock Wednesday afternoon, when Ray Gossen, son of Mr. Charles Gossen, manager of the Frankford Canning Co., was electrocuted. The unfortunate lad, who was only thirteen years of age, was in company with a number of others. They had climbed up the arch girder of the bridge across the Trent River and were near the Frankford side. To get down the arch it appears that the Gossen boy started backwards on his hands and knees. It is thought that in this position he put his foot across an electric wire strung on arms at the top of the bridge. There he was held by the wire and steel arch for several minutes until the electric current had burned the foot off. His body being against the steel, the current flowed through his body.

HATCHERY SYSTEM WRONG.

Discovery of Three Palatable Fish Also Announced.

OTTAWA, Oct. 1.—The present hatchery methods in both Canada and the United States were condemned by William C. Kendall of the United States Bureau of Fisheries, at a session of the convention of the American Fishery Association.

Prof. E. E. Prince paid tribute to the assistance rendered the fish industry by scientists of McGill Queen's, Toronto and Lalhousie Universities. He told of the recent discovery of three palatable fish which had been named angler, lump, plaice and mutton fish. All these were hitherto unknown as far as the table were concerned. The mutton fish was formerly destroyed by tons and is now found to be one of the most delightful of foods.

IN MEMORIAM

In ever loving memory of our dear son, Pte. Edward W. Payne, killed in action on the Somme Oct. 1st 1916

Now parents dry, your weeping tears,
Your son is now at rest,
He is safely poised in Paradise
To dwell among the blest.
Sisters grieve not as others grieve
But in submission bow,
For if you do God's words believe
You know I am happy now.

Dear brothers and sisters grieve no more
Though death is a solemn thing,
But Jesus going on before
Extracted every sting.
And from death's cold embrace he rose
Triumphant over the grave
And everything that might oppose
His chosen ones to save.

Dear loved ones go to Jesus now
Before Him plead your case,
In supplication you must bow
And plead for saving grace.
Then strive to meet your loved again
When we shall part no more
Where there's no sorrow, pain or death
On that immortal shore.

BOARD OF HEALTH MUST BE OBEYED

KINGSTON, Oct. 1.—Last week it was asked who was boss as between the Board of Health and the Board of Education in Smiths Falls in the matter of enforcing compulsory vaccination on the school children of that town. The Board of Education at its regular meeting again discussed the action of the Board of Health in insisting that school children be vaccinated, and as gracefully as possible withdrew from the position they had taken. The question is therefore answered, and the Board of Health is the boss.

Mr. Gain, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Fred Gain, Mrs. Don Christie, Mr. Will Christie, Dr. and Mrs. Burkes, all of Toronto, were at the Christie cottage last week.

Mrs. Pitts and daughter, of Toronto, are visiting her sister-in-law, Mrs. E. Wilkinson.

Mr. Jonh McCulloch, of Campbellford, and Miss Emma McCulloch, of Long Beach, California, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Archie Long, the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. Archie Long and children, and Miss Emma McCulloch, motored to Dartford on Tuesday. They were the guest of Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Brooks.

Dr. and Mrs. Wannamaker, of Orono, spent the week end at their cottage. Dr. Wannamaker is making all preparations to return next season.

Cement Walks.

The new cement sidewalks will be completed in a few days. Much credit is due the River Association, who all summer arranged little socials, garden parties and dances at the pavilion to raise funds for these walks. They have enough in the treasury now to pay for them as soon as completed.

Euchre Party.

The Four Hundred Club euchre party and dance in the Sedgwick pavilion on Sept. 20 was a great success. The Association collected $163.00 for the treasury and everybody seemed to enjoy themselves immensely.

ITALIAN BABY BOY BORN ON C. N. TRAIN

FORT WILLIAM, Otc. 1. — Mrs. C. N. Coss, of 127 Cumming street, Fort William, is proud of the distinction of having acted as doctor and nurse at the birth of a lovely baby boy, whose mother was or her way to Fort William from Italy.

The important event took place last Thursday on board No. 1 Canadian National train, not far from Port Arthur, and on reaching the city the mother, Mrs. Underto, and her baby boy, were taken to the general hospital where they are receiving all attention. The happy father, who has been here for some time, visiting them at the hospital.

Mrs. Coss, who has had experience in nursing, will present the little bambino with a christening robe as a souvenir of the part taken by her on the occasion.

THE HOLLOW.

Two hills slope down together, and, between,
A little stream runs by its stones, unheard,
Or only softly heard and partly seen
By the swift tanager and mocking-bird.
There laurels and azalea bloom in Spring,
And Summer wreaths of clematis are stirred
By all the drowsy winds, that only bring
Us forth the memory of their breath—whose song
Can only echo what their poets sing.
The birds, those poets truly, that still throng
Such leafy haunts as gods might dwell among.

Won't You Come to Camp at Oolahwan!

Oh, won't you come to camp at Oolahwan,
And if you don't you'll wish that you had gone, had gone,
There's boating, bathing, picnics too,
Strawberry ice-cream, dandy stew,
Gee! but don't we like it, we like it!
We go to see the sun rise in the morning,
And watch the ghosts go prowling round at night,
Still that's the place for a bunch of girls,
Ducked in the lake if they show curls,
Oolahwan! It's alright!

Camp Oolahwan, the Montreal Young Women's Christian Association Camp for girls, is located in Laurentian Mountains near St. Margaret's on the shores of Lake Masson. The property which is over three hundred acres in extent is ideal for camping and takes in a beautiful lake with a splendid bathing beach. There are also shady woods, streams and springs, open spaces and rocky hills. "Baldy" the highest point on the property commands a wonderful view of the valley of Le Bras Est and one can count from its summit half a dozen mountain lakes nestling among the hills. No more delightful place could be found for a holiday camp. Each summer six or seven hundred girls visit Oolahwan and revel in the beauty, the fresh air and the fun of camping out.

It is a real camp. The girls live in tents and dress in camp outfit, most of them wearing middies and bloomers. The juniors have a tent circle of their own, a separate leaders' corps and a campers' council made up of outstanding campers. The councillors meet regularly and discuss not only the daily programme of activities but also such varied questions as "Is there enough salt in the porridge" and "How to keep talkative campers quiet at night". It is considered an honor to be a councillor. The senior camp has also its own separate organization and officers.

There are many fascinating things to do at camp—all kinds of out-of-door activities, including boating, bathing, picnics, bonfire parties, story hours, etc.

Campers who are interested in birds, flowers, camp craft, life-saving, etc., find leaders who can help them with these things. Informal Bible study courses are also given.

Friday is regatta and sports day, and regular competitions are held each week in swimming, diving and rowing, two swimming directors being employed for this work. Basketball and baseball matches are also held.

Attractive shields with honors are given each week to campers winning sufficient points in water sports, nature study, etc.

Great interest also centres around three silver cups which may be won each week. Two are awarded—one to juniors and one to seniors for those tents winning highest honors, and one is given to the best all round camper, the latter being chosen by ballot.

HERZOG STABBED TWICE IN BRAWL

RESENTED TAUNT OF HAVING BEEN "CROOKED."

CHICAGO, Sept. 30.—Charles Herzog, Cup infielder, against whom charges of crookedness in baseball were made by "Rube" Benton, was stabbed three times to-day at Joliet just after the Cubs had finished playing an exhibition game there He was not bady injured.

When the game was finished, Herzog left the grounds and entered an automobile waiting outside to take the players back to the hotel where they had dressed. One man from the crowd at the gate climbed upon the running board of the machine, stuck his head inside and said: "You're one of those crooked ball players? When are you going to confess?"

Herzog leaped from the car, knocked the man down and grappled with him in the dirt, both rolling into a ditch by the roadside. The report was that Hezog gave the fellow a thorough licking, but one of the man's friends pulled a knife and went into the fight, slashing Hezog across the palm of his left hand as "Buck" threw up his hand to ward off the blow. Another slash from Herzog's assailant cut a slight gash across his knuckles, and a third swing by the man with the knife cut through the player's stocking into the calf of his leg. By this time Herzog had regained his feet, leaving his first assailant in the ditch, and, regardless of the fact that the second man had a knife, Herzog started at him. The fellow ran into the crowd and made his escape.

PLOWITES QUALIFY TO MEET PETERBORO

HAMILTON DEFEATED GUELPH BY 4-3 YESTERDAY.

BRANTFORD, Sept. 30.—Hamilton Plowites, in a great finish here this afternoon, defeated Guelph by 4—3 in an O.B.A.A. semi-final, and qualified to meet Peterborough in the finals. Guelph led until the eighth inning, but with two out, Whetstone weakened, pasing two men and allowing two hits. With runners on third and second, Murphy was called to the rescue, and Cumpson's drive to centre field scored the winning counters.

Whetstone up to the eighth had pitched invincible ball. The game was a snappy fielding affair, and rooters in plenty arrived in Brantford for both teams.

BUT STATES ATTORNEY HOYNE COULD NOT FIND ENOUGH EVIDENCE TO PROVE FACT.

(Canadian Press.)

CHICAGO, Oct. 1.—Charles Comiskey, owner of the Chicago White Sox, asked States States Attorney Hoyne to investigate last year's world's series immediately after the games, Hoyne said to-day, after his return here from New York. Hoynes' office conducted an investigation for three or four days and found enough evidence to satisfy him that the series was crooked, he said. Not enough evidence was found, however, to prove the fact he added.

RATS ARE RUNNING TO ESCAPE PROSECUTION

Attell Says Gamblers Made $250,000—Will Tell What He Knows.

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—Abe Attell, the boxer whose name has repeatedly appeared in the Chicago testimony regarding the "fixed" World Series, to-day reiterated his denials of connection with the plot. "I never handed any money to White Sox players," said Attell to a reporter. "I never acted as a fixer. There is some master mind which has evolved and operated the whole scheme. Of course he was assisted by several others. His name and their names I do not know. But I do not care to reveal them at the present time. To the best of my knowledge ten gamblers made at least $250,000. Later I shall give names and particulars."

Other New York gamblers named in the Chicago despatches were not about their usual haunts last night. None of them seemed to be in search of amusement or relaxation. There was whisperings among them and their friends and much movement from place to place in taxicabs. There were many predictions that unless some of New York's most conspicuous gamblers and their friends in the baseball business got abroad to get out of the jurisdiction of the courts they will be drawn into the general inquiry which began in Chicago. Several have disappeared.

If we knew the value of restrained speech we should have the secret of persuasion.

LOCAL FOOTBALL GOSSIP

AT OVAL CANADIAN WOOLLENS V. CALEDONIANS—COMRADES V. G.W.V.A, AT EXHIBITION GROUNDS TO-MORROW—OTHER ITEMS OF INTEREST.

Two excellent league fixtures are provided the public for Saturday afternoon by the football executive. At Nicholls Oval the Canadian Woollens will entertain the Caledonians as their guests, and down at the Exhibition grounds the Comrades will have the league leaders, the G.W.V.A. This is the first time these teams have met and are sure to attract a crowd.

No doubt the football enthusiasts would be studying the schedule published last evening and they must not forget that it called for a great amount of the sub-committee's private time to accomplish it. They deserve a bit of praise.

The official referee for the Comrades vs. G.W.V.A. game to-morrow will be Mr. W. R. Thompson, who comes along with good credentials for acting in the same capacity. He will line up the teams as follows: G.W.V.A.—W. Jones, goal; N. Crowe and A. Bishop, backs; J. House, P. D. Ryan and J. Neil, half-backs; S. Curtiss, H. Burrows, T. Monks, A. Edwards and J. Sharman, forwards. Comrades—J. Young, goal; R. Joliffe and R. Leach, backs; John Shaw, H. Cowie and G. F. Poste, half-backs; F. Hartshorn, M. Dunkley, B. Martin, F. Mallinson and W. Warman, forwards. Reserves, T. Bolan and A. Nichols.

The Caledonians are introducing four new men into their team to-morrow, and giving the older players a day off: Team—Edw. Wright, goal; Stewart McMillan and Sam McMillan, backs; Herb Frost, J. Calder and Jas. McMillan, half-backs; R. Hannah, R. McCrone, J. Dingwall, J. Clark and R. McDowall, forwards. Reserves, M. Shaw, J. Brown and J. Service.

In Fred Sutcliffe's barber shop this week, Mr. Edwards, the cartoonist, has the C.G.E. and Vets sitting together fishing with the Comrades and De Laval respectively on the allotted hooks. The C.G.E. player remarks to the Vet that it is "some fishing," with the Caledonian looking on the scene in astonishment and asking, "I wonder what bait they are using." But the wee mouse is missing in the picture, for it must have been saying "wait till the next (game)."

In all probability Mr. Harold Jones wil be in the Canadian Woollens team to-morrow against the Caledonians.

The C.G.E. and the De Laval teams are idle to-morrow.

The Toronto Caledonian team are playing in Oshawa to-morrow against one of the Lakeshore teams. In fact the Oshawa football enthusiasts have had three Toronto teams there lately. What Peterborough team will take the initiative?

At a special meeting of the G.W.V.A. football team on Wednesday evening, Mr. H. Burrows was appointed secretary.

All C. G. E. players and executive members are requested to meet at the Exhibition grounds on Sautrday afternoon, at 2.30 p.m. Sharp.

To those who may have been interested in football in the year 1907, when the Peterborough Quaker team won the Midland Football League along with the handsome trophy that stood over 2 feet high on a black ebony base and mounted on the top a football, will find in Mr. Fred Sutcliffe's window the pirture of Dr. J. A. Morgan, President, C. E. Sisson, 1st Vice-President, T. J. Wallace, 2nd Vice-President, P. D. Fitzgerald, manager, B. F. Huston, Sec.-Treas. Players read as follows: J. E. Sullivan, (Capt.) F. E. Dingman, S. Laing, H. A. Hamilton, F. Scrimshaw, C. Fitzgerald, S. W. Caniff, T. C. Donaldson, W. Hadley, W. Yates and J. Brodie.

The Canadian Woollen Team against the Caledonians to-morrow will be I. McFadden, J. Hillman and T. Hardie-backs; I. Montgomery, J. Cridland and H. Pickford half-backs; C. Thorpe, H. Jones, J. Chambers, C. Roberts and C. Clark. Reserves—J. Wright and R. Moore.

"EXPERIENCE"

The most popular play in America, "Experience," will be presented by F. Ray Comstock and Morris Gest.

"Experience" is now in its seventh sensationally successful season both bigger and better than ever. The managers have provided sumptuous new scenery, costumes of the latest styles, —the ladies' gowns in particular being imported Paris and London models that have not yet been seen even in New York. The company includes many of the old favorites and a numbers of on-coming youngsters. There is no "chorus" in "Experience," but every one of the forty-eight female parts is played by a girl of youth, beauty and talent that would win a place in the front row of any Broadway exposition of feminine pulchritude. In fact, most of them have graduated from F. Ray Comstock's pretty little Princes Theatre or Morris Guest's gorgeous Century Grove.

Nobody who has not seen "Exerience" should miss seeing it and those who have will be glad of this opportunity to revive pleasant memories and refresh in their minds the wonderful lessons this play teaches through spectacular and dramatic scenes and vivid chaarcters.

"Experince" will come to the Grand to-morrow night for one night only.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

Graham Moffat, well and gratefully remembered here as the author of "Bunty Pulls The Strings," has arrived from Glasgow with another play of his, a piece called "Don't Tell," now on view at the Nora Bayes Theatre. This is described on the program as "a new Scottish comedy," but it is not new in any sense of the word that means anything and it is Scottish only in the sense that its scene is arbitrarily laid in Glasgow and all its speeches are shouted with a fine Scotch burr. Shorn of its dialect, it might have been written in and about any country under the sun and indeed, with slight variations, has been written in and about most of them. But not recently.

For some reason we are all wont to attach undue importance to any play any one has been at sufficient pains to bring bag and baggage across the Atlantic. We go to it at once expectantly and critically, as if it were of quasi-ambassadorial status. We speak of London as "sending" us this play or that, for all the world as though the Prime Minister and the Lord Mayor sat in prayerful judgment on each migrating entertainment. As a matter of fact, these productions from overseas are ventures no less commercial than those which flourish (or do not flourish, as the case may be) all around us.

What really has come to us from Glasgow is no Minister of Merriment sent by Scotland for America's amusement, but just a Glasgow actor-manager, himself seeking overseas some of the rewards which seemed so easily earned here by a piece of his several seasons ago. It would be a fair exchange if we were to send to Glasgow an ordinary American comedy—say one of about the level of 'Twin Beds'—it might be mounted staged and acted by a small town stock company. —New York Times.

Bobbies: "What does this author mean by saying that the hero had 'well-carved' features?" Dobbies: "Perhaps he shaved himself."

Mr. and Mrs. Grabster celebrate their silver wedding to-morrow, don't they?

They do. And what is more the card we received from them requested the honor of our presence at their sterling-silver wedding.

SICK ROOM JAZZ

WALLACE REID CREATES IT IN NEW PICTURE, "SICK ABED."

You don't usually find much comedy in a sick room. But, then, it isn't often that you have an invalid who keeps a saxophone secluded under his bed and wiles away odd moments by playing the instrument. That's the kind of a "sick man" Wallace Reid is in "Sick Abed," his new pitcure, which will be on view at the Allen Theatre to-day.

Wallace has the role of a young man who is shamming sickness in order not to appear in court as a witness against a friend in a divorce suit. And while dodging the doctors, who suspect his indisposition to be "phoney," he encounters a beautiful nurse, with whom he falls in love.

"Sick Abed" was adapted from the stage farce of the same same. Pretty Bebe Daniels appears as the nurse.

THE LIE DIRECT.

It seems that in the commercial travellers' profession there is an understanding, as firmly established as an unwritten law and certainly more so than a written one, that a salesman never tells a competitor the name of the next town he is to "make." If one asks another where he goes from here, the other names a town where he is pretty likely not to be going. Two good friends of "the road" met up in a town along the Ohio. "Where are you going?" asked one.

"Oh, to Indianapolis," grinned the other.

"You liar," returned the first, "you know darned well you're going to Indianapolis."—Villager.

Courage comes easier to the commonplace mind which does not feel or see too much.

What Prominent Ontario Women Say

Tillsonburg, Ont.:—"I found Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription very beneficial during expectancy. I felt quite poorly, was nauseated and sick, could not eat anything and I was extremely nervous and weak. I took 'Favorite Prescription' and it soon stopped the nausea, my appetite returned, also my strength and I was soon feeling fine and strong. My baby was strong and healthy and has always been so. I consider 'Favorite Prescription' a great help to the expectant mother and am glad to recommend it."—MRS. AMOS MILLS, Box 238.

A HAMILTON WITNESS

Hamilton, Ont.:—"A few months ago I was stricken down and was confined to bed about ten days. My strength all left me. It was my first illness since a child. I lost five pounds and felt awfully weak afterward. I could hardly do my work. I was advised to try Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription in tablet form. I tried a couple of bottles and before I knew it, I was well and strong and had gained 9½ pounds. I can recommend Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription to build one up."—MRS. E. MARTIN, 397 Dundurn St.

After suffering pain, feeling nervous, dizzy, weak and dragged down by weaknesses of her sex—with eyes sunken, black circles and pale cheeks—such a woman is quickly restored to health by the Favorite Prescription of Dr. Pierce. Changed, too, in looks, for after taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription the skin becomes clear, the eyes brighter, the cheeks plump. It is purely vegetable, contains no alcohol.

WOMAN CUT IN TWO BY RAIL TRAIN

LETTERS ON BODY ADDRESSED FROM PETRO.

TORONTO, Oct. 1.—[illegible] in two by a C.P.R. freight t[illegible] Royce avenue and Dundas[illegible] crossing yesterday, the body of Mrs. Frank Harris, wife of a b[illegible], lies in the morgue, where [illegible] will be held. The body was [illegible] mutilated.

The woman is believed to be about 70 years of age. Acc[illegible] to reports the man in charge of gate at the crossing had lowered gates when the Simcoe-Lambton [illegible] approached but the woman in the meanwhile, had passed the barrier.

Body Cut Two

The train, in charge of A. Irving, engineer, and M[illegible] conductor, struck the woman, [illegible]ing her some considerable distance, cutting her body in two.

The woman had come from Whitby where her husband [illegible] dying in the poor house. Letters found on the body were addressed to Peterboro. One letter, dated [illegible]25, was from Warne Bros., jews, Peterboro, which asked her to apply there for a position as housekeeper.

Sold Matches For Living

On the card was written: "My husband, being blind, am trying to make a living by selling matches. (Signed) Mrs. F. Harris." Gilbert Dennis is in charge of the gates at the crossing.

FIFTEEN BOARS FOR BESCRITICSM OF TOIGHT'S SHOW

EXAMINER CONTEST IS AROUSING CONSIDERABLE INTEREST IN PETERBORO.

Judging from comment and report the Examiner's contest for the best criticism of M. Anderson's presentation of Geo. Tyler's New York production of "On the Hiring Line," which appears here to-night at the Grand, is exciting great interest and will have many entries.

It is unnecessary to be a writer or have any experience. All you have to do is to go to the show, and write a brief outline of the play and criticize its quality and performance. Send in your criticism within 2 hours and the paper will select the best one, for which the winner will receive the $15 prize announcement of which will be made in this paper within one week.

Put your name and address on your entry and write neatly.

The following extracts from the criticism of this play by the New York Evening Journal on Oct. 23rd, 1919.

"On the Hiring Line," by Harvey J. O'Higgins and Harriet Ford, at the Criterion Theatre, is a comedy based upon the much mooted "servant problem." One of the very best companies ever assembled on Broadway presents this amusing piece in such an expert fashion as to realize upon every point furnished by the accomplished co-authors.

As usual with a Tyler production, the settings and stage direction are all that could be desired.

The play turns upon the predicament of the Fessenden household in New Jersey. Beautiful as is the country home it is yet hardly livable, because of the absence of servants.

To make matters worse, Mr. Fessenden is married a young actress, who is not pleased by country life, and who uses the dearth of help as an argument in behalf of going back to town and a livelier summer resort.

But the husband is determined to solve the problem and to remain at his country home.

He telephones to a detective agency and engages the services of two sleuths who are able to officiate as cook and butler respectively. He gives as a reason for hiring the detectives that mysterious letters are being written to members of his household.

The detectives arrive and then the complications develop.

(Add here your opinion of the acting of each character.)

ANDERSON FORCED TO QUIT WORK ENTIRELY

"Tanlac Has Put Me Back On Job Feeling as Well As I Ever Felt in My Life," He Declares.

"After being such a sick man for six months that I had to quit all work, Tanlac has put me back on the job feeling as well as I ever did," said W. Anderson, 3460 Quebec St. Vancouver, B.C.

"I suffered untold agonies on account of stomach trouble. Everything I ate would lie on my stomach like a lump of lead and then sour and form gas that bloated me up until I could hardly breathe and my heart would beat like a trip-hammer. I had spells of dizziness and often had terrible headaches. At night I used to roll and toss about on the bed for hours unable to sleep and when morning came I was so tired and worn out that I could hardly stand up. Finally I became so weak that I had to give up my job.

"I read a statement in the papers telling how a man with troubles just like mine had been helped by Tanlac so I decided to try it myself. The first bottle did me so much good that I kept right on with it and by the time I was through with the second I was at work and haven't missed a day since. My appetite is splendid, all trouble from indigestion has disappeared and I have gained several pounds in weight. I haven't had a headache or dizzy spell since I finished the first bottle of Tanlac, and I sleep like a log every night."

Tanlac is sold in Peterborough by W. B. Warne Drug Co., Ltd., in Havelock by A. C. Denike, in Lakefield by Tanner Drug Co., Ltd., in Fowler's Corners by W. A. Hunter, in Gelert by A. J. Scott, in Westwood by G. Pringle & Son, in Keene by G. S. Taylor, in Douro by P. G. Towns.

HAWAIIANS' HAVE A FINE DISPLAY

WILL APPEAR HERE NEXT WEEK WITH MILDRED CLEMENS.

Charming as rare was the entertainment given at Massey Hall last night by the Hawaiian Company brought to Toronto by Miss Mildred Leo Clemens, who less than a year ago visited the beautiful islands of the Pacific, where she looked for the best of the native singers and dancers, whom she persuaded to come with her to America. The company consists of three men and three women, who sing, playing their own accompaniment on the ukulele or guitar, and one of them, Ane Hilla, gave several of the native dances in costume of her country. Miss Clemens, who is a cousin of Mark Twain, in introducing her company, told of one who could speak seventeen different languages and was also one of the only two women on the islands who can play the steel guitar. Every member in the same way had some specialty. The performers sang together and at times introduced solos which were supported by chorus. The voices were for the most part soft and musical with a peculiar quality that made them convey sentiments of pathos almost devotional. Kashaia Pahu, soprano soloist, had rich low tones and remargably clear high tones. All the numbers were received with appreciative applause. Ane Hilla in native costume gave an exhibition of wonderful dancing in which all parts of the body had play—hands and arms being graceful accompaniment to feet, the exhibition being flawless. Miss Clemens added to the atmosphere by a number of beautiful pictures of scenes in Hawaii which she described in passing. A feature of the evening was the touching rendition of the old song "Silver Threads Among the Gold," sung with peculiar tenderness by Kamaki Pahu and his wife. Another number greatly admired was the arrangement of "The End of a Perfect Day," which was given a harp-like setting. The native airs in many cases resembled falling water, sighing winds or nature in any of its many sounds. The entertainments should be well patronized.—Toronto World, September, 1920.

This will appear at the Grand for three days next week, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Apple and Quince Butter.

24 apples
12 quinces
3 lemons
Sugar
Water

Pare and core fruit and weigh. Then measure sugar and water, allowing three-quarters pound of sugar to each pound of fruit, and one pint of water to each and one-half pounds of sugar used. Throw fruit in cold water and stew parings to make syrup. When parings are boiled, strain and set aside to cool. When cold mix with fruit and boil quickly, continuing until fruit is smooth and thick. Then add the sugar and lemon juice, cook for an hour longer, stirring frequently with a spoon.

THIS WISE MAN SAID

"If you want a typewriter, mind not the cost,
For if you get a poor one, your money is lost,
A good one will last you for many a year,
It'll give good service and keep in gear;
Jimmy knows what's best and will gladly show
How each make works and how fast they can go,
Make up your mind not to be served with chaff,
So go to Nelson's, George Street, at 332 and a half."

"Their Office is directly over the Merchants' Bank of Canada, George Street."

WEDDING BELLS

CADIGAN—PERDUE

St. Martin's Church, Ennismore, was the scene of a very pretty autumn wedding, on Tuesday, Sept. 28, when Catherine Evelyn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Cadigan, became the bride of John Perdue, son of Mr. Wm. Perdue. The bride who looked charming in her travelling suite of blue with hat to match, was attended by her sister, Cecelia, who was also attired in blue serge suit, while the groom was assisted by his brother, Michael. The groom's gift to the bride was a manicure set to the bridesmaid a gold pendant and to the groomsman a pair of gold cuff links.

After the ceremony the young couple motored to the home of the bride's parents, where a dainty wedding breakfast was served. The evening was spent in music and dancing.

The bride received many beautiful presents showing the high esteem in which they were held.

After a short honeymoon to Niagara and Buffalo, they will be at home to their friends at 103 Bethune street.

BELFAST, Oct. — Ulster is not to blame for failure of the government forces to prevent the recent disorders in Ireland writes Sir Edward Carson, Ulster leader, in Ulster, in sending subscriptions to the fund for the relief Loyalists, who lost their place employment and homes during recent riots here.

The attacks on the people and their property; the murder of the faithful servants the Crown, as well as efforts to bet the Ulster traders, he declares are naturally provocative of reprisals.

It is only by supporting the forces of the Executive partment that the government can assisted in defeating the machinations of our enemies, and restoring peace to the country.

Answer NICE NETS N

HERE are four riddles for boys and girls with wise heads. We told the artist to draw the pictures to represent the riddles, but he guessed the right answers—and put them in too! So we barred him from the contest and told him to keep it a secret. Luckily, he got the answers all jumbled up, so you won't be any the wiser.

If you can unscramble the jumbled letters beneath each riddle picture and put them in their right order to spell the right words, you will have the right answers. It isn't an easy task. Good thinking, patience and perseverance may find you the answers. Try it.

If you think you have found the answers, write them carefully on a sheet of white paper. Put on nothing but your four answers and your name and address in the upper right-hand corner of the page. Handwriting, spelling, punctuation and general neatness will count if more than one answer is correct.

We will write and tell you immediately if you are correct, and send you a handsome illustrated list of all the prizes that you can win.

What Others Have Done YOU Can Do

Here are the names of only a few of the boys and girls to whom we have already awarded big prizes:

Earl J. Beattie, Surf Inlet, B.C., Chummy Culver Racer, Value $250.00
Harry Dwyre, Elgin, Ont. ..... Typewriter
Earnest Fisher, Montreal ..... Seven-Jewelled Watch
Helen Smith, Edmonton, Alta. ..... Shetland Pony and Cart
Beatrice Hughes, Hazenmore, Sask. ..... Shetland Pony
Lyle Benson, Hamilton, Ont. ..... $100.00 Cash
Helen Beneach, Junkins, Alta. ..... $50.00 Cash
Florence Nesbitt, Arnprior, Ont. ..... $25.00 Cash

Frankie Kirby, Three Hills, Alta. ..... $25.00 Eastman Kodak
Mary Proctor, Vancouver, B.C. ..... $15.00 Bracelet Watch
Eva Casson, North Bay, Ont. ..... $10.00 Doll and Carriage

The contest will close on June 20, 1921, at 5.30 p.m.

We will send you the names of many others too. Only boys and girls 17 years of age and under may send answers, and each boy and girl will be required to perform a small service for us.

Send your answers this very evening to

One of the most important functions the banks of Canada perform is the financing of the movement of the country's crops. This gigantic transaction, vaguely understood by the layman, holds a strong fascination for him, but to the financier it has lost its novelty and difficulties and becomes simply a part of the year's work for which preparation must be made by the restriction of commercial credits, the cause of which is often not fully comprehended by those upon whom the financial restraint is temporarily imposed.

Asked for an explanation of the current scarcity of money, Mr. Vincent Eastwood, manager of the local branch of the Royal bank, ascribed the reasons for passing stringency chiefly to the need of funds for the movement of crops and also to the prospect of the Government securing loans from the banks sufficient to augment the revenue from the luxury tax sufficient to meet the current expenditure. Mr. Eastwood believed that the returns from the new taxes were rolling up a larger sum than the Minister of Finance expected. It was understood that a big loan from New York had been obviated this year and the assistance of the banks would meet the needs of the Government.

Money's Single Power.

"You can't make one thousand dollars work in two places at one and the same time," said Mr. Eastwood, referring to the financing of the crop movement and the resulting effect on the money market. In other words if one thousand dollars, for example, is needed to pay a Saskatchewan farmer for his grain that sum is tied up until its equivalent is realized from the sale of the grain.

The value of the western crop has been estimated at six hundred millions dollars. If one half or one quarter of a billion dollars is removed from the country's fluid funds to handle the western crop it follows that commercial and industrial enterprises in other parts of the country will face restricted credits until the grain is marketed. The axiom Mr. Eastwood enunciated applies, and whatever the amount of money required to move the crops may be it cannot be used in two places at the same time. Hence, since the farmers have to be paid for their grain other business must be content to wait until the financial equation is completed by the sale of the grain either for export or domestic consumption.

A Complex System.

This is a general explanation of the operation of the huge system in which the banks bridge the gap between the western producers and the ultimate consumers of the prairies' rich harvest. But delving into the detail reveals all the wonder working of vast and complicated but thoroughly efficient organizations that co-operate seemingly without a common or central directing force, and involve not only the banking industry but also the great institutions for the storage and haulage of the grain and incidentally the magic of exchange, which baffles the average man like a will o' the wisp, eluding his complete comprehension just as it seems within his mental grasp.

Farmer Paid First.

Briefly, when the farmer draws his wheat to the nearest elevator he is paid at once if he demands it. And in a market that shows signs of weakness he will, as reported at present, take his cheque and cash it. The purchaser may be a Grain Growers' Association, a broker or representative of some other organization who, dealing in immense quantities of grain, must first make arrangements with a bank for the money to pay the farmers. Passing over the ramifications and variations that may arise out of co-operative marketing or the attending conditions that may warrant the holding of the grain for the best prices, it is obvious that eventually a flood of gold pours into the provinces for the season's crops. And as it is ladled out of the country's financial pool, there will be that much less for commercial, industrial and other requirements.

The period of the money shortage extends until late in the year and often until the next spring when the grain is sold by its holders. A considerable quantity of it reaches the Canadian mill for manufacture into flour both for home consumption and export. Most of it is hauled by rail and water to the seaboard, with quanities diverted to the United States, and at that stage the major part of the transaction is completed.

Brokers Paid Next.

The grain brokers who paid the farmers get their money back, usually with a profit and make a settlement with their bankers. This may be by cheque or if for export by bill of exchange which the bank cashes. Herein enter the technicalities of foreign exchange. The foreign buyers do not forward cash, but make use of their banking institutions, from whom they borrow, and are repaid as the grain is distributed to the mills and trickles out in barrels and bags of flour to families in England, France or in whatever other country the Canadian wheat may be delivered.

The Banks' Turn.

But the Canadian bauks have not yet recovered the money which financed the shipment of the grain. They have, however, bills of exchange establishing a buying credit in Europe that is used to meet Canadian purchases there. And according as the ratio of our exports and imports varies, so fluctuates the rate of exchange between Canada and Great Britain or France, for example.

By this seemingly complex but convenient system it might be that part of a Manitoba farmer's grain indirectlyy pays for his table cutlery imported from Sheffield and sold throughout Canada by the wholesale and retail hardware dealers. In that case the bank at length gets back real money, when, after equating the bill of exchange held in Sheffield for the consignment of cutlery to Canada with all or part of the bill for the wheat shipped from Canada, the importing hardware wholesaler pays the bank for the account it owes the English manufacturer. The wholesaler is in turn paid by the retailer up and down this country who buy from travelers' samples. Their stock is in turn distributed among Canadian households and among them one away out in Manitoba. In short by a system that is practically barter the Canadian farmer with a bushel or two of his grain secured the product of the skill and labour of a Sheffield cutlery maker. Or conversely that employee of the Sheffield manufacturer obtained two or three weeks' supply of bread by making the knives and forks he required for his table which the farmer in turn paid for by producing the grain that made that particular quantity of flour.

That is a simple and probable functioning of exchange, but it is easy to imagine more involved and intricate examples. Finance has its grand romances far removed from the sedate and familiar stage of the town and city branches of the banks, and their sedate clerks and complaisant managers. To do them epic justice requires the esoteric information of their leading actors.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET

(United Press.)

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—The tone of the market was generally firm and slightly higher at the opening to-day. Northern Pacific opened at 86 7-8, up 3-8; Southern Pacific 99 1-4 up 3-8; Baldwin 109 1-2, up 7-8; Reading 95 up 1-4; Canadian Pacific 124 1-4, up 7-8; General Motors 18, up 1-2; Sinclair 32 up 1-4; U. S. Rubber 77 up 3-8 Bethlehem B 68 5-8, off 1-8 New York Central 78 3-8 up 3-8.

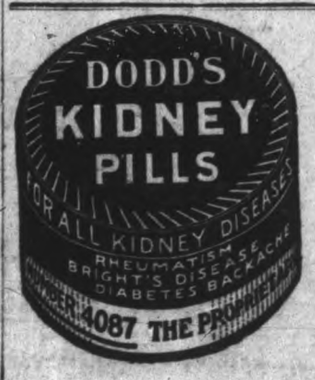
Canadian Pacific and Brazilian were the only enlivening elements of a particularly dull session of the Toronto Stock Exchange this morning. The New York situation, a compound of strength in rails and weakness in most other groups together with the utter lifelessness of Montreal trading, continue to cast a shadow over the local market. C.P.R. up to 124 in New York, moved up from 136 to 137 and then to 138 here. The remarkable feature of such trading is that the buying is apparently done by Toronto people for investment purposes.

Brazilian continued to regain ground along the lines of yesterday's advance. It went up to 36 1-4 and was not below 36 all morning.

In the New York market the action of the entire list to-day leads to the conclusion that a foundation is being laid for an advancing market to accompany the election. The rails were again the feature continuing their uninterrupted upward movement, even the Industrials showed signs of recovery.

The much harassed motor stocks gave evidence of an oversold condition by advancing to higher levels. Call money renewed at seven p.c. and loaned at 8 p.c. before the close.

News comes from Kansas that there are more school teachers than jobs there.



MACSWEENEY TOLD HE'S SINKING FAST

DECLARES, HOWEVER, HIS DECISION NOT TO TAKE FOOD IS IRREVOCABLE.

(Canadian Press)

LONDON, Oct. 2.—What is described as a "final appeal" to MacSweney to accept food, was made by the doctor in Brixton Prison this morning, according to the noon bulletin of the Irish Self-Determination League, on the condition of the hunger-striking Lord Mayor of Cork.

The Mayor, however, though told he was sinking fast, declined to change his decision to abstain from taking nourishment, which, he declared, was irrevocable.

SLEPT FAIRLY WELL.

(Canadian Press.)

LONDON, Oct. 2.—Lord Mayor MacSweney passed a much better night, according to a bulletin issued this morning by the Irish Self-Determination League. He had fair amount of sleep, and although very weak, felt very much rested. The doctors who visited him to-day, pronounced him very weak ,and recommenced urging him to take food, the buletin declares.

They end corns now in this scientific way

People who know—millions of them—now end all corns in this way.

They apply Blue-jay, either liquid or in plaster form. It means but a touch and takes but a jiffy.

The corn pain stops. Then the Blue-jay gently undermines the corn so it loosens and comes out.

The modern way

It is made by a laboratory of world-wide repute.

Old-time treatments were harsh and inefficient. Blue-jay is gentle, quick and sure.

Now all corns are needless. All these pains can be avoided. To let corns remain while you pare and pad them is folly.

You can stop a corn ache the moment it appears. You can end a corn completely before it can develop.

Blue-jay has proved these facts to millions. It will prove them to you—and tonight—if you let it.

Quit the old methods of dealing with corns and see what this new way means. Your druggist sells Blue-jay.

"Peterborough Presents Possibilities Unsurpassed."

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 2, 1920.

TAG DAY.

A week from to-day, on Saturday, Oct. 9th, the annual tag day on behalf of the Children's Aid Society will be held and a chance given to the people of Peterborough to show in a practical way their appreciation of the work the society has been carrying on so successfully. The appeal of the Children's Aid Society has never fallen on deaf ears so far as the citizens of this city are concerned and there is every reason to believe that the response on this occasion will be as generous as usual. The expenses before the Society this year, it is announced, will be heavier than they have been in the past, so that it is of great importance that there should be no falling off in the collection— rather the total should be, if possible, larger than ever to meet the requirements of the next twelve months. The ciizens are asked to keep the date in mind and to be prepared to liberally respond to the annual appeal on behalf of this most deserving cause.

POWER FOR THE FARMS.

The question of electric power for the use of the farmers of Ontario is treated in a very interesting and comprehensive manner in a bulletin issued by the Hydro Electric Power Commission, a copy of which has reached the Examiner. It is evident that a great deal of attention has been paid to this matter by the Commission and while the difficulties of the scheme are by no means small, yet there is hope that a good deal may be accomplished. The farmer would welcome a supply of electrical energy if he could secure it at a reasonable rate. Many indeed have installed small electric systems of their own which have given useful service and have aroused a general desire for power. Naturallyy the Hydro-Electric Commission has been urged to deal with the problem.

The first moves in this direction were carried out along the main lines of the Hydro, where the districts through which they passed could easily be connected with the large lines and supplied with unlimited power at a very small cost. It was soon apparent that this course could not be made to fit the needs of the general farming community. It became a cause of great dissatisfaction among the farmers not on the main roads and not served by the scheme. Farms with this service increased in price as much as a thousand dollars. Every change of locality made a change in the rates. Ten farmers, all living within a radius of one mile from some Hydro centre found that they were paying ten different rates, all for the same service. In some cases the cost became too high to balance with the value of the service and the commission soon saw that something had to be done in the rural districts.

In order to overcome these difficulties and to make a general use of the power possible at a fair cost, the commission has been working on a plan by which rural service is made a possibility. Under this sytsem any group of rural residents desirous of securing the service may submit a petition to that effect to their township council who will forward it to the commission. A survey will be made of the territory desiring the service and the estimated cost of distribution from the nearest urban centre calculated. The only limit to the scope of such a service is the distance that the current may be transported at low voltage. The rate struck at the result of investigation of the territory is then submitted to the petitioners who, if satisfied, may enter into contract with the commission through their township council.

Each district so established becomes complete in itself and may better its rates by the co-operation of the power consumers with the Hydro workers. The Hydro does all the construction and installation, but the consumer must eventually pay for it and it is therefore to his advantage to help out and to lessen the expenses in every way possible.

The benefits of such a rural system of Hydro service would be great. In the first place, one of the main features would be the improvement of farm conditions and conveniences and thus a blow at the movement cityward. The power facilities could only result in greater efficiency in the farm work, greater speed, and therefore greater production.

LET'S ALL GET BUSY.

Let every citizen join in the work of Fire Prevention Day, Oct. 9th. Let us make Peterborough as clean and attractive, as safe from fire and as free from disease as any city in the province. The success of the "clean-up" depends upon every one taking part. Many disastrous fires are caused by the accumulation of rubbish—papers, boxes, etc.—about houses, in attics, cellars and yards. The elimination of these hazards is a business proposition as well as a matter of civic pride and health. A thorough observance of this "Clean-up" Day may prevent a conflagration that would wipe out a good part of the city. Such conflagrations are frequently occurring and they are often caused by just such conditions as next Saturday's campaign is intended to remove.

Let everybody get busy and help to remove the possible cause of such a disaster in Peterborough. Here are a few dont's for fire protection. They are worth clipping out and keeping for future reference and guidance:

Don't allow children to play with matches.

Don't throw away lighted matches, cigars or cigarettes; after using it make it a habit to break the match in two.

Don't go into dark closets, bedrooms or cellars, using matches or candles to light your way.

Don't use kerosene or gasoline in lighting fires or to quicken a slow fire—it may result in death.

Don't use gasoline or benzine to clean clothing near an open flame, light or fire.

Don't fill any lamp or stove with gasoline, or coal oil while they are lighted. Keep the burners of all lamps and stoves thoroughly clean. Fill them during the day time.

Don't put ashes in wooden boxes or barrels. Keep ashes away from boards. Hot ashes will take fire by themselves, as frequently they have small bits of coal mixed in with them.

Don't accumulate rubish in premises, cellars or workshpos, and don't deposit such materials in boxes or barrels unless it is to be removed at once; while awaiting removal, keep such material in covered metal receptacles.

Don't use candles on Christmas trees.

Don't have storage closets under stairways. Fires in these places cut off your main exit.

Don't store oils, paints, grease or fats in the house. Keep them outside if possible. If you must have such things on hand, put them in a metal box with a lid on it.

Don't put in the ash barrel such articles as greasy paper, oily rags or waste which has been used to wipe machinery. Such articles may cause fires. Burn these immediately after use.

Don't nglect to have the chimney flu cleaned once a year.

Don't have lace curtains in vicinity of gas jets.

Don't leave holes in the flooring, walls or ceiling. These enable fires to travel throughout the building when once started.

Don't use celluloid or similar substances near any flame, gaslight or match. They are dangerously inflamflamable and likely to cause fatal fires.

Don't have short gas brackets or place them close to woodwork or near curtains. Every gas jet should be protected by a glass globe or wire cage. Swingingor folding brackets are never safe.

Don't pour gasoline or naptha down the drain. Pour on the ground if you must get rid of it. One pint of gasoline, naptha or benzine makes two hundred feet of explosive vapor. One gallon of gasoline has substanially the power equal to 83 lbs. of dynamite.

Don't set kitchen or heating stoves too close to woodwork. Put a metal shield behind the stove. Leave a little air space behind the shield. Bright tin is the best protector if not placed right up against the woodwork.

Don't use small gas stoves on wooden tables. Place metal protector under them. Be careful in using gas stoves, especially in lighting the oven, and, if the meat or grease take fire, shut off the gas and throw salt, not water, on the flames.

Don't look for a gas leak with a lighted match or candle. You might suddenly find it—to your sorrow.

Don't leave doors of heaters or kitchen stoves open unless you provide a wire screen or net to catch the live coals which may drop out.

Don't fail to warn children of the dangerous bonfire.

ON THE DOWN GRADE.

Reports from parts of the United States that prices have started on the down grade will be received by many people with unbounded satisfaction. It was inevitable that the buying public would weary of constantly yielding to fresh demands on its pocket and force a break. But a careful examination of the situation may cause some feeling of apprehension among those who have been most loudly clamouring for a crash of prices.

The most notable announcement was that of the Ford Motor Company which has cut its prices to those of pre-war days. Then followed the Franklin Automobile Company which has stated that it has been compelled to lay off 2,000 hands on acount of the falling off in the demand for cars. Clothing houses and many other big dealers in necessary commodities have announced cuts and the public has been led to believe that similar price reductions are coming in other lines.

Doubtless these reductions have been forced because buyers have refused to follow dealers in the upward pace. They stopped cold. But the effect may not be altogether agreeable. The retailer finds his shelves filled with goods which the public will not buy at the prices demanded. The retailer regretfully passes the word on to the wholesaler, who has his warehouses filled with clothing which he must dispose of before he orders more from the factory. The factory has been running full blast, turning out wares at a good profit and passing a share of the proceeds along to the workers who have not been slow to demand more wages on penalty of tying up the plant.

If the price-slashing era has really come, what may result? Will the head of a household who has abstained from new garments rush in to replenish his depleted wardrobe? If he does, the storeman will have smiles in place of frowns for the suave travelling man. He will take advantage of the new quotations and re-fill his shelves, confident that business will go on as usual. The wholesaler will order from the factory and the wheels of industry will keep turning. On the other hand, the ultimate consumer may wait. The new prices may not be attractive. Business cannot be done except on a profit basis, and if the consumer declines to be reasonable the word will get back to the manufacturer who will reduce his staff or close down entirely until there is a demand for his goods. The clothing operator out of work is in no position to buy goods, and there is a general slackening off in all lines.

Price slashing, to humour the buying public, cannot go on indefinitely. Some storekeepers and middlemen and fabricators of clothing, boots, and other necessary commodities may have been reaping a golden harvest, but they must have a comfortable margin over cost on what they sell. Eliminate the excess profit and business can go on without loss. But go below the reasonable margin, which is ordinary profit, and the worker must consent to reduced pay if his employer is to keep the concern going. Will the "vicious circle" again appear, with low prices chasing low wages like a pair of squirrels in a revolving cage?

After all, there may have been much unnecessary howling about the high cost of living. Are the workers worse off than they were when wages and food and clothing were touching bottom—when a street labourer at $1.25 a day bought his eggs at twelve cents a dozen, and his steaks for ten and twelve cents a pound, with a soup bone thrown in? We think not. Perhaps the street labourer has other views. Certainly his present modest honorarium of $4.00 or $5.00 a day won't allow many theatre parties, but he probably derives some satisfaction from the spending of his weekly stipend, and would hesitate before decreeing that we shall go back to the ten-cent steak epoch.

The great difficulty has been that in these prosperous days there has not been a fair distribution of prosperity. The great army of white collar men have seen the cost of living increase ...to 250 per cent., while most of them have had to be content with very modest accretions to their salary cheque. They have been in no position to force increases to compensate for the bounding prices of everything they consume. They have had to appear prosperous and yield to every hold-up of the purveyors of such commodities as they use. — Ottawa Journal.

MILLBROOK FAIR WAS CANCELLED

THE G.W.V.A. BAND WENT DOWN FROM PETERBORO.

Yesterday the Millbrook Fair was cancelled on acount of the weather. All the hopes of the directorate had this would be the biggest year in their history were washed away by the rainstorm, and it was decided, after some discussion, to have the outside fair called off.

The inside exhibits this year were more numerous and superior to those of other fairs, and in spite of the handicap of desultory weather, large numbers of people attended.

The vegetable, fruit, flower, ladies' fancy work, and art exhibits were all commendably arranged, and received special praise from the judges.

The G.W.V.A. Band of Peterborough was in attendance during the entire day, and their music did much to drive away some of the dullness that the Fair absorbed from the atmosphere.

The Fair directors are not downhearted, and state that they will put forth extra efforts to make next year's Fair even beyond their anticipation of what this year's would have been.

Oily skin and shiny nose

How to correct them

Do you know that the oil in your skin is necessary to keep it smooth, velvety, supple? This oil is constantly being produced by the glands of the skin. When it is too abundant the result is an oily skin and a shiny nose. You can relieve this embarrassing condition by using the following treatment as frequently as is necessary.

With warm water work up a heavy lather of Woodbury's Facial Soap in your hands. Apply it to your face and rub it into the pores thoroughly—always with an upward and outward motion. Rinse with warm water, then with cold—the colder the better. If possible, rub your face for thirty seconds with a piece of ice.

This treatment will make your skin firmer and drier the very first time you try it. Use it as often as your skin requires, nightly if necessary, and before long you will see a marked improvement.

Get a cake of Woodbury's Facial Soap and begin tonight the treatment your skin needs. You will find Woodbury's on sale at any drug store or toilet goods counter in the United States or Canada. A 25 cent cake will last a month or six weeks.

PETERBORO COUNTY CONSTABLE DEFENDANT IN A LIQUOR CASE

JUDGMENT WAS RESERVED UNTIL FRIDAY NEXT—DRY AMERICANS VISIT THE NORTH COUNTRY.

Can a man, no matter how great, a protracted a thirst he may have, consume 36 quart bottles of whiskey in 17 days?

While he could not swear to the maximum it is possible to imbibe, so impossible did License Inspector Jos. Stewart consider this consumption, that he charged County Constable James David Montgomery, of Hall's Bridge, with a breach of the O. T. A. before Magistrate O. A. Langley, in the County Police Court yesterday afternoon at three o'clock.

Montgomery, whether because he considered lawyers unnecessary to an officer of the law in police court cases or because he felt it an economy, did not have any legal support. When the defendant is not on the track of criminals he is on the track of fish and game—he is a guide. Jos. Wearing appeared for License Inspector Jos. Stewart.

Mr. Fred Skitch of the Canadian Express Co, was the first witness. He pointed out the entries of the shipment of three cases containing 36 bottles, that came through to the defendant on July 3, in the company's liquor book. The whisky was delivered to J. Clarkson.

John Clrkson, Hall's Bridge, who runs the lakehurst stage, gave evidence. He identified his signature in the Canadian Express Company's counter delivery book, on July 3, 1920. He stated to Mr. Wearing that he remembered taking the liquor away. It was in three boxes. He did not know it was liquor—never looked at the label. He delivered them to J. Montgomery, he said. When asked if he knew what the weight was, he said he could not judge. He admitted he had a suspicion it was liquor.

Montgomery had nothing to ask the witness. The witness told Mr. Wearing he did not remember the date but he remembered delivering it safely.

The Next Witness.

License Inspector Stewart was the next witness. "As a rule I go in amongst the express people once a week. I saw this shipment there and on or about the 9th. I called at Mr. Montgomery's house, but he was not at home. He went back on the 20, he said, and found him at home. I asked to see the shipment that he had got on the 2nd or 3rd of July. He proceeded to show me what was left of it and all he could show me was 5 empty bottles and one about half full of liquor. He said that was all he could find and I said I would wait till he looked around.

He could not locate any more. He had only one empty case. He said they must have been broken up and burnt.

The License Inspector asked Montgomery what became of the bottles of liquor, and the three cases. He admitted he got the 36 bottles of liquor all right. He told me he drank it himself. I said, "Well, that appears to me a lot of liquor to drink. He repeatedly claimed that he drank the entire 36 bottles."

Mr. Stewart said that he was unable to say what a man could drink.

Mr. Montgomery cross-examined Mr. Stewart.

The latter denied that Montgomery told him he had any friends in to help him to drink it. Mr. Stewart said that Montgomery did say something about bottles in the woods, but he declined to get them, "because it was dark," interrupted Mr. Montgomery.

"Yes, sir," firmly reiterated Mr. Montgomery. Nothing was said by the defendant about his friends coming there.

Were you there long enough to give him time to get these empty bottles? Yes, replied Inspector Stewart.

I told him to go down and get them but he did not.

What name was on the bottles, asked Mr. Montgomery.

Gooderham and Worts.

Wasn't it Hiram Walker's?

Well, at that time I took it for Gooderham and Worts.

Did I not tell you that I would come down if you wrote me?

I don't remember.

The Defense.

Mr. Montgomery went into the box for the defence. Mr. Montgomery needed considerable spurring on by the magistrate to divulge any information. "I had friends come to my house and drink the liquor. I never got a five cent piece or expected to get any. I told Mr. Stewart that when he was here. The next morning I went down to the woods and picked up 20 empties. The rest were broken, and I threw them out. I told Mr. Stewart I broke the two cases and burnt them. The people who drank it with me were Americans mostly. There were three different parties, and four in each party. Mr. Clarkson had a drink more than once, the witness said. Charles Jones, the son of the Justice of the Peace at Buckhorn, had some liquor, too.

Mr. Montgomery did not seem to consider that he was in the court without a lawyer, and should give as much evidence as possible. He named several Americans who participated in the parties. Some of them he had just been introduced to, he said. I never sold any liquor in my life, and never intend to. And there aint very much drinking in a bottle of whisky. They are called quart bottles, but they are not.

A Guide.

Mr. Montgomery said he had been a guide for 35 years. Some of the Americans were wealthy and some were only ordinary working men who had saved up enough to take a holiday.

The woods, he told Mr. Wearing, were 40 or 50 yards from the house.

When he was guiding he boarded there he said. He declared firmly he told the license inspector he had friends from Pittsburg who helped him drink the liquor. After he drank the contents he flung the empties from his backyard into the swamp.

Mr. Clarkson was called by Montgomery for the defence. I had a few drinks at Mr. Montgomery's house, he stated. I had three on Sunday after I took the parcels out. About three days later I had a couple of drinks. He saw no one else drinking there at least not when he was there.

Mr. Clarkson to Mr. Wearing said that he remembered telling Mr. Stewart the day before yesterday in Lakefield that he had none of the liquor at all. He may have told Mr. Stewart since the court opened that he had none of the liquor, he said.

Mr. Montgomery did not have any more witnesses for the defence, he said, unless Jones was called. He had not brought Jones in as it is 20 miles from here to Buckhorn, and it was impossible to put Jones in the box.

His Worship pointed out to Montgomery that the onus was on him, and he (Montgomery) must prove he was not guilty.

Mr. Wearing submitted that the defendant was no ignoramus and had evidently come down, knowing that he was guilty, and feeling that he must pay enough without paying a lawyer.

Mr. Wearing dwelt on the guide giving away to wealthy Americans $100 or $150 worth of whisky when these men from a country that is as dry as a desert and will pay anything for liquor.

His Worship desired a remand for a few days to consider the case, and accordingly the judgment was reserved till Friday next at 1 o'clock.

BUY Long-Term Securities NOW

Sound Investment

—the Wise Principle of Life Insurance

Life insurance is based on the principle of consistent investment of the amounts received in premiums each year.

The same wise policy, adopted by a private individual is the safest and surest method of building up a financial reserve either as life-protection, or for the foundation of an estate.

Consistent investment of annual amounts, be they $50., $100., or $1,000., in long-term bonds will quickly accumulate a high "cash surrender value."

For instance, $930 invested in 1934 Victory Bonds, provided the interest is re-invested at 5½% rather than spent, will amount to $2,207.20 at the end of fourteen years, when these bonds are paid off.

Insure your future by considering now the investment of a fixed amount each year.

The low prices at which good bonds are now selling makes the present a most opportune time to make a start.

VICTORY BONDS are among the best long-term securities available. We recommend those falling due in 1933, 1937 and 1934.

BABY CONSOLEE.

"Owes her life to Virol"

No. 43, St. Ann St., Bolton. 24/8/1918.

Dear Sirs,

I have much pleasure in forwarding to you a photo of my little girl who I am quite sure owes her life to Virol. From birth she would not take her natural food, and I tried all the patent foods I knew of, but nothing would suit her; then I took her to three different doctors, after that I took her to the London Hospital; then when I was giving up in despair I was advised to try Virol. She is now 3 years of age and I think the picture speaks for itself.

Yours faithfully,
(sgd.) C. CONNOLLY.

Virol is invaluable for the expectant and nursing mother herself, whilst for children it supplies those vital principles that are destroyed in the sterilising of milk: it is also a bone and tissue-building food of immense value. Virol babies have firm flesh, strong bones and good colour.

CLOCK TO BE ILLUMINATED

NEW PLUMBING BY-LAW ENDORSED BY THE PROPERTY COMMITTEE OF THE CITY COUNCIL.

Last evening property committee of the City Council passed the draft of a new plumbing by law, which has been under consideration for some time now. It is modelled after that in force in Toronto with amendments to suit local conditions.

J. J. Turner & Sons submitted a tender for painting the market clock's four dials and wiring same for illumination at night. The price is $350.

On motion of Ald. Whitehouse and the Mayor Committee will recommend that J. J. Turner & Sons do this work.

Ald. oJnes would rather that tenders had been called in the usual way for this contract.

Ald. Crowe strongly opposed the resolution. He did not think the illumination needed. People on the streets at night, he said, knew pretty well what the time was and they were home and abed by 10 or 11 o'clock.

Ald. Whitehouse replied that the clock was only a day time-piece now, and was so referred to by visitors. Its illumination had been a crying need for years

To Save oCal.

Ald. Jones pointed out that the windows in the city building needed fixing to make them draught-proof. Were this work done, a couple of tons of coal would be saved this winter, he declared.

On motion of Ald. Hamilton and Crowe the chairman was authorized to have these windows attended to as suggested.

That both of the foregoing jobs are within the jurisdiction of the City Trust will be pointed out to that body in the hope of saving a threatened overdraft on the committee's appropriation.

There were present chairman Ald. Jones, Mayor McIntyre, Aldermen Whitehouse, Hamilton and Crowe.

HON. HOWARD FERGUSON CONSIDERED HIMSELF SUPERIOR TO REGULATIONS

TORONTO, October 2.—The Hon. George Howard Ferguson, Minister of Lands, Forests, and Mines in the late Hearst Government, stated at the timber probe yesterday that he considered himself superior to the Department's regulations.

At the afternoon session, R. T. Harding, Government counsel, inquired about the Hon. Mr. Ferguson's disregard, while Minister, of the section if the regulations which stipulated that territories offered to lumbermen must be so done under public competition.

The ex-Minister admitted the regulation, but declared that as Minister he was superior to the regulations which, if strictly adhered to, would preclude the letting out of one hundred cords without public tender. He was prepared to stand behind all he had done in the Department. He made a point, and emphasised it, that with him the revenue to be derived from the north country was not the biggest consideration, but the development of the country.

MAN DROPPED DEAD TO-DAY

MARBLE CUTTER WAS EMPLOYED BY VERMONT MARBLE COMPANY.

August Borjeson, a Swede, dropped dead suddenly this morning at the Albion House, 5 Hunter street east.

He had finished his breakfast and apparently in his usual good health was preparing to depart for the Vermont Marble Works plant, where he was employe as marble cutter, but suddenly complained of feeling ill and dropped in a sitting position, commencing at the same time to gasp. Dr. W. A .Baker was called, but efforts to save the manproved futile and he expired in a few moments. Detective Sergeant Nesbitt and Assistant Coroner Dr. D. C. King were called. After an examination of the body Coroner King pronounced death due to heart failure. A search of the body was made and a mall amount of money found on his person, also a number of letters from his son, Bortel, written from Berjeson's former home, Proctor, U.S.A.

A strange feature of the man's death was the fact that his watch stopped at the identical moment he died.

Deceased who was 42 years of age, came to the city about two months ago and was to have returned to his home in Proctor in a few days.

An inquest was found to be unnecessary

TRYING TO LINE UP HOCKEY CLUB

AIMS OF I.A.A.A. OUTLINED TO ORGANIZATION.

At the meeting of the Peterborough Amateur Athletic Association last evening, the hockey situation was explained to representatives of the Peterborough Hockey Club. That the only athletic organization in the city recognized by the Ontario Amateur Athletic Union is the P.A.A.A., and that accordingly it is the only organization eligible for an O. H. A. franchise her, was pointed out to the hockey delegates.

They evidently understood the situation, and consequently will probably take the only course open to them, namely, to place themselves under the wing of the P.A.A.A.

BRIGADIER-GENERAL KING WAS AMONG THE MISSING—AIMS OF THE ASSOCIATION.

The only marring feature of the War Veterans' re-union held by the G.W.V.A. in their commodious rooms last night was the unavoidable absence of Brig-Gen .W. B. King, D.S.O., G.O.C. Military District No. 3, because of pressing matters at Kingston. A telegram was received by President Muir at a late hour yesterday afternoon advising the G.W.V.A. of his inability to come to Peterborough, but warmly assuring them of his ever warm regards to the Peterborough Association. This telegram was read with regret at the meeting.

"William ("Bill") Turley was there and delivered a stirring address that set forth the ideals for which the association was formed, its past work, its present programme and the only sane, clearly outlined future course that lay before the returned soldiers.

A Re-union.

Allied soldiers representing every class and creed all joined together again last night in the comradeship as existed in the trenches. While the gathering mostly wore the G.W.V.A. button ,there were doubtless returned soldiers in the crowd that nearly filled the hall to capacity, who had never entered a G.W.V.A. hall before. There was a goodly representation of ladies in the building.

Musical Programme.

The president was chairman of the evening. The musical programme follows:

Comic selection—C. Coleman.

Banjo trio—Messrs. Parkins and James.

Song. "The Veteran"—E. Bartley.

Comic songs—E. Markham.

Instrumental trio (accordian, mandolin and banjo)—Messrs. Parkins and James.

Sleight of hand—Mr. J. Thomas.

The musical numbers were much enjoyed and numerous encores amply evidenced this. The card tricks of J. Thomas especially came in for applause. A feature of the programme was the presentation to Sergt. J. Heaton of the $1,000 cheque for the Maxwell car won in the G.W.V.A. draw. Sergt. M. J. Clancy made the presentation. Sergt. Heaton in a few words expressed his heartfelt thanks. He referred to the business way in which the entire contest was held. "I would like to say if the young lady that drew the lucky number will be at the secretary's office at two o'clock tomorrow afternoon, there will be a small present awaiting her.

When the Provincial Secretary took the floor he was greeted with prolonged cheers by the ex-fighting men. The speaker told a bright story of why he liked to come to Peterborough in his own delightful way, but the final analysis of his reasons was because he thought the people were so fine. "I want to tell you of the G.W.V.A." he said. He added that he thought however there was no need to tell all their glorious achievements in Peterborough where they have such a strong branch, such enthusiastic members and where the people have shown their warm interest by erecting one of the finest halls in the Dominion. Peterborough has been known far and wide as a great G.W.V.A. centre, too, through the splendid provincial convention held here this year.

The Results.

He enumerated some of the results of the G.W.V.A.'s representation that have benefitted thousands of soldiers. Some of these are: Doubled pension scale, war gratuity, vocational training, increased pay and land settlement for returned men.

Neither a nation or an organization can rest on the things they have done he declared. At the present time returned soldiers and those interested in them are interested in amalgamation. The speaker was of the opinion that the differences between the numerous returned soldiers' organizations were more imaginary than real. Politicians, he said, point out the differences that they read about in the newspapers to show that the returned soldiers can never be united in one body. The reasons for "playing up" the fights in the press was because "a fight made much better news than a love feast." That's why there appears to be more friction amongst the returned soldiers than there has been."

STRIKE MAY BE SETTLED

MORE MONEY WILL BE GIVEN FOR MORE PRODUCTION.

LONDON, Oct. 2.—The general belief prevailed last night that the strike of the coal miners will be averted as a result of the decision yesterday to call for a red ballot of the miners on the question of ceasing work.

A red ballot is expected to result in the acceptance by the men of the offer by the owners of an advance in wages of two shillings per shift when the output of coal reaches 248,000,000 tons yearly. This was the rate of output for the first three months of the present year.

CHILDREN'S AID TAG DAY OCT. 9

Some additional reasons why the citizens should support the Children's Aid Society Tag Day:

1. All classes of society come under our care ,and the first and only question is, What is wrong and how can we help. The president, the most sympathic of men, works in harmony with all the board in helping the troubled and unfortunate members of our community, and many an other is spent with the Agent by the President and Secretary in trying to solve these problems and save the home life of the people from disgrace and ruin.

2. From information given out by the general superintendent, J. J. Kelso, only about one per cent. of the children made wards are failures. This record is not surpassed by many a home. For instance, let us illustrate this in the following records of children who have been the Children's Aid's wards:

"A passed his entrance at eleven years of age."

"J has a wonderful memory and can tell most of the parts of his father's auto at 5 years of age."

"E is a splendid girl, well dressed, and a member of one of our first churches. She has the money, and buying govern ment bonds."

3. For the last year or two our children have been so much in demand that we have had to turn away dozens of applications. Any child 8 or 9 years old goes out."

"F" when making a new bargain, was reported by his employer as "the best boy he ever had."

"G," whose employer gave up farming, was wanted by six neighbors, and was not 14 then.

"H," a first class boy, is doing well, and saving money. He will in a few years marry and be on a farm of his own."

FOREIGN EXCHANGE IS VERY UNSETTLED

BRITISH AND FRENCH RATES CANCELLING MUCH OF RECENT RECOVERIES.

(Canadian Press).

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—The divergence between railway and industrial shares became more pronounced this week, many of the former attaining highest quotations of the year, while some fifty odd industrials were at minimum prices for the same period.

The market was again largely under influences created by the recent inauguration of commodity and staple price reductions. These were accompanied by indications of a broadening of the movement into many lines of trade with the consequent curtailment of production. Stocks under especial pressure included motors and their subsidiaries. Oil, steel, leather and food issues also suffered, likewise shipping and coppers, and many of the unclassified specialties. The strength of transportations was more marked because of their extensive turnover. Trading in several individual instances far exceeded the demand for more popular industrials, including United States Steel and Equipments. The latter derived no especial benefit from the movement of rails, although it is believed that plans have matured for the placing of large contracts for rolling stock and similar supplies.

Stocks Erratic.

The money market contributed to the erratic course of stocks, call loans rising to nine per cent, presumably in anticipation of October interest and dividend requirements. Foreign exchange was unsettled, British and French rates cancelling much of their recent recoveries.

THE TURNBULL SOAP SPECIAL

A mistake was made in the price of the Soap Special in the Turnbull advertisement in Friday's Examiner. The price for 6 bars of P. and G., 1 package Snowflake Ammonia, 9 bars Turnbull's Special and 1 of Reckitt's Blue, should have been $1.29, not 29c, as printed.

German Soldiers must prove their va lor. Recruits for the new German army are required to make a 50-foot leap into a tank of water, while fully equipped, before ranking as firs t-class soldiers.

City Had One Offer For Debenture Issue

FINANCE COMMITTEE OF THE CITY COUNCIL MET LAST EVENING—MONTHLY BUDGET OF ACCOUNTS.

Thirty years ago the Nicholls Hospital Trust bought $37,000 worth of Peterborough's debentures at 5 per cent, interest. This was at a time when corporation debentures were selling at 3 and 3 1-2 per cent., and in consideration of the higher rate paid the Hospital Legislature authorized Peterborough to enter into an agreement with the Nicholls Hospital Trust by which no sinking fund for payment at maturity of the $37,000 need be created, the city having the option of re-issuing these debentures on their maturity in 30 pears, at the same rate of interest, 5 per cent.

This $37,000 is a portion of the endowment by the late Mrs. Nicholls for the hospital's maintenance, and in the face of increased expenditure these days of high costs, the Hospital trust is asking the city to renew these debentures, which fell due June 30th last, at the higher rate of interest prevailing now, at least 6 p.c.

Mr. John Crane was present at the meeting of Council's Finance committee last night, in the Nicholls Hospital interests. He pointed out that Council's idea 30 years ago in selling these debentures to the Trust at 5 p.c. was to help that institution in its maintenance, but since the rate of interest on all debentures had gone up of late years, the hospital has been losing money by its investment with the city, and would probably continue to do so were these debentures renewed at 5 p.c. interest.

Chairman Ald. Turner contended that to offset any such loss the Hospital Trust had had the advantage of a higher rate of interest than generally prevailing for a period during the early life of the debentures.

The committee explained that Council would meet with considerable embarrasment were they to forego the privilege under the agreement of renewal at 5 p.c. and issue new debentures at 6, coupled with provision for a maturing-meeting sinking fund. And they agreed that it would be preferable to make good the difference of $370 a year between 5 and 6 per cent. interest in some other manner to be acquiesced in by the Nicholls Hospital Trust.

Mr. Crane will present these views to the Trust.

Not Responsible.

Accounts from the Nicholls Hospital for attendance on three local patients the committee saw no reason why the city should pay.

Bid For Debentures.

Committee had a local offer of 96.10 for the city's last issue of debentures for $100,000.

On motion of Ald. Whitehouse and Phelan it was decided to hold these debentures over till a later date in the hope of a more favorable bid.

Accounts.

A big monthly budget of accounts were certified to for payment.

There were present Chairman Ald. J. J. Turner, Mayor McIntyre, Aldermen Whitehouse, Phelan and Hamilton.

POWER SHORTAGE WAS DISCUSSED

POWER CONSUMERS WILL BE ASKED TO CONSERVE.

A meeting of the interests affected by the power shortage was held shortly after 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The Hydro-Electric Commission was represented and A. L. Killaly, superintendent of this section of the Trent Valley Canal, was present.

The eventual decision reached was that all that could be done for the present was to conserve power. Although those approached this morning refused to talk about the situation, it was evident that nothing to excite an overdue amount of optimism developed at the secret conference.

Exactly what the extent of the power shortage is and how seriously the city has been affected is known only to a few, and they have been careful not to disclose the facts to the public. So well has the fact that there is a power shortage been guarded, that even the majority of the manufacturers and large users of power did not know that there was an acute shortage until the meeting was called on Wednesday evening to appoint a delegation to wait upon official Ottawa and make representations for the release of the surplus water in Stoney and Rice Lakes in order to alleviate the shortage of power.

PETERBORO HORSE GETS FIRST MONEY

RAIN INTERFERED WITH SUCCEEDING RACES.

(Special to the Examiner).

KINGSTON, Oct. 2.—As a result of the continued wet weather at the Fair, on Friday, there were no horse races, and it was announced that the leaders in the two events started on Wednesday—the 2.15 class and the 2.40 class—would be awarded the purse. Hazel H., owned by E. W. Jones, of Peterborough, therefore carries off the honours in the 2.15 class, having won two firsts and one second; with Billy Patch, owned by George Powell, of Belleville, taking second money, with two seconds and one third; Dolly Patch, owned by Billy Orr, of Belleville, winning third money, with one first and two fourths. Ripple Audobur came fourth with two thirds and one fourth.

Lazy Zombo, owned by A. J. Francis, of Cobourg, takes the 2.40 class, with two firsts, one second and a fifth; Frank M., owned by W. Leggett, Smith's Falls, gets second money with two firsts and two fifths; May Spring, owned by W. Parks, of Belleville, takes third money with two seconds, one third and one fourth; Lloyd George, owned by W. J. Wilson, of Merrickville, came fourth, and K. L. Lambert, owned by Benson Williams, of Belleville, came fifth.

FEELING OF PESSIMISM

RUSSIAN WORKERS ARE ANXIOUS TO MAKE PEACE WITH THE WORLD—THE STRIKE SPREADING.

(Canadian Press).

MOSCOW, Oct. 2.—There is a general feeling of pessimism here regarding the outcome of the peace negotiations at Riga between the Poles and the Bolsheviki. The workers, however, are standing solidly behind the Soviet Government, despite the universal desire for peace.

With winter approaching, the situation of the war prisoners awaiting repatriation is becoming more difficult. Officials say the Government is doing everything possible to facilitate their evacuation, establishing evacuation centres in Moscow, Petrograd, Samara and Ekaterinoslav, and co-operating with the German, Austrian and Czecho Slovak Missions Provisions, clothing, medicine and means of transportation are needed.

STRIKE MOVEMENT.

(Canadian Press).

COPENHAGEN, Oct. 2 — Reports that a strike movement is rapidly spreading in Russia, resulting in serious disturbances in various parts of the country, have been received by the National Tidende from its Helsingfors correspondent. He declares travellers from Russia confirm the recent reports that street conflicts had occurred in Petrograd, in which several of the Soviet commissioners were killed by a mob. Previous reports had it that six of the commissioners were drowned in the Neva River. Persistent rumours that Leon Trotsky, War Minister, had been wounded and that General Budenny, noted Soviet leader, was being court martialed, also were in circulation, travellers reported. At a mass meeting, which was largely attended by Petrograd people, a resolution is declared to have been unanimously passed in favour of immediate peace with the rest of the world.

WILL KILL ONE BIG UNION'S STRIKE PLAN

(Canadian Press.)

CALGARY, Oct. 2.—There were no further developments last night in the strike of One Big Union miners in Drumheller Valley. About fifty per cent of the men are out.

Crow's Nest miners are ordered out Monday and the strike may show a little strength then. In the meantime confidence is expressed that negotiations between operators and the United Mine Workres for an increase of a dolar and a half per day for day wage men, will be concluded satisfactorily and that this will have the result of killing all efforts of the One Big Union to organize a strike throughout the whole province.

JUDICIAL SALE OF PROPERTY IN THE CITY OF PETERBORO'

Pursuant to an order of the Supreme Court of Ontario, made in the action of Isaac Henry Hammond, plaintiff, and William Henry Baker and Clara Amelia Baker (By Writ of Summons) and Albert H. Stratton, Margaret Smith, Talmage Smith and Wilbert Smith, the last named two being infants under the age of twenty-one years (made parties in the Master's office) defendants, there will be offered for sale with the approbation of the Local Master at Peterborough, by John F. Thornton, auctioneer, at the Munro House, 400 Water street, in the City of Peterborough, in the County of Peterborough, at two o'clock in the afternoon, on Saturday, the sixteenth day of October, 1920, all and singular that certain parcel or tract of land and premises, situate, lying and being in the City of Peterborough, in the County of Peterborough and being composed of that part of Lots numbers FIFTY-FOUR and FIFTY-THREE, according to Registered Plan Number Thirty described as follows, that is to say: COMMENCING at a point in the northerly limit of Lot number Fifty-four distant westerly forty-seven feet from the north-east angle thereof; thence westerly along the northerly limits of said Lots Fifty-four and Fifty-three, twenty-one feet to a point in the northerly limit of said Lot Fifty-three; thence southerly and parallel with the easterly limit of said Lot Fifty-three to the southerly limit thereof; thence easterly along the southern limits of said Lots Fifty-three and Fifty-four, a distance of twenty-one feet to a point in the southerly limit of said Lot Fifty-four thence northerly and parallel to the western boundary of said Lot Fifty-four to the place of commencement.

On the said land is said to be erected a two-storey brick veneered and shingled dwelling house.

The property is situated on the south side of Albert street, in the City of Peterborough, on the line of the Peterborough Radial Railway Company, and is near the work shops of the Canadian General Electric Company Limited, and is known as number 809 Albert street.

The property will be offered for sale subject to a reserved bid.

The purchaser shall pay ten per cent. of his purchase money at the time of sale to the vendor, or his solicitor, and the balance in thirty days thereafter into Court to the credit of the said action without interest.

The vendor will only be required to furnish a Registrar's Abstract of Title, and to produce such deeds, copies thereof, or evidences of title as are in his possession. In all other respects the terms and conditions of sale will be the standing conditions of the said Court.

Further particulars may be had from A. E. Dixon, solicitor, 397½ George street, Peterborough, Ontario, or from

The Jewel Of Your Person

To Everyone a Correct Setting

¶To find this "setting" for feature and form which nature has endowed you with,

¶To bring the charm of your personality to the surface,

¶To disclose that touch of gentle breeding, innate artistry and refinement amid a wide distinction of raiment.

¶BARRIES LTD., Peterborough's well known Manufacturing Furriers, can ably assist you in suggesting your requirements in type, form and shading; as they take a real sympathetic interest in turning out just the right article for each individual need.

¶BARRIE Furs are always spoken of as high quality, fashionably made; and they carry with them the guarantee of being exactly as represented. They make no pretence of competing with the many "hurly-burly" women's - wear shops, but their prices are invariably the lowest when quality, workmanship and materials are considered.

¶Buying directly for cash from trappers, selecting only the "prime" skins, manufacturing in their own factories — every department organized to function at its best, the "BARRIE" guarantee is one that carries not only the fact but the spirit of the guarantee through every department—even to the price of the article.

¶We might add, Furs are cheaper — that, bought at the present low price basis, they save purchasers many dollars, — that now is the time to buy before prices go to a higher level.

¶The conditions reported in the Fur Trade from New York market records this month, indicate an increased sale over last year from all the larger centres, also a better demand from Europe. This is depleting the stock of Fur Skins, which each year has been a diminishing quantity owing to the gradual extermination of the wild Fur-bearing animal life throughout the world. Consequently this shortage and this demand is stiffening prices, and prospects are they will be much higher than the reductions now prevalent.

INSPECTING THE LOCAL FACTORY

MACHINERY WILL BE SHIPPED HERE AT AN EARLY DATE.

Mr. E. H. Sinclair, Engineer of the Laundrette Manufacturing Company, of Cleveland, who is locating in Peterborough next month, has been in the city on his inspection of the plant the company will set operations in. Mr. Sinclair has been through Toronto arranging many of his machinery and parts will be imported but the most of will be purchased in Canada. Mr. Hair is hoping to start operations the 1st of January, on a reasonable extended scale, and by the end March hopes to have his plant full operation for Canadian and Brit trade.

ULSTER NOT TO BLAME FOR IRISH DISORDERS

ATTACKS ON PEOPLE AND PROPERTY PROVOCATIVE OF REPRISALS.

Canan Press.

BELFAST, Oct. 2. — Ulster is not to blame for the failure of the government forces to prevent the recent disorders in Ireland, writes Sir Edward Carson, Unionist leader, in Ulster, is sending subscriptions to the fund for the relief of Loyalists, who lost their place of employment and homes during the recent riots here.

The attacks upon the people and their property, and the murder of the faithful servants of the Crown, as well as efforts to boycott the Ulster traders, he declares are naturally provocative of repals.

It is only by supporting the forces of the executive department that the government can be assisted in defeating the machinations of our enemies, and restoring peace to the country.

CANAL TRAFFIC.

The number of boats that have passed through the lock at Washaga, on the Trent waterway system, during the past season were: 391 in July, 54 in August, and 75 from September 1st to 11th; total, 1,030.

RUPTURE RELIEF

Rupture is not a tear or a breach in the abdomal wall, as commonly supposed, but is a stretching or dilation of a nural opening. J. Y. Egan, 157 College street, Toronto, the long established Canadian Rupture appliance specialist, will visit Peterborough Empress Hotel, Saturday, Sunday (all day and night) 2 days, Oct. 9-10.

The "uras," the new surgical invention, as now used and prepared to order for men, women and children, will not only retain rupture perfectly, affording immediate and complete comfort but is intended to assist nature in her work in the shortest time known and at small cost. These new surgical appliances have received highest approval wherever shown, and are designed in accordance with the principal laid down by the world's text-book authorities on this subject producing results without harmful ready-made pad and old fashioned steel trusses. Mr. Egan has testimonials from our own section for inspection. If interested, call; he will give you free demonstration and examination of samples. Now is the time to make yourself safe and comfortable for your daily work. Note dates; ask at hotel office for his sample room—tear this notice out now for future reference. 5d-2-4-6-7-8

HERE are four riddles for boys and girls with wise heads. We told the artist to draw the pictures to represent the riddles, but he guessed the right answers—and put them in too! So we barred him from the contest and told him to keep it a secret. Luckily, he got the answers all jumbled up, so you won't be any the wiser.

If you can unscramble the jumbled letters beneath each riddle picture and put them in their right order to spell the right words, you will have the right answers. It isn't an easy task. Good thinking, patience and perseverance may find you the answers. Try it.

If you think you have found the answers, write them carefully on a sheet of white paper. Put on nothing but your four answers and your name and address in the upper right-hand corner of the page. Handwriting, spelling, punctuation and general neatness will count if more than one answer is correct.

We will write and tell you immediately if you are correct, and send you a handsome illustrated list of all the prizes that you can win.

What Others Have Done YOU Can Do

Here are the names of only a few of the boys and girls to whom we have already awarded big prizes:

Earl J. Beattie, Surf Inlet, B.C., Chummy Culver Racer, Value $250.00

One of the most important functions the banks of Canada perform is the financing of the movement of the country's crops. This gigantic transaction, vaguely understood by the layman, holds a strong fascination for him, but to the financier it has lost its novelty and difficulties and becomes simply a part of the year's work for which preparation must be made by the restriction of commercial credits, the cause of which is often not fully comprehended by those upon whom the financial restraint is temporarily imposed.

Asked for an explanation of the current scarcity of money, Mr. Vincent Eastwood, manager of the local branch of the Royal bank, ascribed the reasons for passing stringency chiefly to the need of funds for the movement of crops and also to the prospect of the Government securing loans from the banks sufficient to augment the revenue from the luxury tax sufficient to meet the current expenditure. Mr. Eastwood believed that the returns from the new taxes were rolling up a larger sum than the Minister of Finance expected. It was understood that a big loan from New York had been obviated this year and the assistance of the banks would meet the needs of the Government.

Money's Single Power.

"You can't make one thousand dollars work in two places at one and the same time," said Mr. Eastwood, referring to the financing of the crop movement and the resulting effect on the money market. In other words if one thousand dollars, for example, is needed to pay a Saskatchewan farmer for his grain that sum is tied up until its equivalent is realized from the sale of the grain.

The value of the western crop has been estimated at six hundred millions dollars. If one half or one quarter of a billion dollars is removed from the country's fluid funds to handle the western crop it follows that commercial and industrial enterprises in other parts of the country will face restricted credits until the grain is marketed. The axiom Mr. Eastwood enunciated applies, and whatever the amount of money required to move the crops may be it cannot be used in two places at the same time. Hence, since the farmers have to be paid for their grain other business must be content to wait until the financial equation is completed by the sale of the grain either for export or domestic consumption.

A Complex System.

This is a general explanation of the operation of the huge system in which the banks bridge the gap between the western producers and the ultimate consumers of the prairies' rich harvest. But delving into the detail reveals all the wonder working of vast and complicated but thoroughly efficient organizations that co-operate seemingly without a common or central directing force, and involve not only the banking industry but also the great institutions for the storage and haulage of the grain and incidentally the magic of exchange, which baffles the average man like a will o' the wisp, eluding his complete comprehension just as it seems within his mental grasp.

Farmer Paid First.

Briefly, when the farmer draws his wheat to the nearest elevator he is paid at once if he demands it. And in a market that shows signs of weakness he will, as reported at present, take his cheque and cash it. The purchaser may be a Grain Growers' Association, a broker or representative of some other organization who, dealing in immense quantities of grain, must first make arrangements with a bank for the money to pay the farmers. Passing over the ramifications and variations that may arise out of co-operative marketing or the attending conditions that may warrant the holding of the grain for the best prices, it is obvious that eventually a flood of gold pours into the provinces for the season's crops. And as it is ladled out of the country's financial pool, there will be that much less for commercial, industrial and other requirements.

The period of the money shortage extends until late in the year and often until the next spring when the grain is sold by its holders. A considerable quantity of it reaches the Canadian mill for manufacture into flour both for home consumption and export. Most of it is hauled by rail and water to the seaboard, with quanities diverted to the United States, and at that stage the major part of the transaction is completed.

Brokers Paid Next.

The grain brokers who paid the farmers get their money back, usually with a profit and make a settlement with their bankers. This may be by cheque or if for export by bill of exchange which the bank cashes. Herein enter the technicalities of foreign exchange. The foreign buyers do not forward cash, but make use of their banking institutions, from whom they borrow, and are repaid as the grain is distributed to the mills and trickles out in barrels and bags of flour to families in England, France or in whatever other country the Canadian wheat may be delivered.

The Banks' Turn.

But the Canadian bauks have not yet recovered the money which financed the shipment of the grain. They have, however, bills of exchange establishing a buying credit in Europe that is used to meet Canadian purchases there. And according as the ratio of our exports and imports varies, so fluctuates the rate of exchange between Canada and Great Britain or France, for example.

By this seemingly complex but convenient system it might be that part of a Manitoba farmer's grain indirectlyy pays for his table cutlery imported from Sheffield and sold throughout Canada by the wholesale and retail hardware dealers. In that case the bank at length gets back real money, when, after equating the bill of exchange held in Sheffield for the consignment of cutlery to Canada with all or part of the bill for the wheat shipped from Canada, the importing hardware wholesaler pays the bank for the account it owes the English manufacturer. The wholesaler is in turn paid by the retailer up and down this country who buy from travelers' samples. Their stock is in turn distributed among Canadian households and among them one away out in Manitoba. In short by a system that is practically barter the Canadian farmer with a bushel or two of his grain secured the product of the skill and labour of a Sheffield cutlery maker. Or conversely that employee of the Sheffield manufacturer obtained two or three weeks' supply of bread by making the knives and forks he required for his table which the farmer in turn paid for by producing the grain that made that particular quantity of flour.

That is a simple and probable functioning of exchange, but it is easy to imagine more involved and intricate examples. Finance has its grand romances far removed from the sedate and familiar stage of the town and city branches of the banks, and their sedate clerks and complaisant managers. To do them epic justice requires the esoteric information of their leading actors.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET

(United Press.)

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—The tone of the market was generally firm and slightly higher at the opening to-day. Northern Pacific opened at 86 7-8, up 3-8; Southern Pacific 99 1-4 up 3-8; Baldwin 109 1-2, up 7-8; Reading 95 up 1-4; Canadian Pacific 124 1-4, up 7-8; General Motors 18, up 1-2; Sinclair 32 up 1-4; U. S. Rubber 77 up 3-8 Bethlehem B 68 5-8, off 1-8 New York Central 78 3-8 up 3-8.

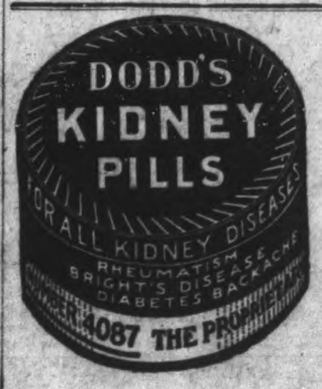
Canadian Pacific and Brazilian were the only enlivening elements of a particularly dull session of the Toronto Stock Exchange this morning. The New York situation, a compound of strength in rails and weakness in most other groups together with the utter lifelessness of Montreal trading, continue to cast a shadow over the local market. C.P.R. up to 124 in New York, moved up from 136 to 137 and then to 138 here. The remarkable feature of such trading is that the buying is apparently done by Toronto people for investment purposes.

Brazilian continued to regain ground along the lines of yesterday's advance. It went up to 36 1-4 and was not below 36 all morning.

In the New York market the action of the entire list to-day leads to the conclusion that a foundation is being laid for an advancing market to accompany the election. The rails were again the feature continuing their uninterrupted upward movement, even the Industrials showed signs of recovery.

The much harassed motor stocks gave evidence of an oversold condition by advancing to higher levels. Call money renewed at seven p.c. and loaned at 8 p.c. before the close.

News comes from Kansas that there are more school teachers than jobs there.



MACSWENEY TOLD HE'S SINKING FAST

DECLARES, HOWEVER, HIS DECISION NOT TO TAKE FOOD IS IRREVOCABLE.

(Canadian Press)

LONDON, Oct. 2.—What is described as a "final appeal' 'to MacSweney to accept food, was made by the doctor in Brixton Prison this morning, according to the noon bulletin of the Irish Self-Determination League, on the condition of the hunger-striking Lord Mayor of Cork.

The Mayor, however, though told he was sinking fast, declined to change his decision to abstain from taking nourishment, which, he declared, was irrevocable.

This is the fifty-first day of his hunger strike.

SLEPT FAIRLY WELL.

(Canadian Press.)

LONDON, Oct. 2.—Lord Mayor MacSweney passed a much better night, according to a bulletin issued this morning by the Irish Self-Determination League. He had fair amount of sleep, and although very weak, felt very much rested. The doctors who visited him to-day, pronounced him very weak and recommenced urging him to take food, the buletin declares.

Used as a piano, it has all the pure, full, resonant tone volume that has caused the Williams New Scale Piano to be called the "Artist's Choice."

Used as a Player its exclusive Floating Rail Device and Transposing Scale enables you to truthfully interpret the compositions you are reproducing, and, by the mere act of pedalling, to express the emotions that the music rouses in your own soul.

Used as a piano for teaching music to the young, the Williams Player possesses the double value of instilling appreciation of true musical tone and of enabling either teacher or pupil to draw more extensively on the famous compositions of the great Masters of Music.

B&B 1920

They end corns now in this scientific way

People who know—millions of them—now end all corns in this way.

They apply Blue-jay, either in liquid or in plaster form. It means but a touch and takes but a jiffy.

The corn pain stops. Then the Blue-jay gently undermines the corn so it loosens and comes out.

The modern way

It is made by a laboratory of world-wide repute.

Old-time treatments were harsh and inefficient. Blue-jay is gentle, quick and sure.

Now all corns are needless. All these pains can be avoided. To let corns remain while you pare and pad them is folly.

You can stop a corn ache the moment it appears. You can end a corn completely before it can develop.

Blue-jay has proved these facts to millions. It will prove them to you—and tonight—if you let it.

Quit the old methods of dealing with corns and see what this new way means. Your druggist sells Blue-jay.

"Peterborough Presents Possibilities Unsurpassed."

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 2, 1920.

TAG DAY.

A week from to-day, on Saturday, Oct. 9th, the annual tag day on behalf of the Children's Aid Society will be held and a chance given to the people of Peterborough to show in a practical way their appreciation of the work the society has been carrying on so successfully. The appeal of the Children's Aid Society has never fallen on deaf ears so far as the citizens of this city are concerned and there is every reason to believe that the response on this occasion will be as generous as usual. The expenses before the Society this year, it is announced, will be heavier than they have been in the past, so that it is of great importance that there should be no falling off in the collection— rather the total should be, if possible, larger than ever to meet the requirements of the next twelve months. The ciizens are asked to keep the date in mind and to be prepared to liberally respond to the annual appeal on behalf of this most deserving cause.

POWER FOR THE FARMS.

The question of electric power for the use of the farmers of Ontario is treated in a very interesting and comprehensive manner in a bulletin issued by the Hydro Electric Power Commission, a copy of which has reached the Examiner. It is evident that a great deal of attention has been paid to this matter by the Commission and while the difficulties of the scheme are by no means small, yet there is hope that a good deal may be accomplished. The farmer would welcome a supply of electrical energy if he could secure it at a reasonable rate. Many indeed have installed small electric systems of their own which have given useful service and have aroused a general desire for power. Naturallyy the Hydro-Electric Commission has been urged to deal with the problem.

The first moves in this direction were carried out along the main lines of the Hydro, where the districts through which they passed could easily be connected with the large lines and supplied with unlimited power at a very small cost. It was soon apparent that this course could not be made to fit the needs of the general farming community. It became a cause of great dissatisfaction among the farmers not on the main roads and not served by the scheme. Farms with this service increased in price as much as a thousand dollars. Every change of locality made a change in the rates. Ten farmers, all living within a radius of one mile from some Hydro centre found that they were paying ten different rates, all for the same service. In some cases the cost became too high to balance with the value of the service and the commission soon saw that something had to be done in the rural districts.

In order to overcome these difficulties and, to make a general use of the power possible at a fair cost, the commission has been working on a plan by which rural service is made a possibility. Under this sytsem any group of rural residents desirous of securing the service may submit a petition to that effect to their township council who will forward it to the commission. A survey will be made of the territory desiring the service and the estimated cost of distribution from the nearest urban centre calculated. The only limit to the scope of such a service is the distance that the current may be transported at low voltage. The rate struck at the result of investigation of the territory is then submitted to the petitioners who, if satisfied, may enter into contract with the commission through their township council.

Each district so established becomes complete in itself and may better its rates by the co-operation of the power consumers with the Hydro workers. The Hydro does all the construction and installation, but the consumer must eventually pay for it and it is therefore to his advantage to help out and to lessen the expenses in every way possible.

The benefits of such a rural system of Hydro service would be great. In the first place, one of the main features would be the improvement of farm conditions and conveniences and thus a blow at the movement cityward. The power facilities could only result in greater efficiency in the farm work, greater speed, and therefore greater production.

LET'S ALL GET BUSY.

Let every citizen join in the work of Fire Prevention Day, Oct. 9th. Let us make Peterborough as clean and attractive, as safe from fire and as free from disease as any city in the province. The success of the "clean-up" depends upon every one taking part. Many disastrous fires are caused by the accumulation of rubbish—papers, boxes, etc.—about houses, in attics, cellars and yards. The elimination of these hazards is a business proposition as well as a matter of civic pride and health. A thorough observance of this "Clean-up" Day may prevent a conflagration that would wipe out a good part of the city. Such conflagrations are frequently occurring and they are often caused by just such conditions as next Saturday's campaign is intended to remove.

Let everybody get busy and help to remove the possible cause of such a disaster in Peterborough. Here are a few dont's for fire protection. They are worth clipping out and keeping for future reference and guidance:

Don't allow children to play with matches.

Don't throw away lighted matches, cigars or cigarettes; after using it make it a habit to break the match in two.

Don't go into dark closets, bedrooms or cellars, using matches or candles to light your way.

Don't use kerosene or gasoline in lighting fires or to quicken a slow fire—it may result in death.

Don't use gasoline or benzine to clean clothing near an open flame, light or fire.

Don't fill any lamp or stove with gasoline, or coal oil while they are lighted. Keep the burners of all lamps and stoves thoroughly clean. Fill them during the day time.

Don't put ashes in wooden boxes or barrels. Keep ashes away from boards. Hot ashes will take fire by themselves, as frequently they have small bits of coal mixed in with them.

Don't accumulate rubish in premises, cellars or workshpos, and don't deposit such materials in boxes or barrels unless it is to be removed at once; while awaiting removal, keep such material in covered metal receptacles.

Don't use candles on Christmas trees.

Don't have storage closets under stairways. Fires in these places cut off your main exit.

Don't store oils, paints, grease or fats in the house. Keep them outside if possible. If you must have such things on hand, put them in a metal box with a lid on it.

Don't put in the ash barrel such articles as greasy paper, oily rags or waste which has been used to wipe machinery. Such articles may cause fires. Burn these immediately after use.

Don't nglect to have the chimney flu cleaned once a year.

Don't have lace curtains in vicinity of gas jets.

Don't leave holes in the flooring, walls or ceiling. These enable fires to travel throughout the building when once started.

Don't use celluloid or similar substances near any flame, gaslight or match. They are dangerously inflamflamable and likely to cause fatal fires.

Don't have short gas brackets or place them close to woodwork or near curtains. Every gas jet should be protected by a glass globe or wire cage. Swingingor folding brackets are never safe.

Don't pour gasoline or naptha down the drain. Pour on the ground if you must get rid of it. One pint of gasoline, naptha or benzine makes two hundred feet of explosive vapor. One gallon of gasoline has substanially the power equal to 83 lbs. of dynamite.

Don't set kitchen or heating stoves too close to woodwork. Put a metal shield behind the stove. Leave a little air space behind the shield. Bright tin is the best protector if not placed right up against the woodwork.

Don't use small gas stoves on wooden tables. Place metal protector under them. Be careful in using gas stoves, especially in lighting the oven, and, if the meat or grease take fire, shut off the gas and throw salt, not water, on the flames.

Don't look for a gas leak with a lighted match or candle. You might suddenly find it—to your sorrow.

Don't leave doors of heaters or kitchen stoves open unless you provide a wire screen or net to catch the live coals which may drop out.

Don't fail to warn children of the dangerous bonfire.

ON THE DOWN GRADE.

Reports from parts of the United States that prices have started on the down grade will be received by many people with unbounded satisfaction. It was inevitable that the buying public would weary of constantly yielding to fresh demands on its pocket and force a break. But a careful examination of the situation may cause some feeling of apprehension among those who have been most loudly clamouring for a crash of prices.

The most notable announcement was that of the Ford Motor Company which has cut its prices to those of pre-war days. Then followed the Franklin Automobile Company which has stated that it has been compelled to lay off 2,000 hands on acount of the falling off in the demand for cars. Clothing houses and many other big dealers in necessary commodities have announced cuts and the public has been led to believe that similar price reductions are coming in other lines.

Doubtless these reductions have been forced because buyers have refused to follow dealers in the upward pace. They stopped cold. But the effect may not be altogether agreeable. The retailer finds his shelves filled with goods which the public will not buy at the prices demanded. The retailer regretfully passes the word on to the wholesaler, who has his warehouses filled with clothing which he must dispose of before he orders more from the factory. The factory has been running full blast, turning out wares at a good profit and passing a share of the proceeds along to the workers who have not been slow to demand more wages on penalty of tying up the plant.

If the price-slashing era has really come, what may result? Will the head of a household who has abstained from new garments rush in to replenish his depleted wardrobe? If he does, the storeman will have smiles in place of frowns for the suave travelling man. He will take advantage of the new quotations and re-fill his shelves, confident that business will go on as usual. The wholesaler will order from the factory and the wheels of industry will keep turning. On the other hand, the ultimate consumer may wait. The new prices may not be attractive. Business cannot be done except on a profit basis, and if the consumer declines to be reasonable the word will get back to the manufacturer who will reduce his staff or close down entirely until there is a demand for his goods. The clothing operator out of work is in no position to buy goods, and there is a general slackening off in all lines.

Price slashing, to humour the buying public, cannot go on indefinitely. Some storekeepers and middlemen and fabricators of clothing, boots, and other necessary commodities may have been reaping a golden harvest, but they must have a comfortable margin over cost on what they sell. Eliminate the excess profit and business can go on without loss. But go below the reasonable margin, which is ordinary profit, and the worker must consent to reduced pay if his employer is to keep the concern going. Will the "vicious circle" again appear, with low prices chasing low wages like a pair of squirrels in a revolving cage?

After all, there may have been much unnecessary howling about the high cost of living. Are the workers worse off than they were when wages and food and clothing were touching bottom—when a street labourer at $1.25 a day bought his eggs at twelve cents a dozen, and his steaks for ten and twelve cents a pound, with a soup bone thrown in? We think not. Perhaps the street labourer has other views. Certainly his present modest honorarium of $4.00 or $5.00 a day won't allow many theatre parties, but he probably derives some satisfaction from the spending of his weekly stipend, and would hesitate before decreeing that we shall go back to the ten-cent steak epoch.

The great difficulty has been that in these prosperous days there has not been a fair distribution of prosperity. The great army of white collar men have seen the cost of living increase 100 to 200 per cent., while most of them have had to be content with very modest accretions to their salary cheque. They have been in no position to force increases to compensate for the bounding prices of everything they consume. They have had to appear prosperous and yield to every hold-up of the purveyors of such commodities as they use. — Ottawa Journal.

MILLBROOK FAIR WAS CANCELLED

THE G.W.V.A. BAND WENT DOWN FROM PETERBORO.

Yesterday the Millbrook Fair was cancelled on acount of the weather. All the hopes of the directorate had this would be the biggest year in their history were washed away by the rainstorm, and it was decided, after some discussion, to have the outside fair called off.

The inside exhibits this year were more numerous and superior to those of other fairs, and in spite of the handicap of desultory weather, large numbers of people attended.

The vegetable, fruit, flower, ladies' fancy work, and art exhibits were all commendably arranged, and received special praise from the judges.

The G.W.V.A. Band of Peterborough was in attendance during the entire day, and their music did much to drive away some of the dullness that the Fair absorbed from the atmosphere.

The Fair directors are not downhearted, and state that they will put forth extra efforts to make next year's Fair even beyond their anticipation of what this year's would have been.

TOOTS AND CASPER — A Bed That Is All Btuff — By J. E. MURPHY

Oily skin and shiny nose

How to correct them

Do you know that the oil in your skin is necessary to keep it smooth, velvety, supple? This oil is constantly being produced by the glands of the skin. When it is too abundant the result is an oily skin and a shiny nose. You can relieve this embarrassing condition by using the following treatment as frequently as is necessary.

With warm water work up a heavy lather of Woodbury's Facial Soap in your hands. Apply it to your face and rub it into the pores thoroughly—always with an upward and outward motion. Rinse with warm water, then with cold—the colder the better. If possible, rub your face for thirty seconds with a piece of ice.

This treatment will make your skin firmer and drier the very first time you try it. Use it as often as your skin requires, nightly if necessary, and before long you will see a marked improvement.

Get a cake of Woodbury's Facial Soap and begin tonight the treatment your skin needs. You will find Woodbury's on sale at any drug store or toilet goods counter in the United States or Canada. A 25 cent cake will last a month or six weeks.

PETERBORO COUNTY CONSTABLE DEFENDANT IN A LIQUOR CASE

JUDGMENT WAS RESERVED UNTIL FRIDAY NEXT—DRY AMERICANS VISIT THE NORTH COUNTRY.

Can a man, no matter how great, a protracted a thirst he may have, consume 36 quart bottles of whiskey in 17 days?

While he could not swear to the maximum it is possible to imbibe, so impossible did License Inspector Jos. Stewart consider this consumption, that he charged County Constable James David Montgomery, of Hall's Bridge, with a breach of the O. T. A. before Magistrate O. A. Langley, in the County Police Court yesterday afternoon at three o'clock.

Montgomery, whether because he considered lawyers unnecessary to an officer of the law in police court cases or because he felt it an economy, did not have any legal support. When the defendant is not on the track of criminals he is on the track of fish and game—he is a guide. Jos. Wearing appeared for License Inspector Jos. Stewart.

Mr. Fred Skitch of the Canadian Express Co, was the first witness. He pointed out the entries of the shipment of three cases containing 36 bottles, that came through to the defendant on July 3, in the company's liquor book. The whisky was delivered to J. Clarkson.

John Clrkson, Hall's Bridge, who runs the lakehurst stage, gave evidence. Heidentified his signature in the Canadan Express Company's counter delivery book, on July 3, 1920. He stated to Mr. Wearing that he remembered taking the liquor away. It was in three boxes. He did not know it was liquor—never looked at the label. He delivered them to J. Montgomery, he said. When asked if he knew what the weight was, he said he could not judge. He admitted he had a suspicion it was liquor.

Montgomery had nothing to ask the witness. The witness told Mr. Wearing he did not remember the date but he remembered delivering it safely.

The Next Witness.

License Inspector Stewart was the next witness. "As a rule I go in amongst the express people once a week. I saw this shipment there and on or about the 9th. I called at Mr. Montgomery's house, but he was not at home. He went back on the 20, he said, and found him at home. I asked to see the shipment that he had got on the 2nd or 3rd of July. He proceeded to show me what was left of it and all he could show me was 5 empty bottles and one about half full of liquor. He said that was all he could find and I said I would wait till he looked around.

He could not locate any more. He had only one empty case. He said they must have been broken up and burnt.

The License Inspector asked Montgomery what became of the bottles of liquor, and the three cases. He admitted he got the 36 bottles of liquor all right. He told me he drank it himself. I said, "Well, that appears to me a lot of liquor to drink. He repeatedly claimed that he drank the entire 36 bottles."

Mr. Stewart said that he was unable to say what a man could drink.

Mr. Montgomery cross-examined Mr. Stewart.

The latter denied that Montgomery told him he had any friends in to help him to drink it. Mr. Stewart said that Montgomery did say something about bottles in the woods, but he declined to get them, "because it was dark," interrupted Mr. Montgomery.

"Yes, sir," firmly reiterated Mr. Montgomery. Nothing was said by the defendant about his friends coming there.

Were you there long enough to give him time to get these empty bottles? Yes, replied Inspector Stewart.

I told him to go down and get them but he did not.

What name was on the bottles, asked Mr. Montgomery.

Gooderham and Worts.

Wasn't it Hiram Walker's?

Well, at that time I took it for Gooderham and Worts.

Did I not tell you that I would come down if you wrote me?

I don't remember.

The Defense.

Mr. Montgomery went into the box for the defence. Mr. Montgomery needed considerable spurring on by the magistrate to divulge any information. "I had friends come to my house and drink the liquor. I never got a five cent piece or expected to get any. I told Mr. Stewart that when he was here. The next morning I went down to the woods and picked up 20 empties. The rest were broken, and I threw them out. I told Mr. Stewart I broke the two cases and burnt them. The people who drank it with me were Americans mostly. There were three different parties, and four in each party. Mr. Clarkson had a drink more than once, the witness said. Charles Jones, the son of the Justice of the Peace at Buckhorn, had some liquor, too.

Mr. Montgomery did not seem to consider that he was in the court without a lawyer, and should give as much evidence as possible. He named several Americans who participated in the parties. Some of them he had just been introduced to, he said. I never sold any liquor in my life, and never intend to. And there aint very much drinking in a bottle of whisky. They are called quart bottles, but they are not.

A Guide.

Mr. Montgomery said he had been a guide for 35 years. Some of the Ameriacns were wealthy and some were only ordinary working men who had saved up enough to take a holiday.

The woods, he told Mr. Wearing, were 40 or 50 yards from the house.

When he was guiding he boarded there he said. He declared firmly he told the liecnse inspector he had friends from Pittsburg who helped him drink the liquor. After he drank the contents he flung the empties from his backyard into the swamp.

Mr. Clarkson was called by Montgomery for the defence. I had a few drinks at Mr. Montgomery's house, he stated. I had three on Sunday after I took the parcels out. About three days later I had a couple of drinks. He saw no one else drinking there at least not when he was there.

Mr. Clarkson to Mr. Wearing said that he remembered telling Mr. Stewart the day before yesterday in Lakefield that he had none of the liquor at all. He may have told Mr. Stewart since the court opened that he had none of the liquor, he said.

Mr. Montgomery did not have any more witnesses for the defence, he said, unless Jones was called. He had not brought Jones in as it is 20 miles from here to Buckhorn, and it was impossible to put Jones in the box.

His Worship pointed out to Montgomery that the onus was on him, and he (Montgomery) must prove he was not guilty.

Mr. Wearing submitted that the defendant was no ignoramus and had evidently come down, knowing that he was guilty, and feeling that he must pay enough without paying a lawyer.

Mr. Wearing dwelt on the guide giving away to wealthy Americans $100 or $150 worth of whisky when these men from a country that is as dry as a desert and will pay anything for liquor.

His Worship desired a remand for a few days to consider the case, and accordingly the judgment was reserved till Friday next at 1 o'clock.

BUY Long-Term Securities NOW

Sound Investment

—the Wise Principle of Life Insurance

Life insurance is based on the principle of consistent investment of the amounts received in premiums each year.

The same wise policy, adopted by a private individual is the safest and surest method of building up a financial reserve either as life-protection, or for the foundation of an estate.

Consistent investment of annual amounts, be they $50., $100., or $1,000., in long-term bonds will quickly accumulate a high "cash surrender value."

For instance, $930 invested in 1934 Victory Bonds, provided the interest is re-invested at 5½% rather than spent, will amount to $2,207.20 at the end of fourteen years, when these bonds are paid off.

Insure your future by considering now the investment of a fixed amount each year.

The low prices at which good bonds are now selling makes the present a most opportune time to make a start.

VICTORY BONDS are among the best long-term securities available. We recommend those falling due in 1933, 1937 and 1934.

"Owes her life to Virol"

No. 43, St. Ann St., Bolton. 24/8/1918.

Dear Sirs,

I have much pleasure in forwarding to you a photo of my little girl who I am quite sure owes her life to Virol. From birth she would not take her natural food, and I tried all the patent foods I knew of, but nothing would suit her; then I took her to three different doctors, after that I took her to the London Hospital; then when I was giving up in despair I was advised to try Virol. She is now 3 years of age and I think the picture speaks for itself.

Yours faithfully,

(sgd.) C. CONNOLLY.

Virol is invaluable for the expectant and nursing mother herself, whilst for children it supplies those vital principles that are destroyed in the sterilising of milk: it is also a bone and tissue-building food of immense value. Virol babies have firm flesh, strong bones and good colour.

It washes the hardest things—easily

Do not get up early in the morning to heat the water for washday. Use Rinso and wash the clothes in cold water. You will save time and the cost of heating water. Your washing will be done sooner and your clothes will be more clean if you use Rinso—the pure soap granules—as harmless as pure water itself.

At Night — Soak the clothes in the rich, bubbly Rinso suds.

Morning—Rinse them out—that's all!

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Clothes can be whitened very quickly by putting two or three slices of lemon, rind and all, into the boiler with them.

Take a tablespoon of kerosene to a quart of hot water; wash your windows and wipe, then polish. They will please you.

To remove the scorch or yellow out of your starched clothes lay the piece in the hot sun for ten minutes and it will all disappear.

Take one tablespoon of turpentine to a wash boiler of cold water. Take a bar of white soap and rub the soiled places, put clothes in the cold water; then shave one-fourth bar of the soap into the boiler. Bring slowly to a scald, not boil, then rinse and blue and you will have the whitest wash that you ever hung on your line.

CANNING FACTORY LOSES $10,000 BY PICTON FAIR.

Date Fell in Tomato Season and Proved Knock-out Blow.

(Canadian Press)

KINGSTON, Oct. 2.—Prince Edward County Canning Factory managers complain of the lack of help during the week of the Picton Fair. They estimtae their loss at over ten thousand dollars on account of the Fair dates occurring when the tomato season was at its height.

Thousands of bushels that had been accepted at the factories went to waste, and had to be carted away again. During the Fair days factory work was practically at a standstill.

This is one of the penalties of having a popular Fair. The factorymen are advocating a change of dates for the Exhibition.

WOMAN CAN MAKE MAN DO WHATEVER SHE WISHES —IF SHE ONLY KNOWS HOW

Miss Talmadge Will Give You a Hint in a Flirty Scene From Her New Picture, 'Two Weeks."

Constance Talmadge proves that a woman can get anything she wants if she only knows how to go about it, as you will see in "Two Weeks", a picture taken from "At the Barn," Anthony Wharton's play, which will be shown at the Allen Theatre on Monday and Tuesday.

Miss Talmadge, as Lillums, a show girl, flees from an escort who has been rude and winds up at the home of three crusty bachelors. The grave, old butler is horrified at her appearance and tells her no women are allowed on the premises. Nothing daunted, she shows him a slight thorn bruise and pretends to be suffering.

The butler falls at once and in his sympathy takes her to the bath room to bathe and bind up the wound. Then Lillums is caught by the owners, who are shocked at the very thought of her intrusion. But a flirty smile and a toss of her pretty head wins two of them to her cause and she settles down for a visit. And the third bachelor? Well she vamps him plenty before her two weeks stay is finished.

It's the story of a chorus girl who wins her way to stardom and then gives up the stage because she has found something more to her liking.

PLEASING ELOQUENCE.

FINEST CLOCK IN THE WORLD FOR OTTAWA

CARILLON OF FORTY BELLS PROPOSED FOR NEW COMMONS TOWER.

The new Parliament Buildings at Ottawa will have the finest carillon in the world, if the plan sugested by Senator Bradbury last session is adopted by Parliament, according to Mr. R. F. A. Housman, M.I.M.E., of Crowdon, England, who is here consulting the Government about the new clock and bells, which have been proposed for the tower now being erected. This carillon would consist of 40 bells. It would give an unparalleled range of harmonics which would put it in the class with the world-famous bells of Malines and Bruges.

Propose 15-Foot Clock.

Families might then come to Parliament Hill of an evening in summer and hear famous operatic selections, sweet lullabies, or sacred music played on the bells that are perfect in tone, either by an electric arrangement or by an organist. The quarter, half and the hour would be marked by appropriate chimes, which would float out from the tower, and be heard all over the city. The clock proposed for the tower is 15 feet in diameter.

There are no bells in Ottawa and district, and few in Canada, which are perfect in tone, according to Mr. Housman. The art of bell making, which was perfected by the Belgians, and lost about one hundred years ago, was found again about twenty years ago after many experiments and great skill on the part of researchers.

Gives Three Distinct Notes.

The introduction of mechanism made it possible largely to increase the number of bells and the range of harmonics. A good bell, when fairly struck, should give out three distinct notes, the fundamental, an octave above called the nominal, and an octave below called the hum note. But few have these notes in unison. The mixture of metals, the lines and proportions all enter into making a bell perfect in tone. No little skill is required to get a number of bells in a carillon all perfect in tone. A bell is composed of 17 parts of copper and five parts of tin. Silver is popularly associated with sweetness and clearness in a bell, but according to Mr. Housman, silver is about as useful in a bell as lead. The ancients, who used some silver in making bells, were only saved from spoiling their work by the scarcity of silver.

Serve as a Memorial.

The bells proposed for the Parliament Buildings tower would be a memorial to Canada's part in the war and always associated with the unique contribution which Canadians made towards its successful end. Bells have always been associated with all kinds of religious and social uses, and with nearly every historical event. They have summoned soldiers to arms and Christians to church. Many a bloody chapter in history has been rung on bells. Bels are supposed to have ushered in the massacre of the Hugenots on St. Bartholomew's Day, 1571. The news of Nelson's victory at Trafalgar was spread by the bells of Chester ringing out a merry peal, alternating with a deep toll.

Many old customs are connected with the use of bells. The best known is perhaps the curfew, which was first enforced in England by William the Conqueror. It was the signal for all lights and fires to be out at eight o'clock. It has survived to recent times. It is within the memory of Ottawa young men when the curfew was sounded at nine o'clock at night, after which all well behaved boys were supposed to be off the streets or accompanied by an elder.

One of the celebrated bells of the world is the great bell at Moscow, which was never rung or hung, having been cracked in the furnace. It has been used as a chapel.

Big Ben at Westminster weighs 13½ tons. The Kaiserglocke of Cologne Cathedral, with which Canadians who were in the Army of Occupation are familiar, was recast in 1875 with metal from French cannon captured in 1870-71. It weighs 27½ tons.

JUDGMENT FOR THE PLAINTIFF

ACTION DISPOSED OF IN DIVISION COURT.

Rober tBugg brought action in Division Court yesterday against Frank Manley for $16 alleged rent owing him for the month of May, 1920. Defendant counterclaimed for $20. J. Wearing apeared for the defendant. G. N. Gordon for plaintiff.

Manley was the original tenant. Bugg bought the house and Manley alleges that Bugg deprived him of the use of his stable for a month by storing on his ground when he had no right to. On this he based his counter claim. Judgment for $8 was given to the plaintiff.

AMERICA EXPECTING A BOOM IN BUILDING

New York Expert Predicts Shortage will be Corected in Five Months.

NEW YORK, October 2.—The nation-wide housing shortage will soon be relieved through the present price reductions in building materials is the opinion of Edward P. Doyle, manager of the information bureau of the Real Estate Board of New York.

Mr. Doyle forecast a boom in dweling house building immediately. The building programme, he said, would be so extensive that the apartment congestion probably would be practically obviated within five or six months.

According to Mr. Doyle, increased building not only would provide homes for thousands of people who have been ocmpelled to double up or to live in hotels or boarding houses but would tend to bring about lower rents under the economic law of supply and demand.

POOR HEALTH LIFE'S HANDICAP

Rich Red Blood and Strong Nerves Needed to Win Out.

It has been well said that life is a race. The full blooded man with sound nerves, the bright-eyed, rosy cheeked woman invariably win. The nervous, dyspeptic man, and the ailing anaemic woman are left behind. Success in life is largely a question of good health and sound nerves. It is never the shaky, undecided men who are chosen for promotion; the sickly looking, pale woman is not sought after like her happy, rosy sisters.

What makes all the difference is the condition of the blood. If your blood is thin and poor, your nerves are bound to suffer, because they have to depend upon good red blood for nourishment. Headaches, undecided will, a shrunken figure and pale, unattractive face tell only too plainly that the blood is at fault.

Both men and women in great numbers have found deliverance from their inferiority in life's race, caused by impoverished blood through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They are a remedy that has been a household word for a generation, because they tone up the whole system, make the blood rich and red and strengthen the nerves. Mrs. S. B. Miller, Elmira, Ont., says: "I look upon Dr. Williams' Pink Pills as a family medicine, and have reason to praise them for what they have done in our home. Some years ago, while we were living in Alberta, my husband was so completely run down that he was unable to do any work, and even to carry a pail of water would exhaust him. A doctor was called in who said his heart was affected, and that medicine would be of little use to him. This greatly worried me and I finally urged him to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. He began thier use and in a short time the swelling in his hands and feet disappeared. We decided to return to Ontario, but the doctor said he could not stand the trip. But the doctor was mistaken, for through the use of the pills, he gained such strength as to be able to look after the harvest, and in a month later we returned to Ontario. My husband still takes a box or two of the pills twice a year, and they keep him in good shape. I have also found the pills good for my growing daughters, and we are never without them in our home."

One of the best things about Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is that they do not contain the slightest trace of opiates or harmful drugs. While they are overcoming disease they are building up general conditions of good health. You can get these pills through any dealer in medicine, or by mail at 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

FRANK C. IRWIN EXECUTIVE SECY OF BOY SCOUTS

IS A NATIVE OF LONDON, ONTARIO, AND GRADUATE OF UNIVERSITY OF SASKATCHEWAN.

Wr. W. K. George, Provincial Commissioner of the Boy Scouts Association for the Province of Ontario announced today that the organization had been successful in securing the services of Mr Frank C. Irwin, M.A., as its executive Secretary. The Appointee, who will take office early in October, will have charge of the Provincial Headquarters office in Toronto and also of Organization work throughout Ontario.

Mr. Irwin, who is a native of London, Ontario, received his education in the public schools of that city, of Peterborough, Ontario, and of Moose Jaw, Saskatchewan. He is also a graduate of the University of Saskatchewan of Columbia University in the city of New York and of the New York School of Social Work. His experience in Scouting dates from 1910 when he became a member of the first Moose Jaw Troop which he represented in 1911 at the Coronation Scout Rally of that year. In 1914 Mr. Irwin became the Scoutmaster of his Troop and a year later was engaged as the first employed secretary of the Saskatchewan Provincial Council of the Boy Scouts Association, a position he held until the following year when he resigned to accept a fellowship at the New York School of Social Work. While studying at the later institution he also acted as a student assistant in the National Headquarters of the Boy Scouts of America.

In 1917 Mr. Irwin became one of the Overseas secretaries in the British Ary, Y.M.C.A.m, his work taking him first to England and later to India where he served in Delhi, Lahore and Bangalore. While at the latter place he was appointed advisor to the Government of Mysore on recreational activities in the State Schools and later as director of the Boy Scouts of Mysore, an organization which is now he largest and mosa influential of its kind in the East.

During the past summer Mr. Irwin unofficially represented Canada in the First French Scout Leaders' Training Camp which was conducted under the auspices of the American Committee for Devastated France. The Boy Scouts of America and cooperating French Scout Association at Compiegne, (Oise).

At an early date Mr. Irwin will visit the principal Boy Scout Centres of the Province and will confer with local leaders on the future policies of the organization in Ontario. There are now over 8,000 Boy Scouts in the province, but present indications are that this number will be greatly exceeded within a very few months.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

"ON THE HIRING LINE"

"On the Hiring Line", the first New York success to be produced in Canada by a woman, kept a large audience in an almost continuous condition of laughter at the Grand last night. All that was lacking was the presence of Miss May Anderson, the producer and star, whose illness prevented her appearance.

The griefs resulting from the servant problem are made the basis of a plot whose ingenious twists lead up to a climax of hilarity in the last two acts. The perplexities which confront an irascible and practical business man who is burdened with a servantless country house and a wife whose distaste for country life makes her almost oblivious to the need of remedying the situation is led to the opinion that the panacea for the servant problem lies in the application of modern business methods to the home ocupied with masculine management

Accordingly he succumbs to the idea that a brace of private detectives, who would be subject only to his control and whose professional zeal would make them industrious menials, will meet his requirements and he engages two sleuths from the Babbing Detective Agency. A fictitious case for them to work on is fabricated.

How they gumshoe about on the assumption that trouble is abroad in the house and make more than enough trouble supplys hilarity for the last two acts which increases as the climax approaches.

Next ot the two sleuths Pansy, the flirtatious married neighbour, likewise servantless, forms the basis of complications which threaten the happiness of two homes and as a result threaten the physical well being of the actor suffering from a nervous breakdown who is made the victim by all parties in turn.

From the start to the ringing down of the last curtain, the comedy moves swiftly and its complications are given and unusual air of naturalness. The characters, drawn with an eye to everyday life, move naturally through the bewildering series of complications and are ably portrayed by an excellent company.

$2,500,000 Allen Theatres Limited 8% Preferred Cumulative Shares with Bonus of ½ Share No Par Value Common Stock

Sharing the Profits of a Great Enterprise

The organization of Allen Theatres, Limited, taking over assets of more than $7,500,000 represented in theatres, franchises, goodwill, etc, formerly owned by Jule and Jay J. Allen, brings to Messrs. Allen, as directors and managers of the new company, greater opportunity than ever before for the development of amusement enterprises in Canada and abroad.

Extensive acquisitions of sites and theatres, both in Canada and the United States, and the decision to enter the British field, involved the necessity for a compact and centralized organization from which to direct all the Allen enterprises in Canada and other countries.

The re-organization brings the opportunity for Canadian investors to participate through the purchase of 8% Preferred Cumulative shares, with a bonus of ½ Shares no par value common stock.

Holdings of Allen Theatres, Limited, together with the profits earned by the theatres in recent years, have already been described. The estimated profits of the new company, in the judgment of Jule and Jay J. Allen, will be $750,000 for the fiscal year 1920-1921, prior to Dominion Government war tax and depreciation.

The new organization affords the investing public a chance of partial ownership and profit-sharing in the foremost amusement organization in Canada, with a record of sound management, consistent progress and ability to develop the opportunity that lies before the legitimate exhibition of motion pictures in Canada.

At the same time the new organization provides the Allen organization with capital required to advance and foster the general interests of the company.

Allen Theatres Limited form one of the soundest "industrial" investments. The whole story of Allen development has been told in our prospectus, which may be had on application.

Price: $100 per share

OUT-OF-TOWN STUDENTS HAVE MANY EXTRAS TO CONTEND WITH —BOARD QUESTION IS A FORMIDABLE ONE.

The present day cost of a business of an higher education has kept pace pretty evenly with the higher cost of living and many of the country and out of town would-be pupils have been forced to forgo the advantages offered by the city in the way of education due to this fact.

The principal stumbling block to out of town students is the price of board which has almost and in some cases more than doubled, since the war. In 1914 and previous to that date $3.75 and $4.00 was the usual figure named for fair accommodation for Normal and Business College students while to-day the student is lucky if he gets away at anything less than $8.oc for board and lodging and $3.00 for lodging alone while his meals will then cost him at least $5 or $6.

About the lowest quotation for board and lodging which could be obtained by one accommodation seeker was $3.50 to $6.75.

High Cost of Travel

Again before securing board and lodging the pupil is confronted by the high cost of travelling. Day pupils coming from the country are forced to pay twenty per cent more to-day for railroad fares than they paid last year and this amounts at the end of a school term to a formidable figure.

About the only expense which has not crept up about one hundred per cent. is street railway fares, a consideration of no mean account as many of the students are forced to find rooms in outlying districts which renders it practically necessary for them to take the street car.

Again having found board and lodging the student is confronted by the high cost of laundry. It is only in the odd boarding house a boarder is allowed the privilege of using the laundry tubs or the electric iron. The Chinamen have joined the forward price movement, but this fact hits the male student much more severely than the female student who sees to it her wardrobe consist of mainly non-starchable clothes.

Dressing Expensive

A few years ago it really did not matter what clothes a student wore. It was considered more or less a sign of brains and concentration of thought with a supreme disregard to the more material things of life to go about in clothes reminiscent of a fashion long since passed into history Today, however, one of the first considerations of the newly arrived student is the wardrobe and an outlay surprising to many a mamma and papa in the country is found necessry that the son or daughter of the house may escape the ridicule or pity of the rest of the students, who have learnt the value of dressing well. The student once known by his clothes no longer bears the badge of his budding profession, he is positively human to look upon.

Books, pens, pencils and the hundred and one thing a student is forced to spend his money upon have with the exception only of street railroad fares, gone a step higher. Incidentals such as shaves and hair cuts have joined hands in militating against the student obtaining an education at any reasonable outlay.

W. E. TURLEY GAVE A STIRRING ADDRESS

The speaker showed how different religious bodies had found that they could reach a common policy although divided as to creed and he believed that it was the same with the veterans of the war. He told of the advances made by he B.W.V.A. to bring the bodies together, of the refusal of the others to concede a inch. He told, however, how they both fought for the re-establishment at Ottawa and formed a happy condition of comradeship. The G.W.V.A. was the first to extend the hand of welcome and extends it yet."

State Age Pensions.

The speaker referred to the insistent call for state age pension for men who served in the war, so that they might not end their days as Private George Richardson, V.C. is— in a poor house. It can be as easily arranged as the taking over by the government of the G.T.R. It will cost no more than the government has given away to railways in the last five years. Is that not worth staying in the organization for? he asked. He declared that as soon as the organization ceased to exist the government would take advantage of this to cut the 50 p.c. bonus to pensions off.

Speaking of political action on the G.W.V.A. he said that "we cannot step from the path we have trod that takes us in the middle of the road." It was his own opinion, he said, that they should maintain political independence. Because of the wide difference in Canadians in this broad Dominion he said, it becomes almost impossible to lay down a definite political platform. The secretary read the forceful declaration of the G.W.V.A. at their Dominion convention passed on the political questions. This declaration had found the support of both capital and labour. "We find ourselves in complete harmony with men of the Liberal party. We are in accord with the farmers." Let us be Canadians form the Atlantic to the Pacific, not nine different peoples treading nine different roads, nine different ways, was his appeal for national unity.

In Conclusion.

In conclusion he told why the G.W.V.A. was needed in Canada —to see that the soldiers who fought and bled for the Empire were cared for and he told how the immortal heroes of Tenyson's "Charge of the Light Brigade" lived and died in the poorhouse. He recited Rudyard Kiping's exposition of this dishonor to Britain's name telling how when a collection was stirred up by his pen most of the money was swallowed up by strong charitable organizations, while the remnant of the Light Brigade, 20 strong, were given a paltry twenty pound to spend their last days.

For reasons such as this the G.W.V.A. was organized.

Refreshments were served by the Ladies' Auxiliary after the programme was over and following this a dance was held in which a large number of those present participated.

Makes a Family Supply of Cough Remedy

Really better than ready-made cough syrups, and saves about $2. Easily and quickly prepared.

If you combined the curative properties of every known "ready-made" cough remedy, you probably could not get as much real curative power as there is in this simple home-made cough syrup, which is easily prepared in a few minutes.

Get from any druggist 2½ ounces of Pinex, pour it into a 16-oz. bottle and fill the bottle with syrup, using either plain granulated sugar syrup, clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, as desired. The result is 16 ounces of really better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made and saves easily $2. Tastes pleasant and never spoils.

This Pinex and Syrup preparation gets right at the cause of a cough and gives almost immediate relief. It loosens the phlegm, stops the nasty throat tickle and heals the sore, irritated membranes so gently and easily that it is really astonishing.

A day's use will usually overcome the ordinary cough and for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness and bronchial asthma, there is nothing better.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and has been used for generations to break up severe coughs.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Toronto, Ont.

THE AGE OF THE PESSIMIST

(By J. C. SMITH)

To the Editor of the Examiner:
Sir.—

We read much about the different ages, or as the theologians say, the different "eons" of the world. But comparatively little is written regarding the age of the pessimist. Needless to say that is the present age. The pessimist is abroad in the land. He tells us in effect that everything is going to the "demnition bow wows." Responsible government is a thing of the past, thanks to Meighan. The H. C. of L. and the conflict between Capital and Labor are ruining everything. The Sinn Feiners, the Presbyterians, the Bolshevists, the Prohibitionists, the Conservatives, the Roman Catholics, the Protestants, the Liberals, the Anglicans, the Us for Ourselves, the Methodists, the Laborites, and a whole lot of other fellows, are a bad lot. As for religion, the Church is a failure, the Bible is a book of fairy tales, is full of mistakes, and should be thrown into the discard. This is the end of Christianity. The world is heading for chaos. All of this, and much more is being preached by the pessimists, and it is not a very pretty picture. Now, Sir, what is a pessimist? I very nearly replied that a pessimist is a man who does not read the "Examiner." And if I had, possibly I would not have been so very far wrong, because his chief characteristic is that he has never read about the good things that have happened in the world. He does not appear to have even heard of them. His thinking and reasoning are without regard to these important facts. What he most needs is information, and I would like therefore, if he will only read the "Examiner," to give him a few little bits of news, (a) The war is over. (b) The Allies won the war. (c) The Kaiser did not eat his Christmas dinner in Paris. He had another engagement. He sent his regrets. In fact, he shot his regrets into Paris. He was so polite that he had a long distance gun made for the purpose. He was anxious that the Parisians should know how very sorry he really was. (d) We are not now under the German heel. (e) The British Empire is not bankrupt, and has no idea of making an assignment for the benefit of creditors. (f) The battalion of the Almighty overcame the legions of Satan (g) The once powerful and terribly cruel liquor traffic is being strangled. (h) China has prohibited the opium traffic. (i) All the Churches report bright prospects for Foreign Missions. (j) It is not either Lloyd George or Arthur Meighan who rules the world. The One who has always ruled the world has never abdicated.

There is a passage in an old book that we do not read as much as we should "The Lord reigneth, let the earth be glad." But the pessimist thinks this is an incorrect rendering, so he reads it thus "Lord George reigneth let the earth be sad." So he therefore proceeds to be as sad as he can and still be alive. I would respectfully suggest to our pessimistic friends not to regard the foregoing facts as mere platitudes, or as trifles which can be dismissed with a shrug of the shoulders. On the contrary they are great and important world happenings that to every thoughtful man should have a deep significance. In the history of the past six years is discernible the mighty irresistible, onward, triumphant march of the forces that make for righteousness. Let me state a significant fact. Huxley declared that Gladstone had the "greatest intellect in Europe." And yet Gladstone firmly adhered throughout his long life to the truth of the doctrine of the plenary inspiration of the Scriptures. We therefore, who are deemed to be too old-fashioned to even associate with the religious "smart set" of to-day, when we read the name of clergymen and laymen who have declared against this doctrine, can set over against the lesser minds the "greatest intellect in Europe," and we can calmly hold on our way in the full assurance that "the impregnable rock of Holy Scripture" can still breast the most tempestuous waves of criticism and unbelief, and will continue to stand unshaken and immovable until Time shall be no more."

J. C. SMITH.

AN EXCELLENT MEDICINE FOR LITTLE ONES

Baby's Own Tablets are an excellent medicine for little ones. They are a mild but thorough laxative which sweeten the stomach and regulate the bowels thus bringing relief in cases of constipation, indigestion, colic, colds and simple fevers. Concerning them Mrs. L. J. Chiasson, Paquetville, N. B., writes:— I have found Baby's Own Tablets excellent for my young baby in the case of constipation and colic and it gives me great pleasure to recommend them to other mothers." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

ST. JOHN'S MADE A PRESENTATION TO FORMER RECTOR OF THE PARISH

ST. JOHN'S SCHOOLHOUSE WAS FILLED WITH AN ENTHUSIASTIC GATHERING.

In spite of the downpour of rain St. John's schoolhouse was filled Thursday night with an enthusiastic gathering of members of the congregation to bid farewell to the Rector and Mrs. Davidson. It was spoken of generally as one of the most warm-hearted gatherings which had met in the schoolhouse, and the warm regards of all present to the spiritual leader of so many years standing were abundantly manifested. The chairman, Dr. G. S. Cameron, formally welcomed the congregation and Canon Forneri led the devotional prayers. Songs were very ably rendered by Mr. Johnson, ("The Village Blacksmith,") Miss Quartermaine ("The Floral Dance,") and Mr. Olive ("Friar of Orders Grey") accompanied by Mr. R. J. Devey. All the numbers were well received.

Read an Address.

The Rector and Mrs. Davidson were then called forward and Mr. G. A. Aylmer, on behalf of the congregation, read an address expressing the feelings of the congregation and he presented Archdeacon Davidson with a very handsome cheque. Mrs. Davidson, at the same time, being presented with a beautiful bouquet of sweetheart roses.

Archdeacon Davidson, who on rising, was received with a burst of enthusiasm, was evidently much touched. After expressing his warm gratitude, not only for their handsome present and the presence of so large a number on a wet evening, but also for the affectionate personal presents received from the members. He gave a brief outline of the history of St. John's from his arrival in November, 1888, when Peterboro and the church were in so different positions, the population of the town being then only 10,500. He paid a warm tribute to his predecessor, Rev. J. W. R. Beck, especially for his great enterprise in the complete renovation of St. John's in the year 1882, when both the church and the services were thoroughly modernized. At that time there was little religious co-operation or connection between St. John's and the city and from the very first he set before himself a policy of community work against much advice believing that he had a distinct mission to Peterboro as well as to St. John's parish and this policy, he declared, he had striven consistently to follow and looking back from it, the greatest results of his ministry have come and the greatest pleasure and satisfaction received.

He believed that to-day St. John's was beloved by many who never entered its walls and that the citizens generally felt that the beautiful old church built in the very infancy of the town was the valued property and possession of Peterboro generally. Of this the presentation of the chimes was a striking proof. The Rector then referred to the enterprising work accomplished in by-gone years and he recalled the great fellowship banquet given by the congregation in 1906 to all of the ministry and congregations in this city. He spoke of the praiseworthy work within the congregation of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew. He spoke too of their entire freedom for over 20 years from any ritual differences or controversies and the devotional tone of the services of the church in which every worshipper was absolutely free to give expression or not he desired to his or her heart's devotion. St. John's had stood for a thoroughgoing churchmanship combined with continuous efforts towards wide Christianity. Splendid assistance had been given him by the organists, Dr. Davies, Mr. Seward, Mr. Rogers, and others, and of later years Mr. Devey, men of stirling worth and merit.

In regard to his departure he realized more than ever the wealth of affection with which he had been surrounded and which he so warmly reciprocated. In spite of this he felt convinced that his departure was for the best interests of the work which his successor would press forward to a much higher point than yet reached. There was now an evident disposition, he said, on the part of the congregation to throw themselves with greater zeal into the work of the church and indeed its welfare for the next few months would largely depend on the loyalty and enterprise of the laity.

A Wider Field.

He pictured a splendid wider field of usefulness for St. John's giving a fine lead to the whole district of which they should be the inspiring centre. He referred to Rev. Canon Forneri who has assisted him, in very endearing terms. He closed with a repeated assurance of his increasing gratitude and interest in the old church.

Mr. Edgar, Sunday School superintendent, spoke feelingly of the departure of the Rector and Miss S. Davidson and Mr. P. Davidson and Miss Rush on behalf of the school presented the two young people with mementoes of their service and hearty good wishes for the future.

The chairman, Dr. G. S. Cameron, who presided with his usual grace, spoke a few words of appreciation at the cheery and hearty tone of the gathering and called on the People's Warden, Mr. J. A. Aylmer, who outlined the policy to be pursued if the church was to continue the advance already made. A greater enterprise and co-operation were distinctly called for at the present time as well as a greater manifestation of Christian kindliness. The meeting was a good augury for the future. Mr. F. D. Kerr was then called on and his effective address with its underlying humor was greatly enjoyed. He said that in looking over the distant past to-night women had been the inside pillars while men had been too often the outside buttresses of the church, but this condition was now changing. He tastefully expressed the feelings of the congregation for the rector and his family and the loss which was being sustained through his departure. The citizens generally joined with the congregation in their appreciation of Rev. Davidson's interests in and services to the community and the congregation might well be proud of the position enjoyed by the church through this line of work which must be pursued still farther.

Col. Jos. Mills joined with the other speakers in the sentiments uttered, and as an older member of the congregation referred to its history. Whoever was appointed no one could take the Rector's place in the hearts of many of them, for he was endeared to them as having in many cases baptized, confirmed, married members of so many families, and had also performed the last sad rites for those who had gone before.

There was a great deal to be done in improving the life and warmth of the congregation. Mr. A. J. Roberts gave reminiscences of his boyhood days and personal associations with the clergy dating back to the days of Mr. Clementi Smith, and spoke also of the wonderful work accomplished in the past through the Brotherhood of St. Andrew which was now to be revived. With deep regrets for the Rector's leaving there was bright hopes for the future.

Refreshments were then served by the young people, under the direction of the C. W. A., who had amply provided for this part of the programme, in addition to making the schoolroom a fairy land, and the chairman heartily thanked all who had worked so effectively for the success of the undertaking.

The singing of "God Save the King" terminated one of the most satisfactory meetings ever held in the Sunday School.
Tuesday next.

THERE is a harmony in dress quite as attainable as in music—and quite as desirable. There may be discordant notes that clash unless one is discriminating with that good taste which spells elegance and comfort.

Hosiery that is chosen without regard to fit and texture may be the jarring note that puts the whole scheme of dress out of tune.

Mercury Hosiery is manufactured not merely as an article of clothing that covers the limbs but with regard to the requirements of particular people. First of all, comes quality of material, then the careful designing that makes for perfect fitting, and added to these the refinements, such as lack of seams, that harmonize in the finest finished hosiery product in Canada.

PRICES UNCHANGED ON LOCAL MARKET

WEATHER HAD ITS EFFECT—DAIRY PRODUCE.

Doubtless to-day's dull market was due to the cold, damp weather, and it presented a strange contrast to that of last Saturday, when the temperature was hovering around 85, and the large crowds that attended the market were imbued with considerable of the sunshine. Buyers and sellers alike were blue to-day, and remarked in no uncertain terms about the "bad weather." There were not many buyers at 10.30 o'clock, although the produce seemed to be selling more freely than at an earlier hour. There were barely half the cars or rigs that graced the square last week in evidence to-day. The proportion of the basket market was much the same as last week.

Potatoes Plentiful.

Potatoes were the biggest bulk of produce on the market. The price was $1.40 and $1.50, generally the latter. The potato crop is just being marketed in any quantity, and there is little hope that the price will remain at this level. The tomato crop is practically over; most of the farmers had three, four, or half a dozen baskets of late varieties that seemed too summery to be exposed to the chill in the waggons to-day.

Beets and carrots were only 5 cents a bunch, radishes and parsley, bunches of three or four winter onions were the same price. Winter onions by bulk were 60 and 70 cents, and by the bushel $2.00 and $2.50, or by the bag $3.25 and $3.50.

Cauliflower were 10 and 15 cents, and were very plentiful. Turnips sold at 5 cents a piece; peppers at 4 for 10 cents. Celery was 15 cents a bunch, or two for 25 cents. There were some red cabbage at 10 cents.

Plums at Ten Cents.

Plums sold at 10 cents a quart. There were bushels of apples on the market, of many varieties—Wealthies, St. Lawrence, and Wolf Islands predominating. The price was 25 cents a peck, or 40 cents a basket. The winter varieties are just coming in, and in a couple of weeks these should be at their best. Crabapples are about over. What baskets there were the farmers asked 25 cents for. Only one waggon had grapes. They were 25 cents a heaping peck measure, the same price for the blues or greens. Peaches in the satin dresses were all too thinly arrayed to brave the cold to-day, but there were a few baskets on sale at from 60 to 90 cents.

Pumpkins, melons, citrons, squash, were to be had a-plenty at 10 and 15 cents a-piece. Canteloupes, "nutmegs," were 5 cents, or some asked 25 cents for four or 25 cents for three. They were mostly very tiny, but there were some that could compare favourably with their American cousins. The pumpkins at 10 cents were of a stupendous size.

Dairy Market.

Chickens to-day were 5 cents up over last week's price of 30 cents. A nice pair of "alleged" pullets could be had for $2.25. Some of the birds appeared to be of doubtful age, and a few lady judges of fowl smiled quietly when the farmers' wives assured them that the birds displayed were only of "tender months."

Butter was 68 and 70 cents. "I can buy them on Charlotte Street for less than that," one lady told the woman selling the butter.

Eggs were from 65 to 70 cents.

In the auction mart a few pieces of well-worn household furniture, a washing machine, and a few tools were all that the auctioneer could rouse up for his weekly sale.

WHEN BONE DRY LAW COULD BE EFFECTIVE

(Canadian Press.)

OTTAWA, Oct. 2.—In connection with the taking of a provincial plebiscite under the Canada Temperance Act it was stated to-day that while results will be available locally on the night the vote is being taken, as would be the case in an ordinary election, the official results will require to be posted by the chief electoral officer, Col. O. M. Biggar. Should the province vote in favour of the prohibition of importation of liquor, such prohibition will not come into effect until the date which shall be set forth in a proclamation to be published in the Canada Gazette after receipt of the official report of the plebiscite

BUCK JONES

Buck Jones, the new sensation of the screen, who comes to the Regent Theatre next Thursday in his latest William Fox production, "Forbidden Trails," has risen from the job of cowpuncher to the position of a motion picture star whose extraordinary horsemanship and daring thrill the most unemotional of theatre-goers.

Born in Vincennes, Indiana, Buck at an early age tired of the quiet life of that town, and migrated to Red Lodge, Montana, to join the Triangle Bar Ranch. Here he remained six months as a cowpuncher; then he enlisted in the Sixth United States Cavalry. He saw service in the Philippines, where he was wounded in battle. Subsequently, when fully recovered, he was transferred to the Army Air Service, in which he remained until his discharge in 1913.

During his service on the Triangle Bar Ranch, Buck became noted as a rider; so following his discharge from the army he cast his lot with Miller Brothers' 101 Ranch as a trick rider in their wild west show. He broke horses in this country for the French Government soon after the start of the European War, but later went to France, where he was attached to the staff of a French General.

During his service overseas he thrilled many notables with his daring and stunts as a horseman—among them being former Premier Clemenceau of France, King Albert of the Belgians, former President Poincare of France, the King and Queen of Great Britain, and King and Queen of Italy. According to advance reports, this latest Buck Jones picture is the greatest of thrillers.

CALEDONIAN FOOTBALL CLUB MEETING

A very important meeting of the Caledonian and Athletic Football Club will be held in Woodmen of the World Hall on Wednesday evening at 7.30 prompt. All signed players, committee, members and supporters are requested to attend. Please remember, 7.30 p.m.

SHOWER GIVEN BY THE LOCAL WOODMEN

MR. AND MRS HEATHER WERE THE RECIPIENTS.

In honour of Mr. and Mrs. Heather (nee Eva Nesbitt), a large representation of the Woodmen of the World gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ivey, 415 Stewart Street, last evening to extend to the bride and groom their congratulations, and to present them with a miscellaneous shower.

During the earlier hours of the evening music and dancing were indulged in, and about half-past ten, a miniature truck, gaily decorated in red, white and blue, with a side decoration of the initials W.O.W., and laden with costly and useful presents, was drawn in by Master Kenneth Ivey, while little Miss Graham, in the costume of Cupid, and bearing a bow and arrow, completed the charming scene.

Though completely taken by surprice, Mr. and Mrs. Heather made graceful speeches, thanking their friends for their generosity. Each gift was opened by the young couple, and the donor personally thanked by Mrs. Heather. The groom's gift to the bride was a beautiful seal coat.

Dainty refreshments were served in the brilliantly decorated dining-room by the hostess, and each of the guests was given a piece of wedding cake. The remainder of the evening was spent in games and dancing, the guests reluctantly departing in the small hours of the morning, after a hearty vote of thanks, moved by Mr. S. Jackson, had been unanimously passed.

A STRIKING TESTIMONIAL

Mrs. R. Collins, 213 Wheeler Ave., Toronto, says:

Gentlemen,—For over eleven years I have suffered with kidney and Stomach Trouble, and during that time I have treated with different doctors but they did not seem to help me. About five years ago I was advised to try Dr. Henderson's Herb Treatment and Special Stomach Tablets. I purchased two boxes and took them according to directions and I am pleased to inform you that in about three months time I was completely cured. I firmly believe that I would have been in my grave long ago if it had not been for them. You can use this testimonial for the benefit of others who are suffering in the same way. I will do all that I can to recommend them to others.

Dr. Henderson's Herb Tablets and Special Stomach Tablets are for sale at Warne's Drug Store, Peterboro. Price 25c, 50c and 1 per box. Stomach Tablets $1 per box. Ask for Pamphlet and free sample of the Herb Tablets.

HAWAII BROUGHT TO THE GRAND

MILDRED CLEMENT COMING TO THE GRAND NEXT WEEK.

The Toronto Sunday World has the following to say of Mildred Clemens, who appears at the Grand next week with a company of gifted musicians:

Genius, it seems, is the common trait of the members of certain families. No man would have become more humorously sarcastic than Mark Twain if he had ever had occasion to compare Hawaiian music and dancing as the greater part of the western world knows it with the pure harmony and the graceful movements of the Hawaiians as they sing, play or dance in the moonlight that showers down upon their own wonderful islands.

To a cousin of Mark Twain, Miss Mildred Leo Clemens, the people of Toronto will owe an opportunity this week to listen to true Hawaiian music, in all its native freshness and allure, and to see the "Ulululi," the "Puili" and "Hula" dances presented with the charm that has delighted Hawaiian assemblies during many generations.

In the spring of the present year, Miss Clemens became suddenly aware of the delight that so many people in her world were taking in the fascination of Hawaiian melody and in the witchery of Hawaiian dancing.

She went to Hawaii to find those musicians who could charm the most critical of audiences. Miss Clemens found Ane Hila, whose gracefulness is still as betwitching as that of her ancestors in the warriors dance 'the sacred bamboo dance, or in the interpretation of old Hawaiian legends. Keoni and Solevini Panui, versatile brothers, masters of the guitar, ukelele, steel guitar and mandolin, and vocalists of considerable fame in the native circles of Honolulu, offered to come with her. Kamaki Pahu, a thorough musician and leader of the Hawaiian Glee Club of Honolulu, was persuaded to leave the environment that had developed his genius.

In Kahaia Pahu was discovered the soloist who had accompanied Prince Kuhio, Hawaii's delegate to congress, on his last tour of the island, and who, to-day, is one of the most honoured men of his beloved land.

Knulei Poina Ole, generally acknowledged to be a master of the steel guitar in the islands, will captivate all lovers of Hawaiian music by the magic of her playing.

To present the flower of a race's genius without the lovely background in which it was cradled would be to lose much of the close sympathy that exists between the blue mountains, the rolling surf, the fair fields, pulsing nature, and the inspiration of people attuned to all the rhythm in the life about them, the thunder of the sea, the explosion of a volcano, the hum of the insects.

Miss Clemens flew over the famous Diamond Head and Waikiki Beach, in fair Hawaii, that she might best present pictures of those agencies which have infused into the Hawaiians such wonderful interpretive genius. At Massey Hall on each night of this week, with the exception of Friday night, and on Wednesday and Saturday afternoons, there will be an opportunity to spend an evening within the paradise of Hawaii and listen to ethereal creations that its beauties have inspired.—Sunday World.

This will appear at the Grand on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week.

THIS PRODUCTION IS PLAYING TO CAPACITY EVERYWHERE

"SAN TOY"

F. Stuart-Whyte's elaborate revival of the famous London Gayety Theatre musical comedy success, "San Toy" will be the offering at the Grand Theatre on Saturday, October 9th.

Mr. White has imported an English company of unusual excellence for this Canadian tour, and has provided a production of exceptional beauty and gorgeousness.

"San Toy" enjoys the distinction of being the most succesful of all the brilliant array of London Gayety musical comedies and its revival this year should meet with the same satisfying approval that was acorded "Florodora" in New York.

"EXPERIENCE"

The spectacular morality play, "Experience" which has been aptly called 'America's Pilgrim's Progress,' will be presented by F. Ray Comstock and Morris Gest at the Grand to-night. Certainly George V. Hobart achieved a new classic when he adapted the frame work of the ancient morality play to the modern stage, but instead of imitating the old begies of Bunyan's day, The Giant Despair and "Death on a pale horse", he peopled his play with modern types, who talked up-to-date "wise chatter" instead of the doleful, stilted blank-verse dislogue of the old times.

Youth, instead of "Christian", starts out on the pilgrimage of life but instead of being besieged b doctrinal doubts and seeking salvation, he is frankly in "pursuit of happiness"—a right guaranteed to everybody by the American Declaration of Independence. He meets such real perils and temptations as beset the average Youth of to-day from any small town who goes to "the city" to seek his fortune. These influences are named after their leading traits—for instance—Pleasure, Slander, Fashion, Beauty, Deceit, Excitement, Frivolity, Passion Intoxication, Poverty, —but if they were labelled with conventional patronymics the play would be a regular drama, instead of a spectacular allegory in true dramatic form.

Impersonated by the specially selected case of character actors and stage beauties who typify all the feminine graces—the play rivals the finest Follies for its color, comeliness and comedy, while on the dramatic side of it is as tense and thrilling as Shakespeare. While retraining many old stage favorites, the management has reinforced the cast with a number of en-coming young recruits.

Messrs. Comstock and Gest, original producers of "Experience", have provided for its seventh season revival a complete new equipment of novel scenic and lighting effects and, —what will interest the ladies more,—brand new costumes of the latest imported Paris and London models, such as have not been seen even on Broadway as yet.

HOCKEY FORECASTS.

At a meeting of the Whitby A.A.A. it was announced that two teams, intermediate and junior, will represent this town in the O.H.A. this season. The advisability of securing a coach was also considered, and it may be that a capable tutor will be obtained.

According to information received here, "Flat" Walsh, Fahey, and Cook, of iKngston, will play hockey for the Soo this winter.

There has been much speculation as to where Walsh would locate, several teams having been anxious to land him. An official of the North Bay Hockey Club, who was in town last week, claims that the Bay team will be well financed this winter, and that three of the players of last year's Michigan-Soo lineup would play for the railway town. The Sudbury team appears to be sticking together, although Shorty Green has received offers from Brandon, and Charlie Lanlois from Sault Ste. Marie.

DATE CHANGED

The South Central Home and School Association will not meet on October 4th but October 11th at 8 p.m., when a programe will be given and diplomas presented to successful pupils in the recent entrance examinations. Parents and others interested are invited to attend.

IN MEMORIAM.

In memory of C. Q. M. S. J. H. Williams, late of the 93rd Batt., killed in action Oct. 2, 1818:
Two years ago ot-day our deepest sorrow came.
One of the bravest, one of the best,
While doing his duty was called to rest.
Thy will be done. 'Twas hard to say
When the one we loved was called away.

Investigation Into New York Tragedy Produces Arrest

FOREIGNER ARRESTED IN PITTSBURG—HAD QUANTITY OF RUSSIAN LITERATURE.

(Canadian Press.)

Leon Konkel, steam fitter, the man who gave the Pittsburg authorities information which led to the arrest of Florean Zelenaka, of Brooklyn, in connection with the Wall Street explosion, told the Department of Justice agents here to-day that while he was travelling from Cincinnati to Pittsburg with the suspect, the latter informed him that he had explosives in his suit case, and gloated over the Wall Street explosion. Later, Konkel said he saw dynamite in Zelenaka's suit case in the hotel.

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.— Renewed vigor was instilled to-day in the investigation of the origin of the mysterious Wall street explosion on Sept. 16th as a result of the arrest at Pittsburg yesterday of Floreen Zelenaka. The Department of Justice agents said they attached special significance to the arrest. Immediately the government investigators learned of the arrest they started an investigation at the Brooklyn address given by Zelenaka and early to-day ascertained that the man left his little room in the heart of the foregin section an hour or so before the disaster occurred.

When he left he carried a reddish yellow bag and left in his room a quantity of Russian literature, said to be of a radical nature. He had once been employed by the Hercules Powder Company.

MORE ARRESTS EXPECTED.

(United Press.)

PITTSBURG, Oct. 4. — There is enough dynamite secreted in New York to blow the whole city up, says a suspect in the Wall street case. More arrests are expected.

PLEASE PAGE MR. BIGGS.

Residents of the city and county are anxious about the appearance here of the Hon. Mr. Biggs, who promised to pay a visit to look over the roads of the county with a view to making some improvements in this locality. Unless the Hon. Mr. Biggs reaches here in the course of a very short while, it will be too late to do any effective work. Those who might influence Mr. Biggs in getting here at an early date, would be doing a great service, and it would be greatly appreciated by those who are interested in the Good Roads Movement.

One Year For Theft

TWO MEN ACCUSED PLEADED GUILTY IN POLICE COURT TO-DAY.

One year at hard labor in the Burwash Reformatory was the sentence given Seaborne Goodmurphy, charged with receiving money which he knew to have been obtained under false pretenses, and George Atwater, charged with obtaining money under false pretenses ,by Magistrate Dumble in police court this morning.

Atwater and Goodmurphy hail from Picton, where they are alleged to have stolen a car from Goodmurphy's uncle in July. The car was brought here and sold to A. C. Young for $150. The police identified the car as the stolen one and the two men were apprehended in Rochester, N.Y. They will be charged in Picton with the theft of the car.

Both pleaded guilty to the charge laid against them here.

TRADERS ARE MOVING INTO ARCTIC REGION.

Favourable Reports From Mounted Police Patrols.

(Canadian Press).

OTTAWA, Oct. 2.—There is a steady movement of traders into the interior of the Arctic region surrounding Coronation Gulf, according to reports received at the Royal Canadian Mounted Police Headquarters from Inspector S. J. Wood, who is officer commanding the district of Herschell Island. He has forwarded reports of patrols made into the interior and along the shores of Coronation Gulf by Staff Sergeant Clay and Constables Brockie and Cornelius.

Inspector Wood states that there are already seven white traders in the district along the coast east of Port Epworth, Tree River, and these traders are gradually increasing their radius of operations. "It is only a matter of time," Inspector Wood writes, "before we must open another detachment still further east than our new one at Tree River."

STEPS TO RELIEVE THE POWER SHORTAGE OVER TRENT CANAL DIVISION

GOVERNMENT AGREES TO LET DOWN STORAGE WATERS OF TRENT CANAL.

BELLEVILLE, Oct. 4. — Power shortage in the central Hydro district caused by lower water in the Trent River, daily grows worse, and manufacturers concerned are very much alarmed. The district supplied with electric energy by the Hydro-Electric Commission from power development on the Trent River includes territory from Oshawa to Kingston and between Belleville and Peterborough. Some weeks ago when power shortage, owing to lower water in the Trent, first became noticeable, Hydro officials coped with the situation by cutting off power from industries for short periods alternately, and the inconvenience was inconsiderable. Gradually the situation became worse, however, until it was necessary to shut power off for days at a time. Most of the industries in the Bay of Quinte district have been working at high pressure getting out orders, some day and night, and enforced closing down has caused heavy financial loss, besides throwing many out of employment.

Manufacturers of the Quinte district, upon investigating the situation, found that more power could be secured by driving water from the storage system of the Trent Valley Canal system in the Upper Lakes, and through Gus Porter, K.C., Parliamentary representative for West Hastings, applied to the Government at Ottawa for relief. Mr. Porter laid the matter before Premier Meighen, members of the Cabinet, and the Department of Railways and Canals, with the result that an arrangement was reached whereby the Department of Railways and Canals will permit storage waters of the canal system to be let down and reduced for power purposes to the extent of one-tenth of one foot per week from now until the present critical condition is relieved by fall rains or otherwise.

Signed Agreement.

In order to protect the Government from possible actions for damages to private power developments or otherwise, manufacturers of the Bay of Quinte signed an agreement relieving the Government and the Department of Railways and Canals from all claims for injury or damage that may arise in consequence of lowering the water in storage lakes. Several of the largest industries in Belleville were closed down almost the whole of last week and 1,500 employees thrown off work. Orders are being cancelled, and the prospect is discouraging.

The fact that the Hydro-Electric Commission supplying the power is a Provincial institution and that control of the storage waters is vested in the Department of Railways and Canals under the Dominion Parliament, complicates the situation.

TAG DAY OCTOBER 9TH

Already the farmers are commencing to remember the Children's Aid Society, and on Saturday R. T. Scott, of the Township of Asphodel, brought in a large bag of potatoes, for which the Society extends its thanks. Who will be the next?

Mr. G. W. Powell, local agent, supplies the following reasons why the citizens should give their hearty support to the Children's Aid Society Tag Day on Saturday:

The after effect of the Great War has so unsettled certain classes of the community that added burdens have been put on the Society. As is a well-known fact, mistrust has arisen between father and mother and the children have been left to suffer; but in every case where an honest effort has been made to reform the home, and it was considered safe, the children have been returned.

Illustration: Two bright girls, whose mother was dead, suffering under a father's abuse, left home, and to-day are fighting their own way in the world, and by the help of the Society will make good. The eldest is already assisting in church and Sunday School work. Considerable numbers of the Society's wards went to war with other braves, and some of them are sleeping in Flanders Field. One whole family, whose father was killed in the war, and their mother died of the flu, were taken over by the Society, and some already have been adopted and are living in beautiful homes, and will be well educated.

At one time the value of a child to the state was rated at $1,000, but that is only a small fraction of their real value. One of the Society's wards, who had no home to back her, was successful in winning a gold medal from the University of Toronto some years ago. And one of our wildest girls, after years of careful training, is now the mistress of one of the best farms in an adjoining county.

NO PROSPECTS HERE FOR CHEAPER BREAD UNTIL THE NEW YEAR

LOCAL BAKERS SAY LINDSAY PEOPLE USE A CHEAPER GRADE OF BREAD.

"From the present unsettled condition of the wheat and flour markets there is nothing to warrant a drop in the price of bread at this time," stated several local bakers to The Examiner this morning, but there seems to be a feeling amongst the bread manufacturers that in a few months, probably about the first of the year, when the Western wheat floods the market, the price will drop.

In Lindsay the price of bread has dropped a cent, and is now 23 cents wholesale and 26 cents retail.

In Montreal a similar drop has been registered.

Mr. J. H. Gilgour, of the bakery company of Tros. Gilgour & Son, when asked to-day how it was possible to drop the price in Lindsay, stated that the price there had been forced down because of some trouble between a co-operative store that bought a bakery in Toronto and went into the bread business for itself, and the Lindsay bakers. The bread, he declared, was of a lower grade than that sold by Peterborough bakers, and for this reason they could sell it at 26 cents. Nevertheless, Lindsay bakers dropped their prices to correspond.

"We could make a 20 cent loaf of bread, but the people wouldn't buy it." Canadians and Americans, he stated used the highest grades of bread of any nations, and the people of Peterborough demanded a high-grade bread.

Depends on Export.

The flour they use, Mr. Gilgour said, was made from Government wheat, and there had been very little drop in the price of it. It was in the lower grades that the greatest drop took place. About the first of the year, when the Western wheat is obtainable, he believed a drop would come. However, he added, everything depends on the export business. If there is no great demand for Canadian wheat, a possibility which seems remote now, there will be a surplus of grain on the market, and the price in consequence is sure to drop, and the price of bread in the same ratio. He declared there was no combination amongst the bakers here, and stated firmly that if they could see their way clear to cut the price they would.

James Dutton, president of Wm. Stock & Sons, also stated that there was nothing to warrant a drop in the price of bread at present. There had been slight drops in the price of some of the flour, but these were wiped out by the increased freight rates. The market, he said, was in a difficult condition. People believed that the drop in flour in the Chicago market should be reflected in the price of bread here, but Mr. Dutton pointed out that American wheat had been higher than Canadian, and the drop in price had only brought the price of flour in Chicago down to the level in Canada. He did not expect any drop in the near future, but like Mr. Gilgour, was of the opinion that at the beginning of the year there would likely be a downward movement in price.

"Playing Safe."

The manager of the Peterborough Bread Company, Mr. J. J. Corbett, pointed out the unsettled market and the high wages still demanded by labour as reasons why the price of the bread in Peterborough could not be cut. They were only buying their flour as they needed it, he said, and the other bakers stated this morning that practically every company in the city was doing the same to "play safe" in what had all the appearance of a falling market. Mr. Corbett felt that the prospects were for a lower wheat market, and that the price of bread would in due course be lowered, but not until the superior quality Western wheat was milled and on the market, the end of this month or some time in November.

The housewives, on reading the big black type headings in the newspapers announcing the great drop in flour and wheat prices, have decided evidently that they would do well to buy no more bread tickets. The bakers state that this has been more noticeable during the last week or so, and the delivery men have been swamped with small change. In this stand of the housewives is reflected the public attitude in all their buying, whether it is bread tickets or automobiles. All through the different branches of industry the same situation of careful buying prevails, and by this very attitude prices are being forced down because of the inevitable law of supply and demand.

There are many housewives baking bread this summer, the bakers assured The Examiner this morning. This is probably due to the cheapness and plentitude of potatoes.

AN INTERESTING DEMONSTRATION WILL BE HELD

CAREY & INGRAM. 448 GEORGE STREET, WILL HAVE NEOLIN REPRESENTATIVE ON WEDNESDAY AND THURSDAY.

An interseting demonstration of rebuilding worn shoes so that they will give months of additional wear, will be given at the Boot Store of Carey & Ingram, 448 George street, on Wednesday and Thursday, October 6th and 7th., by a skilled Neolin Operator. If those who have shoes that need re-soling, will gather them up and take them to the above address on Wednesday or Thursday they will be examined and you will be told whether the repairs are justified or not.

See the demonstration anyway, it will be interesting, and should be profitable to you.

SOME OF THE INNER WORKINGS DISCLOSED AT FORT WILLIAM CONVENTION.

(Canadian Press.)

CALGARY, Oct. 4.—That the One Big Union of Canada during the five months from January to May last was receiving a per capital tax on a membership of but 10,510 instead of reputed 41,500 and that no per capita tax has been paid in many cases since the first of June and that the withdrawal of lumber workers of British Columbia from recent convention, because of differences with the executive meant the withdrawal of membership of over nine thousand are some interesting details of the inner workings of the one Big Union disclosed in a report of the convention at Fort William and given out the Canadian Press by an authoritative source. Financial statement presented at Fort William convention it is stated, showed balance on hand of $162.25.

SMALLPOX IN ENNISMORE.

A resident of the township of Ennismore has written a letter to the Examiner, dated September 23rd, in which he states that he feels the Board of Health for his township is not doing its duty as regards the smallpox patients that are within the borders of the township of Ennismore. He says that for the past seven or eight months, during which cases have developed, there has been no quarantine, and feels that the Council should go into the matter thoroughly in order that the disease may be stamped out just as speedily as possible.

A Strange Situation

MANY PARTIES NOMINATE CANDIDATES FOR PROVINCIAN LEGISLATURE IN NEW BRUNSWICK.

(Canadian Press.)

FREDERICTON, N.B., Oct. 4. — One hundred and eight candidates have been nominated in New Brunswick Saturday for the eighth Provincial Leigslature, according to official and unoffcial reports received here.

There are 48 seats in the Legislature, divided between 17 constituencies, and 37 members of the last Legislature are included amongst the candidates nominated to-day.

Never in the history of the province has there been such a mix-up of parties and candidates as the present election has produced ,there being candidates in the field representing the Government, Opposition, United Farmers, Labor ,Returned Soldiers, several forms of independents, and some who represent combinations of parties.

In but one country—Madawaska—has there been an election by acclamation, while in only four constituencies is there to be a straight party fight between Government and Opposition parties. The Government's candidates were elected by acclamation in Madawaska, but this advantage was balanced by the Government party failing to nominate complete tickets in Carleton and King's Counties, where, instead of three, they nominated only two candidates in each.

There are straight fights between Government and Opposition in St. John City and County, in Alberta and Gloucester Counties. In Victoria, Sunbury and Kent Counties there are straight fights between the Government and United Farmers, and there are three-cornered fights in King's, Queen's and York Counties, Moncton City and Restigouche County, there being two Liberal tickets, both supporting the Government, in Restigouche County, where Hon. C. H. Lebillo, a member of former Liberal Governments, has entered the field with W. D. Duncan, of Campbellton, as his colleague, claiming the Government convention to have been "packed."

There are mixed combinations in the field in Charlotte, where the Farmers and Opposition have united; Westmoreland, where Farmers and Labor have united; Northumberland, where Independent Liberals, Conservatives, Labor and United Farmers have combined in a ticket opposing the Government candidates, and Carleton, where a United Farmers' ticket, an Independent, and a Returned Soldier candidate are running.

The poisoning of dogs in some sections of the city has assumed large proportions. One man has lost three dogs recently. Unless the guilty parties cease these outrages, an investigation may be instituted and prosecutions may follow.

LARGE PARTY OF GIRLS HERE TO-DAY

LAST PARTY OF THE SEASON FOR "HAZEL BRAE,"

One hundred and nine little Barnardo girls ranging in years from ten to fourteen, arrived in the city this morning on the C. P. R. train, and were taken immediately to "Hazel Brae." There were some 200 boys in the party too, who went on to Toronto.

The children crossed the oecan on the Scandinavian, landing yesterday in Montreal. Mr. and Mrs. Hobday, managers of the Home, were in charge of the party. The party is the third and last this year.

The children are of course filled with many strange impression of Canada, but they all declare they feel sure they will like living here where there are such splendid big farms and so many woods and lakes and rivers.

Miss E. Taylor, secretary of the Home stated this afternoon that there were many vacancies and they expected to find no difficulty in placing the girls.

MANY PEOPLE WANTED TO KNOW THE BALL RESULTS

As a proof of the interest taken in the Hamilton-Peterborough game on Saturday Mr. Jackson, of the Regent Tailors, who gave out the score by innings on Saturday, states that there were over four hundred 'phone calls, while over the long distance 'phone Belleville, Kingston, Deloro and other Eastern Ontario baseball centres wanted to know the score. The game here next Saturday will attract the biggest crowd that ever saw a ball game in this city, if the weather conditions are anything like right.

THE WEATHER

A remarkable instance of the vagaries of our Canadian weather was to be seen last week, though perhaps unnoticed by some. A week ago yesterday (Sunday, Sept. 26) was the warmest day of this present year. The temperautre was up to 90 degrees in the shade, and the heat was oppressive. Five days later snow was to be seen. While only a few flakes fell here in Peterboro, north of Toronto, around Aurora, Newmarket and Richmond Hill, there was over six inches on the ground in many places. Other sections west of this had a considerable amount. Boys were in bathing the first of the week, and sleigh riding a few days later. At the present time the country has little of the usual fall aspect. There is little of the browned and scorched appearance of the countryside and even the trees seem loath to shed their foliage.—W. P.

TESTS OF AN EDUCATED MAN.

There Are Six, Says Dr. Butler — First Is Correct Use of English.

NEW YORK.—Six traits distinguish an educated man from an uneducated one, according to Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, President of Columbia University, speaking in the gymnasium at the first university assembly held this term.

"The first trait," said Dr. Butler, "is correctness and precision in the use of the mother tongue, gained only by association with good English. The second is noted by those refined and gentle manners which are the expression of fixed habits of thought and conduct."

Sound standards of feeling and appreciation be ranked third in the list, with the power of reflection next and the power of growth fifth. The ability to do efficiently, without nervous agitation, which he found rarest of the six, was Dr. Butler's last test of the educated man.

IRON IN WATER.

The Merest Trace of the Metal Will Impart a Distinct Taint.

What would you consider one of the most powerful agents with which to flavor water? Would it be iron?

A half part per million of iron in water is detectable by taste, and more than four or five parts make a water unpalatable. In some mineral springs iron is the constituent which imparts a medicinal value to the water, but ordinarily it is undesirable.

More than 2.5 parts per million in water used for laundering makes a stain on clothes. Iron must be removed from water from which ice is made or a cloudy discolored product will result. An iron content of over two or three parts per million in water used in the manufacture of paper will stain the paper.

Iron is harmful in water used for steaming, for it is in equilibrium with acids which inside the boiler become dissociated, with the result that the free acids corrode the boiler plates, but the amount of iron carried in solution by most waters is so small that the damage it does to steam boilers generally amounts to little. The removal of iron from water is sometimes easy and sometimes very difficult.

A Little Bit o' Brass.

"It is just a little bit o' brass," laughed a St. Louis girl who keeps house, "but it is a useful little bit. I use it to scrape my dishes before I wash them and particularly my cooking dishes, pots and pans and such things. It can be kept clean so much more easily than one of those wire things or any other arrangement that I have had. It is just a plain, smooth, oblong piece of brass with a small hole in it, and it has smooth edges too. There is nothing to catch or hold any dirt. It does not cut like a knife nor scratch, but removes just what it is supposed to remove and leaves the rest. Moreover, it is not only useful, but decorative, too, hanging here over the sink by the window, where the sunshine makes it look like a little square of gold."

Foundation of Happy Marriage.

In the Woman's Home Companion a writer says:

"It was Jane Welsh Carlyle who wrote these words after thirty years of married life:

"'I married for ambition. Carlyle has exceeded all that my wildest hopes ever imagined, and I am miserable.'

"Science has taught us a great many interesting things about race progress and eugenics, but the fundamental principle of eugenics seems to have discovered itself very early in the history of the race. Healthy children are usually those who are born of happy marriages."

Keep the Weeds Down.

Attack the weeds as soon as they appear in the garden. It is less work to keep a garden clean from the beginning than it is after the weeds have made a good start. Weeds are gross feeders and rob the garden plants of food and moisture they require.

Dandelions, plantain and dock can best be removed from the lawn by cutting them off below the crown. Fill up the holes with earth. Cut the weeds every two weeks and all will soon disappear.

NOTED CHEF CAME TO HATE ALL FOOD

DAINTIES WITH WHICH HE DELIGHTED OTHER PEOPLE COULD NOT EVEN TEMPT RENAUT.

"I couldn't have believed that any medicine would give such wonderful relief as Tanlac has me, after what I had suffered from indigestion," said Joseph Renaut, chef at the Hotel Kennebec, Levis, P.Q., and formerly head chef at Bouillon's famous French restaurant in Montreal.

"I was so bad off for two years that I came to hate the very sight of food. I couldn't eat without suffering afterwards, and frequently had awful headaches. My sleep was broken, and I always felt tired and worn out. My nerves became upset, and I was so weak that I hardly knew how to drag through the day.

"Before I had finished my first bottle of Tanlac, I began to eat like a horse, and could digest anything without suffering afterwards. I am no longer bothered with headaches, my nerves are steady, and I sleep so fine that I get up in the mornings feeling tip-top. After I had an attack of the grippe some time ago, Tanlac built me up and led to my quick recovery."

Tanlac is sold in Peterborough by W. B. Warne Drug Co., Ltd., in Havelock by A. C. Denike, in Lakefield by Tanner Drug Co. Ltd., in Fowler's Corners by W. A. Hunter, in Gelert by A. J. Scott, in Westwood by G. Pringle & Son, in Keene by G. S. Taylor, in Douro by P. G. Towns. (Advt.)

MACSWINEY IS WEARY.

(Canadain Press.)

LONDON, Oct. 4.—Terence MacSwiney passed a fair night, having had several hours' sleep, but it does not seem to have refreshed him much, said a bulletin issued this morning by the Irish Self-Determination League. Doctors do not find much change in the condition of the Lord Mayor except that he is very weary, the bulletin adds. This is the 53rd day of MacSwiney's hunger strike.

The bulletin issued at the Home Office stated Lord MacSwiney was not nearly so well yesterday, but after some sleep last night appeared to be better this morning.

RUPTURE RELIEF

Retention Not Influenced by Age or Length of Time Reports Visiting Expert

Rupture is not a tear or a breach in the abdominal wall, as commonly supposed, but it is a stretching or dilation of a natural opening. J. Y. Egan, 1057 College street, Toronto, the long established Canadian Rupture appliance specialist, will visit Peterborough, Empress Hotel, Saturday, Sunday (all day and night) 2 days, Oct. 9-10.

The "Curatus," the new surgical invention, as now used and prepared to order for men, women and children, will not only retain rupture perfectly, affording immediate and complete comfort, but is intended to assist nature in her work in the shortest time known and at small cost. These new surgical appliances have received highest approval wherever shown, and are designed in accordance with the principals laid down by the world's text-book authorities on this subject producing results without harmful ready-made hard pad and old fashioned steel trusses. Mr. Egan has testimonials from our own section for inspection. If interested, call; he will give you free demonstration and examination of samples. Now is the time to make yourself safe and comfortable for your daily work. Note dates; ask at hotel office for his sample room—tear this notice out now for future reference. 5d-2-4-6-7-8

PRESENTATION TO WILLIAM HARTLEY

CLOSES A RECORD OF 46 YEARS WITH AUBURN.

After an association of forty-six years with the Auburn Woollen Mills, now the Auburn branch of the Canadian Woollens, Limited, Mr. William Hartley has severed his connection with the company. In recognition of long and faithful service the executive of the company presented Mr. Hartley with a watch and chain, accompanied by the following address:

Dear Mr. Hartley,

We very much regret to learn that you are about to leave us, and feel that we cannot allow this farewell without handing you some remembrance of the very pleasant business relations we all have had with you in the past. Will you kindly accept this watch and chain with the very best wishes for the future.

Signed on behalf of the Executive of the head office, Bonner-Worth and Standard Mills.

(Signed) W. TINKER, Sec.-Treas.,
Canadian Woollens, Limited.

From the Employees

The foremen of the various departments also gathered at noon Saturday and on behalf of the employees of the company, presented Mr. Hartley with a well filled purse and the following address:

Dear Mr. Hartley,—

It is with much regret that we learn of the severance of your connection with the Canadian Woollens, Limited, after a long period of service, and wish to express in some slight form our appreciation of the many kindnesses extended to us by you during the several capacities in which we have been connected with you, and ask your acceptance of this purse and contents as a slight token of our esteem.

On behalf of the employees,
(Signed) George H. Weatherstone,
Superintendent.

In reply Mr. Hartley who was taken by surprise thanked his associates for their kind remembrance and expressed the wish that they would give his successor the same generous support he had received as manager of the Auburn Mills. He also thanked the officers of the Company and expressed the wish that they would prosperous future for the Canadian Woollens. Mr. Hartley's resignation took effect on Saturday.

ATTENTION TO YOUR HAIR

If your Hair is falling out, if it is turning grey, if the life has gone from it, you can bring it back by using The French Tonic Delmay's "Vitalene." It makes hair grow, gives tone and life, daintily perfumed, it is not a dye. Price in Canada $1.00 a bottle. Use no other. Sold by Bond Drug Store.

REUNION AT DOWNEYVILLE

INCIDENTS OF COMMUNITY LIFE RECALLED.

A happy re-union of relatives took place on Sunday at the beautiful old homestead of Mr. Charles Downey, of Downeyville. It was occasioned by the visit of Rev. Father James Downey, of Anchorville, Mich., his father and grandfather being natives of Emily. (Downeyville was named after his grandfather, who was the first settler there.)

Rev. Father Downey celebrated Mass, and was assisted by his cousin, Eugene Downey, at St. Luke's Church, Downeyville, after which he repaired to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Downey, where he was met by his many cousins and friends.

Among those present were Mr. and Mr. Charles Downey and their family, Rev. Fr. Guiry, pastor of Downeyville, and his sister. Miss Guiry, Sisters Dominic and Irene, of St. Joseph's Academy, Alex. Downey, of Detroit, Eugene Downey, and daughter, Mrs. Russell Long, of Peterborough, Bart. of Downeyville, Mrs. S. Malone, and Mrs. John Murphy, of Toronto, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. LeHane and daughter Mary, of Sunderland, Miss Nellie Curtin and Miss Rose Clark, of Toronto, Mr. Vincent Dwyer, Mr. J. Dwyer, Mr. Corkery, a life-long friend of the Downey family.

The day was most pleasantly spent in the renewal of associations and the recalling of incidents interwoven in the history of Downeyville.

Rev. Father Downey chanted a Requiem High Mass this morning for the repose of the soul of his cousin, the late Charles Downey, who was accidentally killed some weeks ago at Omemee. He will also chant a Requiem Mass at St. Mary's Church, Lindsay.

Rev. Father Downey left this morning for Toronto, where he will be the guest of his cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. J. Kelly, Redwood Avenue.

ONLY WINE AND BEER TO DRINK SINCE SWISS TOWN LOST WATER

GENEVA, October 2. — The inhabitants of the village of Martigny face the prospect of being able to drink only wine and beer for some time, the result of the town water works being washed away yesterday by a flood which swept through the Chamonix valley, caused by the bursting of a glacier pocket.

The flood is now receding but it will be many weeks before the water works can be rebuilt. The damage done through the valley amounts to many millions of francs, but no lives were lost.

ACTIVITIES AT THE Y.W.C.A.

This week sees the beginning of many of the fall activities at the Young Women's Christian Association. Miss Edith Pryce, the physical director, who took a course at the Chalif School in New York this summer, has come back with many new ideas for the season's work. In addition to the regular gymnasium classes there will be two classes in aesthetic dancing, one for juniors and one for seniors. The clubs are also starting this week and some of the educational classes. The course in story-telling that was given last year will be given again this year if enough desire it. There will also be a class in French, one in English and Arithmetic for those who have not gone far in school, and one in basketry. In Bible study there will be two discussion groups—one for teen age girls to be led by Miss Thomson, and one for seniors under the guidance of Miss Layton. On Sunday evening, after church there will be a sing-song to which the girl are going to bring their boy friends. All those intending to take any of these classes are asked to register as soon as possible.

The following is the schedule for the week:

Monday—4.30, Jr. Aesthetic Dancing Class.

Monday—7.30, Sr. Gymnasium Class.

Tuesday — 4.30, Sr. School Girls' Gymnasium; .600, Athena Club; 8.00, Good Cheer Club.

Wednesday—4.30, Jr. School Girls' Gymnasium; 7.00, Sr. Aesthetic Dancing Class; 8.00, Merry Maids' Club; 8.00, Ladies' Gymnasium Class.

Thursday—7.00, Jolly Juniors; 7.30, Intermediate Gymnasium Class; 8.00, T.M.T.M. Club.

Friday—4.30, Jr. School Girls' Gymnasium.

Saturday—9.30, Junior Gymnasium Class; 10.30, Little Tots' Gymnasium Class; 2.00, Ever Bright Club, Sunshine Club.

DISASTROUS ALPINE FLOOD

50,000,000 Francs Damage Reported From Savoy—Italy Also Suffers

PARIS, Oct. 2.—Damage, estimated at 50,000,000 francs, has been caused in Upper Maurienne, Department of Savoy, by floods which followed in the wake of violent storm on both sides of the Franco-Italian frontier, according to dispatches received here. In the vicinity of Modane several houses were carried away by the flood.

On the Italian side of the frontier great loss was caused, especially in the Garfagnana region, where much suffering was caused by the recent earthquake. Lakes Maggiore and Como overflowed their banks, and sections of the city of Como were inundated, the advices state.

Farther north, in Switzerland, the basin of the Upper Rhine and the Rhone Valley above the Lake of Geneva were devastated by the floods. The Simplon line was in great part submerged and some portions completely destroyed, various sections and many bridges being carried away.

The French and Italian authorities are taking maesures to supply food to the afflicted population.

Down in Deleware hundreds of acres of tomatoes are being plowed under by the growers because of the low prices that they bring.

"If you have a job, keep it." This is the advice tendered by the heads of Chicago employment agencies, who report a surplus of labor.

Women of Canada Testify

Dacre, Ont.:—"I am more than pleased with Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. I was run-down and so nervous that I could not even stay in the house alone in the day-time and tried every kind of medicine I heard of but got no result. One of my friends advised me to take 'Favorite Prescription,' said that it would cure me, and it did. After taking four bottles I felt like a new woman and it is also the very best medicine for a woman bringing up a family. I will recommend 'Favorite Prescription' to any one suffering like I did."—MRS. JOSEPH BEAUDRY, R. R. 2.

WEAK AND NERVOUS

Tillsonburg, Ont.—"I found Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription an excellent medicine for the ailments of women. I had become very weak and nervous. I was just miserable when I began taking the 'Favorite Prescription' and it proved most beneficial. It so completely restored me to health that I have never had any return of this ailment. I do advise the use of 'Favorite Prescription' by women who suffer with womanly trouble."—MRS. GEO. WALKER, P. O. Box 490.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is made of lady's slipper root, black cohosh root, unicorn root, blue cohosh root and Oregon grape root. Dr. Pierce knew, when he first made this standard medicine, that whiskey and morphine were injurious, and so he has always kept them out of his remedies. Women who take this standard remedy know that in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription they are getting a safe woman's tonic so good that druggists everywhere sell it, in liquid or tablet form.

PETERBORO PARTY ARRIVE SAFELY

Port Haney, B.C.,
23rd September, 1920.

The Examiner, Peterborough, Ont.

Re motor trip from Peterborough to British Columbia by Mr. and Mrs. James S. Arnott and children.

We left Peterborough on 22nd August at 5 p.m., in a McLaughlin Four, going by Niagara Falls, Buffalo, Erie, Cleveland, Toledo, South Bend, and Chicago. After leaving Chicago, we drove 40 miles along Lake Michigan on Michigan Avenue and Sheridan Road to Waukegan, thence to Woodstock, Illinois, where we visited three days with Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Lawrie of that city. The roads were very good so far, but rough in places.

After leaving Woodstock, Ill., we travelled through the State of Wisconsin on to St. Paul and Minneapolis, in Minnesota, through Minnesota into N. Dakota, where we saw some fine crops and country and had some good roads. We went through the city of Bismarck, and crossed the Missouri River by ferry to Mandan. In the western part of North Dakota we came to the Bad Lands, where we found the worst hills on our travel, and the land only fit for ranching, and where we saw many fine herds of cattle and sheep.

Leaving North Dakota we came into the State of Montana, going by way of Glendive and Billings and Butte, where we saw the first snow on the mountains. We enjoyed going through the Rocky Mountains, where we saw many wonderful sights, and came over many dangerous places in the passes. Going on west, we came into more good farming country until we got to Idaho, where it was all rough, hilly country. We next came into Washington State to Spokane. After some miles travelling from there, we crossed a desert until we got to Quincy. We crossed the Columbia River on the Vantage Ferry, and coming from there, we had an eight-mile incline to go over until we got up on level country again. Coming on through Washington, we came over the Snoqualmie Pass, where we kept on going up until we were 4,000 feet high at the summit of the pass, and came down through grand forests all the way until we reached Seattle. Here we spent some time taking in the sights, and left for B.C., when we had most of the trip on paved roads, about 200 miles. We crossed into Canada again at Blain City, and in an hour's time we landed in New Westminster.

The first person we met in Westminster was a Mr. Fred Lynch, the old-time Peterboro lacrosse player who gave us a fine welcome. We left for Port Haney, where we will reside but are staying with Mr and Mrs. R. McNea until our furniture arrives. Mrs. McNea is a former Peterborough resident, a Miss Edith Pearson.

We covered 3,650 miles in all, and no tire trouble until within 600 miles of our destination, where we bought one new tire.

The auto clubs have camping grounds in every city in the U.S. with free water, fuel, and stoves. The tourist traffic was very heavy, and the camping grounds are a great convenience. We all enjoyed the trip very much. Our journey was made in twenty-one days, losing seven days by rain and bad roads and visiting friends along the route. Anone wanting to take a trip to the Coast will find going by automobile a very interesting and healthy trip.

Jas. S. Arnott, Port Haney.

WHY A FAD?

A local citizens, referring to "Fire Prevention" Day was heard to characterize the event as "a foolish fad." Why foolish? When it is realized that the average fire loss for the last three years in Ontario averaged over one million dollars a month why should any one refer to an attempt to remedy this condition of affairs as a fad? It would seem from a study of the official figures that there is every need of "Fire Prevention" Day, and of any other step that will awaken the people to a realization of the fact that millions of dollars' worth of property is being destroyed every year through carelessless and neglect. It is a fact that most fires are caused by the accumulation of rubbish and litter, defective equipment, faulty construction and insufficient protection and that the majority of the fires so occurring can be prevented if the hazardous conditions are corrected. That there is much room for improvement in Ontario is evidenced by the official figures which declare that the per capita loss each year in Ontario is approximately $5, while the average annual fire loss in the principal European countries is 35 cents per capital. The difference between the two averages shows exactly why special efforts are being made to awaken the people to a sense of personal responsibility in dealing with this problem.

THE LOCAL BYE-ELECTION.

Has the Federal government forgotten that West Peterborough has been without a member for nearly four months? The failure of the administration to issue the writ for the local by-election made necessary by the resignation of Mr. Burnham, make this question a pertinent one. It is declared in some quarters that the delay has been casued by the difficulty the government has had in securing a standard-bearer in this riding. Mr. Burnham will be in the field as an independent and the Farmers have their candidate ready, but the government forces have not been heard from and the belief is now general that the contest will be put off as long as possible in order that the government may devote more time to the task of persading one of the local faithful that it is his duty to offer his services as a candidate. If this conjecture is correct, the by-election will not be held for some time as there is no indication of haste on the part of any one to rush into the breach.

THE NEW RATES.

It is announced thta last week the shareholders of the Canadian Pacific Railway received quarterly dividends totaling $6,500,000. The publication of such figures as these is ample reason for the general indignation throughout the country at the increases in passenger and freight rates recently authorized by the Board of Railway Commissioners. The average man is asking himself the question why a company that is paying out $26,000,000 a year in dividends on its common stock should need any rate increases. And there does not seem to be any logical answer. The judgment of the Railway Board practically hands the C.P.R. a dividend of 10 per cent. and in addition ten or fifteen million dollars by way of annual surplus. The prospects of a reduction in the cost of living are given a set back by the rates which, as G. R. Geary, corporation counsel for Toronto, told the Commissioners the other day, will have the effect of placing the stamp of approval on the high cost of living and fostering prices where they are at present. "It is an order to add prosperity to over-head prosperity."

The golden wedding of a Cornwill, Vt., couple, was attended by their bridesmaid and best man of 50 years ago, now man and wife.

IN WOUNDED EUROPE.

History shows that great wars are followed by a fight for trade supremacy. For many nations in Europe the aftermath of the world war is a fight for life.

The weakening of population by lack of food and clothing, exposure, mental distress and diseases has prostrated a large part of Europe. Epidemics, typhus in particular, are ravaging many countries. Winter promises to intensify the plague of sickness. From the way it has spread, Red Cross experts predict that, if the typhus epidemic remains unchecked it may threaten the world.

Misery stalks by day and night through the great area between the Baltic and the Black Sea. This territory includes the new Baltic states, Poland, Czecho-Slovakia, the Ukraine, Austria, Hungary, Roumania, Montenegro, Albania, Serbia and Eastern Russia. Doctors, nurses and hospital appliances are pitifully inadequate. Medicines and sanitary appliances are lacking. Food and clothing are not sufficient to make life tolerable; few households escape the burden of disease and bereavement. The spread of typhus is shown by Red Cross officials by reference to Poland and Galicia, where there were 34,538 cases in 1916 and 280,000 cases in 1920 up to the present.

In the Ukraine there are villages with half the population down with typhus. The London Times estimates that Galicia has one doctor for every 150,000 people; what wonder that the mortality there reached this year the alarming figure of sixty per cent? In Jugo-Slavia there are 500,000 wara orphans, 1,000,000 without the care of either parent. Five thousand children have been found wandering liek animals in the Ruthenian Mountains. Europe has eleven million fatherless children who face the future without hope.

Can civilization continue with this weight upon its conscience? Can society anywhere retain useful standards of conduct if the world is not swept out of lethargy and idleness by the crowding miseries of European youth? History offers no spectacle to compare with the appeal of this one to all that is worthy in the human character.

The world organization of Red Cross Societies, schooled by its war activities in gigantic tasks of relief, stands prepared to rescue these perishing peoples. The crusade on which it has entered is the most solemn and deserving endeavor of the present day. Europe was the battleground on which the fight was made and won to make effective the world's protest against militarism. Her suffering populations now are the wounded in a cause which enlisted our sympathy and our honour. We are bound to stand b ythem. The future of the world depends once again upon Europe's salvation.—Montreal Star.

ANNUAL FALL RALLY AT THE Y.W.C.A.

Regardless of weather conditions, over 250 personss attended the annual fall rally at the Y.W.C.A. Friday evening and the entertainment was a big success. The visitors forgot all about the rain directly they came in range of the welcoming blaze in the grate of the central hall of the institution. Added to this the entire hall, green room and gymnasium was brilliant with profuse decorations of salvia, autumn flowers and attractive Y. W. C. A posters.

The Programme

The evening's programme was opened by singing "All Hail the Power of Jesus' Name", after which the devotional exercises were conducted by Rev. W. Harold Young, pastor of George Street Methodist Church.

The guests were then welcomed by Mrs. (Dr.) Scott, President of the Y.W.C.A., who presided. A much appreciated solo by Mrs. George King was followed by an address on 'Club Work' by Miss J. V. Thompson, Industrial Secretary, who advocated the formation of such new clubs as any of the girls could suggest. She said that one of her castles in the air was every girl in city belonging to a club, such club to be subsequently linked up into a federation. Miss Thompson's interesting address was followed by a vocal solo by Mrs. P. A Ferguson and a piano solo by Miss Norma Moore.

Business Meeting

An interesting demonstration of the lines upon which a business meeting of a Y club are conducted, was given by Miss L. Bronscombe's 'Sunshine Club". The dispatch with which each item was finished was an eye opener to many of those present.

Three Adventures.

Six pupils of Miss Edith Price presented 'Little Miss Muffet' dance which was a most enjoyable item. This was followed by an address on "Adventure" by Miss C. H. Layton, who spoke first of the wonderful adventures in which the people of by gone days were permitted to participate, instancing such adventures as a pirate ship might offer. Today she said there are just such interesting adventures waiting for each of us just round the corner if we could but recognize them. First she said there are the adventures in books. To otter such adventures those interested are anxious for the formation of the educational classes at the "Y"; secondly there are the adventures in Friendship, which the "Y" seeks ot promote and which will be encouraged in such metings as the Sing Song services for boys and girls to be conducted at the institution after church in the evening, and lastly there is the adventure in service. She concluded by quoting Margaret Slattery. 'I call you to an adventure; the greatest adventure in all the world. In the name of God I call you to go adventuring in Christianity.

A solo by Mrs. King concluded the first of the programme after which dainty refreshments were served in the Green Room. The rest of the evening was spent in games and music in which all present joined wholeheartedly.

POWER SHORTAGE AFFECTS INDUSTRY

THE PETERBORO TEXTILE AND MILLING INDUSTRIES SUFFERS.

Many of the local industries fear heavy losses should the power shortage continue. Those who have bought large stocks at the former high prices have been endeavoring to run their plants to capacity and unload their stocks before prices drop further. The shortage of power has come like a bolt from the blue to these industries and is preventing them from unloading their heavy stocks as fast as the lower prices demand.

The textile and milling industries are particularly hard hit as most of them are carrying heavy stocks of raw material which must be turned into finished products and disposed of at once if losses are to be averted.

Should the shortage continue for any great length of time it is feared that many local industries will suffer more than ordinarily would be expected under prevailing power conditions.

This opinion was voiced in strong protests at the meeting of the interests affected by the power situation which was held on Friday afternoon. The factories which are able to reduce their power supply without suffering greatly were asked to do so, and every effort will be made to conserve power where such is possible.

It is understood that the Canadian Woollens Limited have several hundred thousand pounds of wood on hand which must be turned into yarn and cloth at once in order to prevent losses due to the lower prices in the textile trade. This company was compelled to practically close its factories on part of Friday and Saturday for lack of power with which to operate.

To a greater or less extent all the local industries are suffering from the shortage of power and the situation is known to be serious in spite of the efforts which have been made to keep the knowledge of conditions from the public.

Optomistic Today

H. O. Fiske, manager of the Utilities Commission, was inclined to be optomistic regarding the power situation when seen by The Examiner this morning. The recent heavy rains have added greatly to the volume of water in the streams and may help materially in improving the situation, he stated.

Every effort to conserve power is being made by the large users and as far as is practicable and convenient each factory is economizing on power consumption.

The manufacturers' committee of the City Council has been taking steps to remedy the situation and will report on its findings at the meeting of the Council this evening.

DRY GOODS MARKET OFFERS NO HOPE OF EARLY REDUCTION IN PRICES

QUOTATIONS FOR COTTON GOODS FOR DELIVERY NEXT SPRING ALL FROM 25 TO 30 PER CENT HIGHER —CARPETS AND RUGS ALSO ADVANCED.

FINE WOOLENS FIRM

Reports of price reductions and of conditions that might inspire the hope of an early and widespread decline in the cost of living do not apply to many mercantile lines which retailers declare to be still strongly entrenched and likely to move up to a higher level. In the dry goods business this is particularly noticeable.

And while eager to give their customers the benefit of any recessions that materialize, dry goods merchants point out that in nearly all their buying they are confronted with a rising market and that precludes price-cutting. Reading of the low trend in some markets, consumers have gained the impression that the movement is comprehensive and widespread, and to counteract that notion merchants up and down the country are going to unusual pains to place before the people the exact conditions prevailing in their particular markets.

Dry goods men admit that the Japanese silk markets has been weak, but they say that this is practically the only line of goods in which the advantage has turned toward consumers. However, the Dry Goods Review, the authoritative journal of the trade, in their latest issue report that the Japanese government is contemplating action to stabilize the disorganizing silk market. They are considering a plan of guaranteeing a minimum price of the raw material and also of limiting production so as to prevent overstocking and the resultant glutting of the market with unsold goods. These proposals have strengthened the market and have been followed by recent advices in the quotations to Canadian buyers.

Cotton List Higher.

The public probably understands that most merchants have to place their orders months in advance of deliveries. This custom has been emphasized by the scarcity of gem jars for preserving. They were ordered by grocers last summer and autumn, manufactured in the winter and delivered to the retail trade in the spring, although the public's demand was not felt until the first fruits reached the market. In the same way many lines of materials were bought by the retail trade before the first signs of price-cutting appeared. Hence, stocks on the shelves were bought at the level and reports from manufacturers indicate a further upturn rather than recessions. Canadian cottons for the spring of 1921 are quoted at prices ranging from 20 to 30 per cent higher than the last list, according to the Dry Goods Review. Awnings show a 25 per cent. increase, cottonades 25 per cent., ticks 30 per cent., galateas 25 per cent., flannelettes 25 per cent. and denims 25 per cent. Other staple lines show proportional advances.

"It must not be forgotten," says the Dry Goods Review, "that the demands of labour have not abated, and that fresh costs have been added by increased freight charges and fuel costs and by the eight-hour day. Wholesalers say there is still difficulty in getting goods, and they are not placing futhre orders because they will not be accepted."

Merchants, however, have been buying lightly because of their expectation of lower prices.

Carpets and Rugs.

Travelers for carpets and rugs say their prices are the highest that have ever confronted the trade. A Wilton that cost the retail $80 last spring is priced at $92 for the spring of 1921. A tapestry square that sold at $21 a year ago will be $25.50 for next spring. Any slight reduction that may result in the price of lineoleums will be swept away by the increased freight rates. There is no brighter outlook in the linen market, and prices of notions are firm. Curtains and draperies are in the same position, and buyers for spring goods are paying slight advances that will be increased by the freight rates and cost of fuel.

The Woolen Market.

"There is no chance of fine woolens coming down," said a buyer who recently returned from England to the Dry Goods Review. "Coarse stuff will drop, I think. Materials that I paid 28s. 6d. for last October are now selling at 35s. The general advances on fine stuff are easily 50 per cent. over a year ago." Authentic reports of the recent wool sales in Bradford, England, go to show that prices for the week ending August 26th were higher than for those ending the previous week and had reached a higher level than those for many months back. These are the wools that enter into the finer men's suits and the ladies' suits. Canadian buyers state that conditions in woolen centres in England are unsettled and that if the strike threatened by the miners materializes it will mean almost the immediate shutting down of the great mills, thereby throwing many thousands of people out of work.

RED GRIP ON CO-OPERATIVES.

Three Hostile Directors Sentenced to Long Prison Terms.

LONDON, Sept. 30.—The Russian Soviet Government's determined efforts to obtain dominance over the Russian co-operative trading societies has been advanced a step further through the conviction and imprisonment of three Directors of the Centrosojus, according to information received by M. Berkenheim, Manager of the London office of the co-operative societies.

These men, M. Koroboff, Lavrikhin and Kusnetzef, were the only members of the Centrosojus Executive Committee who did not owe their positions to partisans of Nikolai Lenine, the Bolshevik Premier. They were arrested some time ago, together with sixteen other persons, including two former members of the Cabinet of Alexander Kerensky. They were brought up for trial before the Supreme Revolutionary Tribunal.

The three Directors were sentenced each to fifteen years internment for sending goods to Admiral Kolchak and Geieral Denikin, while the other men on trial received sentences ranging from three years to life imprisonment.

Orders Red Cross Train to Proceed, Despite Opposition of Berlin.

BRUSSELS, Sept. 30.—On the eve of the departure of a sanitary train destined for Poland, from the Belgian Red Cross, Germany notified the Government it would not permit the train to pass through German territory. The Belgian officials replied that the train would leave as scheduled, but Germany reaffirmed its decision not to allow its transit through the country.

The incident caused much discussion among the delegates to the International Financial Conference here. Former President Ador of Switzerland, who is President of the Financial Conference and also of the International Red Cross, addressed a telegram of protest to the Berlin Government.

Despite the German threat, the train left for Poland at 6.45 o'clock, following a big demonstration at the station by a great crowd.

CANADIAN SHOES FOR CANADIAN PEOPLE

The Price of Shoes
vs.
The Price of Other Things

IT has been said that "comparisons are odious." And so they are—as a rule.

But it has been so repeatedly stated that shoe prices are "excessive" or "ridiculous," that we feel justified in making a comparison between the present price of shoes and the price of some other things that we buy.

Advance in price of Iron and Steel	124 per cent.
Average wholesale advance in all commodities	146.4 "
Advance in price of Fruit and Vegetables	153.2 "
Advance in price of Textiles	206.2 "
Advance in price of boots and shoes	118.2 "

Shoe prices had to increase—naturally. The price of everything that enters into a pair of shoes has gone up tremendously in late years. For instance, hides have advanced 154.6 per cent. in six years. One of the principal materials used in making fine shoes has advanced 500% in the same period. In fact, there is no single commodity used in the manufacture of shoes that has not advanced by leaps and bounds during late years.

But in spite of this a close margin of profits, efficient manufacturing methods, and keen domestic competition, has resulted in lower prices than the above advances would seem to make inevitable.

These comparisons will show why shoe prices are higher—they have simply followed in the wake of general advancing prices.

But, in Canada, they are neither "excessive" nor "ridiculous," but proportionately lower than most other things.

The Shoe Industry in Canada is an efficient and competent one—making shoes for the Canadian people which, grade for grade, are as low, or lower in price, as shoes obtainable in any Country.

¶ Canada produces footwear of every desirable type, and of standard quality in all grades. When you buy Made in Canada Footwear you are assured, at fair prices always, of the utmost that modern skill can produce in Comfort, Service and Style.

ONE DEAD AND TWO BURNED IN SILO FIRE IN ENNISMORE

SPARK FROM ENGINE BLOWN INTO THE SILO SAID TO HAVE BEEN THE CAUSE—EDWARD CORKERY MISSING, BELIEVED TO BE LOST.

ON T. CROUGH'S FARM

DEAD IN ENNISMORE FIRE.
Edward Corkery, 16 Years Old Seriously Burned.
John Brick and Timothy Crough, Farmers.

One man was burned to death and two others are in a serious condition as a result of a fire this afternoon in the silo on the farm of Timothy Crough, just across the floating bridge in Ennismore.

Meagre reports received at 3.30 were to the effect that Edward Corkery, Junior, a boy of 16, was dead, and John Brick and Timothy Crough, both well known farmers of that township, had been seriously burned.

It was stated the men were filling a silo on Mr. Crough's farm, and that a spark had probably got into the silo, where the men were at work spreading and packing the chopped up corn as it was blown from the chopping machine. No details of the tragedy were available and it was also unknown whether the farm buildings had caught fire

The first intimation in the city was a telephone message to the Duffus garage for Rev. Father McAuley.

Mr. Crough's property was known as the Telford farm, a short distance from the bridge across Chemong Lake

Barns Burned

The barns on the Crough farm have been burned according to a late report from Bridgenorth. Mr. Timothy Crough, owner of the farm was brought to St. Joseph's hospital about four o'clock. It was also stated that no trace could be found of young Corkery and it was believed that his body had been consumed in the flames.

John Brick was also hurried to St. Joseph's hospital and is reported to be in a precarious condition. A strong wind blowing this afternoon swept the fire from the silo to the barns which viewed from the Smith shore appeared to be completely destroyed.

LATER DETAILS.

By a telephone report received at 4.15 o'clock, it was learned that the three men had made their way safely out of the silo. Passing through the barn, Mr. Crough was carrying young Corkery on his shoulder. At that time the barn was on fire and the horses were excited and kicking and struggling to get free. It is believed that one of them kicked Mr. Crough, compelling him to drop the boy.

Further information on that point is lacking, but there was ample confirmation that young Corkery's body was lost in the burning barn.

14 HORSES DEAD.

Many of Mr. Crough's neighbours had gathered at his farm to-day to help him fill his silo with ensilage for the winter. They had brought their horses and stabled them. This fact accounts for the loss of fourteen horses, which were burned, and also seventeen pigs.

Some of the horses belonged to farmers living nearby who were helping Mr. Crough fill his silo.

It was definitely learned that John Brick was not in a dangerous condition, but Mr. Crough himself is said to have been very seriously burned, and there are doubts that he will recover.

It was not positively known whether the fire had been caused by a spark being blown into the silo or into the barn.

The latest information seemed to indicate that the fire had started in the barn, and that th men were trying to save the horses.

WHEAT PRICES ARE DROPPING

PRICES GO BELOW TWO DOLLARS A BUSHEL.

(Canadian Press.)

CHICAGO, Oct. 4.—A drastic cutting of prices took place on the wheat market to-day. In some cases nearly 12 cents a bushel was slashed from the values, December delivery bringing, at one time, only $1.96, as against $2.07 at Saturday's close.

Increased liquidation by the holders was in progress, especially from the rural sources.

(Canadian Press.)

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 4. — The flour prices continued their downward trend when the mills effected a reduction of from 10 to 60 cents a barrel for family patents here to-day.

A low wheat market is responsible for the decline, the millers said.

NEW FACTORS IN MILK SITUATION

POSSIBLE DROP IN FEED PRICES—CONDENSED MILK FACTORIES.

(Canadian Press.)

OTTAWA, Oct. 4.—It was intimated at the Board of Commerce to-day that while judgment in the Toronto Milk Case is likely to be given shortly a number of new factors have entered into the matter which must be considered before the Board can decide what the price of milk for Toronto should be. New factors include a possible drop in the price of feeds in sympathy with the lower price of wheat and closing down of number of condensed milk factories owing to a decrease in export orders due to the exchange situation.

KETCHECUM FISHING PARTY OFF FOR TROUT

Ketchecum Lake will be the happy fishing "grounds" until about Thanksgiving day for a local party, including Messrs. W. H. Dunsford, E. A. Peck, Henderson Nesbitt, Vincent Eastwood, Webber Turner, W. Archie Jackson, who has been the Ketchecum crowd's chef for years and knows all their whims and fancies of appetite, has preceded the main force, which is leaving to-day. "Bill" Comstock undertook to arrange for the weather and came through this morning with a golden brown October brand that made the last strings of business a burden and a bother after all the fishing tackle had been burnished and packed away.

Graham that he and Leslie Nunamaker have never forgotten their hunting and fishing trip at Rice Lake last year, and that as soon as the World's Series is over they will arrive in Peterborough for another glorious couple of weeks.

Mr. Graham has arranged for a party, and they have secured Mr. T. Hooper's lodge at Rice Lake for the week or fortnight they will spend in search of lunge and bass and the elusive king of waterfowl, the black duck.

VERDICT FOR $30, THE VALUE OF TWO SHEEP

In the Division Court this morning before His Honour, Judge Huycke, with a Jury, the action brought by William J. Condon of Douro against Alexander Watts of Dummer, was tried.

Mr. Condon contended, that while a drove of sheep belonging to Mr. Alex. Watts, passed his property last winter, on the way to being shipped to Indian River, two sheep, the property of Mr. Condon, got into the drove being driven by Mr. Watts for shipment.

The jury found that the sheep were absorbed by Mr. Watt's drove and gave a verdict for the value of the two sheep, $30.00, in favour of the plaintiff, Mr. Condon.

G. N. Gordon appeared for Mr. Condno and F. D. Kerr appeared for Mr. Watts.

THE THRONE IN THE HOME.

Where Two Should Rule as One to Insure Real Happiness.

"A man may build a throne for the woman he loves," says the Mother's Magazine, "but he will find that to make her a queen he must mount it beside her, for only where two rule as one can either hold true sway. Whether married or single, we do not live unto ourselves alone. All the world somehow is affected by what we are, and in the married state we have a greater obligation than merely to keep the peace or to observe the conventions or to demonstrate how we can improve upon God's law of life and love.

"It is well that we should use every God given power of mind and spirit, every quality and grace and virtue at our command, before and after, in order to live up to the privileges and responsibilities of marriage. But marriage fortunately is a thing of the heart rather than of the intellect, and it is our wrong attitude of mind toward matrimony that would drag it down to our own level and limit of comprehension and make it a merely human mistake instead of a divine gift.

"If we would make it a blessing instead of a curse, if we would have it encompass all of our needs in joy and sorrow, if we would have it endure with us through life and eternity as the sublime fact of our existence, we must live up to it hour by hour in a spirit of faith and hope and charity."

BOMBS FROM AIRPLANES.

Simple Device That Aids In Dropping the Missiles Accurately.

At the numerous aerial bombing schools pilots and observers are taught how to drop bombs accurately on stationary and moving objects on the ground and on captive balloons. Bombs of all classes are used, from the eight pound high explosive bomb to the 200 pound bomb as well as the phosphorus and rochambite bombs.

The instrument that is used in directing the placing of a bomb on the object aimed at is a simple device and is provided with several adjustments that can be made almost instantly. One of these gives the speed at which the machine is traveling, another is an ordinary water level, and both in conjunction with two mirrors which show the pilot the ground below serve to aim the bomb. The wind has to be seriously considered when dropping bombs, and most bombs are dropped up wind.

Bomb dropping is a most important branch of the air service, and pilots have been known to drop bombs on enemy trains and transports from fairly good heights and also on the vital parts of bridges and on depots and railway junctions, munition plants, aerodromes and submarine bases.

The Track of the Earth.

If the sun and earth and the earth's orbit could be seen, then the track of the earth would be a spiral around that of the sun. Go take a broomstick, wind wire around it like thread on a spool, take out the stick and stretch the coil until the space between each turn is, say, one-third of an inch and make a hundred turns of the wire. Then this spiral or coil would represent the track of the earth through space during a hundred years. The sun moves toward the star Vega at a speed of twelve miles per second and carries the earth, all the planets and their moons along. But they all move around the sun at the same time and therefore traverse spirals, represented fairly by extended coils of wire.

A Comparison.

A German military critic said that Robert E. Lee was America's ablest soldier. But when Lee's army of invasion came up into Pennsylvania it didn't cut down a tree, trample a garden or steal a pig. Indeed, Lee was so good a soldier that he said the burning of Chambersburg was a military blunder for which he was not responsible.

The officer in all America's wars who did the most burning, hacking and robbing was Benedict Arnold after he had turned traitor to his country. But the chief effect of it was to solidify the colonists into an effort to win the Revolution.—Girard in Philadelphia Ledger.

LUCK IN AN AIRPLANE.

Curious Bit of Good Fortune That Saved an Army Aviator.

Many an army aviator owes his life to miraculous good fortune, like the British airman whose escape is described in "Tales of the Flying Services" by C. G. Grey.

An officer went out on a bombing expedition and met a German machine. In order to save weight he had left his small arms behind him, but he thought it was a pity to pass by a good target, and so he decided to drop a bomb on him. But dropping a bomb on a swiftly moving mark is not the same as firing at a fixed point. So he missed the German. Unfortunately for him, he also exposed himself to the fire of the enemy and received a rifle bullet in the thigh.

To be strictly accurate, the bullet struck his trousers pocket, hit a five franc piece, broke itself and the coin and distributed the assorted pieces of metal about the lower part of his body.

Feeling that he was badly hit, the pilot shut off his engine and dived for the ground from a height of about 6,000 feet. When he was a thousand feet from the ground he espied some aeroplanes in a field, and, not knowing whether he was over German or French territory, he made up his mind to land among the aeroplanes, certain that if they did happen to be German machines he would be well treated by the flying corps.

Two hundred feet above ground he completely lost consciousness, but in some curious subconscious way he made a perfect landing right alongside of a British motor ambulance. So well did he land that for some minutes no one troubled about him. When they did go to look they found a badly wounded officer in a state of collapse.

He was promptly put into the ambulance and sent off to the hospital. There it was found that the bullet had cut a large artery and that the pilot would have bled to death in a few minutes if the bullet had not also cut a muscle, which had sprung back and wrapped itself like a piece of elastic round the artery and formed, as it were, an automatic tourniquet.

Certainly Not.

Depository and Depositary.

The dictionary defines depository as a warehouse, a depository for goods; a clerks' office for records; a warehouse for storage, etc. A depositary is a person with whom anything is left for lodging in trust; as a trustee; a guardian; one to whom a thing is left for safe keeping. All national banks in the United States that are designated by the government for deposits are rated as depositaries; and the government invariably uses the word (depositary) for any money, bonds, etc., deposited.

Sea Lions Not Harmful.

Some time ago the conclusion was reached in Canada that the sea lions were inimical to the salmon fisheries and a bounty was placed upon the sea lion. Since then it has been discovered that the sea lion's destructiveness was so slight that its general slaughter was not warranted and that they offer possibilities of commercial exploitation in the matter of guano, leather and oil and really are worthy of protection. They are very timid and easily frightened away from the fishermen's nets.

Too Much to Bear.

"Tell him," her bluff old parent went on, "that I don't object to his staying here and running up my gas bill, but that I do object to his carrying the morning paper away with him when he leaves!"

TAX RATES FOR NORTH MONAGHAN

RATEPAYERS WILL HIT A NEW HIGH LEVEL.

North Monaghan Township Council met on Friday last and after going into the estimates for the year fully and cutting them wherever posible, arrived at the tax rate for this year. The general county rate this year is 6.2 mills, the township rate is 3.1 mills, the general Public school rate is 4.9 mills. The Public school rates in the school sections are as follows: No. 1, 1.5 mills; No. 2, 11.3 mills; No. 3, 6.4 mills; No. 4, 2.7 mills. The Separate school rates are 16.2 mills and the school rate for May's school is 16.2 mills as compared with 12 mills last year. The total tax rate for those in School Section No. 2 is now 25.5 mills. In addition to this there is the tax of $1.25 per day for statute labour that finds its way into the tax bills. Residents of North Monaghan will this year pay the highest taxes they have ever had to contribute to the coffers of the township.

Embroidery is lavishly used and is very elaborate in design. The Balkans, Persia, China and Egypt have all been drawn upon for inspiration.

BUY Long-Term Securities NOW

The Question of the Rate of Interest

A great many people do not realize that the Federal Income Tax applies to the income from securities.

Investors should give thought to this fact.

Those who are taking advantage of present low prices to buy bonds should consider carefully the bonds selected.

The interest return from bonds which are subject to taxation, is in many instances lower, after the Income Tax has been deducted, than that obtainable from tax-free Victory Bonds

All long-term bonds are just now priced low.

VICTORY BONDS are among the best long-term securities available. We recommend those, FREE FROM INCOME TAX, falling due in 1933 and 1937.

As Fine An Assortment of Footwear As We Have Ever Shown

And We Believe the Finest Ever Seen in Peterboro

Ever since we remodelled our footwear department, good footwear has been synonymous with The Cressman Store. We have gone into this business of fitting feet with a determination to do it better than it has ever been done in this city. We have gone into it whole heartedly with a resolve to make this shoe department count for something—something more than a place where shoes are bought and sold—a place where shoes are fitted and customers are satisfied.

A Cocoa Colored Calfskin Boot

It is one of those dressy-looking Boots that Women love to wear. The top measures nine inches in height—this is desirable—the toe recedes nicely, and the toe cap is prettily perforated. The walking heel is sensible, and well modelled. The price is $14.50. This same model can be had in Black at $11.00.

One of Our Finest Boots Is of Black Vici Kid

It is a shapely last, with a recede toe, plain toe cap, 9-inch top, and invisible eyelets. The soles are Goodyear welted, and the Vici Kid vamps and uppers are wonderfully supple. The price is $16.00. Widths from AA to D.

A Brown Calfskin Boot with a High Louis Heel

This one is ideal to accompany the New Suit. It is gracefully made on slender lines, but can be had in widths from AA to D, so you will be sure to get your size. There is a pretty perforation on the toe cap, and the top is a desirable height—nine inches. The price is $14.50.

The same can be had in Black at $11.00.

Brogue Oxfords in Genuine Old Country Style

Nothing better is made in the way of Brogue Oxfords. The leather is a fine but heavy Calfskin, and is patterned with the usual perforations that are typical of Brogues. The heel is low and the sole is heavy and waterproofed. So effective is the waterproofing that you need not wear rubbers. The price is $15.00, and there are widths from AA to D.

A Semi Brogue Oxford

for Women who like the Brogue idea, but consider the genuine one a little too mannish. These are of dark Brown Calfskin, and the style can be described as Americanized French last. The heel is an inch and a quarter high, and the soles are Goodyear welted. The price is $13.00, and the widths are AA to D.

We Are Proud of This Oxford of Black Calfskin

It is gracefully shaped, with a pointed toe and a low, walking heel. The sole is light weight and Goodyear welted. There is a perforated pattern on the toe cap. The price is $11.00. Widths from AA to D.

Evening Slippers for the Dancing Feet of Young and Old

The newest of these is of Black Buck, or Suede, as it is more commonly known. It has a pointed toe and a Louis heel, and shows the new high front or Louise pattern, as it is properly called. It is priced at $15.00, and can be had in widths from AA to D. There is also Cloth of Silver for those who must have something light in colour to harmonize with their Gown. These are priced at $14.00, and can also be had in widths from AA to D. If your taste turns to Black Kid or Patent, there is a whole host of pretty ones, at prices that range from $10.00 to $13.00.

Tweedie Boot Tops Can Be Procured Nowhere Else in Peterboro

And because of this fact, we feel that we must keep a wide assortment of colours, and give the people of Peterborough the best service possible in, Tweedie Boot Tops. You have choice of the following colours Light Grey, Dark Grey, Champagne, Fawn, Beaver, Dark Brown, and Black.

"Hurlbut" and "MacFarlane" Welts Are the Best Boots Ever Worn on Children's Feet

If makers in every line of merchandise put as much quality into their goods as these manufacturers do, there would be fewer unworthy products on the market.

They are made of solid leathers, soundly stitched, and designed to give comfort to growing feet.

Hundreds of mothers have told us how they wear twice as long as ordinary Shoes.

SUNDAY SERVICES AT GEORGE STREET

In accord with the district plans for Missionary Sunday, George street was favored yesterday with powerful sermons on this subject from Rev. F. E. Malott, B.A., B.D., of Trinity church in the morning, and Rev. G. E. Ross of Mark street, at the evening service.

Morning Service.

Rev. Mr. Malott based his appeal on Matthew, 24, verse 14, "And this Gospel of the Kingdom shall be preached in all the world for a witness unto all nations." He pointed out in introducing his subject that the early apostles reported the last week of Jesus' life more fully than the earlier years, because the events of that week seem to have been more indelibly imprinted on their memories. Jesus told them that the Gospel must be preached to all nations, and they took His command seriously. Every member of the early church was a missionary.

While the early church was missionary, as it grew in numbers, wealth and political power, it became increasingly difficult to make all its members missionaries, so there came a day when the church ceased to be missionary.

Missions the Supreme Business of Church.

The 20th century ushered in a revival of missionary effort. Men are now coming to see that missions have become the supreme business of the church, because—

1. Jesus made it our supreme business. In the 7th century Mohammedanism threatened to blot out Christianity. Through the efforts of Peter the hermit, the spirit of all Europe was aroused, resulting in the famous crusades. Peter the Hermit's challenge was "God wills it." It is difficult to say that God willed the crusades, but it is not difficult to say God wills modern crusades.

2. It is the only enterprise big enough to challenge manhood, womanhood and wealth of church to-day. These form the life blood of the church. Just as in the human body, if the life blood becomes congested, there is something manifestly wrong.

Hoarding Resources.

The early church was not rich in resources but it is conceded that no church has since used its resources so fully. When a church hoards its wealth and power, instead of using them for the glory of God, it loses its health and prosperity.

3. The nature of our religion is such that the propagation of it becomes as obligation. Max Mueller said that there are three missionary religions, Buddhism, Mohommedanism and Christianity. Be it said to our shame, the missionary siprit of Mahommedanism is twenty times greater than Christianity. For every Christion missionary there are 20 Mahommedan missionaries.

4. The consummation of His Kingdom depends on the propogation of the Word and our obedience to His commands.

Pithy Extracts.

Lord Wolsely on his return from India, was asked by a minister if he considered it worth while to send missionaries to India. His reply was, "Look to your matching orders." Christians have marching orders, "Go into all the world and preach the Gospel to every nation."

Many churches are too much given to warning themselves and not the outside world.

The missionary enterprise is the biggest achievement before us. To give the Gospel to 1,600,000,000 means sacrifice, work and the spirit of Christ.

The Yellow Peril.

We need the missionary task not merely to save the world but to save ourselves. The yellow peril to-day is not the yellow races but the wrongful hoarding of yellow gold. The great danger to Canada and other nations of great wealth and resources is abundance. History proves that nations that have become wealthy and hoarded it for their own use, have declined.

Evening Service.

"The Call of Moses" was the subject on which Mr. Ross based his remarks, taking his text from Ex. 4:2, "And the Lord said unto him, "What is that in thine hand?" And he said, "A rod." Moses was reluctant to go down into Egypt to save the Israelites from the hand of Pharaoh, feeling that he was incapable of undertaking such a responsible task. God pointed out to Moses, however, that He would be with him and enable him to use the abilities he possessed.

The keynote of the sermon was the fact that no matter what our talents, or position in life, God can use us to assist Him in the working out of His plan for the world's salvation.

When God wanted men in Bible times to meet some great crisis he called such men as Noah, Abraham, Daniel, Elijah, Moses, Joseph and they served Him with the abilities they had. So to-day we should be ready and willing to serve the Master when He calls us.

God wants men to-day to meet the crisis; who are ready to seand alone, fearless for God, for right, purity, beauty and the glory of right living. He is calling each one of us by name, by His word, His providence, His Holy Spirit to the greatest task mortals have ever known.

This world is going to be brought to God by the big heart—not by the big purse or the big intellect. God is going to save the world by the touch of the human hand as He did in the days of Moses. There are a thousand millions of heathen that we must save by the touch of the human hand.

We can save the heathen world if we will—and we will. If we will "let go" and "let God." He will take all we have and all we are and use it for His glory.

THE BOLSHEVIK ARE IN FULL RETREAT

(Canadian Press.)

LONDON, Oct. 4.—Press despatches reaching Stockholm from Finland according to the London Times correspondent, continue to represent that a state of great anxiety prevails in South Soviet circles. Reports conveyed across the Russian frontier say that the Red forces are in full retreat on both the Polish front and in the Crimea, demoralized, suffering from hunger and surrendering and deserting in large numbers.

Trotzky's efforts to recruit new forces in Siberia and eastern provinces have failed reports say. Peasants in agricultural districts and workmen in towns equally rebell against further reinforcements. Soviet government has instituted forced contributions of clothing for troops. Order says "Let everyone who has two cows, two pairs of boots, two fur caps give one and save the soldiers from perishing from cold.

Models for the street, for the house, for the evening—wraps, hats, blouses—all have been touched by this craze for superb embroideries.

MAYOR CHURCH WILL NOT BE CANDIDATE.

Reconsiders Decision to Run For North-East Toronto Seat.

TORONTO, Oct. 4.—Mayor Church has experienced a change of heart in regard to the North-East Toronto by-election for the Legislature. On Wednesday last he consented to allow his name to be submitted to the Conservative convention and at a meeting of Ward Two Conservative Association in Victoria Hall he announced that he was out to fight the battles of the Hydro and to assist in the reorganization of the party. The Mayor's decision was favourably received. On Saturday he notified the Central Executive that, after consulting his friends, he had decided to withdraw from the contest. Mayor Church considers he can render greater service to the citizens as Chief Magistrate than as a member of the Legislature.

IF BACK HURTS USE SALTS FOR KIDNEYS

Eat Less Meat If Kidneys Feel Like Lead or Bladder Bothers.

Most folks forget that the kidneys, like the bowels, get sluggish and clogged and need a flushing occasionally, else we have backache and dull misery in the kidney region, severe headaches, rheumatic twinges, torpid liver, acid stomach, sleeplessness and all sorts of bladder disorders.

You simply must keep your kidneys active and clean. The moment you feel an ache or pain in the kidney region, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good drug store here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is harmless to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity. It also neutralizes the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is harmless; inexpensive; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everybody should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean, thus avoiding serious complications.

A well-known local druggist says he sells lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.

ART IN WARFARE.

Color Schemes Used to Deceive the Eyes of the Enemy.

Early in the great world war the young painters in France formed what they called the Bataillon de la Camouflage, a battalion whose duties consist of "making up" guns, autos, shelters and even whole landscapes to deceive the enemy's eyes—the aeroplanes. They impart to a munition depot the innocent appearance of a prairie. The 75's under their hands take on the semblance of old trees. Tree trunks and old carts are transfigured by these artists into formidable batteries on which the hostile fire may spend itself. They color the autos to resemble roads or fields.

The grand chief of the Camouflage is the celebrated decorator Forain, who earned his war cross at the front. Nor is this work without its dangers. The camouflageur must repeatedly ascend in avions to judge the effect of his work or to decide on the necessary retouching to be done. He must sometimes advance ahead of the first lines during the night to take measurements which will permit him to imitate exactly a certain tree trunk or a part of a crumbled wall in No Man's Land, which must be copied, molded by clever sculptors and armored the same night to serve as shelters for observers.

Once Was Enough.

Mrs. McLap was about to pull off a social for the benefit of the Civic club.

"Are you going to invite Mrs. Nexdore?" asked her niece.

"I should say not!" answered the old lady. "I entertained her once, and she never recuperated."

Pugnacious Earwigs.

Earwigs are quarrelsome creatures and are always ready to use their nippered tails against each other on the slightest provocation. When the light of a lamp falls upon them congregated at the sugar some are more scared than the others and scuttle away, when each earwig which they nearly touch in flight will savagely swing back its tail and nip in the air with fury. Sometimes the blow falls upon a neighbor, which instantly retaliates, and half a dozen furious nips are rapidly interchanged. But fighting weight quickly settles the quarrel, the smaller earwig scuttling off and the larger pursuing him for several inches, running backward and reaching savagely to right and left with his nippers. Yet these same earwigs, so vindictive at meals, will be crammed, all sizes together, into any hole or crack by day.—London Globe.

A Real Experience.

"Yes," said a traveling man, "I was once out of sight of land on the Atlantic ocean twenty-one days."

Another man spoke up: "On the Pacific ocean one time I didn't see land for twenty-nine days."

A bald man knocked the ashes from his cigar and contributed his bit:

"I started across the Kaw river at Tokepa in a skiff once," he said, "and was out of sight of land before I reached the other side."

"What!" demanded the man who had spun the first yarn. "The Kaw is not more than 300 feet wide at Topeka."

"Quite true," said the bald man quietly. "The skiff turned over, and I sank twice."

HAMILTON WINS THE FIRST BATTLE SECOND GAME HERE ON SATURDAY

PETES BEATEN 5 TO 4 IN HARD FOUGHT STRUGGLE WITH WESTERN ONTARIO CHAMPS AT HAMILTON ON SATURDAY —BREAKS FAVOURED THE WINNERS, WHO WON OUT IN THE SEVENTH.

WEATHER CONDITIONS BAD

In weather conditions that were much more suitable for rugby than baseball, and with a half gale blowing which made things unpleasant for fans and players alike, the Peterboro team, champions of Eastern Ontario, were beaten by 5 runs to 4 by the Plowites of Hamilton, Western Ontario champions, at the Harvesters field, Hamilton, on Saturday afternoon, in the first game of the final series, for the amateur baseball championship of Ontario.

The second game will be played at the Riverside Park on Saturday and should be the biggest baseball event Peterboro has ever staged. A win for the Hamilton team would give them the championship—a Peterboro victory means the tie up of the series, and a third game on neutral ground. Viewed in the light of Saturday's battle a third game will be needed before the issue is decided.

The Peterboro crew made a desperate effort to get the edge in the series by winning in Hamilton Saturday. They did not succeed but they threw an awful scare into the western Ontario title holders, and if they had got any of the breaks would have undoubtedly turned the trick. As it was it was anybody's game. The Plowites got the jump on the Solomon crew by getting two runs in the first innings but the Petes came back with a rally in the third, and assisted by three fielding misplays, shot four runs in and took the lead 4 to 2. The figures remained unchanged until the sixth innings when Hamilton tied the score, and in the seventh they succeeded in registering the winning counter.

Ivan Miller, the Plowites' elongated speed ball artist, who has not lost a game this season, did the gunning for the winners and the Petes are willing to admit that the big fellow has more smoke and stuff than Cannon Ball Ed. Scott. Miller was found for eight hits, the majority of them in the early stages, and all but one of the infield variety—but he fanned eleven of the Petes and had perfect control, not a single complimentary being handed out. After the third innings he only allowed three singles and was never in serious trouble from the third on.

Lornie Rose was selected to do the twirling for the Petes, and he made an excellent job of it, although his control was not as good as usual. Like Miller he only allowed 8 hits, several of them scratchy, but he passed three men, and hit another, and one of the free tickets blossomed into a run. Nine of the Plowites succumbed by the strike-out route. Rose's best exhibition was given in the fourth innings, when after the first two Plowites to bat had singled, he succeeded with the aid of a smart play by Max Swanston in holding the enemy scoreless. Behrens, the third man up dumped a bunt into the diamond for a sacrifice, but Swanston dashed out and shot the ball to Murray in time for a force out at third, and then Rose struck out Miller and Mellanby, leaving the base runners stranded.

In both the first and sixth innings, when the winners scored a pair of runs, they were favored by the breaks—not by errors—for they are part of the game, but by those queer little twists in luck that often make the difference between defeat and victory.

In the first innings after Cumpson had been passed, Smith popped a weak fly to short right. "Hap" Harrison could have nailed it easily but left the ball for Holyman. The latter however was covering second for a steal and the ball dropped safely, Cumpson going right around to third, and Smith reaching first. The result was that instead of one out and a man on first, as would have happened ninety-nine times out of a hundred on a similar play, the Plowites had men on first and third with nobody out, and were in a position to break into the scoring column, as they did a moment after.

In the sixth came another bit of misfortune. Reaume opened for Hamilton with a single. With Carroll at bat, Swanston snapped the ball to Harrison, catching Reaume fifteen feet off first. "Hap" did not turn around to tag him, merely reaching behind him with the ball, and Reaume got back safely. Immediately on top of this bad luck, Carroll shot a grounder to short and with a tailor-made double play in sight, Cherrett in trying to hurry up the play lost the ball altogether, and Reaume raced to third, while Carroll was safe at first. Thus the way was paved for another pair of runs, after two chances of killing off the base runners had been lost. A little later in the same innings Walter Jackson misjudged a long high fly from Miller's bat that went for three bases, and the tieing run came home as a result.

To complete the hard luck story, McQueen opened the seventh by cracking a grounder at Tommy Holyman. Just as the latter got the ball in his hands his spikes caught and he fell in a heap, spraining his ankle and putting him out of the game, while the batter instead of being an easy one, was safe. A little later he crossed the rubber with the winning run.

But in mentioning these lucky breaks there is no desire to underestimate the Plowites. They have a smart ball club. Strong in all departments and in Miller a pitching aec whose value cannot be too highly considered seeing that he has not tasted defeat this season. The Petes will have to be on their toes every minute of their game here on Saturday to tie up the series.

Considering the weather conditions there was some nice fielding by both teams, and the Hamilton fans voted the game one of the snappiest and most exciting of the season. Swanston's all round work for the Petes featured. The little backstop had three hits out of four times up, did some fine throwing to bases and fast fielding on several bunts. Ray Rose had several nice catches to his credit in left. Cumpson, the Hamilton catcher, tore into the crowd and made a fine grab of Cherretts foul fly, and Mellanby at short stop, made a couple of fine stops. It was a real battle, well handled by Umpires Kay of Peterboro, and Burke of Hamilton.

The latter will be umpire-in-chief in Saturday's game, with Kay giving the decisions on the bases.

First Innings.

Peterboro—Cherrett with three and two on him flied to left. Murray beat out a roller down the third base line. Swanston bunted safely. Harrison fanned and the base runners advanced when Cumpson dropped the third strike and threw to first. Ray Rose lifted a high one to Miller. No runs, two hits, no errors.

Hamilton—Cumpson walked. Smith singled to short right, Cumpson going to third. Harrison could have nailed the fly but left it for Holyman, who was covering second for a throw and could not reach the ball. Smith stole second, Carroll lined to Ray Rose, Cumpson scoring on the sacrifice fly. Smith tore for third on the throw to the plate, and when Swanston threw wide to third, came on home. Pilgrim fanned. Two runs, onee hit, one error.

Second Innings.

Peterboro—Jackson and Lowe fanned. Holyman grounded to Smith. No runs, hits or errors.

Hamilton—Behrens walked, Miller bunted to L. Rose, forcing Behrens at second. Mellanby struck out. McQueen poped to Cherrett. No runs, hits or errors.

Third Innings.

Peterboro—L. Rose singled to left, just out of Mellanby's reach. Cherrett beat out a bunt. Murray fanned. Swanston singled through short, filling the bases, Mellanby making a great stop. Harrison rolled to Reaume whose throw to the plate was wide and L. Rose scored. R. Rose hit to Mellanby and was out at first, Cherrett scoring. Jackson singled past Mellandy at short and both Swanston and Harrison scored. Miller mussed up Lowe's tap and the batter was safe, Jackson going to third on the play. He tried to steal home and was nailed on Miller's throw to Cumpson. Four runs, four hits, two errors.

Hamilton — Cherrett threw out Cumpson. Smith was out, L. Rose to Harrison. Reaume fanned. No runs, hits or errors.

Fourth Innings.

Peterboro—Holyman and L. Rose struck out; Cherrett beat out a bunt, and stole second. Murray rolled to Miller. No runs, one hit, no error.

Hamilton — Carroll singled past third. Pilgrim duplicated the play Behrens bunted for a sacrifice, but Swanston's quick throw forced Carroll at third. Then Rose struck out Miller and Mellanby. No runs, two hits, no errors.

Fifth Innings.

Peterboro—Swanston grounded to first. Harrison struck out. Ray Rose tapped to Miller and was out at first. No runs, hits or errors.

Rose Hamilton — McQueen fanned. L. Rose threw out Cumpson and Smith rolled to Holyman. No runs, hits or errors.

Sixth Innings.

Peterboro — Jackson died on a smash to Carroll, a fine play at both ends. Smith making a great pick-up of a low throw. Lowe and Holyman fanned.

Hamilton—Reaume singled to Holyman, a bullet-like grass-cutter. Cherrett let Carroll's roller get away, and Reaume went to third. Carroll stole second. Pelgrim lined to left, Ray Rose's nice catch and quick return holding the base runners. On a squeeze play Reaume scored while Rose was throwing Behrens out on a bunt. Miller tripled to deep centre, scoring Carroll with the tieing run. Mellanby struck out. Two runs, two hits, one error.

Seventh Innings.

Peterboro—L. Rose rolled to Miller, Cumpson made a fine catch of Cherrett's foul fly, running into the crowd for the ball. Murray fanned. No runs, hits or errors.

Hamilton — McQueen fanned, Holyman fell in fielding the ball, and sprained his ankle, having to retire from the game. Ray Rose went to second and McCarney to centre, Jackson moving over to left. Cumpson sacrificed; Swanston to Harrison. Smith doubled to right, scoring McQueen with the winning run. Reaume was hit. Swanston picked him off first a moment later, and Carroll missed three times. One run, two hits, no errors.

Eighth Innings.

Peterborough — Swanston singled through the box. Harrison fanned. Swanston died stealing. Cumpson to Reaume. It was a hit and run play, but Ray Rose failed to connect. He then rolled to Smith. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Hamilton—Pelgrim fanned. Behrens singled over second. Miller walked. Mellanby was safe on R. Rose's fumble, Behrens being out at the plate when he tried to score on the play. McQueen rolled to R. Rose. No runs, one hit, one error.

Ninth Innings.

Peterboro—Jackson flied to Mellanby. Ross batting for Lowe, singled to third, but McCarney trying to sacrifice bunted a fly to Miller and Ross was doubled off first. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Umpires, Kay, Peterboro, at the plate; Burke (Hamilton) on the bases.

A FEW NOTES OF THE BATTLE.

The only two extra base hits of the game scored the tieing and winning runs.

Swanston was the leading batter of the day with three hits. Cherrett for the Petes and Smith for Hamilton, were the only other players to get more than one.

Cherrett got the Hamilton crew flat-footed twice on perfect bunts, which he beat out easily.

Cumpson, the Hamilton catcher, was guilty of a "bone-head" play in the first innings when, with Murray on second and Cherrett on first, Harrison fanned. Cumpson dropped the third strike and, forgetting that the batter was automatically out anyway, he threw to first, allowing the base runners to advance.

Harrison could not solve Miller's delivery on Saturday, the big fellow striking out three times.

Lornie Rose's Texas Leaguer in the third was the only outfield hit made by the Petes. The only other ball they hit out of the infield was Cherrett's fly to left in the first innings.

Only three flies were handled by the outfielders of both teams during the game—an unusually low figure. Ray Rose got two of them and the other was captured by Behrens, the Hamilton left fielder.

Manager Solomon made a hit with the third base bleacherites, who gave him a warm reception every innings.

The Plowites had a brass band in attendance. If the team had played as poorly as the musicians the Petes would have won easily.

There were many baseball celebrities present, including Franks Robins, O.B.A.A. president, Ward Patterson, vice-president, S. H. Armstrong, Joe Spring, Buck Hughes and other Osler and Toronto magnates and players.

Micky Murray only had one fielding chance at third base for the Petes and that was on a thrown ball.

Bob Ross did all that could be expected of a pinch hitter when batting for Lowe in the ninth he came through with a single.

Carroll and Smith, third sacker and first baseman respectively of the Plowites, combined for one of the best fielding plays of the day. Carroll cuffed down Jackson's torrid liner and made a quick peg to first. The toss was low but Smith made a fine pick-up to retire the runner.

The cold weather kept the crowd down, and the paid attendance was only a little over 1600. Peterborough will beat that figure on Saturday.

The game was free from wrangling. One or two of the Hamilton players started to "crab" about decisions on balls and strikes, but were effectively put in their place by Umpire Kay.

The Petes arrived in Hamilton on Friday evening. Tommy Moffatt, old Nomad chief and former local sporting promotor, was the only reception committe that met the Central League champs. None of the Hamilton club came round to welcome the Solomon gang.

CHORUS GIRL FROLICS HER WAY INTO HEARTS OF 3 CRUSTY BACHELORS

Popular Association of Show Girls and Lobster Palaces Dispelled by Constance Talmadge in "Two Weeks."

The popular idea of a show girl is a life of ease, of lobster palaces, and midnight frolics, but this is all dispelled in actual realities as shown by Constance Talmadge in 'Two Weeks,' a First National picture adapted from Anthony Wharton's play "At the Barn." It will be shown at the Allen Theatre to-day and to-morrow.

Constance Talmadge and her two chums are of the chorus and half the time out of work. Unconventional, but too strict to overstep the boundaries, they are invited to few dinners, and do their own cooking in a tiny flat which they also keep in order themselves. It is a dull and drab existence, the three often counting the change to find if they have enough to buy the next morning's breakfast.

Then there suddenly comes a great change in fortunes in this story of a little chorus girl who is elevated to stardom by a wealthy young man-about town, who falls in love with her. And as usual he demands payment for financing her and making her the success of the season.

Fleeing from the too ardent wooer, the little show girl takes refuge in the house of three crusty old bachelors, where she spends two delightful weeks shocking them and vamping them until all are in love with her.

"SAN TOY"

One of the most notable importations from England is F. Stuart-Whyte's elaborate revival of the famous London Gaiety Theatre success, "San Toy," which comes to the Grand on Saturday, 9th October — matinee and evening performances.

Mr. Whyte has given this brilliant musical comedy a most gorgeous production, and has engaged a company of English artistes of exceptional ability to sing the various roles.

"San Toy" enjoys the unique distinction of being the most famous of all the long array of successful Gaiety Theatre productions, and the mere announcement that it has been brought to Canada under the personal direction of Stuart-Whyte is sufficient guarantee that it will prove one of the most delightful features of the present theatrical season.

HORSE JUMPED OVER AUTOMOBILE

At noon on Saturday, a horse owned by White Brothers, carters, which was being driven along Charlotte Street, shied at the cement mixer which is being used in repairing the sidewalk, and attempted to climb the side of a large touring car which was standing in front of the J. M. Greene Music Company's store. It was unsuccessful in climbing to the top, but it completely smashed one rear fender, put a deep dent in the side of the car, and ripped the side curtains.

Y.M.C.A. MINISTRELS

In olden times the principal actors in plays were instroduced to the audience before the curtain b a loud voiced announcer or by the owner of the production, who told them the real name of the player and the name by which he was known in the play. How would you like to be introduced to real actors? Very well then, come to the Grand Opera House next Thursday and Friday nights and be personally introduced to the cleverest bunch of minstrels ever brought togeeher. Only in place of the loud voiced male announcer there will be one of Peterborough s prettiest and most talented young ladies.

In the usual amateur show the musical en dof the production is negiected on account of the short period of training, usually two weeks. Frankly the musical feature of the Y.M.C.A. Minstrels is the big attraction and those who enjo real music are assured of a treat this week. Those who are taking part are receiving a musical training which is really worth while.

Be sure to secure your seats and reservations early. Don't overlook the dates, Thursday and Friday next, October 7th and 8th.

G.W.V.A. STILL KEEP CLIMBING UP THE FOOTBALL LEAGUE

COMRADES WON THE TOSS—RYAN SCORED BY PENALTY—LEACH MISSED A PENALTY—SHARMAN AND BURROWS ADDED TWO MORE—COMRADES MADE A GOOD REVIVAL—BURROWS' BEAUTIFUL GOAL—VETS 4, COMRADES 0.

Down at the Exhibition grounds the G.W.V.A. were the guests of the Comrades in a league fixture. The final score was 4-0 in favour of the Veterans. The new referee, in the person of Mr. W. R. Thompson, made his initial appearance before the football public and prompt to time he lined up the teams as follows:

G. W. V. A.—W. Jones, goal; N. Crowe and A. Bishop, backs; J. Neil, P. D. Ryan and J. Peel, half-backs; S. Curtiss, H. Burrows, H. T. Monks, A. Edwards and J. Sharman, forwards.

Comrades—J. Young, goal; R. Jolliffe and R. Leach, backs; John Shaw, H. Cowie and G. F. Poste, half-backs; Fred Hartshorn, M. Dunkley, B. Martin, F. Mallinson and W. Warman, forwards.

The Comrades won the toss and decided to take advantage of the wind. Even play resulted until a break-away by Comrades was checked by Bishop, but the Vets retaliated on the left wing that ultimately brought them the first goal through one of the Comrades' players striking the ball with his hand for a penalty that was converted by Ryan. Time and again Comrades would try to break through the Vets' defence, but they obtained a penalty kick through Bishop accidentally hitting the ball in the penalty area. Leach was brought forward to do the needful but the missed the goals by a few feet. No sooner had this happened than Sharman beat it along the wing to keep four men guessing until in front of goal he beat Young all the way with a rocket shot. Even and interesting exchanges intervened. A break-away on the Comrades' right lacked the necessary finish. Bishop cleared to mid-field, for Leach to block, that left an opportune goal for Burrows from about 18 yards drive. Play ran from end to end with each goal keeper getting an occasional call. Half time, Vets 3, Comrades 0.

Half Time.

On resuming, the Comrades showed a great revival in form to keep the Vets' defence busy during the first twenty minutes of the second half. On a raid, led by Leach and Warman on the left wing, the Comrades player was brought down in the dreaded area by Crowe for a penalty kick. Ben Martin was trusted with the kick that went wide of the mark. Play ran from end to end with nothing of interest to note, except for a few corner kicks and fouls. From a corner kick taken by Sharman into the centre of the goal Tommy Monks had no difficulty in scoring. A few minutes afterwards the Comrades goal received the same play but was cleared by Cowie in the nick of time. G.W.V.A. 4, Comrades 0.

Goal scorers—Ryan, Sharman, Burrows and Monks.

THE CALEDONIANS AND CANADIAN WOOLENS TURN OUT NEW PLAYERS

CRIDLAND WON THE TOSS—THORPE MISSED OPEN GOAL—DINGWALL SERVED FOR CALEYS—HALF-TIME: CALEYS 1, CANADIAN WOOLENS 0—HANNAH MADE IT 3—THORPE AGAIN MISSED GOAL—M'DOWALL ADDED THE FOURTH—JONES GOT WOOLENS ONLY GOAL—CALEYS 4, WOOLENS 1.

In spite of the unfavourable weather for football, a very fair attendance of spectators witnessed the Caledonians and the Canadian Woollens play off a League fixture at Nicholls Oval on Saturday afternoon. The final was 4 to 1 in favour of the Caleys. Prompt to the schedule time Referee Jack Clark called the two captains together for Jack Cridland to win the toss.

The Teams

Caledonians—J. Wright, Stewart McMillan and Sam McMillan backs, H. Frost, J. Calder and Jas. McMillan half-backs; R. Hannah, J. McCrone, J. Dingwall, R. Clark and R. McDowall forwards.

Canadian Woollens.—P. McFadden goal, Jack Cridland and T. Hardie backs, J. Mantgomery, J. Hillman and F. Pickford, half-backs; C. Thorpe, H. Jones, E. Chambers, A. Roberts and F. T. Rappae, forwards.

Cridland Kicked With the Wind

When the game started the rain had stopped and a strong wind blowing that went to the Woollens favour. Dingwall set the ball in motion for Jones to pass out to Thorpe, who put across for Stewart McMillan to mis-kick and Roberts caught on to compell Wright to save a peculiar shot. From the goal-kick Hannah made a bee line for the other goal but Hardie intercepted splendidly. The clearance left Jones an excellent opportunity but McMillan fouled him and Montgomery taking the kick crossed over to Roberts who tested Wright with a left footer.

Excellent Combination by Both Sides

The goal keeper cleared to mid-field for Calder to lash the ball ascross to McDowall. Hillman checked the left winger and cleared to the outside right who compelled Sam McMillan to concede a corner. Thorpe placed the ball up the field for Calder to clear. Hannah and McCrowe played nice combination along the wing but was frustrated by Hardig in nick of time. On mid-field play Cridland, Jones and Thorpe kept passing the ball to one another until reaching Caley's goal for Jones to lose to McMillan. The Caley's back punted up field to McCrone who lashed the ball across to Hannah and the outside right outwitted two men to cross the ball for Dingwall to shoot in McFadden's hands. A few minutes afterwards the same play was repeated that went anegging.

Thorpe Missed an Open Goal

The play was confined to one side of the field that compelled McCrone to come across to the left wing to get a kick at the ball and certainly he did make a difference, because he lashed the ball across to the other wing that was neglected. On a pass from McCrone, Hannah jested McFadden with a hard drive, but Hillman passed forward to Cridland, who punted out to Charlie Thorpe. The outside right run along with the ball far the backs to be perplexed at the situation and Thorpe, with nothing but the goal-keeper to defeat banged the ball past the far upright to his own astonishment. A foul against Pickford necessitated McFadden clearing his goal. Jones broke away on the right and tested Wright with a low ground shot. Wright kicked out to Hannah, who made for the other end, but was played offsides. Play run from end to end with each goal-keep ergetting enough to handle. A timely pass up the wing to McDowall let him test McFadden while on the run. The goal-keeper cleared, but Clark returned the ball out to McDowall, who missed the upright by inches.

McFadden's Poor Clearance Gave Caley's Goal

From the goal kick Chambers made straight for Wright's goal with the Caley's backs playing him off to let the goal-keeper clear. Calder caught on and forcing his way forward lifted the ball over to McDowall. Montgomery checked the outside left, but let him centre into goal for McFadden to make a poor clearance that let Dingwall touch it throught after thirty-five minutes play. Quick as a flash the whole forward line of the Woollens went down in a body to give Wright a lively five minutes. A break-away by Hannah and McCrone resulted in Hardie conceding a corner that was fruitless. Each goal was visited in rotation before the whistle blew for half time. Caledonians, 1; Woollens, 0.

Half Time

After the usual interval, they got started again with the Caley's visiting McFadden through Hardie nearly kicking through his own goal. He redeemed himself by punting forward to Chambers, who gave Wright a hot one to hold. Calder cleared to McDowall on the left and waiting no time he shot across a beauty that the goal-keeper attempted to kick out to hit his other leg to go through. On wind-field play Roberts and Chambers worked their way in the Caley's area that made McMillan kick back to Wright to clear. Jas. McMillan tried to get down the field, but eventually had a long shot tot goal that just about beat McFadden.

"Wee Bobbie" Made It Three

One nice tackle between Chambers and Calder, the latter gained the advantage to swing across the ball to McCrone, who gave Hannah a run down to wing to cross. Cridland cleared, but the inside man run the ball out to the wing for Bobbie to get inside and waiting patiently for the pass, he made no mistake. Just afterwards McCrone defeated four men in succession to give McFadden a beauty to save in the corner of the upright. The Woollens retaliated by playing havoc with the Caley's defence that gave Wright a lot of work to do.

A Sure Goal—Missed

A desperate raid by the Woollens forwards resulted in Thorpe beating the two backs and with nobody near him, except the goal-keeper, who came out of his goal to check the player, Thorpe missed an open goal for the second time. At this point of the play the Woollens were all-over the Caley's, who were very erratic at shooting. Nice combination by Thorpe and Jones made Wright clear in a masterly fashion, but was returned by Chambers with an excellent try for goal. A solo run down the wing by Hannah was crossed nicely into the centre of the goal for Dingwall to shoot into McFadden's hands.

McDowall Scored the Fourth

Jack Cridland cleared to mid-field for Calder to swing out to Hannah and McCrone. They worked down into the corner until Bobbie lifted the ball across the gools to McDowall on the left wing, who let drive at first chance to beat McFadden all the way. A break-away by the Woollens gave them a goal against Jas McMillan. Jack Cridland took the kick that Chambers blocked, McMillan tackled, but the Woollens' centre put back to Jones, who beat Wright with a low ground shot that passed inside the upright into the net. From this until the finish the Woollens did all the pressing that was unproductive.

Caledonians, 4; Canadian Woollens, 1.

THE WORLD SERIES STARTS TO-MORROW

FIRST THREE GAMES ON THE GROUNDS OF AMERICAN WINNER.

The world's baseball championship series of 1920 will start on Tuesday, 5th October. The first three games will be played in the city winning the American League championship.

Since either Cleveland or Chicago will win the American League pennant, the series will begin in either of these cities.

The next four games, which will be held after one day of travel, on 9th, 10th, and 11th October, will be in Brooklyn. If an eighth contest is necessary, it will be held in the American League city, and the ninth, if needed, in the National League habitat.

In case there is a tie for the American League pennant between Cleveland and Chicago, a series of three games will be played off between the two to decide the final standing. The opening date of the world's series, in that contingency, will be revised.

This is the first time the commission has decided to play three games in one city, followed by four in the other. The change was made on the grounds that it would eliminate a good deal of the inconvenience of travel between the contesting grounds.

In the event of rain, the clubs will remain in the city in which they were originally scheduled, and subsequent games will be played off as per the revised schedule.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

To the Sporting Editor:

Sir,—Allow me, through your columns to correct an erroneous statement which has been widely circulated of late maliciously accusing the Caleys of cornering the players by signing up between 50 and 60 of them.

This is most unjust considering that it was the Caley representatives who were instrumental in limiting the number of players one club could register to 18 under the late P.F.A. by-laws.

This season we have signed twenty-five (25) players (the secretary of the P.F.A. will vouch for the correctness of this). Of these one (W. M. Allen) has left town, while six of last season's team (R. Willshaw, J. McFeat, E. G. Hardie, H. D. McKay, Jas. Shaw and R. Brunton) have retired from the game. This leaves 18 active players, and three of them, M. Shaw, J. Willshaw and C. Fennor, can only play when business allows.

Trusting this will be sufficient to repudiate the rumour which may have arisen through a blind man hearing our players ragging the referee under which circumstance he would be excused for thinking there were 60 of them.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, I remain,

Your sincerely,

Sec. Peterborough C.A.A.

Dr A. B. MacCallum—who has resigned from the Canadian Research Council, as a protest, it is understood, against overlapping on the part of the Government's policy.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

EXPERIENCE.

Geo. V. Hobart's wonderful play, "Experience," now in its seventh season, but with its charm and appeal as fresh as ever, was the attraction at the Grand on Saturday and delighted two large audiences, those who had seen the production before finding new beauty in the offering, while the others who saw it for the first time were gripped with the fascination of the play. "Experience" deals with the adventures of youth in search of love, a journey that takes him along many by-paths and in many strange places and that eventually brings him hope when he finds that Love has always been waiting for him. The story is too well known to play-goers to require any extensive synopsis here. Messrs. F. Ray Comstock and Morris Gest, under whose auspices the play is again being produced this season, are to be congratulated upon the all-round excellence of the caste and the production generally. While many of the favourites who have been seen here in earlier presentations of "Experience" were missing from Saturday's caste, yet their places have been filled by capable artists and the performance has not been allowed to deteriorate in the least, being as fully effective as ever. The part of 'Youth,' one of the most exacting roles the stage has known, was admirably portrayed by Gerald Rowan, who gave one of the best performances in the part that has been seen. Henry West was most effective as "Experience." Patricia Carr scored heavily as "Frailty" and the many other roles were splendidly handled.

This is turning an old saying face about, but modern methods of reducing fat have made this revision possible.

If you are overfat; opposed to physical exertion; fond of the table and its good things, and still want to reduce your excess flesh several pounds, go to your druggist (or write to the Marmola Co., 337 Farfield Building, Detroit, Mich.) and give him, (or send them) one dollar, thus satisfying your ambition for a trim, slim figure, by receiving a good size box of Marmola Prescription Tablets (compounded in accordance with the famous Marmola Prescription); take one of these pleasant candy tablets after each meal and at bedtime, and you will lose your fat at the rate of two, three or four pounds a week.

Then continue the treatment until your weight is what you desire. Marmola Prescription Tablets are not only harmless but really beneficial to the general health. You don't need starvation diet or weakening exercises. Just go on eating what you like, leave exercising to the athletes, but take your little tablet faithfully and without a doubt that flabby flesh will quickly take unto itself wings, leaving behind it your natural self, neatly clothed in firm flesh and trim muscles.

SOUTH SHIELDS LOSE FIRST GAME

SOUTHAMPTON AND CRYSTAL PALACE JOINT LEADERS IN THIRD DIVISION.

LONDON, Oct. 4.— Many of the previous week's verdicts in English League Association football matches were reversed Saturday, the home side mostly getting compensation for defeats away. The most striking instance was the beating given South Shields by Rotherham of 5 to 4. Shields were up to Saturday the only unbeaten club in the whole league.

Saturday's play leaves one club in each division which has not yet won any matches, viz.: Derby, Barnsley and Norwich.

Everton just beat Aston for the lead of the first division by a shade better goal average. Liverpool, who are going strong, are third.

Shields still have a two-point lead over Clapton in the second division.

Southampton and Crystal Palace are joint leaders in the third division with precisely the same record of matches won and lost and drawn. The curiosity is repeated in the second division in the cases of Notts County and Hull. Results:

STRENGTH OF BIG LEAGUERS

(Canadian Press.)

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—A comparison of offensive strength to the contending teams in the World's Series, based upon unofficial records of the season's work, indicates that Brooklyn will enter the big games at a slight disadvantage when compared with Cleveland, assuming that two championship teams in their respective leagues faced opposition that was approximately equal. The Indians as a team have accummulated a batting average of .303 for the season, while that for the superbas is .270. Taking regular players who are likely to appear in the World's Series unofficial records show that the Cleveland infield has batting average of .281 while the inner defence of superbas has batted an aggregate of .28+. Cleveland's outfield have a better average than the Brooklyn fly chasers.

ARRANGEMENTS FOR FIELD DAY

Further arrangements for the Field Day, which will be held on Thanksgiving Day under the auspices of the Peterborough Amateur Athletic Association, will be considered at the meeting of the directors of the Association which is being held to-morrow evening.

GREATEST OF ALL SUNS.

Giant Canopus, the Blue Beauty of the Southern Hemisphere.

Star gazers of northern lands often overlook the fact that some of the most brilliant and beautiful stars and finest nebulae and star clusters in the heavens belong to the southern hemisphere and are not visible in our latitudes.

Magnificent blue Canopus, the second brightest star in the heavens, lies just below our southern horizon in the large and important southern constellation Argo Navis, named for the famous ship of the Argonauts. It is usually divided into three constellations—Puppis, Carina and Vela. Canopus was the chief pilot of the Argonauts, but the star was known and worshiped on the banks of the Nile long before it received its name from the Greeks and has been called the Star of Egypt. It has also been a guide to many tribes in Africa, South America and Australia in their journeys through pathless wilds.

Although Sirius appears nearly twice as brilliant as Canopus, this is due only to the fact that Sirius is comparatively near to us, not quite nine light years distant, while Canopus has been estimated to be at a distance of 466 light years. It is, as far as we know, the greatest of all the giant suns, equal in light giving power to 55,000 suns such as our own. Sirius, with a brilliancy estimated at forty-eight times that of the sun, shrinks into a pygmy when contrasted with Canopus.

CARVED JADE.

It Takes Chinese Patience to Work This Hard Oriental Stone.

When you go into an oriental shop in any big city you are almost sure to see rings or necklaces or bracelets which are a pretty, clear green in color and are made out of jade. If you ask the shopman to tell you something about jade he will answer that the true jade is seldom found outside of Asia and Oceanica, but that in these parts of the world it is to be had in considerable quantities.

You, of course, know that a diamond is so hard that it will scratch glass, but perhaps you have not heard that jade is also extremely tough and will cut glass and quartz. Because of its great hardness the man who carves it must possess vast patience, and the Chinese are almost the only people who have sufficient patience and persistence to carve designs in jade.

The Chinese make numberless articles out of jade—paper weights, handles for swords, belts, bangles, rings, vases, cups, plates, pendants, and so on.

Jade is far from cheap to buy. Nowadays fine pieces of jade are just as much valued among collectors as are fine paintings for their great beauty and artistic value. So, then, if some one gives you a little pendant of carved jade, you will understand that you have a present which not only would be valued highly today, but one which many peoples in all times would have treasured

The Cat and the Chickens.

An authentic story tells of a male cat and a female cat in France that lived on terms of perfect amity with all the animals on the place—dogs, chickens and what not. It so happened that a hen which had a brood of seven chickens was killed accidentally. The cat, which some two weeks before had been deprived of her kittens, appeared to observe the predicament of the seven little chickens. She crawled into their nest, and the chickens, looking for warmth, nestled into her warm fur, peeping gratefully. The chickens, led by their owner, throve perfectly, and every day the strange sight was presented of their following the mother cat about the premises as if expecting her to find them food after the manner of a hen.

Few Roads In China.

That industrial development must stagnate so long as transport facilities are inadequate needs no emphasis, and when it is borne in mind that there is not a road worthy of the name, so much as 100 miles long throughout China, it becomes evident that the country is very severely handicapped. Certainly there are the rivers and canals, which intersect the land in every direction, but locomotion on them is naturally slow and uncertain. Railways are few and far between and serve only to connect a few of the larger centers

Constellation of Orion.

The constellation known as Orion is referred to in Job ix. 9 and xxxviii, 31. Orion is the "giant" of oriental astronomy, and the giant was Nimrod, the mighty hunter, fabled to have been bound in the sky for impiety. The two dogs and the hare in nearby constellations made his train complete.

Strange Happening.

"I saw a man with a crowd around him go up to another man and deliberately knife him without a single one interfering."

"Was he a Black Hander?"

"No; he was a surgeon."

True.

"I don't see anything remarkable about that baby."

"Oh, but you would if it was yours."

BE SUSPICIOUS OF TENDER GUMS

Be suspicious of any tenderness or bleeding of the gums. This is usually the first stage of Pyorrhea—an insidious disease of the gums that destroys the teeth and undermines bodily health.

Gradually the gums become spongy. They inflame, then shrink, thus exposing the unenameled tooth-base to the ravages of decay. Tiny openings in the gums form gateways for disease germs to enter the system. Medical science has traced many ills to these infecting germs in the gums weakened by Pyorrhea.

They are now known to be a frequent cause of indigestion, anaemia, rheumatism and other serious conditions.

So watch carefully for that first tenderness or bleeding of the gums. Try Forhan's immediately. It positively prevents Pyorrhea (Riggs' Disease) if used in time and used consistently.

And in preventing Pyorrhea—it guards against other ills.

Forhan's (For the Gums) cleans teeth scientifically as well. Brush your teeth with it. It keeps the teeth white and clean.

If gum-shrinkage has already set in, start using Forhan's and consult a dentist immediately for special treatment.

WEDDING BELLS

CULLIS—McCARRELL.

A very pretty but quiet wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ben McCarrell, Omemee, on Wednesday, Sept. 29th, 1920, when their only daughter, Rebecca M., was uited in marriage to Roy W. Cullis, of Oakwood by the Rev. Mr. Herrington.

The bride, who looked very dainty in her white satin wedding gown, was attended by Miss Bessie Cullis, as bridesmaid, while Mr. Harry McCarrell ably supported the groom. The wedding music was played by Miss Rowena Cullis. The groom's gift to the bride was a gold wrist watch, to the bridesmaid a pearl brooch, to the groomsman a pearl tie pin and to the pianist a gold signet ring.

The gifts included a miscellaneous shower from the Bethel League, of which the bride has been a valued member. A number of cheques and an automobile from the bride's parents as well as other presents numerous and costly showing the high esteem in which the bride is held.

A unique feature of the event was the presence of both of the bride's grandmothers.

Mr. and Mrs. Callis left amid showers of confetti and good wishes for Ubly, Michigan, the bride travelling in navy serge with hat to match. On their return they will reside at Linden Valley.

OBITUARY

ANN FAWCETT.

An aged resident of Indian River passed away this morning in the person of Ann Fawcett, aged 86. The funeral will be held Tuesday afternoon to the Little Lake Cemetery.

INFANT CHILD.

Geraldine Marie, the 14-months-old infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Leonard, 170 Charlotte Street, died on Saturday. The funeral took place this afternoon to the Little Lake Cemetery.

JAMES FAIR.

The death occurred early on Sunday morning at Nicholls Hospital of James Fair, aged 80 years, eldest son of the late Thomas Fair, of South Monaghan. The deceased had practically lived there his entire life, and was widely and favourably known.

His wife was Elizabeth Rutherford, of South Monaghan. Besides his wife, he is survived by six daughters, Mrs. W. Dawson, Mrs. Thomas and Mrs. William Bradshaw, of South Monaghan, Mrs. Robert Thorn of South Monaghan, Mrs. Thos. Thorn of Otonabee, and Miss Minnie at home.

The funeral will be held on Tuesday afternoon from the residence of his son-in-law, Thomas Thorn, Lot 13, Concession 16, Otonabee, at 2.30. Service will be held at the house at two o'clock. Interment will take place in St. Paul's (Episcopal) Cemetery, 4th Line of Cavan.

MRS. MARTHA HICKS.

The passing of Mrs. Martha Hicks, relict of the late Robert Hicks, removes one of the oldest remaining residents of this city and district. Her demise took place on Saturday morning, October 2nd, in St. Mary's, at the residence of her son-in-law, Mr. Arthur De Viney, with whom she had resided for several years past. At the time of her death deceased had passed the 93rd year of her age, and up until a few days before her demise, she had been blessed with remarkable good health.

The body was brought to Peterborough on Sunday at midnight and conveyed to the residence of her son, Mr. Robert Hicks, 270 Charlotte St.

The funeral took place this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, interment being in the family burial plot in the Little Lake Cemetery, Rev. W. Harold Young, M.A., pastor of the George Street Methodist church, officiating.

The pallbearers were Messrs. W. Howden, James Macdonald, Thomas Wilson, James Henderson, W. Menzies and Louis J. LeClair.

The deceased was born in Plymouth, England, in the year 1828. She came to this country when she was only ten years of age, settling with her parents in the township of Alnwick, near the shores of Rice Lake, and where she spent many of the happiest years of her life. Afterwards she resided in Peterborough, until the death of her husband in 1893, and will be kindly remembered by many of our oldest inhabitants.

The numerous floral tokens of respect which were received testified to the esteem in which she was held by relatives and friends.

An unfortunate error occurred in Saturday's Examiner announcing that the funeral of the late Mrs. Hicks would take place from the residence of her son-in-law in St. Mary's, instead of from the residence of her son-in-law, Robert Hicks, of this city.

INSANITY ON THE INCREASE.

Last week there were 186 patients at the Ontario Hospital for the Insane at Whitby. This week 100 more patients are expected from Hamilton. It is expected that the buildings will soon be taxed to their capacity. A training school for nurses has been started at the hospital.

A CABBAGE NOVELTY.

Mr. John Harris, 29 Herchimer Street, a market gardener at Belleville, had a novelty in cabbage culture, consisting of seven fully developed cabbages on one stalk, second growth at that. A fine big head was cut originally from the stalk, which demonstrated its vigour by producing seven more.

CROWD GATHERED.

A crowd, which assumed such proportions that the police cast threatening glances at it as they passed, gathered in front of Roland Denne's store on Saturday evening to watch the antics of the four picaninnies who were heralding the Y.M.C.A. Minstrels. It took several baskets of fruit to keep the tinted boys in the proper spirit.

Good Sight Within Your Reach
So many people think it is a big undertaking to have their eyes tested and glasses made that they put it off from time to time and suffer for it.
It is really quite a simple matter for Dr. Fowler to test your eyesight, and he grinds your lenses quickly so that before you know it, your eyes are giving good service.

PETERBORO'S GOOD WISHES.

The Board of Trade sent a telegram this afternoon to Tris Speaker manager of the Cleveland baseball team which meets Brooklyn this afternoon in the World's Series, wishing him and his team the best of luck.

(Canadian Press.)

BROOKLYN, N.Y., Oct. 6.—Under ideal weather conditions the Cleveland Indians, champions of the American League and the Brooklyn Robins, champions of the National League met here this afternoon in the first game of the series for the world's professional baseball championship. Both teams were supremely confident as to the result both of to-day's game and of the series. Despite the revelations of crookedness in the last world's series, the interest in the year's trials is as great as ever.

To-day's game will be a battle of south paws for Manager Wilbert Robinson of the Brooklyn team is pinning his faith on the Veteran Rube Marquard while Tris Speaker of the Indians has delegated the wonderful south paw spit-ball pitcher Covelski. As a result of the selection of the two left handers both line ups have been slightly altered. Cleveland will use Burns instead of "Doc" Johnston at first base, because the former hits south paw pitching hard. For a simiar reason Evans will play left field for Cleveland instead of Jamieson and Joe Wood will be in right field.

All Seats are Sold.

The climax of the baseball season has shown no loss of interest so far as the fans of Greater New York are concerned. Every reserved seat at the Brooklyn Park had been sold for the series. On Sunday President Chas. H. Ebbets stated that he had been obliged to return more than $60,000 in cheques and currency to those who had hoped to purchase seats for the four games for which the Brooklyn Club printed reserve coupons.

The line-up was as follows:—

HON. F. C. BIGGS HEARD FROM.

"You had a funny little article in your paper last night headed: "Please Page Mr. Biggs," said Mr. Tooms, M. P. P., this morning. "The fact of the matter," said Mr. Tooms, is that Mr. R. B. Rogers insisted on Hon. F. C. Biggs coming to Peterboro, on August 28th to attend the U.F.O. picnic, when the Minister was on his way to Lake Nipigon, in connection with the fisheries question. Mr. Biggs volunteered to come to Peterboro on Sept. st, instead of August 28th, but this was not aceptable to the local committee. Recently I wrote to Mr. Biggs, and received the following reply:

Dear Mr. Tooms:

Your letter of Sept. 25th, re visit to Peterboro duly received. At the present time I could not set a definite date, but will keep the matter in hand and will come at the earliest possible moment.

Yours very truly,
F. C. BIGGS,
Minister of Public Works and Highways.

Fell From Motor Car

WILLARD TIPPETT WAS THE VICTIM OF FATAL ACCIDENT.

William Tippett suffered a fractured skull yesterday afternoon when, in alighting from a moving automobile to pick up his hat, which had been blown off, he fell backwards. The accident occurred near the residence of T. Harkness at Coe's Corners, Cavan township, about three o'clock.

Tippett was riding in a car owned and driven by Archie Kennedy, with whom were W. A. Pritchard and Chris. Sisson, when his hat was blown off. In his haste to secure it he alighted from the car before it had come to a complete stop and, stepping backward, fell, fracturing his skull.

He was taken immediately to Dr. Turner's hospital at Millbrook, but died at 10.30 o'clock last evening.

Deceased was a son of John Tippett, of Cavan, and leaves a wife and four children, the eldest of whom is 13 years of age.

SCHOOL ASSOCIATION AT HOME LAST NIGHT

ADMIRABLY RENDERED PROGRAM IN QUEEN ALEXANDRA SCHOOL.

The Home and School Association of the Queen Alexandra School held a very successful meeting last night for the purpose of doing honor to those who had recently passed the entrance. The entire building which has recently been decorated throughout, was thrown open for inspection by the parents.

Entertainment.

Mr. A. G. Roberts acted as chairman and a very interesting programme, consisting of the following numbers, was much enjoyed by the large number who were present:

Chorus—The Children.
Solo—Mrs. Frank Ellis.
Presentation of certificates to the Entrance Class—Mrs. W. R. Morris.
Solo—Mrs. Davidson.
Charade—The teachers.

Save Papers.

Mrs. Mowat took the opportunity to ask all those interested in the "Playgrounds" to save all their papers, rags, rubbers, etc., for the collection to be held on Oct. 14th.

Refreshments.

Dainty refreshments served by Mrs. Telford and her committee, closed a very enjoyable evening.

K. OF C. NOTICE

THE REGULAR MEETING OF THE COUNCIL WILL BE HELD TO-NIGHT AT 8 O'CLOCK SHARP. LECTURE BY BRO. O'MARA, CF TORONTO COUNCIL. 1d81 2976

AFTER OTHER POWER HERE

COUNCIL WILL GET COPIES OF THE LEASES OF C.G.E. AND QUAKER OATS COMPANY'S WATER POWER.

PREVENT RENEWAL

In a discussion at the Council meeting last night of the local power situation, Ald. Gordon introduced a resolution by which the city engages the legal firm of Edward, Scott, McLaren and Kelley of Ottawa to secure copies of the power leases held by the C. G.E. Company and Quaker Oats Company who have power plants at Nassau and London street respectively.

"These two power leases stand in our way," said Ald. Gordon. "They are leases from the Crown and we should make an ekort to acquire these sources of power by lease from the Department. I would suggest that we get copies of the leases providing they do not cost more than $25 each, so that there may be no renewal of them."

Ald. Hamitlon reminded the Council that the Quaker Oats Company was selling the city 500 h.p. and that the C.G.E. company had contracted to supply 1,000 h.p.

"Above their own needs," added Ald. Gordon. "The Quaker Oats company will be busy in a short time and will be running full force while everything else might be shut down. They should receive the same treatment as the other concerns in the city. When the time comes these powers should belong to the city if we can get them."

Other Dams Available.

Ald. Crowe said that two other dams were idle at Numbers 4 and 5. It was thought that these could be combined, connecting them with a raceway as at Auburn and thereby securing a head of 14 feet. At present this power was going to waste.

Ald. Gordon—The Hydro are after them already.

Mayor McIntyre remarked that the Hydro were not doing much for Peterborough.

Ald. Crowe—I will second Ald. Gordon's motion if it is simply to get information as to when the C.G.E. and Quaker Oats water power leases expire. That is not doing any injury to anybody.

The motion carried.

Power Not Oversold.

"The suggestion was made that the power scarcity had arisen because the Hydro had over sold their load," Ald. Gordon said. "But Mr. Gaby, the engineer for the Hydro-Electric Commission told us that the demand was less than in 1918. The whole question is the flow of the stream of the river. The Government is holding up the water in Stoney and Buckhorn lakes and up to Friday the Rice Lake level had increased two-tenths of a foot. The Hydro engineer says that the stream flow in January and February provides sufficient power for the natural flow to carry the loads imposed upon it without using any surplus water. He reported that one-tenth of a foot a week added now to the flow would relieve the situation and let every manufacturing concern operate at normal capacity."

A resolution by Ald. Gordon requested the Department of Railways and Canals to increase the flow of water by one-tenth of a foot a week above the normal to increase the power supply. In this connection the city undertakes to release the Department from any claims for damages that might result from this reduction of the water in the natural reservoirs.

Ald. Gordon explained that the city hasn't control over the Utilities Commission, Board of Education and other municipal departments, but in so far as the lighting of the streets and public buildings were concerned the municipality would not claim damages for any shortage of power that might develop later in the year from an increase now in the flow of the Otonabee and Trent rivers.

Question of Expediency.

Ald. Gordon made it plain that objection to increasing the stream now was based on the fear of worse conditions in January and February. Some manufacturers were willing to take a chance on copious fall rains maintaining the flow of the river and the reserve in the lakes.

Ald. Crowe—There's such a thing as praying for rain.

Ald. Gordon—The only thing affected is the remote possibility of danger later on.

Ald. Hamilton said that the manufacturers withone or two exceptions were agreed that it was inadvisable not to use any more water now.

Ald. Gordon in a reference to the recent interview of the Trent muni-

STREET FREE FROM POLES

GEORGE STREET LOOKS LESS LIKE A FOREST SINCE POLES HAVE BEEN REMOVED

One of the most progressive steps which have been taken in Peterborough recently and one which will considerably improve the appearance of the business section of the city is the removal of all power line poles from George street church to the Canadian Pacific Railway station on George street, which was completed yesterday.

Two years ago the Utilities Commission quietly mapped out a plan for the removal of the maze of poles which lined George street and gave almost the appearance of a cedar forest stripped by fire. Three companies had promiscuously erected their lines along this street in former years. The Auburn Power Company, the Otonabee Power Company, and the Peterborough Light and Power Company had all run their lines here. Each company as it erected its lines had sandwiched its poles between those of its predecessors and had run its lines above those already erected.

The great obstacle which confronted the commission was the persuading of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company to place its lines in conduits under the streets. This was accomplished through the kindness of the company and the promise of the commission to take care of the company's interests should the franchise of the telephone company whose conduits they had rented not be renewed at its expiration in fifteen years.

There is not now the same necessity that existed formerly for a power line on George street and users of power on this street are being supplied from a new heavy line which has been put up on Water street.

The Hydro-Electric Commission has evinced considerable interest in the local "clean up" campaign and will publish an account of it with photographs showing the improved appearance of George street in their local bulletin.

H. O. Fiske, manager of the Utilities Commission, who has directed the campaign, intimated when seen this morning that if prices of material drops the campaign might be extended further.

Fight Between Dominion and Provincial Government Said to be Responsible for Power

NO IMPROVEMENT IN THE SITUATION—DEPUTATION WILL INTERVIEW SIR ADAM BECK—A POLITICAL FOOTBALL.

INDUSTRIES IDLE

The Examiner secured the following interviews to-day on the cause of the present power shortage:

R. R. Hall—"The Trent Canal was constructed by the Dominion government in the interests of navigation and upwards of $12,000,000 was spent on it for this purpose and it is in the interests of this city that several more million dollars be spent to complete it.

"It is the first duty of the Dominion government to maintain the level of the water in the lakes and rivers and reaches of the canal.

"The question of power is one of the incidents arising out of the construction of the canal and the rights of power users are subject to the chief rights of the Dominion.

"The real cause of the power shortage in Peterborough is the short-sightedness of the Hydro Electric Power Commission in dismantling the power plant operated by the Otonabee Power Company at Dam 5, which had a capacity of 1,250 horse power and which would have been more than sufficient to avoid the possibility of a power shortage.

"Had the City Council in 1911 not been misled by Sir Adam Beck and had permitted the Otonabee Power Company to develop Dams 4 aid 5 under one head there would have been available during this last seven years over 5,000 horse power to be used for the benefit and development of industries in this city and cheaper power could be offered to industries than can now be obtained in Port Hope, Cobourg and other towns on the lake front.

"Sir Adam Beck has played the part of the dog in the manger in this city. He caused legislation to be passed that confiscated the rights of private owners and he has built a Hydro-Electric fence around Peterborough that prohibits any private enterprise from developing power which is going to waste on the Otonabee river and to have it sold and distributed in Peterborough at a cheaper price than he is selling it at to-day.

"The Hydro-Electric Power Commission is wholly unjustifiable in blaming the Dominion government for the present power shortage."

G. N. Gordon—"We are being made the football in a fight between the Federal and Provincial interests for control of the power. The next election will turn on the power question."

That the power shortage is due only to politics and jealousy between the Department of Railways and Canals and the Hydro-Electric Commission was the concensus of opinion among those most closely in touch with the power situation when seen to-day.

NINE WARS ARE RAGING AND MILITARISM IS ON INCREASE

FORCES ON NINETEEN FRONTS, FOUR AREAS IN DISPUTE, SEVEN CIVIL WARS ON OR IMPENDING—NATIONS IN TURMOIL.

DISARMAMENT HOPES VANISH

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—The second anniversary of the signing of the armistice in the great world war will follow on the heels of the day when the American people will register at the polls their decision on the League of Nations covenant. For more than a year the nations signatory to the treaty of Versailles and the league pact have been functioning as members of the league.

What has been accomplished toward realization of the promise held out by advocates of the league as to cessation of wars, disarmament and reduction in the burdens of taxation upon the nationals of these and other countries?

These are questions of vast significance. To answer them a summary has been prepared by experts connected with different departments of the Government based on the latest information which these departments have received from practically all of the nations of the earth. This summary answers the question as to world peace and disarmament.

Nine Active Wars in Progress.

There are nine active wars in progress between the nationals of more than eighteen different countries. There are nineteen international fronts strongly held, without present fighting., it is true, but under conditions that inspire military observers with the fear of an outburst of war at almost any time. In addition there are four other international areas described in military terminology as "acutely sensitive." As to civil war, it exists or impends in seven different countries.

Particularizing on the nine active wars now in progress, they include the following:

The Bolsheviki are fighting the Poles on a front extending from Lithuania to the Ukraine, the Poles having a total of more than 625,000 men engaged and the Bolshevists with an army variously estimated at from 500,000 to 1,000,000 by conservative counts. Popular reports place the number of the Red forces at much higher levels.

Greeks and Turks are in deadly combat on the so-called Nationalist front, northeast and east of Smyrna. In all 320,000 men are involved, of which the Grecian army is 170,000 and the Turks 150,000, with large reserves behind both armies.

On the British-Turkish Nationalist front at Ismid and the Sea of Marmora the British have had as high as 26,000 men, exclusive of those in Constantinople. These are now being withdrawn for service in Mesopotamia, but there is still vicious fighting in this territory. The Greeks are expected to come in to relieve the departing British troops.

Fighting in South China.

In southern China war is in progress between the provinces of Yu-Nan and Kwang-Tung, where it is estimated that about 200,000 fighting men are struggling for mastery.

Gen. Wrangel has about 40,000 loyal Russians fighting the Bolsheviki in his front north of Crimea, with as many more effectives in reserve. The Bolsheviki are opposing him with an army conservatively estimated at 35,000.

The Lithuanians and the Poles are defying each other with prospects of much larger engagements. There are 23,000 Lithuanians now in actual fighting against about 12,000 Poles, the Poles standing ready to divert a larger army from their Bolshevik front whenever it seems necessary.

The British in Mesopotamia are engaged in a war more expensive and more exhausting than the South African war. Fighting is said to be general throughout the country, and the number of tribesmen in arms has been officially estimated at some 34,000 men. The British, it is said, are sending in their troops from Turkey, and now have about 10,000 white soldiers and 60,000 Indian colonials on the fighting line.

The French have their hands full in Asia Minor with the Turks and Arabs. The French army of the Levant numbers 24,000 men, the minimum strength of their opponents being 20,000, with a large number of reserves to draw upon.

The Italians are fighting the Turks in Asia Minor also, holding a line that runs from Adalia along the southern and eastern shore of the Mediterranean to Sokia, with an army of 8,000 effectives. The Turks oppose them with a large force and also have the assistance of the Arabs.

Armed Forces on 19 Fronts.

There are nineteen fronts strongly held by the armed forces of various nations where the fighting cannot now be described as active, but where battle may be joined in the future These fronts are:

That held by the Belgian-British-American-French army of occupation

CLEANLINESS IS HEALTH

By the use of Gillett's Lye, house cleaning is made a pleasure instead of a drudgery. It softens the water and cleans thoroughly whether the dirt is visible or invisible. Destroys all bacteria and infectious germs, removes obstructions from drain pipes, closets, sinks, etc. Refrigerators are made delightfully fresh and clean by using one teaspoonful of Gillett's Lye dissolved in two gallons of water.

TWIN BROTHERS TO MARRY TWIN SISTERS

Albert Grierson and Walter Grierson, St. Louis twins, were members of the same company and each wore a small diamond ring and watch and chain in France. Albert lost the stone of his ring and a few days later Walter lost the stone of his. Then Albert lost his watch and chain and soon afterward Walter's disappeared. Then Albert was wounded and Walter followed suit. And now they intend to marry twin sisters, Geraldine and Gieneline Smalley of Sheldon, Ill.

MORE PAY FOR RAILWAY WORKERS

PELATED NEWS REACHES THE CAPITAL.

From Ottawa came the despatch this morning that railway workers on the Canadian National Railways and the Grand Trunk Pacific had been granted big increases averaging 25% but Mr. J. A. MacNab, the local agent of the C. N. R., knew nothing about this announced increase this afternoon. He stated that several different branches of the railway service had recently been given appreciable increases but these had only been secured as a result of "sparring" all summer long, and had nothing to do with the boost in freight and passenger rates.

Mr. MacNab said that practically every employee had received an increase of late and he could not understand a further increase.

Possibly the boost in salaries the men received of late are only now being heard of in the Capital.

OH, BOY! CAN YOU IMAGINE IT?

Possibly, Peterboro's four prettiest girls being left all alone.

Well, if you don't believe it, come and hear them tell you all about it and judge for yourself at the big Y Show on Thursday and Friday. This is just one of the clever features.

Every musical comedy number is a gem of its kind. Original songs and dances, jokes, pretty girls, elaborate costumes, Peterboro's favorite soloists and large harmonized chorus; 8 funny end men, headed by the old favorites, George Wesley and Vern Morphet. Just a little tip. Just your tickets right now. We absolutely guarantee this show to be far more than your expectations, and oh please don't come with the idea of seeing an ordinary amateur performance.

A Surgery in Your Home

ZAM-BUK for Quick, Clean Healing.

THE lacerated Cut, severe Burn, crippling Ulcer, or disfiguring Skin Disease used to mean a visit to your doctor's surgery. They can now be treated by Zam-Buk safely, quickly, and successfully in your own home.

Lord Lister's famous discoveries in antiseptic healing revolutionised the science of Surgery. Their introduction into the home by Zam-Buk has brought new and immense possibilities in self-treatment of everyday injuries and skin sores.

Zam-Buk represents a highly concentrated combination of rare herbal extracts, unprecedented in their soothing, healing, and germicidal power. Totally different in character to fatty ointments and salves, Zam-Buk is also immeasurably superior to them in having a threefold action on the skin.

FIRST, Zam-Buk is instantly soothing where there is pain, irritation, or inflammation. SECONDLY, it purifies the tissues, kills harmful germs, and ends all danger of a cut or wound becoming festered or poisoned. LASTLY, when the injured or diseased surface has been thus antiseptically cleansed, Zam-Buk promotes the speedy growth of healthy skin.

Zam-Buk, easily the safest and most reliable skin remedy on the market should have its place in every Canadian home.

It's often described as "A Surgery in a Two-Inch Box."

"Simply Indispensable"

Writes this Manitoba Mother.

Mrs. T. Fothergill, of Ridge Farm, Bousman River, says:—"When my children get cut, bruised, or burnt, Zam-Buk is simply indispensable. When I cut my wrist badly the doctor tried stitching it, but it would not heal. Zam-Buk soon put it right. I have also found Zam-Buk excellent for Piles, Heat Rash, and other Skin Irritation."

"Our eldest boy recently sustained a deep, nasty cut on the face. I was afraid he might lose his eye. But we kept the injury clean, regularly dressed it with Zam-Buk, and it healed perfectly.

"My husband always carries Zam-Buk about with him on the farm, prepared for any accident. One time it cured him of a nasty outbreak of Boils. Everyone should know this fine healer, Zam-Buk."

For Eczema, Ringworm, Ulcers, Abscesses, Poisoned Wounds, Bad Legs, etc. Zam-Buk gives tenfold in healing value, yet costs no more than the ordinary ointment or salve.

PATCHWORK GARAGE NOT A THING OF BEAUTY AND MUST BE REMOVED

MICHAEL MAYOCK'S ATTEMPT AT ECONOMY RAN FOUL OF BUILDING BY-LAW—ON WEST SIDE OF SHERIDAN STREET BRICKS OR IRON, NOT TIN, IS SPECIFIED.

JUST 30 DAY LEASE

Michael Mayock built a garage on Sheridan street. Situated within the fire limits, that brought it under the regulation requiring that it be constructed of bricks or iron. But Mr. Mayock had put up a flimsy affair of tin sufficient to keep the winter's rain and snow from his Ford. When this garage was about completed City Engineer Parsons informed Mr. Mayock that it would have to conform to the building by-law. Last night, however, he appealed to the Council to make an exception of his building at least until spring.

"It's a most disgraceful looking thing," Ald. Hamilton told the Council. "He picked up tin all over town, not two pieces are alike. The general effect is like a patchwork quilt."

Ald. Gordon—It must be picturesque.

Mr. Mayock—I haven't finished it yet. I intended to paint it.

He said he couldn't afford a better garage because he had been "up against it" for four years.

"I've been able to work only 13 months in that time. I got the car for my health."

City Engineer Parsons told the Council he had to forbid this building remaining up because it was not of brick.

Ald. Gordon— If he builds it you will have a fine time getting it removed. My recollection is that a man can't build on that property without the consent of the church authorities.

Ald. Gordon moved, seconded by Ald. Hamilton that Mr. Mayock be instructed to remove the garage, but afterwards changed it, giving him thirty days' grace.

Ald. Gainey urged that some consideration be shown Mr. Mayock and moved an amendment seconded by Ald. Phelan that Mr. Mayock be permitted to use the garage for six months.

Ald. Crowe—You might delay action for a week. I'd like to know whether Mr. Mayock is capable of building a good garage and also whether the church authorities consent to him having the garage there.

The amendment was defeated and the motion adopted.

Ald. Whitehouse and Ald. Jones said they stood by the order of the City Engineer, to whom the Council looked for guidance.

ELEVEN QUARTS OF PEACHES FOR 25c.

St. Catharines Citizens Benefit By Fruit Gift.

ST. CATHARINES, Oct 4.—In response to invitations of fruit growers, many citizens went with their baskets to the peach orchards Sunday and got eleven quarts of the best fruit for 25 cents. Growers declare they are money ahead this way, as by shipping peaches to other cities they don't clear over a quarter-dollar a basket anyway. Baskets cost them 20 cents each, they say. "If the public would only take reasonable care and not break down the trees they could have all my crop that way." one grower said to-day. Another peach grower stated that he figured the cost of picking, packing, transportation and baskets on a consignment of peaches he sent to Toronto recently and found he was just ten dollars out. He would have been money in pocket had he left the peaches right on the trees and let them rot, he declared.

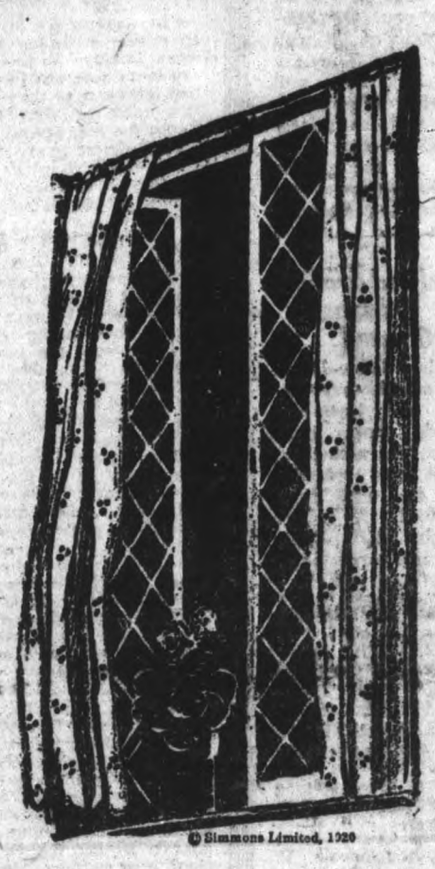
Your Earning Power and Your Need of Sleep



© Simmons Limited, 1920

IT'S a big temptation these days, with so much to be done, to cut down your sleeping time.

But the busier you are, the more you need the perfect relaxation that only good sound sleep can give.

You probably need more sleep—you certainly need better sleep. And this means better beds, better springs, mattresses and pillows.

Far from promoting perfect sleep, the typical wooden bed or ordinary metal bed creaks, rattles and sways, preventing that sound repose which can be had only in a sturdy, noiseless bed.

The ordinary spring sags or humps, and most mattresses and pillows are lumpy, even when they are not unsanitary.

* * *

Simmons Limited is a pioneer maker of Metal Beds built for sleep—

Maker of those wonderful Simmons Springs, that really do invite the body to lie out flat, every muscle relaxed.

Expert in producing Mattresses built for sleep.—soft and luxurious.

Maker of Pillows that rest the head and neck.

Specialist, too, in Twin Beds—that fine principle of a separate bed for everyone.

* * *

Ask the leading merchant in town about Simmons Metal Beds, Brass Beds, Springs, Mattresses, Pillows, Day Beds and Children's Cribs.

The most popular sleeping equipment in the stores—and they cost little if any more than the ordinary.

And when you are selecting your Simmons Beds with an eye to their appearance in the room, you will see that Simmons has for the first time established beautiful and authoritative design in Metal Beds.

The "CHATSWORTH"
Design 1901—in Twin Pair

Made of Simmons new Square Steel Tubing—Seamless, smooth and beautifully finished.

Exquisitely enameled in the accepted Decorative Colors.

Has the Simmons patented pressed steel noiseless Corner Locks. Easy rolling casters.

PEACE REIGNS AT THE FIRE HALL NEW LIST OF RULES IN EFFECT

CHIEF GRANGE PRESENTED FIRST MONTHLY REPORT TO THE COUNCIL, SHOWING HOW CLEANLY THE NEW BROOM IS SWEEPING SINCE THE INVESTIGATION.

TEN FIRES LAST MONTH

In his first monthly report to the Council Fire Chief Grange stated that there had been ten fires during September, nine of which were without damage. Four hose drills and one ladder practice were held, and the horses were drilled twice daily at 11 a.m. and 8 p.m.

Continuing his report Chief Grange told of having engaged five new men as follows.—

Harold Howell to replace George Degen, resigned, has 3 1-4 years experience on the local department, a good fireman and first class motor driver.

Harry Walker to replace Norman Pammett, resigned, has no former experience at fire work but came to us well recommended as a motor driver.

Alex. Miller to replace Bruce Menzies, dismissed, has no previous experience but I believe he will make good.

William Connors to replace Wm. Copperthwaite, dismissed, has no experience at fire work but is a well experienced motor driver and promises to make good as a fireman.

Archie McBride to replace Victor Lebarr, dismissed, is a first class fireman with three years' experience and is also a reliable driver of horse-drawn apparatus.

Like a ovDecote.

I have prepared a list of rules governing the discipline of the Department. Twenty-four copies were made and every man was given a copy, so that ignorance of the rules cannot be responsible for failure. I am inclosing a copy for your perusal.

I am pleased to say that better discipline has been maintained and that the friction, so evident only recently, is now consipuous only by its absence."

Object to New Statute.

The Ontario Government's new legislation giving firemen one whole day's rest in seven will cost London approximately $15,000 a year and will require the engaging of ten new men A letter from the London Council suggested that the municipalities should consider the question of asking for relief from the heavy penalties imposed by this new regulation.

Ald. Crowe said that the London communication anticipated the expression of an opinion he had held for some time. "In Peterboro we had been led to believe that there had been idling at the fire hall. Is it wise to increase the number of idlers? Shouldn't we have been consulted when this legislation was being prepared? It's all right in big cities to give the men one day off in seven, but I think that it is uncalled for in the smaller cities. The Chief himself told me it was unnecessary. I think we should get the consideration of the firemen as to whether they really want it. I doubt that they do want it. Where was this legislation suggested from? I believe the source was good.

It was recommended by the Union Congress and was introduced by our member Mr. Tooms. But it seems to me it was railroaded through? My objection is that the Councils should have been considered by the Government before the Act was passed. It is not too late yet for us to make ourselves heard.

I move that we co-operate with London. If they show us that it is necessary why all right. It means about $5,000 more expenditure in our department."

Ald. Turner—"How would it be to go back to the single platoon system and give the men the one day off in seven.

Ald. Gordon—"This is a provincial statute taking effect on January 1st., 1921.

Ald. Crowe—"Does no notification come here of these bills?"

Ald. Gordon—"No; not any more than when they were going to change the control of Police Departments. You got no notice of that." (Laughter).

Men Deserve the Rest.

Ald. Gordon said his attention had been drawn to this bill and although he was at first opposed to it on further investigation of the facts he concluded that the firemen were entitled to the whole day's rest.

"Under the by-law the men are not free to leave the municipality at any time," he said. "They may be at home in their off shift but each man is expected to report whenever an alarm sounds. In a sense he is on duty all the time. The new statute gives each man 24 consecutive hours off duty each week and on that day he is free from the obligation of responding to alarms."

Work the 24 Hour Day.

Ald. Gainey said that the men of the Windsor Department work 24 hour shifts instead of twelve as in Peterboro. And when they are off duty it is optional with them whether they turn out for alarms or not. The Windsor Chief told him that from 50 to 75 per cent. of the men voluntarily respond when they are off duty.

"The Chief of the Windsor department told me he saw no reason why the average fire here couldn't be handled by twelve men. That would give our men a chance to have the system Windsor has adopted.

Ald. Whitehouse—"That's the same system they have in Quebec. The Mayor and I learned about it when we were there and we were told it was working very satisfactorily.

Is Building Inspector.

It was suggested that the several questions introduced might be referred to the Fire, Water and Light committee for a fulled consideration.

Ald. Gainey continuing the recital of his observations in Windsor said that the department there has three stations and forty-four men. They do all the repairs needed in the department, paint their apparatus and also take care of the police department's automobile. The Chief acts as building inspector and drives his own car so that it is unnecessary to take one of the men from a fire hall. The Chief is a master mechanic and invented a contrivance for handling the hose on the waggons. Ald. Gainey said that the local Committee might consider a recommendation to the Chief that when engaging new men he would try to get some who are skilled in mechanics, carpentry and other lines so that they may be doubly useful to the department.

"When I was in Windsor there was a Peterboro man building a three-storey house. The Chief as building inspector went out and made him put in steel window frames instead of wooden ones and also wired glass."

The various ideas suggested were referred to the Fire, Water and Light committee.

The Real Secret of Rejuvenating the Face

She holds the true secret of facial rejuvenation who has learned how to remove the dead skin particles as fast as they appear. It's a secret anyone may possess. The aged, faded, or discolored surface skin may be gradually absorbed, in an entirely safe and rational manner, by the nightly application of ordinary mercolized wax. Within a week or two the underlying skin, youthful and beautiful to behold, has taken the place of the discarded cuticle. So little of the old skin is absorbed each day there's no inconvenience at all, and no one suspects you are putting anything on your face. The mercolized wax, procurable at any drug store (an ounce is sufficient), is applied like cold cream. In the morning it is erased with soap and water. It's the best thing known for freckles, blackheads, pimples, moth patches, liver spots and fine surface wrinkles.

For the deeper wrinkles, an excellent recipe is: Powdered saxolite one ounce, dissolved in one-half pint of witch hazel. Bathing the face in the solution produces quick and wonderful results.

MAYOR MACSWINEY HAD A GOOD NIGHT

ONDON, Oct. 5. — Lord Mayor MacSwiney, who this morning began his 54th day of hunger strike, passed a fairly good night, acording to a bulletin issued this afternoon by the Irish Self-Determination League.

From 9 o'clock last night until 6 this morning he was very quiet and restful, it is said, but it is impossible to say whether he slept all that time.

The bulletin adds that the Lord Mayor was much weaker this morning.

MacSwiney himself stated this morning th athe felt very weak, but was suffering no pain.

No Conspirator would have left Himself open to Suspicion.

NEW YORK, Oct. 5. — William J. Flynn, Chief of the Bureau of Investigation of Justice Department today, expressed the belief that Florean Zelenaka, held in Pittsburg, had no conection with the aWl street explosion. After having completed a local investigation he said he believed no real ocnspirator would have left himself so open to suspicion.

A despatch from Columbus, Ohio, said that Zelenka is wanted there for theft of dynamite and acps and fuses from a construction company, on September 21st.

Eighty-five There When Building Was Destroyed by Fire.

(Canadian Press.)

TORONTO, Oct. 5.—According to Rev. H. C. Priest, secretary of the Canadian Forward Missionary Movement, Canada sent eighty-five delegates to the Tokio convention. His information was to the effect that the building burned was erected specially for this occasion at a cost of seventy-five thousand dollars.

NEW ORCHESTRA AT PARK ST. SUNDAY SCHOOL

The new orchestra in connection with the Park street Baptist Sunday school made its initial appearance Sunday under the leadership of Mr. William Ford and was very favorably received. It is expected that this orchestra will be increased to about 20 pieces in a few weeks.

The Sunday school is growing under the able leadership of Mr. Jame Maybee. A men's brotherhood class was also formed Sunday. New officers were elected and plans discussed for the year's work.

The church work is growing under the new pastor, Rev. W. E. Morrow, B.A., and the services are well attended. A hearty welcome is extended to all to attend any or all of the services.

An open missionary meeting is being held on Tuesday evening at 8 p. m. Mrs. Zavitz will give an address.

Next Sunday will be observed as Thanksgiving Sunday and the B.Y.P.U. are decorating the church for the occasion. Special music is being prepared.

MARKET CLERK SEEKS SUBSTANTIAL REDUCTION FROM TENDER FOR TOLLS

UNAWARE OF AMENDMENT TO BY-LAW PERMITTING CARS TO PARK ON MARKET SQUARE EVERY DAY EXCEPT WEDNESDAYS AND SATURDAYS, HE SAYS—ACCOUNTANT'S REPORT OF BRIDGE COST.

COUNCIL'S ROUTINE BUSINESS

The cost of the Hunter street bridge was $393,576.45 up to September 11th, according to a detailed report presented to the Council last night by Mr. Alex. Elliott the city's accountant. Of that sum $353,033.31 was paid out of the bridge office and the remainder through the City Treasurer's office.

The statement showed the following payments by the City Treasurer's office:

Debenture discount	$10,166.90
Interest	10,054.40
Salaries	13,595.48
Temporary bridge, etc.	6,726.35
	$40,543.13

On the salary list were the names of Frank Barber, Fred Christie, C. S. Whitney, L. L. Jarvis, Alex. Elliott.

MARKET CLREK WANTS REBATE FROM THE CITY

F. T. Mahood, Market Clerk, through his solicitors, Peck, Kerr and McFlderry, protested against the new amendments to the market by-law and asked for a substantial reduction on his contract.

Mr. Mahood says that he was unaware of the Council's regulation permitting the parking of automobiles on the market place every day except Wednesdays and Saturdays between 7 a.m. and 1 p.m. when a fee of ten cents could be charged. His tender was based on the original by-law without any amendment. For that reason and because of the Council's approval of the recent recommendations of the Property committee reducing the fees payable to Mr. Mahood, he applies for a rebate on his contract.— Referred to the Property committee.

Seek Larger Grant.

The Letter Carriers asked that the city's donation to the cost of the convention of the Dominion Federated Association held in Peterborough early in September be increased. The expenses of $771.89 were higher than were anticipated. The receipts were $580.77. This convention, it was recalled, was an 'unqualified success, and beneficial results would accrue to Peterborough from the favorable impression made on the delegates.—Referred to the Finance committee.

Administration of Justice.

The city's share of the cost of the administration of justice in Peterborough county was fixed at $7,371.42 a year for five years from 1920 to 1924 inclusive by the representatives of the city and county, Messrs. E. H. D. Hall, W. Casement, Lakefield, assisted by County Clerk Elliott and City Clerk Armstrong.

The city's share is a litle more than half the total cost of the administration of justice in the county, which includes the jail and kindred expenditures.

Would Buy Old Bridge.

Frankel Brothers, Toronto, wrote, offering to submit a price on the old Hunter street bridge which they understood the city desired to dispose of.—Referred to the Bridge committee.

May Put Up Banners.

A request from the Navy League for permission to stretch three streamers across George street to advertise the local campaign for the purpose of raising $3,500 for the League in the week of October 18th to 23rd, was granted on Ald. Gordon's motion, seconded by Ald. Crowe.

It was pointed out that the Utilities Commission had urged the Council several years ago not to sanction this practice because of the possible danger to the power wires.

A Portant of Winter.

Ald. Whitehouse was authorized to adversie for tenders for snow-plowing next winter and also to consider the question of public skating rinks.

Monaghan's Account.

"Ald. Turner and I were appointed to meet the Monaghan Council in regard to an account with the city for $1,800," Ald. Whitehouse reported. "We did so but got no satisfaction. I was talking to Reeve McIntosh tonight and he informed me that he and the clerk had been appointed to take that matter up with the city."

Ald. Gordon suggested that if the interview failed to effect a settlement that the City Solicitor be advised to take action.

Cutting Up the Streets.

Refering to his notes again Ald. Whitehouse called the Council's attention to the practice of the Utilities Commission of digging up the streets without consulting the City Engineer.

Ald. Jones—I see they broke into George street while the Exhibition was on and cars had to drive around the excavation.

Ald. Gainey—I think there's an old resolution on the books dealing with that matter.

Ald. Gordon moved, seconded by Ald. Morrison, that the Utilities Commission be again requested to give notice in future of any excavating they have to do, and that the roads be restored to their former condition.

Extend Terms of Debentures.

In previous reference by Ald. Gordon to the advisability of extending the bridge debentures from 20 to 30 year terms caught Ald. Crowe's notice. He agreed with the idea saying that the Council was assured of the permanence of the bridge and that it was practically in the same category as the sidewalks. For that reason the burden of paying off the debt should not be limited to only twenty years.

Ald. Gordon recalled that the first issue of bridge bonds was lengthened to a thirty year term.

No Extensions Yet.

Replying to Ald. Turner's enquiry, Ald. Gainey stated that the report on extensions to the local street railway system promised by the Hydro-Electric Commission month ago had not yet been received.

Ald. Gordon—They are working 18 hours a day getting out information for the Commission investigating Hydro radials.

Ald. Gainey—The last time we were in Toronto we were told that the report was ready and would be sent to us in a few days.

Mayor McIntyre—It looks to me as if they regard the whole thing as a joke.

Ald. Gordon—I don't think you will get anything while the Commission is on.

Mayor McIntyre—That clause was in my election platform and I want to see something done this year if it is possible.

Ald. Gordon— It looks as if the Mayor will have that plank for his next platform.

The Council decided to ask Sir Adam Beck for an appointment when another request will be presented for the Hydro plans of local street railway extensions.

Request Rejected.

Conveying a request from Dr. McPherson, Ald. Turner said that the Medical Officer of Health usually got two weeks' holidays. Dr. McPherson didn't get them this year having been appointed medical officer for the Board of Education, but he asked for an allowance of two weeks' salary proportional to the ten months' duty he had performed as M.O.H.

Ald. Turner's motion, seconded by Ald. Hamilton, was defeated.

Ald. Gordon asserted that the grant was not justified. The City Solicitor didn't get holidays, and if he took them he had to pay a substitute in his absence. Besides, Ald. Gordon said, Dr. McPherson had worked only eight months.

Seeking Senators.

The Government was considering the appointment of two Senators from Ontario, Ald. Phelan said, and moved, seconded by Ald. Hamilton, that Peterborough's claims for a representative in the Upper House be considered. Ald. Hamilton seconded the motion, remarking that it couldn't do any harm.

"We haven't a representative in Parliament," Ald. Gordon remarked. "We might ask the government to appoint one for us."

"We'll get one when the people elect him," the Mayor replied with an oracular emphasis that stirred a laugh aroound the aldermanic circles.

Ald. Gordon's vein of humor had apparently petered out but for his last sally was that frayed jibe at the Senate to the effect that he would prefer to move that it be abolished.

In Toronto To-day.

Ald. Morrison and Fire Chief Grange were appointed to attend the meeting in Toronto to-day of the Fire Prevention League.

To Remove Trees.

Edward H. Hickey, 360 Simcoe street, wants to remove a maple tree from in front of his house and G. Walter Green has similar designs on a number of the trees at the corner of Water and London streets, where they are crowded so closely together they haven't enough room to grow properly. A. J. Halliday's request for tree improvement in front of his house on Thomas street were referred to the City Engineer with power to act.

A Square Meal and A Square Deal

Here's a square deal for the people who can't eat a square meal without after pain and distress.

Go to your druggist to-day and get a box of Mi-O-Na Tablets the great prescription for indigestion and stomach troubles.

Take one, or if your suffering is intense, two tablets with or after meals and at the end of ten days if you can't get a square meal without distress go and get your money back.

That's where the square deal comes in.

But Mi-O-Na is really a stomach upbuilder of great merit.

The quick and positive action of Mi-O-Na on the stomach in case of gas, waterbrash, sour stomach and heartburn is worth a lot of money to any sufferer.

Why not try Mi-o-Na—at druggists everywhere, or by mail, 75 cents, Booth's Hyomei Co., Listowell, Ont.

HYOMEI
(PRONOUNCED HIGH-O-ME)

Ends Catarrh or money back. Just breathe it in. Outfit including inhaler $1.35. Extra bottles 75c. All druggists.

To Have Curly, wavy Hair Like 'Nature's Own'

Women who have trouble keeping their hair in curl, or of securing the desired wavy effect—and especially those who realize the harm that the iron does to the hair—will do well to try plain liquid silmerine. In no other way can they acquire such pretty waves and curls, having all the appearance of "Nature's own." And the hair, instead of being singed, ragged or dead looking, has such a lively lustre and wholesome beauty.

If one will get a bottle of liquid silmerine at any drug store and follow the accompanying directions, she will be simply delighted with the result. This product is of course perfectly harmless and there is nothing sticky, greasy or unpleasant about it. The hair will be quite manageable no matter in what fashion it is done up.

CUT IN PRICE OF MILK

INGERSOLL, Ont., Oct. 4.— With a cut in the price paid by the Borden Company here effective, the attitude of the milk producers of the district is watched with no little interest. The price paid by the company during September was $2.85 for 3.5 milk. The price which went into effect the beginning of this month is $2.50 for milk of the same standard.

SHOT THROUGH THE HAND.

BROCKVILLE, Oct. 4.—While examination of a former German revolver belonging to his brother, Major Thain MacDowell, V.C., at his mother's home in Maitland, Newell MacDowell, ex-lieutenant in the C.E.F., accidentally shot himself through the palm of his hand. His injury was dressed by a local physician.

AUSTRALIAN FROZEN BEEF SOLD TO PRIVATE BUYERS.

LONDON, Oct. 4. — The British Government has sold to private buyers an immense quantity of Australia's frozen beef, of a value estimated to be £7,000,000.

SWALLOWE DA NOTE AND CASHED HIMSELF.

MELBOURNE, Australia, Oct. 4.— A soldier presented himself at the Commonwealth Treasury here and said: "I am a £100 note and want to be cashed." he said that he had swallowed a note at Fleurbaix when he expected to be captured. He remembered the number, and the note in question turned out to be the only one missing from a particular issue which had been recalled. The man received a new note.

FLOUR MILLS HAD POWER SHUT OFF

TWENTY MINUTES WARNING WOULD HAVE BEEN ACCEPTABLE.

Local flour mills which were running last evening were hard hit when their power supply was cut off without warning about 9 o'clock. The machinery stopped while the grinders were full of flour in the process of manufacture and it took nearly two hours to clean the material out of the machines before they could start up again. The millers state that had they received notice of the cutting off of power they could have been prepared in twenty minutes. As it was they lost about two hours time and practically all the rollers had to be removed and cleaned.

SPLENDID SHOW AT THE GRAND

MISS MILDRED CLEMENS AND HER COMPANY OF STARS.

At the Grand last evening an entertainment of surpassing excellence was provided by Miss Mildred Leo Clemens' company of six genuine native Hawaiian Singers dancers and players. It was a three in one performance, music pictures, stories and dancing.

In the company, Hawaiia's most famous dancer Miss Anna Hila, who danced for the Prince of Wales last April, appeared, giving a number of dances identically as they are given on her native shores.

Exclusive pictures of life in the Pacific Paradise were shown, the feature of these being the great volcano in eruption, the only picture of its kind in existence. Pictures of surf riding in Waikiki and of an aeroplane trip over Hawaii taken on the plane in which Miss Clemens rode herself also proved most interesting.

Miss Clemens' gift of unerring judgment is exemplified in the splendid troupe which she chose during a personal trip through Hawaii last March for the sole purpose of securing unexcelled native talent. She brought back to America only the best, and these include real musicians who have developed a wonderful ability for singing the seductive songs of their native island.

The show will be repeated at the Grand this evening and again to-morrow.

cipal deputation with the Department of Railways and Canals, remarked that there was open hostility noticed between the Department of Railways and Canals and the Hydro-Electric Commission. The delegation had asked that the flow of the water in the Otonabee and Trent rivers be increased one-tenth of a foot a week for a period of six weeks.

Thanks to E. Gus Porter, M.P.

The Council in a resolution by Ald. Gordon, seconded by Ald. Turner, expressed its appreciation of the valuable services of Mr. E. Gus Porter, K.C., M.P., of Belleville, in presenting the petition of the recent deputation that waited on the Minister of Railways and Canals in connection with the temporary scarcity of power in this district.

"Mr. Porter did first class work and presented the case wonderfully well," said Ald. Gordon

Copies of the resolution will be sent to Mr. Porter and to the Belleville Chamber of Commerce.

IMPRESSED WITH CITY'S IMPROVEMENT

Mr. George Wainwright, son of the late Robt. Wainwright, who conducted one of Peterboro's largest Butcher Shops and Meat Stores, 30 or 35 years ago, on George Street, nearly opposite Alex Gordon's Butcher Shop, is in the city to-day, on his first visit since leaving Peterboro 30 years ago.

Mr. Wainwright is now Veterinary Surgeon at Grand Prairie, Alberta, where his father died seven years ago, and two of his younger brothers more recently.

Mr. Wainwright is greatly impressed with the improvement in the City since leaving here. He says in fact, he would hardly know it to be the same town as the one he left.

He reports that business conditions in the West are rapidly improving, and that the crops in his locality have been magnificent.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET

(United Press)

NEW YORK, Oct. 5—Stocks were higher at the opening of the New York Stock Exchange to-day. Opening prices included U. S. Steel 87 3-4 up 1-4; Mexican Pet. 187 up 1-2; Anaconda 53; Goodrich 50 off 3-4; New Haven 36 1-2 up 3-8; New York Central 79 up 3-8; American Loco 95 5-8 up 1-8; Southern Railway 32 1-4 off 1-8; Baltimore and Ohio 47 1-2 off 1-4 Southern Pac. 99 3-4; Reading 95 1-4 up 1-8; Crucible Steel 131 1-2 up 5-8; U. S. Rubber 79 1-2 up 1-4; Kansas City Southern 27 1-2 up 3-8; Canadian Pacific 128 1-2 off 3-8.

Practically the entire list showed gains in early trading. Steels, oils, industrials with Baldwin Loco leading the latter group, participated in the gains.

NEW YORK, Oct 5.—Mexican Pet went above 169 and Pan American above 91. Oils were among the last to make the upturn. Tobaccos advanced with the other lines.

Stock Market Bulletin, Oct. 4th, /20.

Campbell, Stratton & Co.,

Members Toronto Stock Exchange.

In the New York Market—

The market has had a much better tone this afternoon, and in fact distinct strength has developed in several quarters of the list. The profit taking which affected some of the rails this morning was absorbed and a resumption of the buying for accumulation carried prices up again. The Steel issues and equipments developed strength particularly Beth. Steel, Common, and Baldwin as the strong statement from Mr. Schwab following the cheerful views expressed by Judge Gary, generated a better feeling towards the steel stocks which rather spread to the rest of the list. The fact that money got up to 8 p.c. had no effect and the market closed considerably more firmly than for some time.

Strength and activity in Canadian Pacific and Brazilian were in marked contrast to the dullness of the rest of the local stock market this morning. The rail boom in New York has gone on for a fortnight now without showing any signs of abating. One direct effect of it has been to raise the C.P.R. seven or eight points in the Canadian market. This morning's sales opened at 139, moved forward to 140, and closed at 140 1-2 with indication that the investment demand here would force the price still higher unless the bottom falls out of the New York movement. It is the better class of investment stocks that are standing out now and attracting the attention of buyers while speculative securities appear to have had their run for the time being.

Toronto rails picked up another point to 45. Duluth Superior was strong at 16 1-2 bid, while Barcelona and Twin City were unchanged.

SINN FEINERS CONTINUE THEIR HUNGER STRIKE

CORK, Ireland Oct. 5.—Sinn Feiners incarcerated in prison here are continuing their hunger strike and reports last night stated their condition was without change.

Jilted at the altar, a McKeesport girl hunted the intended bridegroom and administered a sound thrashing to him, using only her fists.

MPROVEMENT IN THE CITY WATER

DITIONAL TESTS WILL BE MADE TO-MORROW AT THE PUMPING STATION.

Some improvement can be seen in e condition of the city's supply of ater, but the water is still infected, ated Mr. R. L. Dobbin, waterworks perintendent yesterday afternoon. The quantity of chlorine, he exected, would be lowered soon, but t unless the experiments that will begun to-morrow, warrant a reuction of the dose. The rate has en during September 9 to 10 lbs. r million gallons.

During September of this year ere was less water pumped than in ugust, due probably to the abanonment of lawn watering for this ason.

The figures for the two months nd September last year follow:

Total pumpage—

ept., 1920	97,735,000 gallons
ug., 1920	104,545,000 gallons
ept., 1919	95,982,000 gallons

Average pumpage per day:

ept., 1920	3,257,800 gallons
ug., 1920	3,372,430 gallons
ept., 1919	3,099,400 gallons

There was nearly 8 degree differnce in the temperature of the air at he waterworks between August and eptember. In September last year, he temperature was much warmer han this year. This month it was 9.1; in August it was 67.4, and last ear September registered 59.8. Durng the last month the average temerature of the water was 66.6. The otal amount of chlorine used during he month was 921 lbs., and 124 tests were made at the laboratory.

Mr. Dobbin stated that the improvement in the water during the old weather of last week was particularly noticeable and he believes hat with a few more weeks of cool weather the pollution in the water hat has made the boiling of it necessary ever since last year, will have almost have disappeared, and with it of course the manifest inconvenience o the citizens of having to take very precaution to ensure the water being pure.

ANNUAL MEETING OF BOY SCOUTS

OFFICERS ELECTED FOR THE COMING YEAR.

Enthusiasm marked the annual meeting of the Boy Scouts Association held last evening in the Public Library and a big impetus was lent the local Association by the able addresses and the annual reports all of which proved most encouraging. President R. M. Hamilton occupied the chair.

The Officers

Officers elected for the coming year were: —

Honorary Presidents—R. M. Hamilton and J. W. Fraser

President—C. E. Jamieson.

Vice President—J. I. Allen.

Secretary Treasurer—D. Fleming.

Chaplain of the Peterboro Association Rev. James Rollins.

And an executive of six members.

Interesting Address

Honorary Provincial Secretary Lawrence of Toronto, gave an interesting address dealing first with the history of the Scout movement, and pointing out that the idea originated with Sir Baden Powell in a South African town during the Boer War. The Boy Scout Association, then formed, did valuable service during the war and since the origin at that time the movement has spread all over the American Continent and has even penetrated China and Japan. Information on the movement is to-day being sought by countries throughout the entire world.

Continuing he pointed out the value of the movement is not so great in the numbers but in proficiency. He showed that the educational work as outlined in the different tests in the Scout movement, if passed, made for better citizenship and also fitted the boys passing for the different occupations in their particular walk of life. He said that if a scout was a first class scout and had passed the different tests and had matriculated he was satisfied to give a position without further inquiry, because a boy could not be a first class scout without being honorable and of good character. He said that a scout must learn service and that service is the greatest education in the development of human life.

Vote of Thanks.

A hearty vote of thanks for the interesting address was very ably moved by Mr. J. W. Fraser in which he spoke of the Scout movement in Peterboro. The vote was seconded by Mr. J. I. Allen.

Indicated Proficiency

The report read by Mr. E. G. Whiteside's indicated satisfactory progress during the past year, not so much in numbers but in the proficiency shown, which it was agreed, is more important to the movement.

Scout Masters Present

The Scout Masters in charge of the different troops who were present at the meeting were V. Sedgwick, Dean Tyrer, C. Thoronto, H. Carte, and Assistant Scout Master Ashmore, Scout Master Ingram who has recently come to the city from the United States where he served as Scout Master with a troop and has joined St. James Troop, was also at the meeting. Scout Master Lake, a former Scout Master in the city, was welcomed to the meeting ofter his illness in the Mowat Hospital.

FIGHT BETWEEN DOMIOION AND PROVINCIAL, ETC.

Hatred of Sir Adam Beck by high officials of the Department of Railways and Canals and jealous friction and petty strifes for the upper hand on the Trent Canal between the two organizations is said to have continued for several years. A situation similar to that of the present existed during the war and resulted in the carrying of the matter before Sir Henry Drayton, who was then Power Controller for the Imperial Munitions Board. Sir Henry righted matters at that time.

The waters in this district are subject to the control of the Department of Railways and Canals and the Hydro power houses have only the right of using what water the canal authorities are instructed to release.

The reason given out for the shortage of power as low water in the Trent and Otonabee rivers caused by a dry spell is not borne out by the official figures of the rainfall which show that there was a considerably heavier rainfall in September of this year than in September of 1919. September, 1919, had 1.51 inches of rain, and September, 1920, had 4.05 inches.

The opinion is gaining ground in some quarters that the present situation is the outcome of the fight between the Dominion and Provincial governments for control of the power.

Lifting the Lid.

The power shortage has turned conversations in clubs, stores and wherever men congregate to the same channels as when the taking over of local power development facilities by the Hydro-Electric Commission was the gerat question before the ratepayers.

There is much open criticism of Peterborough's action in handing over its power to the Hydro and many term it a mistake. It is generally admitted that the present situation is not entirely the result of Hydro ownership but the existing shortage and its result on the industries of the city have given a retrospective turn to the minds of many of the citizens.

Many argue that under the former conditions all the power developed here was used in the city and district and that now it is being diverted to all Central Eastern Ontario. One man characterized it as taking power from Peterborough's back door and transporting it to towns whose lack of power facilities had placed them far behind Peterborough in the industrial race. Peterborough has to share the cost of distribution.

Had the city the exclusive use of the power developed here it would not suffer as it is suffering, many believe. Power which is being developed here is being transported to towns many miles distant and this city as a result is forced to endure the consequent losses, is a popular opinion.

Higher Local Rates.

Some believe that were power developed here used here entirely local rates would be lower, as under existing conditions Peterborough is forced to help in the maintenance of an extensive power transportaiton system which takes part of the power developed at our back door to distant cities.

"BEHIND THE DOOR" SCENES PICTURED IN REAL SUBMARINE

Battleship and submarine scenes, both exterior and interior, will be technically correct in the Thomas H. Ince special production, "Behind the Door," starring Hobart Bosworth, which comes to the Regent Theatre as a Paramount-Artcraft picture.

This was assured when Director Irvin Willatt enlisted the services of Lieutenant John Cook from the H-8 at the submarine base at San Pedro, Cal., to guide him through the nautical sets.

Lieutenant Cook directed the submarine while the action pictures were being taken. In doing this he performed a remarkable feat. It was desired to get a picture of Bosworth on the deck of the submarine submerged. To get the proper angle the cameras had to be placed on top of the conning tower. Lieutenant Cook was asked to submerge the boat but to stop as close to the floor of the conning tower as possible that the cameramen should not be drowned or their instruments ruined.

The officer submerged the boat until the water was within an inch of the conning tower floor and stopped. Mr. Bosworth was of course compelled to swim to a near by rescue boat. Director Willatt did not even get his feet wet and insists Lieutenant Cook is a complete master of his submarine. Jane Novak and a fine cast of players appear in Mr. Bosworth's support.

ANOTHER DEPUTATION TO HYDRO COMMISSION

A deputation from the local Utilities Commission is going to Toronto on Thursday to make representations to the Hydro-Electric Commission.

Yesterday the William Hamilton Company was forced to close and today the De Laval Company is without power and is instaling gasoline engines.

To-morrow The Examiner will be without power from 7 o'clock to 1 o'clock and as a result the mechanical portion of the plant will be run from 7 o'clock to-night until midnight.

WOODSHED FIRE ON DOWNIE STREET.

Last night fire from an unknown origin damaged the back of Mr. Stanley Richardson's home, 465 Downie Street, burning the wood shed and back verandah, and damaging out buildings at Mr. R. W. Ward's home, 467 Downie Street.

The blaze was first discovered by Misses Hattie and Mildred Ward at midnight, who, on hearing the crackling and seeing a blaze, investigated, to find what appeared to be a serious fire at Mr. Richardson's back door. They summoned the Fire Department and upon the arrival of the Brigade, the blaze was promptly extinguished.

Medical officers—"Have ou any organic trouble?"

Recruit—"No, sir, I ain't a bit musical.

NEEDED NO COAXING

PETERBORO PEOPLE ARE QUITE WILLING TO BUY HICH-CLASS SHOES AT A $3.00 SAVING.

There are a lot of wise people in Peterboro, and Miller and Sons Shoe Store have found it out. They offered their high-grade shoes at a straight reduction in price of $3.00 a pair, and the good dressers have not been slow to take advantage of it. The sale lasts for ten days yet, and the stock is almost as complete in sizes and styles as when it started, five days ago. See their advertisement on another page.

NEW PLUMBING BY-LAW PASSED BY COUNCIL

WILL BE PRINTED AT ONCE AND COPIES SUPPLIED TO TRADE.

The new plumbing by-law was ushered through Council last night by Ald. Jones as chairman of the Property Committee.

Aldermen Gainey and Morrison suggested that copies should be given to every member before the Council's approval of the new by-laws was formally passed.

Ald. Jones and other members of the Committee gave the assurance that every section of the new by-laws had been carefully considered, and rather than devote an hour or two to the reading of the committee's work, the Council accepted it.

Ald. Jones was instructed to call for tenders for the printing of the new by-laws, of which three or four copies will probably be secured.

THE REMAINS OF EDWARD CORKERY TAKEN FROM RUINS

JOHN BRICK IN A CRITICAL CONDITION IN THE HOSPITAL.

The fire which broke out in the barns of Timothy Crough, Ennismore, yesterday afternoon about 2 o'clock, left death and destruction behind it.

John Brick, a farmer, of Ennismore, lies in St. Joseph's Hospital with serious burns, which may prove fatal.

Timothy Crough, the owner, is also in the hospital with severe burns; and Edward Gorman and Joseph Callins, who were in the silo, escaped with only a few minor burns.

Buildings Destroyed.

The barns, silo, and sheds were totally destroyed. Nine horses and nineteen pigs died in the flames. All of Mr. Crough's season's crop, excepting his wheat, which he had, fortunately, sold, was lost. The loss of the buildings is partly covered with insurance. Those who each lost a horse are J. Collins, E. Corkery, M. Crough, E. Crough, J. Sullivan, R. McManus, J. Brick; and W. Kearns lost a valuable team.

The four men, Timothy Crough, John Collins, Edward Gorman, John Brick, and the lad Edward Corkery, were working inside the silo when the fire broke out in the barn. Several men were outside in charge of the filler and the engine.

The cause o fthe disastrous fire, the worst which has ever been recorded in Ennismore, is unknown. The theory that it was started by a spark from the engine was exploded when it was determined that the fire started in underneath the stable, an impossible place for a spark to alight. The inside of the stable, into which the only exit from the silo led was a raging furnace before the fire was discovered by either working party.

Rushed Through the Flames.

It is evident that the men, feeling that their only hope lay in reaching the front stable door, rushed through the flames without considering that help might have come to them from outside. Knowing that they were trapped if they delayed, the four men, Crough carrying young Corkery, went into the sea of flames.

The nine horses tied in the stalls, frantic with the blinding smoke and the flames, were lashing and fighting to free themselves from the halters, and past and through these the men had to go. The men were kicked and bruised and half mad themselves with the flames and smoke, and Crough, burned and bruised, dropped the lad in the stable, and in his dazed condition, when he reached the stable door, the last of the party, thought the lad may have come out himself. The other men would not allow him to go back into the flames for the little fellow.

Cut Hole in Silo.

Robert McManus, of Smith, one of the men working outside, was the first to notice the fire. Realising the trap the men were in, he rushed around to the stable door, flung it open, only to find that the stable was a mass of flames. Convinced that the men were in the silo, the men cut a hole in the wooden side above the cement foundation, but to their dismay found not a soul inside. They waited at te stable door for the sight they did not wish to look upon.

John Brick came out, the first of the five, crawling on his hands and knees. He was unrecognisable, only a few scarred tatters of clothing covering his blackened body. One by one the others came out—Timothy Crough last.

The efforts of all the men were needed to restrain the owner from going in to try and save the boy. His condition was pitiable when he realised the boy was beyond all earthly help.

The two badly burned men were rushed into the city to St. Joseph's Hospital, where the medical knowledge of the city doctors has been called into requisition in an effort to save their lives.

Brick, it was understood this afternoon, lies in a critical condition.

Crough, it is believed, will recover, but will bear with him through life the marks of the flames.

A pile af blackened timbers and smouldering grain were all that remained of the fine barns and crops of Timothy Crough last night. Out of this pile, where the cement wall of the stable had a little jog in it, leaving a litle corner, was taken the unrecognisable remains of the little fellow, Edward Corkery, yesterday afternoon, about 5.30 o'cock. The boy, it would seem, had crawled back when he fell from Mr. Crough's grasp, and edged his body into this little corner to escape the searching flames. It is believed that had he gone towards the door, his life might have been saved.

Lane & Eano, undertakers, were called, and they notified Assistant Coroner Dr. King, who went and had the body removed from the pile of ruins.

About 8.30 it was brought into the city by Lane & Eano, and was taken out to his home this afternoon. The funeral will be held to-morrow morning at nine o'clock to St. Martin's Church and Cemetery, Ennismore.

The victim of the fire was just 14 years and 5 months. He was born in Ennismore, and had gone to school there. The little fellow was a great favourite in Ennismore, and the tragic death of one of their sons, with a bright future before him, has shocked the entire community. Sympathy has been exteuded on every hand to his parents, brothers and sisters.

John Brick Dead.

John Brick, the Ennismore farmer who was seriously burned in the Ennismore fire yesterday afternoon, died at one o'clock to-day in St. Joseph's Hospital. The deceased, the second victim of the fire was born in Ennismore, 66 years ago, and had lived there his entire life. A successful and prominout farmer he was widely known in this district and his tragic death will be read of with deepest regret throughout the province. Besides his wife he leaves five sons, Dr. M. J. of Windsor, William of Windsor, James at St. Michael's College, Toronto, and Frank and John at home. He leaves one daughter Josephine at home. One brother Patrick of Lindsay and two sisters, Mrs. E. McAuliffe of Ennismore and Mrs. Simon Perdue of Peterboro, survive.

Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

DISCREPANCIES BETWEEN RATES IN EAST AND WEST

Canadian West.

OTTAWA, Oct. 5. — Judgment of the Board of Railway Commissioners in the freight and pasesnger rates increase case, it is understood, is to be referred back to the Board for reconsideration along certain suggested lines.

Principal among them will be considered the discrepancies existing between eastern and western rates to the advantage of the latter.

TELLS UNITED STATES HANDS OFF IRELAND

LABOUR CANNOT CO-OPERATE WITH AMERICAN ORGANIZATION.

(Canadian Press.)

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—The promoters of the "Committee of One Hundred on Ireland," recently formed in the United States for the purpose of holding an "impartial and thorough investigation" into the alleged outrages committed in Ireland, yesterday received a cablegram from the members of the British Labour Party endorsing the idea of an investigation, but declaring at the same time that it would be impossible for them to co-operate with the sessions held in the United States. They declared any such investiagtion should be held in Ireland.

OBITUARY

MRS. JOHN TODD.

Mrs. John Todd, formerly Jane Barrie, died this morning at the family residence, 558 Harvey street, aged 74 years.

Deceased, who was born in Dummer township, had lived in Lakefield practically all her life where she has won the love and the respect of all with whom she came in contact.

INSPECTED FALSE WORK FOR BRIDGE'S BIG SPAN

The false work for the main arch of the Hunter street bridge has been built according to the plans approved by the Ontario Railway Board, Mr. H. W. Middlemist, the Board's engineer reported to the Council last night.

The cost of putting a new roof on the Canadian Nashua Company's factory has been estimated at $1,800, of which the Council decided to pay half, the company the remainder.

A letter of appreciation to the Parks committee and Council was forwarded by the Great War Veterans' band who stated that they hope to have fifty performers next year.

Ald. Morrison's report of the lighting of the market square planned by Mr. H. O. Fisk was approved.

WEDDING BELLS

WRIGHT--EMMERSON.

St. James' Methodist church was the scene of a very pretty wedding on Monday morning, Oct. 4th, at 6.45, when Miss Florence E. Emmerson was married to Mr. Walter E. Wright. Rev. Mr. Chapman conducted the ceremony.

The bride, who was given away by her aunt, Miss A. Emmerson, entered the church to the strains of the wedding march, played by Miss Hazel Gillespie.

The church was beautifully decorated, the work of the Young People's Society, of which the bride is president.

The bride was dressed in a navy blue suit and black ostrich feather hat, and wore a corsage boquet of violets.

Many and beautiful were the gifts showing the popularity of the young couple.

On their return Mr. and Mrs. Wright will reside at 23 Aylmer St.

Ottawa Laments the Failure of the Hydro Commission to Develop Power

PLANS FOR ADDITION TO COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE

PRESENT BUILDING IS OVER-CROWDED—REGULAR MEETING OF THE SCHOOL BOARD —ACCOUNTS PASSED.

At the regular meeting of the Board of Education held last evening upon the recommendation of Dr. F. C. Neal, chairman of the Supervision Committee, that the matter of enlarging the Collegiate Institute by the addition of a gymnasium, manual training and household science department together with three or four additional class rooms receive the immediate consideration of the Board. A committee of Mrs. W. R. Morris, Mr. J. W Worth, Mr. Thomas McGrath and Mr. J. A. McKone was appointed to look into the matter. In recommending immediate action Dr. Neal said that at present it is difficult to anticipate what effect the Adolescent Act will have, and to know how far the Government will go in enforcing it. The present provision made for gymnasium classes is not in the interests of the school, he contended.

It was decided also upon recommendation of Dr. Neal, that the fees for non resident pupils at the Collegiate Institute should not be increased at the present time. Dr. Neal pointed out that fees charged at the School are among the highest in the Province.

Absentee Officer's Report.

The absentee officer reported during September:—

Thirty-one absentees, three from illness, one truant, one produced a doctor's certificate, one, age in doubt father made statutory declaration, one police court case fined $2.00, $3.10 costs; two required at home, six left the city, four outside of the city for a few weeks, twelve irregulars.

Teachers Cooperate

On motion of Mr. J. W. Worth, seconded by Mr. G. O. Cameron, the Inspector was instructed to have the school teachers cooperate with the Fire Prevention Association.

On motion of Mr. G. O. Cameron, seconded by Mr. J. M. Greene it was decided that the Board should defray expenses ($10) for the use of the Y.W.C.A. gymnasium for the girls' gymnasium classes. The account had last year been paid by the Athletic Association.

Members Present.

The members present were Mr. R. Denne in the chair, Mrs. W. R. Morris, Messrs E. G. Patterson, J. M. Greene, J. W. Worth, G. O. Cameron A. A. Fowler, J. A. McKone, and Dr. Neal.

Department at Fault.

Inspector A. Mowat reported that all school text books had arrived outside of the Fourth Book Reader and the History. Mr. H. R. H. Kenner in reporting a shortage of Collegiate Institute Text Books remarked that the fault lay at the doors of the Department of Education.

LABOUR MEMBERS TO HOLD CAUCUS

(Canadian Press)

TORONTO, Oct. 6.— Hon. Walter Rollo, Minister of Labor, said to-day that the question of calling a caucus of labor members of the Ontario Legislature as suggested by Mayor M. M. MacBride M.P.P., Brantford, would be laid before Labor members next week, and meeting arranged if the majority wished it.

Continue Fighting

EFFORT TO RUSH ARMISTICE NEGOTIATIONS TO SPEEDY CONCLUSION.

(Canadian Press.)

RIGA, Oct. 6.—Russo-Polish armistice negotiations are being rushed to a speedy conclusion, but the Lithuanian-Polish situation seems meanwhile to have become more acute.

Polish officials statement issued this morning reports severe fighting with an attacking Lithuanian division in the vicinity of Orany about midway between Grodno and Vilna and adds it is stated that Lithuanian troops are fighting alongside Bolsheviki troops.

Peace Draft.

It was said this morning at head quarters of Polish Peace Delegation that M Joffe, head Russian Mission had accepted virtually as whole, Polish Peace Draft based on eleven points framed by Riga Delegation and made public at beginning of Riga Conference. These it is stated have been approved at Warsaw but have not yet been formally presented to the Soviet Delegation.

Many Prisoners.

RIGA, Oct. 6.—Polish officials communication received yesterday by Peace Delegates, says that during past week Poles have taken fifty-two thousand prisoners, 180 guns, eleven hundred machine guns, seven armored trains, twenty eight locomotives and much other material.

Attaches of Polish General staff here say that Poles now occupy major part of old German Trench system on Baranovitchi line, notably in Lida sector and in direction of Minsk which they insist, however, is not their obejctive.

Leaving Capital.

LONDON, Oct. 6.—Dispatches to exchange telegraph and central news from Helsingfors quote Russian reports of an increasing Exodus of Petrograd order to escape starvation. Dispatches say that two hundred thousand persons have left former capital and that outgoing trains are crowded.

SIR CLIFFORD TO BUY SASKATOON PAPERS

Mr. Herman, the Vendor, Has Options on Toronto and Hamilton Dailies.

WINNIPEG, Oct. 6.—It is reported here that one of the most important newspaper deals in recent years is practically consummated. According to the report Sir Cligord Sifton, who owns the Winnipeg Free Press and interests associated with him have acquired from Mr. W. F. Herman the Saskatoon Star and the Saskatoon Phoenix. Mr. Herman, who, over a year ago, established the Border City Star, in Windsor, Ont., and has recently established there the Border Cities Sun as a morning paper, has, it is reported, acquired options on newspaper properties in Hamilton and Toronto. If the present deal goes through, Mr. Herman will hereafter concentrate his activities in Ontario. Until recently he was the owner of the Regina Post, but a few weeks ago disposed of his interest in that paper, acquiring at the same time the Saskatoon Phoenix. He has been for many years proprietor and publisher of the Saskatoon Star.

Hydro-Electric Commission Not Anxious to be a Party to the Local Power Crisis

DEPUTATION WILL BE SPIKED BEFORE IT REACHES TORONTO —HEAVY LOSES FROM POWER SHORTAGE.

The Hydro-Electric Power Commission intends to let its customers who are suffering from the present power shortage fight their own battles. As far as is possible the Commission is trying to hold itself aloof from the negotiations in progress between the interests affected by the shortage and the Department of Railways and Canals. This was learned from information which was given out yesterday to certain local interests by representatives of the Commission. Consequently, the deputation from the Utilities Commission which is going ot Toronto to-morrow to wait upon the Hyrod-Electric big guns may receive a cool reception.

Heavy Loses From Power Shortage.

Some idea of the heavy losses which are resulting to the industries of the city from the power shortage may be gained from the fact that the William Hamilton Company lost approximately $2,000 through the closing of its plant on Monday because of lack of power. Furthermore the officials of the company fear that another closing down, even for but one day, may result in the cancellation of large orders. The 175 employers of the company lost a day's wages.

The De Laval lost in the neighborhood of $2,000 yesterday through the cutting off of its power. The company installed gasoline engines to generate its power and connected part of its machinery to a steam engine. Several heavy machines, however, were forced to remain idle. A rough comparison of the power cost shows that gasoline power is costing the company nearly six times as much as electric power.

Hydro Oversold.

"One of the chief reasons for the present situation is that the Hydro-Electric Power Commission has without doubt oversold and consequently it is foolish to bring new industries into Peterborough when they would suffer a great loss on account of being unable to secure power necessary for operations. Any part of the present production of electrical energy that may be distributed to newcomers simply handicaps the industries already located here, on whose growth the city depends," was the statement made to the Examiner last evening by W. R. Breyfogle, general manager of the De Laval Company, when discusing the question with the Examiner.

Meeting To-morrow.

The power shortage will be threshed out at a meeting of the Manufacturers' Association in the Board of Trade rooms to-morrow evening. What action is contemplated is not known, but the manufacturers, in view of the steadily increasing losses which they are sustaining, the apparent aversion of the Hydro-Electric Commission to attempt to use its practically negligible influence at Ottawa, and the statements of some engineers that low water may prevail all winter, are ready to use strong measures. Armcured with official figures and reports of engineers who have investigated the situation the manufacturers have prepared a strong case.

The interests affected by the power shortage are aroused by the data regarding the water flow in the Otonabee river compiled by engineers and are determined to protest against the alleged waste of water by the Trent Canal authorities and the lack of proper regulation of flow and, if possible, to have the flow of water properly and scientifically regulated.

MacSWEENEY IN 55th DAY OF HUNGER STRIKE

Passes a Bad Night With Pulse Considerably Quickened.

(Canadian Press.)

LONDON, Oct. 6 —Lord Mayor of Cork passed rather bad night according to a bulletin issued by the Irish Self-Determination League this morning. The prison physician is quoted as saying MacSwiney's pulse rose a little, which might be due to some little excitement, and adds that generally speaking, the condition of the Lord Mayor was unchanged to-day. This is the 55th day of his hunger strike.

Sisters of Mrs. MacSwiney send an appeal to Governor Cox and send to Harding for a "message of hope for Ireland."

A PROPOSAL FOR IRISH SETTLEMENT

Lloyd George Will Deal With the Issue on Friday of This Week.

(Canadian Press)

LONDON, Oct. 6.—Premier Lloyd George will speak at Llanelly on Friday and it is expected to deal at length with the Irish situation.

He will probably analyze Lord Grey's proposals for a settlement and also Ex-Premier Asquith's which appeared in the London Times this morning. The latter's suggestion of granting Ireland the status of an autonomous Dominion in the fullest and widest sense, is received with general scepticism.

THE SCHOOL BOARD CREATES NEW OFFICE

If we are not big enough to make such an appointment wtihout hiding behind an advertisement in a newspaper, we're not fit to sit on this Board, Mr. G. O. Cameron contended when Mr. J. W. Worth insisted thta the newly-created position of supervisor of repairs to school properties should not be filled without advertising in the papers. It was, however, decided to appoint Mr. John Taylor to the position at a salary of $125 a month, his duties to commence on November 1st.

Mr. A. A. Fowler, chairman of the Property comittee, said that Mr. Taylor was a first class man, had looked after the interests of the schools for some months and understood the work thoroughly. Mr. J. M. Greene thought the creation of the appointment a move in the right direction and would doubtless be a means of saving hundreds of dollars for the Board. School Inspector Mowat endorsed the Board's selection, stating that Mr. Taylor had looked after such work as he would be required to do satisfactorily and knew the situation exactly.

Mr. Taylor will work under the supervision of the Property committee and the Inspector.

Will Defray Expenses.

It was decided that the Board should defray expenses for ten cadets to enter the Ontario Rifle Association contest to be held this month in Toronto, also to grant the usual $40 for Field Day prizes.

Medical Inspection.

Dr. A. W. McPherson, Medical Inspector of the schools, reported 650 pupils examined during the past month. He advised the Board that it is his intention to cover one school at a time, making two examinations of each during the school year.

BREAD PRICES DUE FOR DROP

FLOUR IS STILL ON THE TOBOGGAN —DROP IN OTHER CITIES.

The drop in the price of bread may come sooner than was expected a few days ago, when bakers stated that there was little prospect of any price reduction before the beginning of next year.

Bread has dropped in Montreal, Ottawa and Lindsay. When the drop came in Lindsay it was stated that the Lindsay bakers were using a lower grade flour than the Peterboro bakers and that consequently they could afford to reduce the price. It has been ascertained, however, that several Lindsay bakers are being supplied with a high grade flour by a local mill and that this flour is the same as that used by three of the largest bakers in Peterboro. Up to yesterday flour had now dropped $2.35 a barrel, a consequent reduction in bread prices is to be expected. Flour touched a new low level to-day.

COMBINE ALLEGED.

Rainey Asks Dissolution of Retail Grocers Association.

TORONTO, October 6. — Hon. W. E. Raney files a claim against the Retail Grocers' Association and asks for a dissolution of the alleged "combine."

WASTAGE OF WATER FOR THE BENEFIT OF STONEY LAKE COTTAGERS—ANTIQUATED GUAGES ON THE CANAL.

The figures showing the flow of water in the Otonabee river indicate that in June of 1919 the wastage of water during one week averaged 5,350 cubic feet per second while all that is required at all times to supply sufficient power on this division of the Hydro system is a mean of 1,400 cubic feet per second.

This wastage of water, it is stated, was for the benefit of Stoney Lake cottagers who wished to land at the Juniper Island wharf early in June.

At present the flow of water is about 1,000 cubic feet per second on an average during 24 hours. This is 200 cubic feet less than the very lowest mean flow which will sufficiently meet the power needs.

It is confidently expected, however, that within six weeks the increase which usually transpires will ameliorate conditions. This hope is based on the assumption that natural causes will increase the flow in latter November or early December as in former years. Last year the mean flow during early December was 3,130 cubic feet per second, which is more than twice the flow necessary. Engineers estimate that the chances of such an increased flow at that time are about 8 to 1.

It is believed that the releasing of 1-10th of a foot of water per week from Buckhorn and Stoney Lakes, if properly controlled, will make up the deficit in the flow required.

The 1200 foot flow mentioned as the amount necessary is not the flow taken at the "peak," but a mean flow for 24 hours.

Antiquated Guages.

The present situation is largely due to the tremendous wastin gof water by the Trent Canal, engineers believe. As an example of the inefficiency, of the methods employed by the canal authorities it is said that the guages used by the canal in taking water levels are so antiquated and inefficacious that the Hydro-Electric Commission has found it necesary to install special guages in order to check up the levels taken by the canal employees. This means that the taxpayers are paying for two sets of guages at each point where water levels are taken.

It is also claimed that by careful minor adjustments by the canal at certain points much water could be conserved. Among these is Auburn, where the canal authorities were asked by the Hydro to regulate the flow by means of stop logs two or three times daily. The canal authorities replied that they could not afford to pay wages to extra employees at this point. The Hydro offered to place its own employees there but the canal refused to allow this on the ground that none other than government employees could be allowed to meddle with the government's property.

The situation as viewed from the two angles of navigation and power has a diperent aspect whichever way it is considered.

(Canadian Press.)

OTTAWA, Oct. 6.—Strong representations are being made to the Government with reference to the supply of power in such places as Oshawa, Belleville, and Kingston, where the Ontario Hydro-Electric Commission has contracted to supply more power than it is at present possible to develop, unless water is released from storage in the Trent watershed, or unless Central Ontario generally is blessed by an early and abundant rainfall.

The Department of Railways and Canals is in charge of water conservation of the Trent area, and while requests are being received from lakefront manufacturers to permit the drawing off of water from the navigable stretches of the Trent to relieve the present shortage, there is no truth in the report emanating from Belleville that such a course had been agreed upon by the Department.

Hydro Oversold.

Engineering officers of the Canals Department state that to comply with these requests might quite easily precipitate a more acute and lasting shortage. They do not hesitate because of the possible effect on navigation, which is not in itself a serious matter, but after the close of navigation each fall, it had been the custom to distribute the flow throughout the winter to industrial estimates to the Peterborough and Lower Trent district.

To use this water now and take a gambling chance on replenishment before winter sets in might easily mea-

STRANGE DISAPPEARANCE CAVAN TOWNSHIP FARMER

WILLIAM TINNEY LEFT HIS HOME ON MONDAY AND FRIENDS FAIL TO LOCATE HIM.

The mysterious disappearance of William Tinney, a well known resident of Cavan township Monday about noon is causing considerable concern among his many friends, who understood his mental condition. Tinney is a farmer and a brother of the Tinney brothers who conduct a carriage business at Cavanville. His farm is directly across from his brothers' business, and it is stated that he has been a successful farmer and is well to do as regards money matters. Since his wife's death two months ago Mr. Tinney has appeared slightly deranged at times and it is said that he has had an illusion that the bailiff was coming after him, but his friends, who understand his financial position, state that this is inconceivable. He was very melancholy at periods and he has been closely watched of late by his daughter, who is a nurse, but is now at home, and his brothers.

Monday about noon his brother Harry came over to his farm to get some oats. When William was getting them for his brother it is said that he was talking quite rational. After he had got the oats and his brother was ready to go away, William struck off across the corn field and disappeared. After about ten minutes his brother, feeling that all was not right, took after his brother and traced him across the field into the woods. Here all traces of the man were lost, despite further extended search by a large party, nothing to indicate where he had gone being discovered. From the progress so far in the search it appears that the earth had swallowed up William Tinney. Up till three o'clock yesterday afternoon the searchers had made no progress towards clearing up the mystery excepting the discovery that his coat and his vest that he had left in the stable when he went away acros the field, had disappeared during the night, and it is believed that Tinney must have returned and taken them for there would be no motive for anyone else moving them.

The missing man was 50 years of age. His second wife died only a short time ago and he has only one daughter of the first family, a nurse, who had been living at home with her father since her step-mother's death. His wife's death, which occurred very suddenly, is believed by the neighbors to have caused his melancholy of late.

DEFECTIVE WIRING CAUSE OF BIG FIRE

(Canadian Press)

TOKIO, Japan, Oct. 6.—Defective electric wiring was apparently the cause of the fire which to-day destroyed the special convention hall erected for the World's Sunday School Convention. Flames broke out when the big electric inscription, "I am the light of the world", was turned on The building was crowded at time but it is believed all escaped.

Declines in Flour

WHEAT AND CORN TOUCH NEW LOW LEVELS—HOGS DOWN.

(Special to the Examiner)

WINDSOR, Oct. 6. — The local grain market fell with a crash this morning. It was felt that a slump was due soon, but the drop in prices was much greater than dealers anticipated All grain prices fell considerably, wheat being the hardest hit as it fell 35 cents a bushel since yesterday. It is quoted as low as $2 this morning. This is a much larger drop than was experienced at fluctuating Chicago market in one day. For the past two weeks, grain has been on the decline but never slumped so badly in one day, as it did here this morning.

YESTERDAY'S MARKET

(Canadian Press)

CHICAGO, Oct. 6.— Wheat and corn yesterday repeated Monday's tendencies and declined three to six cents more a bushel to new low levels on the Chicago market. Oats barley and rye also declined, but to no great extent.

Coincident with the wheat reductions came announcement from Minneapolis of further reductions in the price of flour, new quotations being $10.90 to $11 a barrel, in carload lots. Corn declines carried down, the price of hogs—"finished corn"—and the top was $15.85, with the average nearer $15.

December delivery of wheat closed yesterday at $1.89 1-2, compared with Monday's $1.95, and December corn ended the day at 84 3-8, compared with 86 cents Monday and $1.22 7-8 a year ago.

Corn for October delivery closed at 89 1-2, a cent and a half under Monday, and far below the $1.40 quoted a year ago.

SHIPS AND THEIR SIZE.

Why You Cannot Compare the Vessels According to Tonnage.

The different uses of tonnage terms when speaking of ships are causes of confusion to the lay mind, states Captain C. A. McAllister, engineer in chief, United States coast guard, in the Popular Science Monthly. For example, steamship companies in order to impress upon the traveling public the size and consequent relative safety of their craft will advertise the sailing of a certain steamer of 20,000 tons, meaning, of course, gross tons. The company's agent, in entering her at the custom house, will take great precaution to certify that she is of only 7,340 tons when paying tonnage taxes. He then is referring to her net tonnage, and, in fact, that standard is used only when paying dues or taxes.

Displacement tonnage is almost exclusively applied to warships, as they do not carry cargoes. Strange to say, the tonnage of a battleship varies almost hourly, as coal or other weighty objects are used or taken on board. The tonnage of warships is, however, fixed. They are referred to in terms of the fixed tonnage.

A statement that a 10,000 ton battleship sank a 10,000 ton merchant ship does not mean that the ships were of equal size. The merchant ship would be much the larger owing to the different meanings of the term "ton" as applied to the two types of vessels. It is absolutely impossible to give rules for the relations of these terms, as the conditions vary too greatly. Generally speaking, the gross tonnage of a ship is from 50 to 100 per cent greater than the net tonnage. Tons displacement are always in excess of tons gross. Deadweight tonnage is on an average from 30 to 50 per cent greater than gross tonnage.

THE BIBLE NEGLECTED.

Though Still the Best Seller, It Is Not Read as It Used to Be.

Although the Bible still leads all other best sellers, few read it. People still present Bibles to brides and grooms. People still present Bibles to children. Colporteurs still roam the country handing out Bibles among the villagers. Associations of devout enthusiasts still put Bibles in hotels. But the Bible is seldom read aloud in the home. And the type of American who daily reads his Bible in secret from a sense of duty is becoming more and more rare.

Quite apart from its moral and religious bearings, the neglect of the Bible involves a cultural handicap worth noting. It involves a cramping of the popular vocabulary, as no other literary masterpiece is such a well of English pure and undefiled. It involves a dulling of literary perceptions, as literature abounds in Biblical allusions which every reader of the Bible instantly understands, but which only readers of the Bible ever can. Finally it involves a failure to respond to many a good joke, as an astonishing percentage of the best quips are nothing more or less than Biblical allusions.

It is mainly useless, we realize, to propose a course of self enforced Bible reading for adults. We insist, however, that parents who want their children to get the most enjoyment out of life may well see to it that their children develop an acquaintance with the Bible. It is the basis of keen speech. It is the basis of intelligent reading. It is the basis of culture. And by culture we mean a capacity for enjoying the fine and beautiful things of this world and the capacity for producing some.

A Real Providence.

Mr. Younghusband reached home late for dinner.

"I got pinched for speeding on the way home," he explained rather sheepishly. "Have to appear tomorrow morning and get $10 or fifteen days."

Mrs. Younghusband fervently clapped two blistered little hands. "What a providence!" she cried devoutly. "You must take the fifteen days, John! The cook has just left!"

Home Ground Cornmeal.

Clean up the old coffee grinder or buy a new one and grind your own cornmeal for griddlecakes, muffins and bread. If you do not like bread made of cornmeal alone use some wheat flour with it. Since home ground cornmeal does not keep long it is better to buy whole corn by the bushel and grind for meal as needed.

For information regarding the Company, we refer to letter from Messrs. Jule and J. J. Allen, agreements covering purchase, and financial statements prepared by Messrs. Clarkson, Gordon & Dilworth, on file at the Company's office, from which we summarize as follows:

THE COMPANY—Allen Theatres Limited has been formed to acquire the entire assets of Messrs. Jule & J. J. Allen, controlling one of the largest chains of Motion Picture Theatres in the world—operated for the most part in Canada with extensions in the United States and England. These interests also include film exchanges, films and agencies for producers. The seating capacity of these theatres and proportion owned are as follows:

Actually in Operation:

No. of Theatres.	Seating Capacity.	Proportion Owned.
21	17,363	100%
10	10,705	76 to 99%
11	11,634	64 to 76%
9	10,160	50 to 55%

Under Construction:

No. of Theatres.	Seating Capacity.	Proportion Owned.
7	13,400	75%
Total.....58	63,262	.....

ASSETS—Assets acquired by Allen Theatres Limited, consist of ownership or control and goodwill of above theatres and film exchanges which, after giving effect to present financing, amount to over $7,500,000, or over three times the amount of the preferred stock to be issued and outstanding.

EARNINGS—The established earnings of the business prior to depreciation or Dominion Government War Taxes, accruing to the benefit of the Allens for the twelve months ending December 31st, 1919, amounted to $459,154.23; for the period January 1st to April 30th, 1920, $144,734.29, and with increased seating capacity, earnings for the fiscal year 1920-1921, prior to depreciation and Dominion Government Taxes, are estimated at $750,000. During the latter part of the present year several theatres now building will be in operation and estimate of the earnings is:

For the fiscal year 1920-1921	$ 750,000
For the fiscal year 1921-1922	1,250,000
For the fiscal year 1922-1923	2,000,000

PURPOSE OF ISSUE—The acquisition of the interests of Messrs. Jule and J. J. Allen, the completion of the theatres now under construction and general development.

GENERAL—The Allen Motion Picture interests have been built up personally by Messrs. Jule & J. J. Allen from a small beginning in 1906, to one of the largest exhibiting enterprises in the world to-day. In return for their total properties and goodwill in this business the Allens have accepted Stock in the new Company, and will continue in the management and control. The policy of building new theatres by local financing, whereby the majority of shares in local companies are retained by the Allens, will be continued, thereby continually adding to the equities owned by the holding Company without impairment of capital.

The holding Company's agreement provides that all theatrical enterprises and equities entered into or secured by Messrs. Allen shall accrue to the Company.

Holders of Preferred Shares who are resident in the United States will be paid their dividends at par of exchange.

Price: $100 per share

Common Stock bonus will be adjusted to even amount by purchase or sale of fractional share at the rate of $40.00 per share.

THE LOCAL MARKETS

Peaches were selling at various prices in the fruit stores to-day at prices ranging from 60 cents to $1 a basket. At this price they state that they are only making about ten cents a basket. They assured the Examiner that next week would see the end of the peach crop that has been so plentiful this year. The demand has now fallen off, apparently all of the jem jars in Peterborough having been filled up ith peaches and peaches and cream, a dish that has been cut off the menu till another season. Plums too will bid farewell to the market next week. Meanwhile in a last muster that shows unusually fine quality and are selling at from 50c. to $1 a basket. Lovely baskets of green gages could be had at 65 cents. By the quart fine big ones sold at only 10 and 15 cenets.

Tempting looking pears hailing from Niagara were anywhere from 60c. to $1 in the stores to-day. California pears were 40 and 50 cents a dozen. Baskets of superior grapes were ticketed at 55 and 60 cents. The price is well over that prevailing last year and the demand at this price is not as great as would be the case if the price was lower. It is understood that many of the vines were winter killed last winter, a condition that would be sure to be reflected in the yield. The fruit shops are filled with apples of various sizes and varieties, but all allurring with their healthy, rose-budded cheeks. The price a peck is from 25 to 50 cents by the barrel, No. 1's are $5, of which the elm container represents the sum of $1.75.

Some one has showed the props from under the grain market as the list will show. Hide sand wools remain unchanged. Live hogs are down 25 cents. Otherwise the meat market shows no change.

MEDIAEVAL CASTLE BURNS.

Schloss Eltz, Near Coblenz, Destroyed in Midnight Fire.

COBLENZ,—The Schloss Eltz, one of the most famous twelfth-century castles, on the Moselle between Coblenz and Treves, was destroyed by fire.

In addition to its historical associations it was most picturesquely situated, standing upon a high rock, surrounded by wooded hills.

The fire broke out about midnight and raged for twelve hours through four of the famous mediaeval buildings. One building, to which many precious relics were removed, was saved. The castle was the property of Count Eltz, who is now a resident of Hungary and is descended from the Count's who built the castle.

PETERBORO COURTS OFFICIALS WILL BENEFIT BY LAWS

CHANGE IN THE DIVISION COURT ACT IS NOW IN FORCE.

The jurisdiction of Division Courts has been increased 100 per cent. by an act of the Legislature. Hereafter $200 will be the extent of the jurisdiction of Division Courts instead of $100 as formerly.

With increase in jurisdiction go increased costs which may assist in easing the battle against the H. C. of L. for some of the officials. The long standing aversion to serving on juries may be partly abolished by the increasing jurors' fees to $4 a day. Coupled with tobogganing prices this may take a fall out of the high cost of existing in some cases, although the fee is hardly high enough to cause any rush on the part of those eligible for the seats of the "twelve good men and true."

The work of making the Ontario Temperance Act holeproof was carried on with a vengeance at the last session of the Legislature. The amendments to the Act were numerous.

Hereafter the house to which any person found guilty of an offense against the Act moves within one year after conviction will not be deemed a private residence within the meaning of the Act.

The worries of the Crown Attornies will be materially reduced by an amendment which provides that persons having liquor illegally in their possession may be forced to reveal the source from which the spirits were obtained.

The scale of rates has been altered so that persons convicted of illegally having liquor may be assessed any amount from $100 to $2000 and, the magistrate can add a term of three months in a goal or industrial farm to the sentence.

"Short circuiting," that is sending of orders from Montreal to Ontario breweries and distilleries to be filled, has been frowned down upon and banned by what is known as the Liquor Transportation Act.

COURT FINDS OUT DISPOSITION OF MONEY PONZI GAVE DANIELS TO SETTLE SUIT.

(Associated Press.)

BOSTON, Oct. 5.—Joseph Daniels, a furniture dealer, who claimed a partnership with Charles Ponzi, the get-rich-quick financier, told Referee in Bankruptcy Olmstead what disposition he had made of $50,000 paid him by Ponzi in settlement of a $1,000,000 suit which he brought against Ponzi last August for alleged violation of contract.

After repeated objections by his attorney, Isaac Harris, and the assertion of Referee Olmstead that he would cite him for contempt of court if he refused to answer, Daniels said that he gave Harris $9,500 of the $10,000, which was paid in cash, and deposited the rest, drawn in the form of a certified cheque on the Hanover Trust Company, in the First National Bank.

He added that "there was about $6,000 there now."

Ponzi, who took the stand during the day, said that Harris expected to get $500,000 of the $1,000,000 involved in the suit. Daniels later said that Ponzi had given Harris $5,000 more, a statement which agreed with one made three weeks ago by Ponzi company.

EAT WHAT YOU LIKE BUT NOT TOO MUCH, ADVICE OF EXPERTS

CHICAGO,—Now that living costs are coming down, and there is some incentive for living, the utterances of Dr. S R. Boynton, of Bellingham, Washington, have added significance. In a paper on intoxication before the Society of Physical Therapeutics, he said that by not eating your apple peelings and potato peeling and drinking sour milk, you are overlooking important foods, and shortening your lives.

He cited the Bulgarian people, who live chiefly on sour milk, and they live to unusual ages and retain their vigor. Oatmeal also comes in for high recommendation. He said the Scot is hale and hearty, sustained by oatmeal.

Other physicians agreed with the Doctor as to the high value of apple and potato peelings, sour milk and oatmeal. They advised disuse or sparing use of meat.

"Eat what you like, and not too much of it, and you will be all right," seemed to be the general idea of the speakers, but all agreed that drinking sour milk was an excellent method of keeping the body clean and healthy.

SHOW PHONE RATE RAISE WOULD BE ABOUT 180 P.C.

(Canadian Press.)

MONTREAL, Oct. 6.—As a result of the questionnaire sent out among members of the Montreal branch of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association recently, in regard to the proposed new Bell Telephone rates, 157 replies have been received to date and show that the increase would approximately be 180 per cent. over existing rates.

The most informative of the replies was received from the Northern Electric Company, a subsidiary of the Bell Telephone Company, which furnishd figures showing that over a measured month its telephone costs would be increased from $9,000 a year to $23,748.23, an increase of 150 per cent. over present rates.

Increases varied from 50 per cent. to as high as 500 per cent. additional to the present rates.

THE FIREMEN'S HOLIDAY.

The action of the Stratford City Council in asking the Ontario government to amend the Act passed at the last session of the Legislature requiring municipalities to give their firemen twenty-four hours' free time every week will undoubtedly bring this matter before the public, for it is likely that other municipal councils will re-consider the question in the light of Stratford's action. The Stratford Council do not believe that a day off each week is necessary where the two platoon system is in force, feeling that the fact that the men are off duty twelve hours each day is sufficient. In addition it is pointed out that the day's holiday a week is costing Stratford the sum of $6,000 each year. The change in the Act was passed by the Legislature at the last session before the municipalities affected had a chance to realize what it would mean. A trial of the system since has given rise to the resolution passed by the Classic City Council and it is not improbable that other cities may take similar action.

WHY NOT A VETERAN?

The Ontario Government has succeeded in stirring up considerable trouble for itself by passing over a returned soldier applicant for the position of County Crown Attorney of Brant county and appointing W. M. Charlton to fill the vacancy. The Great War Veterans' Association has expressed itself strongly in the matter and the public seems inclined to largely sympathize with the feeling of the veterans. The ex-service lawyer who was an applicant for the post, is said to be fully qualified in everyy way. Under the circumstances the Drury government has erred in the choice it has made. The Examiner believes that it is the wish of the Canadian people that in all public appointments, whether they be municipal provincial or federal, that the preference should be given to the men who fought where the qualifications of the applicants are otherwise on the same footing. This principle has apparently been lost sight of in the Brant county appointment and the protest of the Veterans seems to be entirely justified by the circumstances.

THE WOMEN'S CANADIAN CLUB.

The announcement that the annual meeting of the Women's Canadian Club is to be held to-morrow is accompanied by an invitation to the women of Peterborough to become members of this fine organization. The desirability of allying themselves with the Womens Canadian Club might reasonably be expected to impress itself upon many of our women just now, for with the privilege of the franchise extended to them their responsibility in regard to public matters has become a heavy one. They should welcome every opportunity to acquaint themselves with affairs that are of national importance and there seems no better medium available than the Women's Canadian Club, which aims at bringing to Peterborough some of Canada's best known speakers to discuss issues that are of vital interest. Last winter the members of the club had a chance to hear some remarkable addresses, and the programme for the coming winter will contain the names of a number of orators whom it will be a privilege to hear. The invitation of the Women's Canadian Club should be widely accepted. It furnishes a splendid chance for the women of Peterborough to educate themselves along the lines of public duties and responsibilities.

SAFETY WEEK.

Next week is to be observed throughout Canada as "Safety Week," and arrangements are being made in a number of the larger cities for an elaborate programme to impress the public with the need of greater care. Ottawa is setting the pace in this matter, $5,000 having been raised to finance the campaign, which is to be conducted by the Kiwanis club. Demonstrations will be given and every method of arousing the people that suggests itself will be adopted. Especial attention is to be given to the question of motor accidents, the Ottawa Kiwanis Club having decided that there is much need for improvement in the conduct of many motorists in that city. In this conection the following suggestions made by a writer in the New York Globe are of interest;

"When you are driving an automobile, always have some respect for the pedestrians. Don't cause the public to be belligerent. There are signs that the public is losing patience. Anyone can find that out by taking notice of popular comment in regard to reckless driving.

"Always drive in such a manner that the pepole on the sidewalk can notice that you are driving carefully; don't rush up to a crowd of people and blow your horn as if to say, 'Get out of my way; this is my street,' but slow down gradually and give them a chance, and they will get out of your way much quicker.

"Don't try to beat the car ahead of you. You are not in any great hurry, as a rule.

"Don't think it is a disgrace if you stop and give people a chance to cross the street.

"Pedestrians should not relax their vigilance when crossing the streets. Don't put all the responsibility on the automobilist. When you live in a city you canot expect to roam about half asleep even if the streets were void of all vehicles."

There is no public observance of "Safety Week" arranged for Peterborough, but every citizen can do much to make the week a success by deciding the question of personal responsibility in this matter. There are many things that all of us can do to make the city a safer place in which to live and next week will be an appropriate time to consider them.

AUTUMN.

For the radiance and the color,
And the spicy smell,
For the great, deep, cosmic gladness,
Past all power to tell—
Set the heart of all things ringing
Like a clear-toned bell."

The blooms of late summer lead a brilliant way to autumn. All the gold of August sunshine is caught and kept in the lavish yellow gleams over the hills and valleys of humble tansy, glowing butter-and-eggs, stately velvet dock and moth mulletin, frail evening primroses, and queen of all golden wildflowers, the Canada goldenrod, with perfect plumes. Daintier notes in the color scheme are the clumps of yarrow, like groups of misted pearls, and delicate Queen Anne's lace, marvels in floral inset lacework, and, mingling with all these, the warmer tones of borwn-eyed Susans, prarie sunflowers, gaudy Canadian lilies and butterfly weeds and elusive touch-me-nots. Blended with subtle harmonies of shade along the "smoky trail of asters" are the mauves and purple tones of St. John's wort, milkweed, trumpet and fire weed, and in daring glow of crimson, the occasional cardinal flower, be balm and painted cup. At the end of this path of glory autumn beckons.

A sprite with audacity and prodigality of color-love is autumn. She touches the tips of the sumacs with her caressing fingers, and their scarlet plumes are the memories of her passing. She lays her soft cheek but a moment against the swaying vines, and they crimson in lovely confusion. She raises her adoring eyes, "so like the souls of flowers," to the oak leaves, and the ardor of their love changes them to the color of deep wine. The low beeches brush her sunlit hair and instantly they are a-flutter with leaves of pale gold. She gaily greets her favorite lovers, the maples, and they vie with each other in their changing, glowing tones, and in the tenderness of their caring send their freshly-tinted leaves to mingle with the scarlet winter berries, in making a sunset-colored path through the ferns, whose fronds the winds have broken for her feet.

She laughs as a squirrel scurries over her pathway up into the tree boughs and nuts fall to the ground with sounds like deep-toned minor music. She sings and a lilac haze falls over the hills in vain, striving to keep the silvery, echo of her voice. She dances fairy-like in sheer ecstacy over her amazing magic and over shrubs and thickets, and overgrowth of pasture fall tender shadings of purple, gold and dove grey. She desires ambrosia and the air becomes amber wine with the unforgettable song of all slowly-dying summer fragrance. Invisible companions she summons, spirits of Love, Faith, Hope, Purity, Truth, Understanding, Melody, Courage, Poetry and Imagery, born of beauty, and the festival of color continues over hills and valleys, through woods and open spaces until she awakens to realization that all this must pass. Brief and beautiful it has has been and her wise heart knows that the momory and ministry of all loveliness is deathless. With a sigh she yields her glory and pageantry to the restful, white keeping of Winter.—London Advertiser.

GREEDY WHITE GRUBS

Larvae of the Big May Beetle or "June Bug."

Wireworms Come From the Click Beetle—Rotation of Crops Best Remedies for These Insect Pests—Cider Making.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

WHITE grubs are the larvae of the large dark brown May beetles, or "June Bugs," as they are commonly called, which are familiar to everyone. The grubs breed for the most part in old pastures where the sod has not been broken up for some years. When fully grown they are thick, fat creatures, white in color, with the body partially curled up and the last segments of a darker hue from the food showing through the skin. They feed on the roots of the grass, and when this has been ploughed up they attack whatever plant may be grown. Three years are spent underground, then the beetles appear, often in great swarms, in the early summer and devour the tender foliage of trees and shrubs. After bussing about in the early evening they settle down to feed and when daylight comes they hide away underground where the soil is loose and under grass or rubbish about fences and buildings.

The grubs, being underground feeders, are very difficult to control. A great variety of experiments have been made with chemicals of many sorts, but none has proved successful. The only method of control is the adoption of a system of rotation of crops. No field should be left in grass for more than three years. An old pasture, when broken up, is often found to be full of these grubs and they will attack the roots of any plants that are sown in place of their ordinary food which has been removed. Corn and potatoes will suffer severely, but clover is least affected by them and may be seeded down with rye. After the second year any crop will usually be safe. Deep ploughing in October before the weather becomes cold will expose the grubs and destroy many. Pigs and poultry, crows and other birds and skunks greedily devour them. Where an old field is large it would be well to confine them with hurdles to a small portion at a time, and when that is cleared move them on to a fresh feeding ground.

Wireworms are the larvae of Click beetles, so called from their curious habit of springing up in the air with a "click" when laid upon their backs. The beetles are long and narrow, rounded above, with very short legs, and usually dull gray or black in color. The grubs are long and round, with a very hard skin, from which they get their name of Wireworms, and yellow or whitish in color. Their life history is very similar to that of the White Grubs, as they thrive in old pastures and take two or three years to mature. They feed upon the roots of any plants that may be grown where they are, and are especially injurious to corn and potatoes, in the latter of which they often burrow great holes. As in the case of the White Grubs, no treatment of the soil with poisons of any kind has been found effective. There is a prevalent idea that salt will kill them, but this is an entire mistake. The only remedy is a short rotation of crops, as in the case of White Grubs. Ploughing in August and cross-ploughing in September will destroy great numbers. Clean cultivation, leaving no weeds or other shelter for the beetles, in fence corners and elsewhere is also of importance.

Break up the old pastures is the advice all farmers should follow.—Dr. C. J. S. Bethune, O. A. College, Guelph.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

4 Portsmouth Terr.,
Rochester, N. Y.,
October 4, 1920.

The Editor of the Examiner,

Dear Sir,—

I am addressing you in order to convey congratulations to the farmers of the vicinity of Peterboro on the excellence of some of their field crops this season. It may be of interest to you as the representative of the citizens of Peterboro to receive this expression of opinion.

The fact that I have come to Peterboro after having visited farms throughout the western part of Ontario, from Windsor to Toronto and along the northern shore of Lake Erie, gives me some basis for making comparisons between crops here-abouts and in other parts of Canada. I have also had occasion to look over the condition of potatoes, corn and stock vegetables throughout New York, New Jersey and some parts of Pennsylvania. After having had the pleasure of inspecting corn and root crops on some twenty farms around Peterboro I feel safe in saying that the local farmers have fields that are unsurpassed for yield and quality. In fact the ensilage corn of this section is far ahead of that in some of the western counties of the Province which bear the reputation of being the outstanding corn regions. In growth, length of stalk, height of ears on stalk, number of full thoroughly-grained ears, weight of silage and feeding properties, you have corn in this section of which you have full reason to be proud. When a community can produce such a crop it has justly earned the title of a Banner Corn Country. It is from a sense of hearty appreciation and from a desire to see acknowledgement rendered to a crop of unusual excellence that I have taken the liberty of imposing on your courtesy and patience to this extent.

Yours very truly,
E. D. SALMON.

MAKE YOUR DOLLARS WORK.

Hoarded Money Helps No One and Puts a Brake on Business.

When a manufacturer or other producer of real wealth does a profitable business and turns his profits back into the business he gives employment to men and creates more real wealth as he progresses year by year. He does more real good for his fellow men than he would if he gave all his profits in charity, because it is better to make people self supporting and independent than it is to give them something for nothing, no matter how worthy the motives may be.

When a rich man invests his money in productive enterprises he performs an important social service for the benefit of his country. Accumulated capital is always a power for good and accomplishes much good when intelligently handled. When a man deposits his savings in a bank his money is lent to others who can make good use of it in business or it is invested in productive enterprises or loaned to those who do produce real wealth.

If a depositor takes $1,000 in gold or its equivalent to a bank and deposits it that bank can extend credit to others in five times the amount deposited in actual cash. Many men can save money who do not know how to invest it in active business enterprises. As far as the common good is concerned, it does not matter much whether the man invests the money himself or gives it to a bank to handle for him. In the hands of the bank it will do more work and service for a greater number of people.

The worst a man can do with his money is to hoard gold or currency redeemable in gold. As far as the community is concerned, it would be better if he threw it away in riotous living and let somebody else have a chance to put it to good use. Every idle dollar in this country should be out to work at once.

The Beginning of Brazil.

Rising brisk and early one bright morning toward the close of the fifteenth century, a nice Portuguese gentleman, to wit, Cabral, going for a sail, decided to take his comical little fleet down the west coast of Africa, turn to the east, totter across the Indian ocean and, before he grew quite old, reach the Indies. The opening voyage was shorter than expected. He awoke one day to find land on his right instead of on his left, land which Pinzon had scratched three months earlier, land in the west and not in the east. It was Brazil.—London Chronicle.

Without Fear.

"The first shall be last and the last shall be first," quoted the devout citizen.

"It makes no difference to me how you arrange 'em," replied the expert commercialist. "I'll get mine either way. I'm the middleman."

Hard Task.

"What's the matter, my dear?"

"Oh, I'm trying to tell that Gotrox person how perfectly beautiful we think her horrid old wedding present is.

Very Good.

"Did he get a good wife?"

"Good for a million."

"Good enough."

PACKING GOLD IN KEGS.

Care Taken In Preparing the Money Metal For Shipment.

When a gold shipment is to be made by ship the necessary number of kegs are taken in a truck to the assay office, where they are received at a door in the rear. The gold bars are then placed on a hand truck and rolled to the kegs. In the presence of the agents of the shippers and of the officials of the assay office the bars are packed in the kegs, and sawdust is placed around them to prevent abrasion. When the heads of the kegs have been placed over the packed bars a piece of red tape is stretched across and fastened between the chine and the edge of the head. The seal of the shipping house is then attached to the head and the bottom of each keg.

After sealing the kegs are rolled to the wagon and lifted on. It takes two men to handle each keg, as there are ten bars to a keg, with a total gold weight of about 190 pounds. It may be mentioned that $100,000 weighs in gold about 380 pounds, and $1,000,000 weighs 3,800 pounds. Some time ago one of the officials of an assay office compiled figures showing how much gold a man could actually handle. It is a singular thing that great difficulty is experienced in carrying gold for any distance. The weight seems to be more "dead" than that of other metals, although that may be an illusion.

For instance, the average man could carry 100 pounds of gold one mile without much discomfort. Its value would be about $26,000. A strong man could carry, say, 150 pounds a mile, reaching the end of his journey with just under $40,000. A very powerful man might carry 200 pounds, or nearly $53,000, a mile without exhaustion. Carrying gold is almost as difficult as getting it.

Courage In Elephants.

An elephant with a good mahout gives perhaps the best instance of disciplined courage—courage, that is, which persists in the face of knowledge and disinclination—to be seen in the animal world. They will submit day after day to have painful wounds dressed in obedience to their keeper and meet danger in obedience to orders, though their intelligence is sufficient to understand the peril and far too great for man to trick them into a belief that it is non-existent. No animal will face danger more readily at man's bidding—London Spectator.

Women and the Styles.

"This article says," remarked Mrs. McWinkle, "that osteopathy has been the cause of the dissemination of a much wider knowledge of human anatomy than ever existed before the development of that branch of science."

"I am aware," replied Mr. McWinkle, who is an observant man, "that knowledge of human anatomy, particularly of female autony, is much more general than it was a few decades ago, but I had supposed that the modistes and not the osteopathists were responsible."

Object Unobjected To.

Doctor—You are now convalescent, and all you need is exercise. You should walk ten or twenty miles a day, sir, but your walking should have an object. Patient—All right, doctor; I'll travel around trying to borrow enough to pay your bill.

It All Depends.

"Dad, what's a man who runs an auto called?"

"It depends on whether he is being called by his employer or by the man he has just missed."

Some Nerve.

Bess—Nerve? Why, say, I've seen him joke with a waiter that he hadn't tipped!

Tongue Could Tell.

"Last night, George, you told me you loved me more than tongue could tell, and, oh, George, that wasn't true!"

"Why, darling, what do you mean?"

"I mean that it wasn't more than my little brother's tongue could tell. He heard it all!"

Puzzled Him.

"Women are so awfully hard to understand."

"What's the matter now?"

"Three of them have refused to marry me. I wonder what sort of a man they are looking for anyhow."

THE TORPEDO SPEAKS.

Tells Its Own Story of Its Doings In War and Peace.

Well, well, well! I am surprised! With all the notoriety that I have gained and the destruction that I have caused that nobody would tell you what I am made of and what I am capable of doing!

I am twenty-one feet in length and twenty-one inches in diameter, and ordinarily I am assembled in three parts known as the tail and afterbody, the flask and the head. My tail contains the machinery which turns the propellers that force me through the water; the flask carries my fuel in the form of compressed air that sends me on my mission of destruction—and when I start, woe unto them who may be in my path, for I am the most dreaded weapon that ever sailed the seven seas.

I cost $9,000 and can run for 10,000 yards before my energy is used up, traveling that distance at the rate of about fifty feet per second. I am a monster made of forged nickel steel and weigh 2,000 pounds and have turbine engines, which are capable of making 1,760 revolutions per minute. In my head I carry a high explosive called guncotton, which explodes upon contact.

In times of peace, when I am practiced with, the guncotton is taken out of my head and water is substituted to compensate for its weight. When I have been fired in practice and have made my run and expended all my energy I have lost sufficient weight to float to the surface until I am picked up, recharged and refired.—A. Freed, Gunner's Mate, U. S. N., in Washington Star.

THEY FEAST ON SNAKES.

A Queer People With Queer Tastes Are the Philippine Pygmies.

High up on the slopes of Mount Mariveles, in the Philippine Islands, dwell the last remnants of an ancient and most mysterious race, the Negritos, or "little negroes." Scientists differ hopelessly as to their origin and history, but the traveler who is fortunate enough to penetrate into their carefully hidden villages finds the quaint little people extremely interesting.

Though disinclined to work, the Negrito is indefatigable in the chase. He will hunt all day without eating anything but the mango or banana that he seizes as he rushes by. If dogs are scarce for any reason women are pressed into service, and these go lopping through the brush, yelping in imitation of the canines.

Sometimes a beater will emerge from the brush carrying a pig he has encountered and killed or, more important still, bringing news of the sighting of a python. In this case the whole hunt is called in and its energies directed to the capture of the big snake, which when killed is carried in triumphal procession to the village, where it furnishes a feast

An Interesting Test of Wits.

A game that affords fun and an interesting test of wits is "your native town." At a party it will tide over any dull moments that threaten. Provide the players with paper and pencils and ask them all to write the places of their birth. Then give them a limited time in which to make a sentence consisting of words that begin with the letters in the name of the town and follow the same order.

For example, if the city is Baltimore, then the sentence might be, "Behold, a large town in Maryland, old, rich, enterprising!" The more aptly descriptive of the town the better is the sentence. At the end of a specified time have the players read their sentences, and, if you wish, award a prize to the best one.

Concerning Fresh Shaves.

"I always feel more satisfied with life after getting a nice, fresh shave," observed Bromidius Vane.

"So do I," acidly answered Joshua Lott, the ungentle cynic. "In fact, whenever I get a shave I insist on getting a fresh one. Nothing irritates me more than to have an old, shelfworn shave palmed off on me. This would be a gladder world if stale, second hand shaves and expressions could be banished together."

Misdirection of Efficiency.

Is the art of efficiency by any chance misdirected—misdirected toward products as an end in itself instead of toward the development of vitally initiative human individuals, joyous workers to whom product is a by-product, wealth an incident; men who for the very joy of the working work explosively?—Industrial Management.

Cider Making.

Sweet cider is unfermented apple juice and hard cider is fermented apple juice. To get the juice the apples are either crushed or ground in a cider mill and the juice expressed from the pulp.

The fermentation of apple juice, or any other fruit juice, is brought about by the development in it of yeast. Yeast cells are microscopic plants invisible to the naked eye and are always present on the surface of fruit. When the fruit is crushed to get the juice many of these cells get into the juice, and if these are not destroyed they will induce fermentation.

Consequently, in the manufacture of sweet cider we must destroy the yeast cells that are present and prevent others from getting in. The surest way of doing this is to pasteurize the juice immediately after it is obtained from the fruit and store away in well-sealed containers. In the case of cider the pasteurization process means heating the juice to 170 degrees F. for ten minutes and then filling into containers that have been scalded and can be tightly corked. Care should be taken not to let the temperature get above 170 degrees F. during pasteurization or the character of the juice will be injured. The juice is then stored away at a low temperature to allow it to clear.

Hard cider is produced by allowing the fresh apple juice to ferment in the cask. The fermentation is naturally induced by the activities of the yeast cells that get into the juice from the surface of the apples. As, however, there are various kinds of yeast cells and also many mold spores liable to be on the fruit which may injure the quality of the cider, spoiling the flavor, it is a good plan to control the the fermentation either by first pasteurizing the juice and then adding a good yeast to the raw juice as soon as obtained from the apples. The addition of this good yeast will hasten the desired fermentation and check the mold development.

The best temperature for fermentation is 75 degrees F.—Prof. D. H. Jones, O. A. College, Guelph.

High Prices.

In San Francisco in 1849 clerks in stores and offices had munificent salaries. Five dollars a day was the smallest stipend even in the custom house, and one preacher was paid $10,000 a year. Laborers received $1 an hour. A pick or a shovel was worth $10 and a butcher's knife $30. At one time the carpenters, who were getting $12 a day, struck for $16. But it should be noted that prices were exceedingly high also.

When Youth's Life Is Shaped.

"The hand that rocks the cradle rules the world?" Nonsense. It only handles the material. The time of the shaping of life is from twelve to eighteen years old. That is the formative period. All great educators know that.

Its Kind.

"I hear Bangs is getting on so well that he gave his wife a machine."

"He's getting on so well because he gave her the machine. It is a washing machine."—Baltimore American.

HUMBERSTONE VILLAGE HAS FEVER EPIDEMIC

WELLAND, Oct. 6.—Scarlet fever is running in the Village of Humberstone and Port Colborne, Dr. King, medical officer s of health, ordered the Humberstone Public school closed the latter part of last week. In Port Colborne, the schools have not yet been closed, but a warning has been issued to the public in general that unless all cases are reported immediately and instructions obeyed to the letter, the Board of Health will be forced to take extreme measures.

LEMON JUICE FOR FRECKLES

Girls! Make beauty lotion for a few cents—Try It!

Squeeze the juice of two lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of orchard white, shake well, and you have a quarter pint of the best freckle and tan lotion, and complexion beautifier, at very, very small cost.

Your grocer has the lemons and any drug store or toilet counter will supply three ounces of orchard white for a few cents. Massage this sweetly fragrant lotion into the face neck, arms and hands each day and see how freckles and blemishes disappear and how clear, soft and rosy-white the skin becomes. Yes! It is harmless and never irritates.

BUY Long-Term Securities NOW

What Percentage of Your Income is Taxable?

Many wise investors, taking advantage of the present low prices of good long-term securities, are buying bonds.

And it is good judgment to buy bonds now.

But good judgment advises also discrimination in bond purchases.

Securities which pay good interest rates may yield comparatively small net returns when the income tax has been deducted.

Some Victory Bonds are tax free, and—

VICTORY BONDS are among the best long-term securities available. We recommend those FREE FROM INCOME TAX falling due in 1933 and 1937.

IRELAND IS SEEKING TRADE WITH CANADA

(Canadian Press.)

OTTAWA, Oct. 6.—Writing from Belfast to the Weekly Bulletin of the Department of Trade and Commerce, Trade Commissioner J. Vernon McKenzie states that there is keen interest in Canadian goods in all uarts of Ireland, and a definite desire that direct trading relations may be established. There is a demand for Canadian cheese, timber and wood products of all kinds. Agricultural implements and garden tools have found a ready market. Belfast timber importers are interested in getting supplies from British Columbia at a reasonable price. He notes that the Germans are already sending small shipments to the Irish markets.

UNION STATION APPROVED BY C.P.R. OFFICIAL

H. J. HUMPHREY EXPRESSED COMPANY'S WILLINGNESS TO CO-OPERATE IF SITE CAN BE AGREED ON.

The union station project advanced to a new stage yesterday afternoon at a conference between H. J.Humphrey, representing the C. P. R., and the Railway Committee of the City Council, and members of the Board of Trade.

Facing the necessity of enlarging their station in Peterboro, the C.P.R. are willing to negotiate with the city, and also with the Canadian National Railway upon the scheme which has been advocated for a number of years by the successive mayors, and has been especially promoted by Ald. Turner.

Up to the present the council's efforts have been successful in attracting the attention of the executives of both railways, and while the C. P. R. has shown a wilingness to consider the idea the council has proposed, the replies from the G. T. R. have been mainly to the effect that their local passenger needs are amply accommodated in their Charlotte street station.

Will Build Anyway.

On the other hand the C.P.R. intend to build a new station in this city and have been deferring action only because the management wished carefully to investigate the comparative advantages of available sites. They have also desired to cooperate with the city, and the Canadian National Railway, if it is posible to agree upon the location of a union station. This is the crux of the problem apart from the lack of interest the G.T.R. has shown by their attitude. However it is believed that the Government would be impressed by the city's claims from relief of the shunting noises in the heart of the city, of which residents have long complained and would be prepared to consider the advisability of assisting in the construction of a union station which would enable them to use the present building for additional freight offices.

Ald. Gordon presided as chairman yesterday afternoon, in the absence of Ald. Gainey. There were also present Mr. J. W. Worth, Dr. Harvey, W. S. Dodd, Leon Fraser and Mr. Humphrey.

This morning Mr. Humphrey and one of the C.P.R. engineers went over the properties that have been mentioned as desirable sites.

The next step in the Council's progress will be a renewed effort to secure the whole-hearted cooperation of the executive of the Government railways.

TRINITY CHURCH LADIES HELD A FRIENDLY TEA

The ladies of Trinity Church enjoyed one more adventure in the land of friendship Tuesday afternoon, Oct. 5, when their regular monthly meeting took the form of an Autumn Tea, to which the new ladies of the congregation had been especially invited.

The Sunday School Hall presented a gorgeous picture in its array of Autumn foliage. After the business part of the meeting, a solo was rendered by Mrs. Widdess, followed by an inspiring story from Miss Layton. Refreshments were served to the sixty ladies present from an attractively decorated table of fruit and flowers.

LOVE LINKED WITH DEATH.

In Tucopia Girls Propose Marriage and Must Die if Rejected.

In the Pacific ocean between Fiji, New Guinea, New Caledonia and the continent of Australia lies the Melanesian group of islands, where head hunters and cannibals abound. Although strange and grewsome are many of the customs of the tribes, there are some that are most romantic. For instance, on the island of Tucopia the women propose marriage instead of the men.

When a girl of Tucopia sees a man whom she thinks she would like to have for her husband she does not rush up to him and ask him to marry her. On the contrary, she gives the subject deep thought and often the man a most careful investigation before she "pops the question." The reason is that his answer spells life or death to her.

It is a tribal law that any woman who has been refused must forthwith kill herself. Therefore a woman asks a man's hand only when she feels sure that his answer will be the happy one.

Many are the strange and seemingly inexplicable questions with which the women of Tucopia ply the stranger, who cannot realize the personal motive back of the solicitude of the dusky belles who inquire if he is married or not and the state of his wife's health. Romances are consequently very apt to turn out in happy marriage.

But there have been innumerable instances when a poor girl, smitten by the newcomer's charms, has been compelled to kill herself because the man with whom she has fallen in love has had to refuse to marry her.

Baldness with the women of Tucopia is a sign of beauty, and never until she is bald does a Tucopia woman become fully convinced that she is really lovely. But bald or not she takes great care whom she asks to marry her, for the tribal law has never been known to fail. If a rejected woman does not kill herself she is executed by the leaders of the tribe.

QUEER WEDDING CUSTOMS.

In India the Native Guests Literally Paint the Town Red.

They have some curious wedding customs in India. At a native wedding in Bombay the wedding guests literally "paint the town red" by throwing on one another a kind of red powder until they are crimson from head to foot. Their disordered white draperies, the stains and splashes on their faces and hair give them the appearance of victims of a massacre. In India halls which may be secured for a small rental are provided for these ceremonies. But weddings are also celebrated in the Hindu temples, with priests in attendance. In a Hindu temple a bride of twelve must seat herself on a stone and be drenched with water by her bridesmaids. Behind her, her mother is subjected to a similar deluge, and at a short distance behind the bride's mother the grandmother undergoes the same treatment, while in front of the dripping trio two priests sit beside a briskly burning wood fire mumbling the prescribed words for the ceremony. One casts a few grains of rice into the fire and the other, with a ladle, throws into it a few drops of oil.

During these performances the bridegroom, seated in a carriage outside the temple, receives the congratulations of his friends. In the far east the bridegroom would seem to be the member of the party most to be envied.

Japanned English.

Messrs.—We have much pleasure to requesting your latest catalogue of your products, price list and discount sheets. If it turns satisfactory we shall consider the question of the large orders. Now, our aim doing in this case is our first attempt to prepare ourselves to purchase of the products directory from makers instead of the broker of each side. We must beg your kind co-operation on this new movements. We are of opinion as well as our customers here that will probably obliged us to follow this new principle. Trusting that the result will be encouraging the further business, and remain, etc.

Strictly Ornamental.

Man's only nonutilitarian garment is the necktie. It's as useless as a monocle. Yet we wear 'em. We'd feel awfully awkward walking down the street without one. Once upon a time the necktie was used to fasten the collar on. But now it doesn't do that. Man's necktie is the Indian's eagle feather, the cannibal's necklace of teeth, the mid-African's ivory earrings. It's his pride, on which he bestows much thought, great care. We wonder what would happen to the vanity of the human race, masculine half, in case of a necktie famine.

Effect of Discipline.

"Just see how the chickens mind the old hen, Robby," said Mrs. Norris to her son. "Watch them run to her when she calls them."

"I suppose she sat on them when they were little," remarked the infant phenomenon reflectively.

Clever Child.

"You can't eat your cake and have it."

"Well, ma, if I want cake to look at there's plenty in the baker's window."

Look Ahead.

Henry Ward Beecher said. "Don't be like a grasshopper, which jumps first and afterward looks round for a place to land."

They'll Help Some There.

Save the old tin cans. You'll be putting them to good use if you only can the grouch in them tion.

One of the chief secrets of happiness is never to allow your energies to stagnate.

Traders attacked the oils during the forenoon trading and Mex Pet was forced down to 187 1-4, nearly 4 points below Tuesday's high. Rails were somewhat easier under profit taking.

EXCHANGE MARKET.

NEW YORK, October 6. — Demand sterling opened $3.50 1-4, unchanged to-day. Francs were $.0670 up $.0002; lire $.0397, off $.0006, and marks $.00156, off $.0003.

NEW YORK, October 6. — Italian lire sank to the lowest figure since April 12, in New York to-day. Lire checks on Milan were $.0393.

Offerings of grain and cotton bills were said by the bankers to be responsible for the decline. No developments in Italy, caused the weakness, they said.

Stock Market Bulletin, Oct. 5.
Campbell, Stratton & Co.,
Members Toronto Stock Exchange.

New York—Distinct change in sentiment after the close yesterday and many of those who had been persistently bearish were buyers of stocks on the afternoon rally.

Steel common had many friends and comment was made that offerings are becoming smaller every day. Baldwin also well spoken of because of its strong financial position.

Railroad stocks, however, were in greater favour and it was said pool would put up Union Pacific above 150, with C.P.R. also expected to go much higher.

There was also continued buying of Retail Stores, which made new high for month above 74.

Toronto.—Whole list improves under leadership of rails and tractions. Canadian Pacific was strong at 142 again and now that public interest is being aroused in rail stocks this leader on the Canadian market is being well absorbed and will probably continue to be so even at an enhanced price.

The tractions were strong under the leadership of Duluth, which sold up to 17 and Toronto rails which was steady at 46. Twin City was unchanged at 40 bid.

Brazilian still accounts for largest turnover of any stock. The surprising feature of Brazilian is the absorptive capacity of the Toronto buyers who take liberally of the offerings and even bid up price in their eagerness to buy in. This morning Brazilian was at 38.

NO ONE INJURED IN FIRE AT TOKIO, JAPAN.

Sessions of World's Sunday School to Continue.

(Canadian Press.)

NEW CORK, Oct. 6.—Sessions of World's Sunday School Convention in Tokio will proceed with the program unchanged, despite destruction by fire yesterday of the hall in which Convention was to be held. Word to this effect was received here to-day from Dr. Frank L. Brown, joint secretary of the United States section of the Association. Dr. Brown added definite statement that no one was injured in the fire.

VIENNA LAUDS RED CROSS.

Gift of Knitting Wool for Public Schools its Latest Benefaction

VIENNA, Oct. 5.—The charitable actions of the American Red Cross in Vienna are eliciting renewed general recognition by the Vienna press and public.

The latest gift consists of large quantities of knitting wool for all public schools, furnished by Red Cross officers, Majors Lyon and Beckmann, in compliance, with the special request of Burgomaster Peumann.

The American Red Cross has for weeks also supplied Vienna hospitals with drugs, food and bandages worth many millions, thus largely contributing to ease the burden of the municipality.

VITAL TABLETS THE GREAT FRENCH TONIC

BUILDS UP A RUN DOWN CONSTITUTION. TONES YOU UP GENERALLY.

Rheumatism and Kidney Trouble will Feel the Influence of this Wonderful Remedy

I cannot praise Vital Tablets sufficiently. I only wish I could tell every one who suffers as I did. I was a nervous wreck. My nerves were all unstrung. I had indigestion so bad that at times I became very despondent. I saw your advertisement of Vital Tablets in a newspaper. I have used twelve boxes. To-day I am a new woman and so happy, I have told dozens about your wonderful remedy.
(Signed) MRS. McGEE, Halifax, N.S.

VITAL TABLETS will do all we claim for them. Ask someone who has tried them. You will feel like a new person in a few days. Headaches, biliousness, constipation, weak nerves and all nervous trouble will at once feel the relief that follows. You will sleep better, eat better, and life will be truly worth living. Why drag on with your suffering? VITAL TABLETS do not cost a fortune but will be worth a fortune to you. If you need bracing up, if you need a tonic, if you have rheumatism, if your blood and nerves need toning up—take VITAL TABLETS. Your stomach will be sweet; the coating from your tongue will go; your eyes will be bright; your colour better. No matter what your trouble is, just you try VITAL TABLETS. Price, 50c a box or 6 boxes for $2.50. Sold at all Drug Stores. If you have any difficulty purchasing VITAL TABLETS, send to us and we will mail them to you. In the North Country Hunters Imitate the Call of the Moose

So cleverly is it done that the moose unsuspectingly is lured to their lair and ambushed.

In business the imitators—the peddlers and sellers of cheap merchandise with only superficial good qualities—are still tolerated and find a market for their wares.

In this store we are careful to buy and sell only sound goods that are the real thing clear through.

HARD LABOUR FOR L. LEWIS

SLEEPING CAR PORTER WILL BE OFF THE JOB FOR A WHILE.

One year at hard labour at the Burwash Reformatory was the sentence given L. Lewis, the sleeping car porter charged with stealing $490 from a passenger on the Toronto-Ottawa train last week, by Magistrate Dumble in police court this morning.

The money was found wrapped in a blanket in the porter's berth by Canadian Pacific Constable J. A. Evans, when he searched the train at Havelock, shortly after the loss of the money was discovered.

DUBLIN, Ireland, Oct. 6.—Armed men raided the Provincial bank branch here and carried away four hundred pounds Sterling to-day.

PROVINCIA LHIGHWAY.

The Kingston-Ottawa highway, as far as Leeds, has been taken over by the Government, and designated as a provincial highway. The apparatus of the Kingston Suburban Road area has been handed over to the Provincial Government for work for the remainder of the season.

The crusher is now in operation on the Point Road, near McKenzie's Hill, while the road at Barriefield, near Reid's line is being repaired.

WOULD ABOLISH CORNERS.

(Canadian Press.)

ST. JOHN, N.B., Oct. 6.—Some of the councillors of St. John County are out for abolishing the office of coroner, and at a Council meeting introduced a general discussion on the uselessness of coroners in general, and reaffirmed a resolution passed in October 1919, asking the Government to abolish the officeof coroner and have the district health officer perform the duties.

THE LITTLE ROADS.

I do not love the great roads
Which steel and concrete crown;
I love the little lonely ways
That Autumn etches brown;
Soft with the scent of hickory
And shut from the talking town.

I do no love the mansions
Men make for gold and gain;
I love the country's cabins, kissed
Of the gypsy wind and rain,
Where darky pickaninnies wave
At the broken window pane.

For when I walk the paths that pass
By shabby door and gate,
As sure as gypsy sun and star,
To stranger lost or late,
Behind the broken window pane
Will welcome always wait!

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS OFFER $5,000,000

CHICAGO, Oct. 3.—Five million dollars the balance of the Knights of Columbus war relief fund, will be offred to the American Legion for building an American Legion headquarters in Washington. This decision was reached at a meeting of the Knights of Columbus Board of Directors in Chicago to-night.

Having made provision for its general reconstruction work, the organization is able to make this offer. In a formal statement it sets forth that approximately $40 000,000 was received from members of the organization and the general public for welfare work; that in providing camp buildings, service stations secretaries, chaplains and free creature comforts for service men during the war, in maintaining national employment bureaus and vocational schools and in providing approximately 500 college scholarships for war veterans, it has fulfilled the wishes of the contributors

Fat That Shows Soon Disappears

Prominent fat that comes and stays where it is not needed is a burden; a hindrance to activity, and a curb upon pleasure. Many forms of advice to reduce weight have been advanced, such as dieting, hard work, excessive exercise, etc., all of which are either unpleasant or dangerous.

The latest, more modern and pleasant way to take off burdensome fat, is to take, after each meal and at bedtime, a Marmola Tablet. These little tablets are as effective and harmless as the famous Marmola Prescription from which they take their name.

To get rid of fat at the rate of two, three or four pounds a week, simply take one of these little tablets after each meal and at bedtime until you have reduced your weight to where you want it. No wrinkles or flabbiness will remain to show where the fat came off.

They are for sale by all druggists at $1 for a good size box. If you prefer to have them come to you direct by mail, prepaid, in plain sealed cover, send amount to the Marmola Co., 97 Garfield Building, Detroit, Mich., and bid goodbye to dieting, exercise and fat. Be yourself, slim, trim and attractive.

Warsaw Correspondence

WARSAW, Oct. 4—Mr. E. N. Mac Donald, M. P. P., was in Toronto last week.

Messrs James and John Dewart of Indian River, were in the village Thursday evening.

Mrs. Pogue and daughter, Marion, spent the week-end with Mrs. Charles Foster.

Mr. Norman Crowe was in Peterboro Saturday afternoon to play football with the G.W.V. A.

Mr. and Mrs. H .G. E. Choate and children arrived home last Tuesday They spent a day in Montreal on their return trip.

Good Potato Yield.

Mr. Stephen Miller and Mr. James Tighe have potatoes weighing four pounds each. Mr. Tighe says 28 single potatoes fill a bag

Some people report the misfortune of a good yield of potatoes but a lot of rotted ones.

Snow and Hail

There was slushy snow on Friday morning and quite a hail-storm on Saturday afternoon.

To Beautify Cemetery

The Warsaw Cemetary has been cleared up considerably this year. It is hoped another year will see some real beautifying done. Few country cemeteries have so pretty a site as this.

Funeral Friday.

Despite the bad storm quite a number attended the funeral of little Methuen Stewart Miller on Friday afternoon. Rev. Girard Graham conducted the service at the house and also at the grave at the Warsaw Cemetery. The pall bearers were four cousins Messrs. Stephen and Melville Miller, Mr. Percy Cullen and Mr. John Miles.

Churches Services

Rev. Stringer of Young's Point, conducted service in the Anglican Church yesterday afternoon.

Service in the Baptist Church was conducted by Mr. Vose. The mid-week services are discontinued since Mr. Vose has returned to college. He comes down for the week end and conducts Sunday Services here and at Indian River.

The Baptist Ladies hold their regular Aid and Missionary meeting on Friday afternoon next at the home of Mrs. John Moore.

The Presbyterian Sunday School and church services were well attended Sunday. Rev. Girard Graham gave a very ernest sermon on the "Drawings of Christ" in the morning and in the evening the subject was "Work and Prayer". He let it be known in no uncertain terms that he stands firm for prohibition.

Ladies Aid.

The Presbyterian Ladies Aid met at the home of Mrs. David Taylor last Thursday. Considering weather and other conditions there were quite a number present. The afternoon was spent in work, and after the Mizpah Benediction the hostess served one of her delightful lunches. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Thos. Crowe.

Woman's Institute.

On Thursday evening, Oct 14th., at 8 o'clock in the Town Hall, there will be an open meeting of the Woman's Institute. All women of the district are cordially invited, also the men. The meeting is free and for the purpose of considering matters educational. Some outside speakers are expected to be present. Dr. Archibald cannot be present as expected, he having gone to Maryland. A light lunch will be served.

Cotessloe I.O.D.E.

WAR MEMORIAL TO WARSAW SOLDIERS

PARK TO BE DEDICATED AND MONUMENTS ERECTED—NAMES ASKED FOR.

WARSAW, Oct. 6.—At a meeting of the Soldiers' Memorial Movement committee, held last Tuesday afternoon, all members but one were present. It was decided to accept the offer of the cheese factory patrons and use the land to the north for a memorial park. The monument to be placed on the high ridge at the front.

The Subscriptions.

$5.00 from Mr. Douglas Scutt and $2.00 from Mr. David Brown were reported subscribed and paid. Cottesloe I.O.D.E. has $50 for the fund. Dr. Munro, president of the committee, asks that an endeavor be made to have all unpaid subscriptions paid by the end of this month. The money may be handed to any member of the committee.

It is also requested that any one who knows of any man who died or was killed overseas, who had been born in or went from the township of Dummer, whose name does not appear in the appended list, be reported. Also, the committee is very anxious to get the correct name of the man, the battle where killed or wounded, the date, and the battalion he went with, and his age. Will friends and acquaintances kindly endeavor to give these correct details to Dr. Munrow, Warsaw, and to Mrs. Garfield Crowe, secretary, R.R. 2, Lakefield, or any other member of the committee if more convenient, within the next few days, as the stone is about ready for inscribing the names.

The committee are: Dr. Munro, Mrs. Garfield Crowe, Mrs. E. R. Hamblin, Mrs. George Barr, Mrs. David Miller, Messrs. John Darling, Arthur Choate and Mr. Robinson.

Honored Names.

Following is the list of names the committee has in hand: Norman Darling, Lawrence Metaugh, William Newnham, Clayton Selkirk, Isaac Hampton, Frank Armstrong, Percy Brew, Gordon H. D. Carveth, Gordon Calberry, Percy Drain, Stanley James, Stanley Kidd, Percy Lemay, Herbert McCracken, Henry J. Murphy, Charles Rogers, Stanley Thompson, Ira Snelgrove, Oswald L. Alexander, Wm. Ernest Bell, T. W. Percy Cooper, Herbert Calberry, Thomas Hawthorne, Joseph Kelly, Hilliard Kidd.

NOGIE'S CREEK

NOGIE'S CREEK, Oct. 5.—After a few days of lovely weather last week, a change has come, and we have much wind and rain.

The Bobcaygeon Fair was held last Thursday and Friday. There was quite a showing of fancy work and vegetables, but the live stock is reported to have been below the usual standard. The weather was very unfavourable, raining all day, with some snow; but even at that, the crowd numbered about six hundred.

We are glad to welcome to our midst an old friend, Mr. Tom McIlmoyle, who has returned here with his bride, after an absence of about fourteen years. They will reside in Bobcaygeon.

Mrs. Nathan McIlmoyle is confined to her home through illness.

Measles is prevalent in this neighbourhood at present. Many school children are sick with this disease.

Duck hunters are on our lakes now and some are staying at this popular resort.

'NEATH THE FIRE HALL PALM TREE

There is nothing so exemplary of youthful quest for knowledge as the eager faces of the youngsters who press their noses close against the window panes of the Fire Hall whenever an alarm is rung in. And the attentiveness with which they listen to the firefighters on their return discussing the fire is worthy of repetition in their classes at school. It is safe to wager that most of them know more about the methods employed in fighting fires in Peterboro than they do of their arithmetic.

The best method of stirring up a lagging fire with a poker in order to start a little excitement is at the finger tips of each youthful listener. The art of mishandling a line of hose, which it is said can only be properly learned in the local department, is absorbed and digested at length.

"The Palm Tree."

Among the interesting bits of information that the youngsters who observe carefully pick up is the strengthening of morale by adding a little slapstick comedy to the approved fire-quenching operations There is nothing so side-splitting, and therefore so strengthening to the morale, as running a line of hose to the third storey of a burning building and then throwing the stream of water on the head of a prominent citizen who is voluntarily fighting the fire on the second storey.

Each boy knows that hurry is the most demoralizing characteristic which ca nbe developed in a fire department. Scientifically planned time wasting gives by far the best results.

Also each has learned from observation that the approved method of passing the time between the fires is sitting underneath the "Palm Tree." No Fire Department is complete without such a piece of apparatus. It has an exceedingly soothing effect on the nerves, as was evidenced recently at the Fire Hall.

The wanton little October breezes which go skidding about the corners at the Palm Tree have driven the fire fighters to the warm shelter of the watch room, however. The little breezes are too energetic to suit the atmosphere of peace and quiet which reigns supreme in all properly conducted fire department conversational [illegible]

FAMOUS PAINTING IS REPORTED SOLD

Fate of El Greco's St. Vernonica is in Question.

MADRID, Oct. 6.— Reports from Toledo which are printed by the newspaper El Sol, hint that the painting of St. Veronica, one of the masterpieces of Domenico Theotocopuli, known throughout the world of art as "El Greco," has been sold by the clerical authorities of Santo Domingo Monastery, which possesses several canvasses by that master. It is suggested by the newspaper that a copy of the picture has been substituted for the original, which has gone to some other country.

The attention of the Minister of Public Institution, who is also Minister of Arts, has been called to the frequent sale of the finest pictures by clerical owners, and a law which would prohibit works of art leaving the country is urged.

Cleveland Lost Second Game 3-0

BLANKED BY BURLEIGH GRIMES, WHO PUT BROOKLYN EVEN ON THE SERIES.

ANOTHER BIG CROWD

(Canadian Press.)

EBBETSFIELD, Oct. 6.—Cleveland Indians, with one Brooklyn scalp dangling at their belts, went on the warpath again to-day to tomahawk the National Leaguers in the second encounter of the world's series warfare.

The tribe, as they are fondly known in Cleveland, believe they have the champions of the National League tied to a stake, and declared themselves in for another killing to-day before the eyes of the Brooklyn home folks.

Over twenty thousand people came out to see the frav.

"A wind-blown fly was the cause of our downfall yesterday," said Manager Wilbert Robinson, of Brooklyn, to-day. "With an even break on luck, my club will show the way to victory. Speaker ruined our ball game with his catches in centrefield. I think I will tell our fellows to hit the ball over the fence, then let Speaker do his worst. I am inclined to use Grimes in the box to-day."

The Batteries.

The batteries were:
Cleveland—Bagley and O'Neill.
Brooklyn—Grimse and Miller.

The following are the attendance figures and the gate receipts of the first game of the series yesterday:
Attendance—23,573.
Gate receipts—$79,049.
National Commission—$7,049.90.
Players' Fund—$42,688.46.
Club owners—$28,457.64.

The players' fund is divided 75 per cent to the members of the two teams participating in the world's series and 25 per cent. to go into a pool to be divided among the players of the teams which finished second and third in the National and American Leagues.

The Cleveland players have voted a full share of the portion of the receipts to be divided among them, to the widow of Ray Chapman, the shortstop who was killed by a pitched ball in a game between Cleveland

WILL SIGN ARMISTICE.

One War Will be Suspended for the Winter Months.

RIGA, Oct. 6.—An agreement for signing of an armistice, preliminary to peace, not later than October 8th, was signed by heads of Polish and Soviet delegations to-night. Details will be published to-morrow.

THE BIGGEST BASEBALL EVENT EVER STAGED HERE

The Peterboro-Hamilton game at Riverside Park on Saturday, provided the weather conditions are good, promises to attract the biggest crowd that ever saw a game in Peterboro. It is the first time the Peterboro team has reached the finals for the amateur championship of the province, and all Eastern Ontario is pulling for the Solomon crew to repeat the feat of the Belleville team and bring the honour of winning the Ontario title to the Central League for the second year in succession.

The Petes are determined to win Saturday's game and tie up the series and it will be a royal battle. Big Ivan Miller, the crack right-hander of the visitors, who has not lost a start this year, will be on the firing line for the Western Ontario champions, while Manager Solomon has not announced who will do the twirling for the home brigade. Both teams will be at full strength and there will be no excuses to offer. All the chief officials of the Ontario Amateur Baseball Assosciation, including President Robins of Hamilton and Secretary Dulmage of Guelph, will be spectators, and every town in the east will be represented by a quota of fans while the Plowites will have a following with them.

HOCKEY CLUB TO AFFILIATE

CLUB WILL CONTROL ITS OWN AFFAIRS.

Arrangements for the Field Day on Thanksgiving day were discussed, and it was decided that in view of the horse races at the Exhibition Park an effort be made to secure Riverside Park. Dr. Frank was appointed to look after this matter.

A ten mile race is being planned, the course to be from Riverside Park to Nassau on the east side of the river and thence to the Exhibition Park on the west side of the river. Albert Smoke will compete, and an attempt is being made to persuade two Toronto runners, Tresider and Moorecroft, to enter.

Prizes of $65, $40 and $25 will be offered.

Four cups, the Howden, Eastwood, Huycke and Park Cups, will be competed for.

Silver and bronze medals will be offered in addition to individual prizes totaling $25.

The matter of membership fees was discussed and it was decided to invite all athletic organizations of the city to an open meeting of the Association to be held in the Board of Trade rooms on Monday, October 25th.

FOOTBALL MEETING HELD LAST EVENING

MISTAKE IN SCHEDULE CORRECTED —GAMES FOR SATURDAY— PHELAN TROPHY ACCEPTED.

A special meeting of the Peterboro Football Association was held last evening in the G.W.V.A. Rooms to transact important business, and with President Cook in the chair. The football schedule was adopted after the executive had changed the game printed Oct 16th G.W.V.A. vs. Comrades, to read Comrades vs. DeLaval.

Games for Saturday.

The DeLaval will play the Comrades on the Exhibition grounds with Mr. Jack Clark as oficial referee, and at the Oval the G. W. V. A. will have the C.G.E. as their guests, with Mr. Frank McKinley, as official referee. Both games are scheduled to start prompt at 3:30 p.m.

Phelan Trophy Accepted.

The committee reported to the executive the progress they had made and after a lengthy discussion of an interesting character the following motion was adopted:

"That we accept the trophy donated by the Rev. Father Phelan, which shall be known as the Phelan Charity Cup, and that the proceeds from the aforesaid Cup shall be donated to some charity which shall be hereinafter determined after all expenses have been deducted."

"SAN TOY"

A theatrical offerinug of more than usual interest is the F. Stuart-Whyte importation of the famous London Gayety success, "San Toy", which comes to the Grand on Saturday, Nov 9th.

This is undoubtedly the biggest musical attraction ever brought to this country from England and its presentation here has been made possible only through the linking up of Canada into one great circuit under the direction of the Trans-Canada Theatres Limited, whose policy it is to give Canadians a generous supply of the principal successes of the English stage.

Mr. Whyte's revival of "San Toy" has been done upon an elaborate scale and no expense has ben spared to make it the outstanding feature of an unusually promising theatrical season.

FAST ACTION IN "STOP THIEF"

Jolly Tom Moore in a jolly farce that will jolly you into forgetting the blues, the heat and the high cost of living! That's the prospect held out to you to-day yand to-morrow when the new Goldwyn screen comedy, "STOP THIEF!" is shown here. It was a whale of a success on Broadway as a spoken farce, running for an entire year, and the fun is just as lively and just as funny on the screen.

You couldn't keep sober if you tried, and who wants to try in these sober days? The star has a role that fits him to a nicety. As a crook who wishes to make one final haul in order to marry his partner-sweetheart and then go straight, and who is given a chance to take his pick of the presents at a wedding where the bride's father and the bridegroom are both kleptomaniacs he is more fun than ten barrels of monkeys. And he doesn't pull a lipstick comedy; it's all clean, rapid-fire fun.

Evening gowns will have a considerably modified decolletage, and transparent trains will be a feature.

A Witness Testifies

SHE WAS WEAK AND NERVOUS

Brampton, Ont.:—"About five years ago I began suffering with woman's trouble. I became all run-down weak and nervous. I was so completely down and out that I could not do anything, could scarcely dress myself. I had the doctor and took other medicine but without getting better until I began taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and his Golden Medical Discovery. It was only necessary for me to take about three bottles when I was completely restored to health and strength and I have been in better health than I ever was before. I have had no use for medicine since, but should I need it I would take these same remedies, knowing them to be excellent."—MRS. HARRY KNIGHT, Jessie St.

OWES HER LIFE

Ft. Saskatchewan, Alta.:—"It is with great pleasure that I write the following and I hope it will help the many sufferers who do not know the good Dr. Pierce's medicines would do them if they would try them.

"In regard to my condition, I will say that I suffered from childhood from a very weak back; I had the misfortune of having spinal meningitis when I was one year old and until I was 13 I did not see a well day, but a very kind lady told my mother about Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and she got a bottle to try it. It did me so much good that mother got me 6 bottles. Recently I happened with a car accident and hurt my back badly. My doctor gave me up and said I would not live, but I still stick to Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and to my surprise in three weeks I was out of bed and better. I owe my life to it and nothing else, and shall never be without it.

"If any sufferer wishes to write I will answer with pleasure."—MRS. NOEL BARTHOLOMEW.

RAILWAY RATES ARE CONFIRMED

GOVERNMENT HAVE DECIDED NOT TO CHANGE THEM.

(Canadian Press)

OTTAWA, Oct. 6.—The Citizen, in its news column yesterday afternoon says, "The Government decided today that the increase in freight and passenger rates given railways by the railway commission will not be disallowed.

"An official statement will be made later in the week, but it is learned that the outstanding decision is against disallowance coupled with number of suggestions to Railway Commissioner to institute further inquiries into various phases of the question, notably the discrimination which in his judgment chief commissioner affirms to exist as between the east and west to the disadvantage of the latter."

A Stubborn Cough Loosens Right Up

This home-made remedy is a wonder for quick results. Easily and cheaply made.

Here is a home-made syrup which millions of people have found to be the most dependable means of breaking up stubborn coughs. It is cheap and simple, but very prompt in action. Under its healing, soothing influence, chest soreness goes, phlegm loosens, breathing becomes easier, tickling in throat stops and you get a good night's restful sleep. The usual throat and chest colds are conquered by it in 24 hours or less. Nothing better for bronchitis, hoarseness, croup, throat tickle, bronchial asthma or winter coughs.

To make this splendid cough syrup, pour 2½ ounces of Pinex into a 16-oz. bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup and shake thoroughly. If you prefer, use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, you get 16 ounces—a family supply—of much better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made for $2.50. Keeps perfectly and children love its pleasant taste.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, known the world over for its prompt healing effect upon the membranes.

To avoid disappointment ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Toronto, Ont.

HYDRO-ELECTRIC COMMISSION, ETC.

a winter shut-down for the large industrial plants of the Central Ontario district.

Faced with this possibility, the manufacturers who depend on a steady flow are now commencing to voice their protests to the Department. As a matter of fact, there are distinct limitations to the amount of water conservation possible. In the case of certain lakes, a stipulated level must be maintained regardless of the agreement with riparian owners.

Either an excess or deficit of the supply would result in a flood of damage claims, with which the Department has already had expensive experience.

It is a somewhat involved and intricate situation—with the right to develop power claimed by both the Dominion and the Province, and with the Ontario Hydro-Electric Commission, it is claimed here, disposing of power in excess of the present production, while it is contended they are doing little or nothing to install additional units or develop fresh sources of supply.

Seven Lindsay Industries Requested to Close Down.

(Canadian Pres.)

LINDSAY, Ont., Oct. 6.—Seven local industries have been requested to shut down their plants one day a week by the Hydro-Electric Company because of the great shortage of water power in the Trent Valley District. At a meeting of the town council, a protest was lodged in the shape of a resolution to Premier Drury, claiming that Lindsay was being discriminated against in the matter of electric power.

Confusion Resulting From Shortage.

Many manufacturers are complaining bitterly of the short notice given them of the cutting off of power by the Utilities Commission. In several cases the commission has given only about 20 minutes' notice before "pulling out" and the Hydro-Electric engineers claim that the Commission is notified two hours before their allotment of power is reduced.

The confusion resulting from the power situation is evidenced in the case of The Examiner. Yesterday The Examiner was notified that it would be without power from 7 o'clock this morning until 1 o'clock this afternoon. As a result all departments of the plant worked from 7 o'clock last evening until midnight. This morning the power was turned on the plant at 10 o'clock.

Criticism of Municipal System.

The confusion which prevails in the city has evoked much criticism in some quarters of Peterobrough's system of government. It is claimed that under the present system the city is practically without a head having sufficient power to cope with a serious crisis. The executive powers are distributed among a number of commissions and committees, some of which are responsible to the central elective body, the City Council, and some which cannot be held responsible to to any elective body.

The suggestion has been made that a system such as that in use in practically all cities in the United States, that is a central board of control with a business manager at the head, would solve the problem and eliminate the confusion which results when a crisis develops under the prevailing system. Many American cities have a salaried body of specialists in charge of the city's business.

Dr. Henderson's Herb Tablets

Assists Nature.

No medicine will effect a permanent cure of any disease, unless that cure is made by aiding nature to perform its functions regularly and properly. Dr. Henderson's Herb Tablets is truly nature's remedy. It works hand in hand with nature in restoring the diseased organs to their natural condition and then keeping them regulated until they are able to take care of themselves. It is not remarkable, therefore, that the most troublesome diseases yield to the powerful influence exerted over the various organs by this most potent of all remedial agencies. Dr. Henderson's Herb Tablets does not "build up the system," but it gives nature a chance to perform that work as it should be done.

Dr. Henderson's Herb Tablets are put up in three sizes—25c., 50c., $1.00 per box— for sale at Warne's Drug Store, Peterborough.

M H. MORSE, of Seattle, Wash., who says he can now turn out as much work as he could thirty years ago, in spite of his age. Gives Tanlac credit for his splendid health.

"I am in my eighty-fifth year, but since taking Tanlac I am as hale and hearty as I ever was, and can do as much work as I could thirty years ago," declared W. H. Morse, of 52 Blaine Street, Seatle, Wash. Although in his eighty-fifth year, Mr. Morse is still daily to be found engaged in hard work down at the Ames Shipyard, and is remarkably well preserved for his years.

"Last spring I had an attack of the flu, that left me in a very badly run-down condition and so weak that I could hardly get around. For a long while I had a very bad cold that I couldn't shake off and my bronchial tubes were so choked up that I was coughing all the time. I had no appetite and in fact ate so litle that I was steadily losing weight. I couldn't sleep at nights, and became very much worried about my condition, because I couldn't find anything to straighten me up and restore my lost strength.

"I saw by the papers what fine work Tanlac was doing for other folks, so I got some for myself. It did me good right from the start, for in a very short while my cough left me, and I was eating fine and sure did enjoy every mouthful. I slept better at nights, and was soon feeling much better in every way. I have gained seven pounds in weight, and am so much stronger that I can turn out about as much work as most any other man, in spite of my years. Tanlac certainly must be a great medicine to put me on my feet like it has, and I'm glad of the chance to tell everybody about it."

Tanlac is sold in Peterborough by W. B. Warne Drug Co., Ltd., in Havelock by A. C. Denike, in Lakefield by Tanner Drug Co., Ltd., in Fowler's Corners by W. A. Hunter, in Gelert by A. J. Scott, in Westwood by G. Pringle & Son. (Advt.)

RUPTURE RELIEF

Retention Not Influenced by Age or Length of Time Reports Visiting Expert

Rupture is not a tear or a breach in the abdominal wall, as commonly supposed, but it is a stretching or dilation of a natural opening. J. Y Egan, 1057 College street, Toronto, the long established Canadian Rupture appliance specialist, will visit Peterborough, Empress Hotel, Saturday, Sunday (all day and night) 2 days, Oct. 9-10.

The "Curatus," the new surgical invention, as now used and prepared to order for men, women and children, will not only retain rupture perfectly, affording immediate and complete comfort, but is intended to assist nature in her work in the shortest time known and at small cost. These new surgical appliances have received highest approval wherever shown, and are designed in accordance with the principals laid down by the world's text-book authorities on this subject producing results without harmful ready-made hard pad and old fashioned steel trusses. Mr. Egan has testimonials from our own section for inspection. If interested, call; he will give you free demonstration and examination of samples. Now is the time to make yourself safe and comfortable for your daily work. Note dates: ask at hotel office for his sample room —tear this notice out now for future reference. 5d-2-4-6-7-8

FALL STABLE CLEAN-UP

The Health and Comfort of Live Stock Demand It.

Need of Ventilation, Light and Cleanliness to Avoid Tuberculosis and Other Diseases—Use Whitewash, Whether Sprayed or Brush-handled, and Brighten Interior.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

THE observance of the laws of health, so vital to the well-being of man, is regarded even in this enlightened age, with considerable indifference in the treatment of animals upon whose good health that of man himself depends to a considerable degree. That animals are not more affected by disease, of some form or another, to a greater extent, is purely providential, for the sanitary conditions under which they are often reared is of the worst. Why this apathy concerning the state of the stables, in which frequently valuable animals are housed, is difficult to understand, since cattle, any more than man, cannot maintain their health and vigor for long in such unfavorable conditions; yet the stockman who keeps cattle for profit must know that to gain maximum returns for his investments and trouble, and to guard against loss from disease and death reasonable care and comfort and sanitary conditions are necessary.

The first considerations to this end are ventilation, light and cleanliness. These essential elements of sanitation should be attended to at least once every year. This may be most conveniently done during the early fall before the cattle are housed for the winter. Effective ventilation is required to carry away the foul air and maintain constant and adequate supply of fresh air. The window space should be ample so that every corner of the interior may be flooded with light and sunshine, the source of health and destroyer of germs. Dirt and filth make productive breeding places for insects and bacteria. Cleanliness gets rid of conditions which produce them and prevents the possibility of infection and contagion, reducing possible loss from disease to a minimum. That much-dreaded disease, tuberculosis, is in a measure the product of dark, dirty, ill-ventilated stables. It is caused by organism or germs gaining entrance into the animal's system with the food. It is not easy to detect, and usually when symptoms become evident it is too late to apply any remedy, hence the necessity of making every effort to secure and maintain sanitary conditions in the stable. Every fall, then, the stable should be systematically cleaned; cobwebs swept from wall and ceilings; accumulated dirt and debris cleared from manger, trough, window-sills and all recesses in walls; the fresh air intakes and foul air outlets put in order; fill all cracks and holes in floor and walls with cement; replace all broken glass in windows and clean them; disinfect the whole stable thoroughly with some good disinfectant, such as chloride of lime, crude carbolic acid, or sencleum, which can be easily applied with a scrap pump or a watering can with a fine nozzle. Give particular attention to pens or stalls which have been occupied by stock suffering from contagious disease or have been used by animals during parturition.

Then prepare your whitewash and don't postpone it because you do not possess a barrel spraying outfit. The whitewash brush is an effective and efficient tool—use it. Small brushes are best and may take you a little longer time to do. There are many good whitewash recipes. President Grant used the following to whitewash the White House in Washington: Take a bushel of unslaked lime, slake with warm water, cover it during the process to retain the steam, strain the liquid through a fine sieve or strainer; add a peck of salt, the same previously well dissolved in warm water, add three pounds of ground rice boiled to a thin paste and stir in boiling hot, add one-half pound of glue which has been previously dissolved over a slow fire and add five gallons of hot water to the mixture; stir well and let it stand for a few days, covering it up to keep out dirt. It should be put on hot. One pint of the mixture, properly applied will cover a square yard. There is nothing can compare with it for outside or inside work and it retains its brilliancy for many years. Disinfectant may be added or coloring matter may be put in and made to any hue desired.—Prof. J. Evans, O. A. College, Guelph.

SOLVAX

FOR THE

Kidneys and Bladder

The Kidneys are never idle. All through life they work, day and night.

It is their duty to clean the blood and keep it pure; the Kidneys and the Bladder are the filters of the human system.

If this cleaning process is interfered with, the evil effects of the poisons retained soon are apperent.

Herein is the first cause of most cases of Rheumatism, Stone, Dropsy, Gravel, and Urinary troubles.

Many have suffered tortures from Kidney and Bladder diseases, who could have escaped by taking warning from the first symptoms.

If you have Backache, Congestion of the Kidneys, Inflammation of the Bladder, or Scalding Urine, begin to-day with SOLVAX, which acts directly on the Kidneys to stimulate and strengthen them.

RED MONDAY IN PETROGRAD.

One Scene of the Revolt That Ended the Romanoff Dynasty.

Bullets flew in the streets of Petrograd one Monday during the revolution which overthrew the Romanoffs. A British nurse, telling Londoners of her experiences in the Russian capital on "Red Monday," says of one scene:

"I saw in the streets a wonderful procession of revolutionists, the vanguard of the brave liberators of Russia. The soldier patriots in their gray coats, on foot and in motorcars, were going down the street in a steady, orderly manner, protecting a crowd of starving men, women and children who were walking in the center of the procession. At their head was a band playing the 'Marseillaise' and a large red flag borne aloft.

"As the procession neared the Hotel Moscow, where the Nevsky begins, there was a sudden outburst of fierce firing from above, and the soldiers and women and children fell to the ground and the street soon became a shambles. The firing was from machine guns controlled by the police, who were in ambush on the roof of the hotel and who tried to bring about a wholesale slaughter of the people.

"It was astonishing how self possessed the crowd was in the face of this murderous attack. I saw the soldiers who had not fallen immediately enter the hotel and make their way to the roof, where they shot the cowardly police, captured the machine guns and brought them down to the street."

Stepniak as Prophet.

A correspondent of the Manchester Guardian in England records an interesting statement made by Stepniak the great Russian revolutionary, which is worth quoting. When he first met Stepniak, in 1889, the writer says, he asked what real prospect there was of any revolution in Russia. The reply was: "A great European war will be our chance. It will show the bureaucracy to be quite incapable of managing the affairs of the nation in a crisis."

Efficiency.

Efficiency is no new invention: it is as old as intelligence itself. None realize efficiency so completely as the creative genius—our Darwins, Faradays, Edisons and Fords—and none so completely practice and exemplify working explosively. Genius itself, we are told, is the capability for taking infinite pains.—William H. Smith in Industrial Management.

Good Advice.

"What did the doctor say when Tom shot off some of his digits fooling with a loaded pistol?"

"He thoughtfully told him he should remember that fingers are good things always to keep on hand."—San Francisco Chronicle.

Making It Worse.

"Did you try counting sheep for your insomnia?"

"Yes, but it only made matters worse—the sheep reminded me of my butcher's bill."

A ROYAL TRAGEDY

The Gloomy Paths That Led to the End of the Romanoffs.

PLOTS OF A MODERN BORGIA.

A Russian Writer's Picture of the Czarina of Alexander III., Maria Feodorovna, and Her Ruthless Efforts to Grasp the Reins of Power.

In her book, "Russia of Yesterday and Tomorrow," Baroness Souiny, widow of a Russian nobleman, gives the following behind the scenes glimpse of the tragedy of the last of the Romanoff dynasty:

Gayety did not mark the reign of Alexander III. Shadows of pale fear followed the heavy czar and obscured his life and that of Maria Feodorovna, the Danish princess. Her whole hope was in the future, and with the atavism of queens who mixed poisons for their husbands she dreamed of her own autocracy.

With the terrible ambition of ruling Russia the czarina did not prevent her husband from heavy drinking. The giant's heart was weak.

Circumstances favored the hopes of Maria Feodorovna. Secretly she formed her party, the camarilla of Maria Feodorovna. Her sons were frail little boys with all kinds of inherited diseases. The czarevitch, the stubborn little Nicholas, was no obstacle to her. Her sons became men, and Alexander, notwithstanding his heart disease, lived longer than the physicians prophesied. Maria Feodorovna became restless.

All the czarina's schemes developed rapidly. Alexander's enormous body swelled and swelled. Day and night he sat in his big armchair, tortured by suffocation and worrying about Nicholas, who was so poor a czarevitch.

Maria Feodorovna smiled on the czarevitch's pseudo court. She let her camarilla nourish and support his idea of marrying a dancer. Then, she was sure, his light as czar would never burn, and Michael, who was sick and good natured, would be only too glad to leave the reins of the government in the hands of his mother.

The ministers revealed to the czar the dangerous ideas of the czarevitch and the machinations of Maria Feodorovna's camarilla. He was still the czar, though the dying czar. He summoned Nicholas and forced on him his marriage to the Princess Alix of Hesse.

Alexander III. expired. The pomp of the funeral was over. The czarina mother took up her residence at the Anaitschkof palace, the residence of the widows of the czars.

The czarina's hope was in the child she was expecting. Her firstborn was a princess, and the poor czarina became timid before sinister fate. She saw herself and the czar drifting apart under the influence of the czarina-mother. Her second child, so anxiously longed for, came. Again a little girl.

The morning came when the sound of all the bells, followed by the twenty-one gun salute, announced to all Russia the birth of an heir.

The czarina mother, Maria Feodorovna, had to carry the child, the unwelcome grandson who annihilated all her efforts and her ambitions for her son Michael. She held the little bit of potential manhood in her arms, breathing on the babe wordless curses. Poor little boy so ardently longed for and then persecuted at his entrance into the world!

The czarina trembled for her new happiness. Her little treasure had to be watched, and even then she was never sure which of all the nurses or ladies in waiting, bought by the czarina mother, might betray her.

The camarilla never hesitated at assassination. Positively true is the story that one morning when the czarevitch was put into his bath the czarina, in a neighboring room, heard the child utter a terrible scream, followed by helpless whining. She rushed into the nursery to find the boy lying in his tub with a blue face and desperately struggling to get out of this death bringing danger. The czarina snatched her son out of ice water. The terrible mistake was attributed to the nurse.

All that was not plotted by the anarchists the cruel, fantastic camarilla invented. The little freedoms of the young sovereigns were under terrible espionage. For every theater party, for every entertainment, they provided cleverly arranged and dramatically discovered assassins.

The camarilla worked well. Terror crept through the palace, crept through the doors into the private rooms of the sovereigns. They fled from the capital to bury themselves in the solitude of Tsarsko Selo, nowhere sure that plots would not be forged in their closest entourage.

And so it was and so the grim tragedy was enacted until the revolution that sealed the fate of the luckless dynasty.

NEW MIRACLES OF STEEL.

What the Laboratory Has Done For the Automobile Maker.

Writers of historical fiction perpetuate the notion that the art of the old armorer has perished. And yet in cars sold for only a few hundred dollars axles and crank shafts are to be found infinitely superior in texture to the weapons of famous swordsmiths.

The tales of supple yet tough blades that could be bent into circles without snapping are eclipsed in the less artfully phrased reports of tests conducted with crank shaft steel in the metallurgical laboratory of any large automobile factory.

Could the old swords be twisted through six complete turns before they broke? An axle shaft can be so twisted. What was the tensile strength of the mace that Godfrey of Bouillon or Richard of the Lion Heart wielded? How far, in other words, could it have been stretched lengthwise before it parted? No one knows.

But the automobile metallurgist is sure that it was not the equal in that respect of a modern valve stem—a slim little member that can be extended half its length in a testing machine before it snaps in two.

As soon as the metallurgist discovered that the properties of steel could be subtly changed by the addition of very small quantities of such elements as chromium, carbon, manganese, nickel, tungsten or vanadium—as soon, in other words, as the problem of making the automobile durable and safe had been solved by research—the designer ventured to consider the economics of motoring. Heavy automobiles endure, but they consume much fuel, and they wear out expensive tires very rapidly. Light automobiles are more cheaply maintained. And so new demands were made on the laboratory in the effort to save weight without sacrificing strength or safety.

Is a gear required with teeth on the outside as hard as tool steel and yet with a core that shall be soft and tough, a gear that shall not weigh more than a given number of ounces? The metallurgist is asked not only to discover the formula for a steel out of which a part can be made and which must be examined with the microscope to detect the wear to which it has been subjected after having run 10,000 miles, but also to indicate the methods that must be followed by the furnace men in heat treating the metal.

Without the laboratory the designer would be helpless. There would be little progress from year to year.—Waldemar Kaempffert in Harper's Magazine.

"Clearing the Plate."

Some gray headed men who grew up in New England remember the custom that prevailed in many families of making a boy or girl "clear the plate" or eat what was left at another meal before getting anything else. That was not irrational or cruel. The child was permitted to help himself or herself. If too much was taken the discipline of having to eat it sooner or later was wholesomely educative. We may get back to it. Waste is never justified in prosperous families or other families. It is a big element in giving children an utterly false idea of what makes prosperity, at least in blinding youngsters to the vitalism of thrift on which all accumulation is based.

Always a Fighter.

In "Lloyd George, the Man and His Story," we are told that Lloyd George was a fighter from the beginning and that one of his earliest foes was the Established church. At twenty-five he beat out the clergy in their effort to keep an old Nonconformist father from being buried beside his daughter in the churchyard of a village at the foot of Snowdon. "Take the coffin in by force," said he, "if necessary. If the churchyard gates are locked against you break them down." It was done so, and the chief justice at London upheld the local jury which decided that the action was within rights.

WHEN WOMEN FISH.

It Makes the Trip Such a Jolly and Enjoyable One.

It does not serve to mellow a man's disposition to take a woman or two into the boat when he goes bass fishing. For women always want to fish, yet never could they or would they stick those horrid, nasty, wriggling angleworms on the hook.

So, between baiting their hooks and removing the perch and pumpkin seeds and straining your spine to keep the boat from turning turtle and the lines from getting snarled up, you have a most enjoyable day's outing, do you not? Yes, you do not! I'll run the risk of answering that question for you.

And then, when you finally hook a five pound bass weighing at least three pounds and eight ounces by his own standard scales, and play him for twenty minutes against their earnest entreaties not to bring that big, ugly thing into the boat or else they'd jump out—you calmly ease up on the line and give him back, also his freedom, do you not? Yes, you do not!

And when the day is spent they tell you what a gorgeous time they have had and make you promise to fetch them again, and you promise, of course, do you not?

Gasoline Poison.

The poisonous character of the fumes arising from a gasoline engine may be appreciated by the following extract from a recently published book: "If a gasoline engine producing five cubic feet of CO per minute were allowed to run in a tightly closed garage that was twelve feet high, fifteen feet long and fifteen feet wide—that is, having a capacity of 2,750 cubic feet—it could produce an atmosphere if the latter were thoroughly mixed containing about 1 per cent CO in about five minutes. This percentage of CO in air is a fatal proportion and would probably kill a person in less than a minute. In fact, an exposure for as long as twenty minutes to an air containing as little as 0.25 per cent CO would make most people very ill."

Burns That Kill.

Burns are generally classified in three degrees of severity. First degree burns are simple reddening of the skin. Second degree burns result in blistering. Third degree burns are followed by actual destruction of the skin and tissues.

Death is almost certain to result if approximately one-third of the body surface is burned. Often burns of much less extent are fatal. Death may result from shock, from acute kidney, liver or blood disease resulting from the toxins of the burned skin, or the burns may later become infected and kill the patient from blood poison.

Educate the People.

Illiteracy is one of the problems with which the American people are confronted. There should be a pressure of public opinion and of public effort brought to bear to wipe out the disgrace. Each community should see to it that every child of school age is under instruction. Increased efforts to induce those of adult age to enter night schools should be made.—Memphis Commercial Appeal.

BURIED BELLS OF NAKOUS.

Nature's Curious Freak on the Border of the Red Sea.

A singular phenomenon occurs on the borders of the Red sea at a place called Nakous, where intermittent underground sounds have been heard for an unknown number of centuries. It is situated about half a mile distant from the shore, whence a long reach of sand ascends rapidly to a height of 300 feet. This reach is about eighty feet wide and resembles an amphitheater, being walled by low rocks.

The sounds coming up from the ground at this place recur at intervals of about an hour. They at first resemble a low murmur, but ere long there is heard a loud knocking somewhat like the strokes of a bell, which at the end of about five minutes becomes so strong as to agitate the sand.

The explanation of this curious phenomenon given by the Arabs is that there is a convent under the ground here and that these sounds are those of the bell which the monks ring for prayers. So they call it Nakous, which means a bell. The Arabs affirm that the noise so frightens their camels when they hear it as to render them furious.

Scientists attribute the sound to suppressed volcanic action, probably to the bubbling of gas or vapors underground.

Making a Marine.

It takes longer to make an efficient marine than to make an infantryman. This because the marine is a man of many specialties. He is, of course, in season and out of season, an international policeman. That's his job in time of peace. But when he fares abroad to fight his country's battles he may be called upon to do almost any kind of work. He may be an artilleryman, a signalman, an airman. He may be, and usually is, anything that his country needs at that particular time. And he is trained to meet the emergency.

Lime In the Garden.

Lime will speed up garden crops. It is particularly beneficial on new land. For both flower and vegetable gardens hydrated lime is safest to use. Sprinkle it around the base of the plants and along the rows close to the plants, but not touching them, and work it in the soil.

Your Will Is Insurance.

In the Woman's Home Companion Clyde Scott Stillwell says: "A will is no more or less than the cheapest and best form of life insurance. A man should make it out on his wedding day, even though 'all his worldly goods' amount to no more than the clothes on his back. A rich man can afford to die without a will; there will be enough left of his estate after the lawyers and courts get done to provide for his family. But the poor man, the man whose estate is $10,000 or less, cannot afford to take that chance. A will to him is an indispensable necessity."

Making Wire.

Wire used to be made by hammering metal into sheets and cutting these into strips, which were hammered or filed into wire. Now the material is rolled into rods by grooved rollers and drawn cold through holes in a plate of harder metal, usually hardened steel, by means of powerful machinery.

A Suggestive Hint.

A certain eminent lawyer was appointed head of a government department, and he was anxious that all the members of the staff should work together in unison. He summoned the leading officials and after delivering an address on the desirability of thorough co-operation concluded by saying: "Gentlemen, in my profession when a jury disagrees it is discharged. I think I need say no more."

A SORE MOUTH

Or Pyorrhea Quickly Relieved By "ABSORBINE JR."

Are your gums sore and tender? Do they smart or bleed when you brush them? Are they slipping away from the teeth? When your gums get in this condition, they need something to kill all germs in the mouth—something to change the spongy, bleeding flesh into firm, healthy tissue.

As one Dentist writes:—"ABSORBINE JR." has a future for dentists in the treatment of Pyorrhea."

Used in diluted form, "ABSORBINE JR." makes a mouth wash that destroys germs, heals the gums, prevents decay. Clean and refreshing in taste and odor—and being a vegetable germicide, is absolutely safe.

YOUR CHIEF INTEREST

is in your health, for that is the fundamental of your existence. If you could find some magic process to conserve your health, keep you from ever being ill or attaining old age, you would certainly display enthusiastic interest. But do you know just what that bonanza will be? Would you recognize it if you came across it?

Here is a great new science that has created and preserved health in hundreds of thousands, enabling them to attain that desired reward of longevity unaccompanied by aches and ills and suffering. Do you know of any reason why this science will not do the same for you? Is it possible that your body is of different construction than the bodies of other human beings?

If the segments of your spine are out of alignment, thereby impinging the nerves as they leave the spine for the parts they supply, disease will be present. If these spinal segments are replaced the pressure will be removed. Health will result because each part receives its normal quantity of mental impulses or nerve energy. That is the mission of Chiropractic. The fact that millions of people are enjoying health from Chiropractic adjustments is proof positive that Chiropractic is fulfilling its mission.

A FEW FACTS

Hutch they say is good for the liver,
A few hundred dollars'll buy a flivver,
That particular men'll have to confess,
Clothes are dear, yet they have to dress.
Of many things we could clearly speak,
But refrain for fear we'd we thought a freak,
Yet ONE thing sure we must frankly tell,
Nelson's Typewriters are selling very well.

Remember the place, 332½ George Street, directly over the Merchants' Bank of Canada.

FIFTEEN YEARS IN PRACTICE

WON THE BANNER FOR OCTOBER

KING GEORGE HOME AND SCHOOL ASSOCIATION.

The Home and School Association of the King George school, Ashburnham, held their opening meeting for the fall term on Monday evening, Oct. 4th. There were about fifty of the parents and friends of the pupils present.

At the conclusion of the business part of the programme the meeting was thrown open for discussion and forming of plans for future useful activities and some very helpful suggestions were offered.

In the class contest Miss Paxman's class won the banner for October, the pupils in this room having the largest number of their parents present at the meeting.

It was decided that at the next meeting in November the members would be asked for a shower of cups and saucers for use in the Association and that the Social committee would serve refreshments. Each member is asked to bring with them some idea or plan for work for the winter months.

CAPACITY HOUSE AT THE GRAND

MILDRED CLEMENS' FINAL APPEARANCE TO-NIGHT.

A capacity house greeted the second appearance of Mildred Leo Clemens troupe of Hawaiian singers, dancers and players at the Grand last evening and an entertainment altogether different from any ever given previously in the city was provided for an appreciative audience.

Anna Hila's native dances, given exactly as they are done on the famous dancers native shores, were a feature of the evening and heartily encored while the elusive pictures of the Pacific Paradise featuring the eruption of the great volcano made a vast impression with all.

In singing the seductive songs of Hawaii as only native and highly gifted Hawaiians can sing them, the troupe brought down the house.

The show will be repeated this evening.

SINN FEIN WILL NOT OPPOSE DOMINION HOME RULE IF MAJORITY OF PEOPLE WANT IT—IRISH PEACE COUNCIL WILL SUBMIT SCHEME TO LLOYD GEORGE.

(Canadian Press.)

LONDON, Oct. 7.—Leaders of the Sinn Fein have intimated that, although they desire complete separation of Ireland from England they would not oppose a broad measure of Dominion Home Rule if it can be proved the majority of the Irish people demand it, says the Daily Mail.

This intimation, the newspaper declares, was given in response to approaches made by the Irish Peace Council, a body of moderates from all parts of Ireland, which has just completed a plan for Dominion Home Rule in Ireland. Prior to the adjournment of Parliament members of this Council interviewed Lloyd George, who told them that before submitting any scheme they must be able to assure him of sufficient support in Ireland to guarantee that the scheme would be workable.

This support, the Council claims to have obtained and the Mail asserts the Premier will receive a deputation from the organization next week to take an initial step in the scheme. The first thing that will be done, the newspaper says, will be the creation of a Constituent Assembly for Ireland, in which Ulster will be given representation.

OVERFLOW MEETINGS GREETED MACKENZIE KING IN EDMONTON

HIS ITINERARY UPSET BY VAGARIES OF THE GOVERNMENT RAILWAY SYSTEM—NO BUILDING IN WESTERN CITY LARGE ENOUGH TO ACCOMMODATE THE KING AUDIENCES—A TURMOIL OF ENTHUSIASM.

EDMONTON, Oct. 6. — Until tonight Edmonton thought that it had a building sufficient for any demands. Mr. Mackenzie King arived 13 hours late and was whisked from the station to the leading Presbyterian church, which seats 1700 people. The church was packed but with only a portion of his audience. From there he went to the First Baptist church, and addressed another packed audience of citizens who gave him their closest attention throughout his address.

Given Tory Welcome.

Early this morning a bulletin announced that Mr. Mackenzie King's train would be several hours late.This afternoon The Journal broke through its Tory reserves sufficiently to extend a welcome to Mr. King and hope that he was not too late. At the mercy of the Government railway system just in process of amalgamating its schedules, Mr. King was forced to abandon his meeting at Prince George, which was fixed for Monday night. At this point he would have met an audience anxious to hear some expression of their indignation at the abrupt abandonment of their town as a divisional point. The leader of the Opposition was not able to speak there owing to the vagaries of the government lines. He was almost too late to address the audiences which had mustered in force at Edmonton.

Wild Enthusiasm.

The organizers of the reception believed that McDougall Church, with its magnificent accommodation, would take care of all who wanted to hear Mr. King. They were very much mistaken. From the station onward the Liberal Leader found himself in a turmoil of enthusiasm unparalleled so far on this trip. The church was crowded. After a short address following the opening speech by Mr. Ernest Lapointe, Mr. King was whirled to another audience. He came on the second platform of the evening to meet a similarly enthusiastic and packed audience.

Finds Good Text.

Edmonton had been waiting all day for the advent of the Liberal leader, and his journey, should he care to take advantage of the fact, would provide Mr. King with a fine text for a lecture on the efficiency of the present administration.

For to-morrow, the Liberal women of Edmonton have planned a reception by all the women of the city, irrespective of party. In the evening following the banquet reception there is to be a banquet at the McDonald Hotel.

Next morning the leader of the Opposition and his party leave for Camrose.

DEPUTATION IS WELL SATISFIED WITH RECEPTION BY HYDRO COMMISSION

MR. J. H. BURNHAM

In an interview to-day on the power question, Mr. J. H. Burnham, ex-M.P., contends that Mr. R. R. Hall was perfectly right in the summing up of the power situation. "Why was dam No. 5 dismantled?" asked Mr. Burnham. Why has there been no development at Lakefield. The buliding of the Lakefield dam was held off for the express purpose of enabling Hydro to acquire the Dickson Company rights under the Expropriation Act. I have made it my business, continued Mr. Burnham, to know these waters from the north lake, the original source of the Otonabee and Trent river to Lake Ontario, and also to know the system of administration of water. I can asy that Mr. Killaly, superintnedent of this division of the canal, is administering on a perfectly scientific system and, like the Government at Ottawa, is only too willing that surplus water should go for the benefit of the public. To my personal knowledge the Department of Railway and Canals has done everything possible to assist in the acquirement of power by the people and whilst it may be good party politics to blame the Dominion Government it is not according to facts. This statement of course does not apply to Mr .R. R. Hall whose grasp of the water power question is complete. Summed up, the whole question at the present moment is why has the Hydro not developed more power here, to say nothing of the days that are gone when Peterborough might have acquired thirty thousand horse power within easy reach for little more than a song.

Why was Burleigh Falls not developed? Here is five thousand horsepower at low water reservoirs at Pigeon, Chemong, Buckhorn and Lovesick lakes. It is a power that can be raised to seven thousand horse power without any trouble and can be developed at less cost than any power on the Trent system.

DELEGATES WERE ASSURED OF A FLOW OF WATER POWERS AND PROMISES OF SPEEDY COMPLETION OF RANNEY FALLS DEVELOPMENT SCHEME.

Following is the report of the Hydro-Electric Commission on water flow delivered to the local Utilities Commission yesterday:

"In considering the probability of the stored waters in the Trent System being required for power purposes before the reservoirs can be replenished from the next spring-run-off the following table shows the flows that actually took place at Nassau:

MEAN MONTHLY FLOW IN CUBIC FEET PER SECOND AT NASSAU.

	Aug.	Sept.	Oct.	Nov.	Dec.	Jan.	Feb.
1913	1410	1210	1200	1300	1420	3470	3100
1914	1150	1150	1000	1090	1250	1480	1720
1915	1650	1610	1700	1710	2110	1240	1240
1916	1370	1450	1380	1710	3060	2820	5310
1917	1380	1290	1230	1980	1380	a	a
1918	1390	1810	2340	3340	4200	1810	1960
1919	1060	1030	1340	1430	2730	4840	3120
1920	1150	1010	.....	.....	.....	a	a
Mean	1320	1320	1460	1790	2310	2610	2740

(a) Figures not to hand at time of ocmpiling.

"From a study of the above figures, with the exception of the abnormal year of 1914-1915, there was no month following the dry months of August and September, until the next Spring flow arrived that the system of regulation of waters carried out did not result in very considerably more water than was needed to run the power plants on the river to the full extent of their capacity.

"The average of any of the months from November to Febraury is much larger than is required for power purposes during those months so that there appears to be very slight risk that the use of the stored waters at this time will result in the inability of the system yielding sufficient water at any period between now and the Spring run-off.

"On Buckhorn and Stoney Lakes there has been withdrawn from the natural flow of the river during the month of September 5400 acre feet of water, and Buckhorn Lake on October the first was 0.25 feet higher than it was on September the first. This elevation is in excess of that held on the lake on any October 1st in eleven years, and the tributary storages are in the usual state of depletion.

"The computed mean monthly natural flow of the Trent system never was below 1230 cubic feet per second at Nassau for the eight years for which we have records for the months of November, December, January and February. As the figure is greater than the flow passing at Nassau by 200 cubic feet per second, we feel that it would be better to receive the benefit of stored waters for the use of the manufacturers on the Trent at this immediate time than to conserve them in anticipation of a low flow which has never been reached during the period for which we have records."

In addition to the finding of the above report private investigation has shown that the level of Stoney Lake is high. Between August 20th and October 5th the level of the lake increased by nine inches.

RANNEY FALLS TO BE RUSHED.

The deputation waited on Sir Adam Beck, Chief Engineer Gabey, and L. G. Jarvis, engineer in charge of this division. They were told that the work on the Ranney Falls development scheme would be rushed to completion before next August. This will add 10,000 horse power to the supply of the Central Ontario Division of the Hydro System, and it is expected, will amply meet any future crisis that may arise.

DEPUTATION SATISFIED.

The deputation is well satisfied with the reception which they received in Toronto, and believe in its power to remedy existing conditions.

Recriminations Rife.

Charges and counter-charges are rapidly following one another in connection with the power shortage. The Hydro interests have charged the Department of Railways and Canals with wantonly holding back the water in the lakes because of political jealousy and personal hatred, the Government supporters in turn have replied that the overselling of power by the Hydro is at the bottom of the whole matter, the Hydro has made the counter-charge that the Trent Canal is wasteful of water and woefully incompetent, and the opponents of the Hydro have answered this indirectly by alleging that the Hydro has withheld power from manufacturers in order to supply the canning interests.

Rumour Disproved.

The rumour that A. L. Killaly, superintendent of this section of the Trent Canal, is in Cobourg to-day to explain to the Cobourg manufacturers that the releasing of water from the lakes, as they had petitioned, would cause a shortage this winter, was disproved this afternoon when a long-distance telephone call to Ottawa elicited the information that Mr. Killaly was still there, and the above statement of the Trent Canal management was secured.

ENNISMORE FIRE NOT DUE TO SPARK

SUCH IS OPINION OF DEPUTY PROVINCIAL FIRE MARSHAL L. G. BISHOP.

L. J. Bishop, deputy provincial fire marshal, who has made an investigation into the Crough fire in Ennismore on Monday last, has determined that this disastrous fire was not caused by a spark from the engine, running the blower to the silo. Mr. Bishop was sent down from the Fire Marshal's office directly the serious nature of the fire was determined.

Yesterday afternoon he visited the scene of the fire and interviewed several of the men who were working at the barn that day, including T. Crough, the owner. His investigation has revealed that the spark arrester was on the engine and this exonerates Leo Kearns, the owner of the engine, and who had charge of it that day from any blame in connection with the fire.

Mr. Bishop states that he will go into the fire thoroughly in an endeavour to find its cause. He is now probing into the theory that it was caused by pipe ashes or a cigarette butt.

When seen this morning in reply to a question, he said that he did not think the men could have stayed in the silo till the rescuers cut a hole in it. He was of the opinion and he said he would probably embody this in his report as a recommendation, that silos be built with a ladder running up the inside and down on the outside. If there had been such a ladder in this silo loss of life would probably have been averted.

MUST SECURE LICENSE FOR HOME MADE WINE

Do the housewives of Peterborough know that it is necesary to get the written permission of the Inland Revenue Department to make wine, whether grape, dandelion or other vintage, and that if they do not do this they are leaving themselves open to a penalty of $200? Apparently not, for the local office have had few applications, yet the citizens are buying grapes freely. Whether one makes one bottle or fifty, whether it is intoxicating or not, makes no difference in the eyes of the law. It is a breach of the Inland Revenue Act, and as such can be enforced by the preventative officers with deplorable results to the wrong-doers.

EBBET'S FIELD, BROOKLYN, October 7. — Some twenty thousand or more fans saw Cleveland Indians and Brooklyn Dodgers, come to grips to-day to decide which team will trail westward to-night with the odd game of three of this year's world series.

Brooklyn's victory yesterday put a spur to local enthusiasm and a large crowd came early to the ball game. The first in line arived before sunup. The weather was warmer too, and the thermometer rose in direct ratio with mounting hopes of Brooklyn fans who were quite satisfied with the white washing administered yesterday by Burleigh Grimes.

WOMEN'S HEROISM AVERTS DISASTER

(Canadian Press)

TOKIO, Oct. 7.—Delegates to the convention are unanimous in giving particular praise to Miss Caroline Schoreshewky, United States missionary and daughter of the former Episcopal Bishop to China, for her coolness during Tuesday's fire. It is said her heroism prevented disastrous stampede in building. She spoke commandingly in Japanese and English, and secured the orderly retirement of the crowd regardless of risk to herself. Several persons were knocked down and walked over during the rush for exits, but were not badly hurt.

STATEMENT OF CANAL MANAGEMENT

With reference to the present power situation the Canal officials would like it known that the only reason for reticence has been the desire to avoid any controversy which would undoubtedly have led to adverse criticism of other interests. They regard their position on the subject as unassailable, statements to the contrary notwithstanding. The Department would welcome the fullest investigation into the storage and regulation of the Trent waters.

CHILDREN'S AID TAG DAY OCT. 9TH

Home Foundation of the Nation

As the home os at the foundation of every nation's greatness, so it is of the greatest of importance that all the children be given a chance to grow up in good homes, as under improved conditions, so that we can measure our nation's future by the care and training we give the children of to-day. This is what the Children's Aid Society is trying to do, by taking children from unfavourable and placing them in favourable surroundings. This can only be done at the generous subscribers who assist us every year when we make our special appeal. Remember that every little helps an Tag Day.

One of our boys on a farm wanted to become a machinist and so interested the Secretary that through his efforts in the boys welfare he secured a position in one of th e best ot our factorys at an initial wage of 20c per hour.

Another case of interest is a bright young girl learning a trade and at the same time taking a special course at the business college.

For some time we have been trying to furnish farm help and at the same time produce a better class of citizen for the future. These boys and girls speak for themselves and to assist in this good work everyone should help on tag day, Oct. 9th.

ADDRESS ON HIGHWAYS TO ENGINEER'S CLUB

DEPUTY MINISTER W. A, M'LEAN AT FIRST MEETING NEXT THURSDAY.

The Peterborough Branch of the Engineering Institute of Canada will open the Season's activities with an address on "Ontario Highways", by W. A. McLean, M.E.I.C., Deputy Minister of Public Highways, for this province. This will be delivered in Thursday night, October 14th., in the Board of Trade Rooms.

The meetings and papers committee of the Branch has been working on the programme for the coming season, and have secured a number a prominent speakers. Among them are W. F. Tye of Montreal, former Chief Engineer of the C. P.R. who will speak on Canada's Transportation problems. W. G. Gordon of Toronto, who will speak on the electrification of Steam Railroads. A. J. Grant af St. Catherines who will speak on the Welland Ship Canal A definite statement will be made later.

SCHOOL CHILDREN'S EYES.

If every child who attended school and whose eyesight is defective, had proper glasses fitted to htem, much time would be saved and a greater contribution would be made to their future efficiency. See W. H. Lacey, Optometrist, 410 George street. Open Wednesday and Saturday evenings.

THE UNLOADING SALE AT BOTNICK BROS.

SENSATIONAL SAVINGS TO THE PEOPLE.

To-morrow morning at 9 o'clock the big Unloading Sale begins at the store of Botnick Bros., 432 George street. Want of proper store has been crippling business for months past in this store, and alterations must be made to remedy this trouble. In order to get the room needed to allow the workmen to proceed with the work, half of the goods in the store has to be got out of the way; and, rather than incur the expense of moving them out of the store, about $15,000 of the stock is to be offered at sacrifice prices during this month.

The interesting full page advertisement which appears in to-day's issue gives complete particulars of the big reductions on one-half of the whole stock in the store. The crash in prices should cause the goods to move out quickly. The largest reductions include women's coats, suits, dresses, sweaters, underwear, waists, hosiery and millinery; also men's and boys' women's and misses' boots and shoes.

There's savings in the prices. Read them over and get your share.

W. O. W. PIE SOCIAL.

The Woodmen of the World are holding a pie social and social evening in their hall on George street, on Thursday evening, October 7th. Come and bring a friend. No admission charge. 3d83 2977

Rails, especially dividend payers continued strong throughout the morning. Oils were attacked and Mexican Pet was driven to 185 off 6 points from the weeks high

FOREIGN EXCHANGE

(United Press)

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—Foreign Exchange was irregular at the opening to-day Sterling opened $3.40 3-4 off 1-4; Francs $.0669 unchanged Lire $.0338 up $.0003; Marks $.0157 up $.0002; Canadian Dollars $.9200.

Stock News Bulletin, Oct. 6, 1920.
Campbell, Stratton & Co.

On the New York Exchange.—Predicted in some quarters that Steel, Common, will soon sell at 95. Short interest in the stock is said to be large.

From excellent authority it is learned that strenuous effort will be made to bring about an abrupt break in the market within the next week, the attack to be made on both industrials and rails. On the other hand another canvas of important financial people indicates that if this occurs the opportunity will be used to buy stocks. In this connection the following buying range of a number of stocks are offered as coming from sources which the writer believes are so situated as to warrant trusting their judgment. Examples of buying points in the stocks mentioned indicate that market as a whole must reasonably be near supporting levels: Baldwin 105 to 109, Chandler 70 to 75; Mn. 180 to 185; Pan. Am. 85 to 88; Ams. 85 to 88; Id. 80 to 82; G. M. 18 to 20; Steel Com. 85 to 88; RU 75 to 78; U.F. 45 to 48; R. S. 68 to 72; ALO 9. to 94; Invincible 32 to 36. A large bear account is still reported in stocks, especially the motors, oils and steels.

In the Toronto Market.—The tractions had the lead all the way this morning's local local market. Altogether, trading is picking up, and showing signs of a genuine revival. Price advances, while not sensational, were numerous, and interest appears to be broadening continually.

C.P.R. was weaker to-day, reflecting the reverses suffered by some rail shares in New York. As always happens, the lower price of 140, as against 142 yesterday, seemed to discourage buyers. This tendency to buy eagerly when the stock is rising argues the existence of a strong speculative element in the recent advance in C.P.R. While it is widely felt that the advance in rails has not yet reached a climax, there are bound to be temporary recessions, due to profit taking on the way up.

Useful also are those people who are merely hand-rails; we grasp them ,they steady us, when all else wavers.

The beginning of awe, hence the beginning of all true worship, is to see the limitless value of the insignificant.

SEAPLANE CRASHED IN FIRST LEG OF FLIGHT TO COAST

ST. JOHN, N. B., October 7th. — The Fairy seaplane, manned by Col. Robert Leckie, D.S.O., and Major Hobbs, attempting a trans-Canada flight, crashed twenty miles northeast of here on the first leg of the trip. The accident occurred at Long Beach, and Col. Leckie telephoned asking that a flying boat be sent to him.

Col. Leckie reports that neither he nor his companion was hurt.

CAPT. WILSON STANDS BY.

OTTAWA, Oct. 6. — Capt. A. Wilson, flying the second seaplane, has left Montreal for Riviere du Loup, where he will stand by for relay purposes if necessary. The flight from Halifax to Winnipeg will be made with seaplanes and will be the first all-Canada flight and will be the first attempt to fly across Lake Superior.

From Winnipeg the flight will be taken up by airplanes flying in three relays. The first machine will leave Winnipeg and fly to Moose Jaw, where the journey will be continued by another pilot, who will fly to Regina. From there a third will take the air and fly to Vancouver.

ALLOW 40 HOURS.

It is hoped to cover the trans-Canada journey in some 50 hours, the actual flying time allowed being in the neighborhood of 40 hours.

On the eastern end of the flight Col. Leckie will follow the route of rivers and lakes with his seaplane, while in the west the route will be practically that of the Canadian Pacific Railway.

Vice is alluring only from the pulpit; when we actually meet it we are conscious only of degradation.

INCOME TAX RETURNS.

A number of Ottawa professional men have been fined for making wrong returns in connection with the Dominion income tax. The punishment inflicted in these cases should be a warning to the country generally that it is a serious matter to neglect making income tax reports or to give wrong figures as to income. The trouble has been that when the tax was first introduced and before the machinery was functioning properly many people got the impression that the law could be trifled with, that there was little chance of being caught if the regulations were neglected and as a result of that belief there were numerous people in all parts of the country who paid little attention to the matter. The inflicting of fines on well known citizens in Ottawa and elsewhere, however, is unmistakable proof that the income tax regulations, like other laws, must be carried out and that to attempt to evade the tax is a costly proceeding.

THE COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE.

The decision of the Board of Education to consider at once plans for the enlarging of the Collegiate Institute will cause no surprise to those who know the over-crowded condition of the present building. Dr. Neal, chairman of the Supervision committee, has recommended that a gymnasium, manual training and domestic science department be added, in addition to three or four class rooms. That all these things are necessary cannot be denied. When the Adolescent Act comes into effect and children are required to remain at school until they are sixteen, the accommodation of the Collegiate Institute, already taxed to its utmost, will be inadequate to handle the increased number of pupils, so that the Board is none too hasty in its plans for an enlargement of the present building. The lack of a gymnasium has always been severly felt in connection with the Collegiate Institute. This branch of school training has been carried on at the Y.M.C.A., and while the service given there has been excellent, there are obvious reasons why a school gymnasium would be of much greater benefit. It is satisfactory, therefore, to note that facilities for the physical training of the pupils are included in the plans of the Board.

A SENSIBLE ACTION.

The Ontario government has prohibited the public exhibition in this province of a moving picture portraying the ravages of social diseases. The majority of people will commend this action. While it is desirable that the public should be educated to the danger of the social evil, the employing of the screen method of placing the facts before the people has much to be criticized, especially when the film is to be offered as a part of the regular programme at moving picture theatres with mixed audiences, composed principally of young people. No doubt the subject was carefully handled in the making of the picture, but nevertheless there could not fail to be scenes that would be repulsive and distressing and the beneficial effect of the promiscuous showing of such a film is to be questioned. The fact that a picture of this kind was allowed to be circulated in Ontario is no reason why another of the same kind should be shown and the Government is to be congratulated upon its action in prohibiting this latest horror. There are more sensible and less repulsive ways of dealing with social problems that picturing the horrors of disease for the edification of an audience on amusement bent.

TWO WORTHY EFFORTS.

Saturday is to be observed throughout Canada as "Fire Prevention" Day, and the following week as "Safety Week." It is well that the week's campaign should be preceded by a special effort to arouse the people to a sense of the serious nature of the fire loss in Canada and to a realization of the necessity of preventive measures, for not only is there an enormous property loss in this country each year as the result of fires, but there is an appalling list of fatalities as well from the same cause. The tragedy of it is that by far the greater number of fires are caused by sheer carelessness and neglect and it is in an effort to awaken the public to the folly of their indifferent attitude towards the question that Saturday's campaign is inaugurated.

Simiarly with the safety week. Regard for human life seems to have grown lighter, judging by the number of accidents that are reported. Motorists take chances by exceeding the speed limit, ignoring the traffic regulations, neglecting to use chains on wet days. Pedestrians risk their lives by strolling carelessly across busy thoroughfares in the middle of the block or wherever their fancy dictates. Most people are careless, hence the effort to bring before them the necessity of safety first methods.

LATER ON.

It is interesting, but somewhat disheartening, to read the prophecies as to the probable progress of price reduction, which has undoubtedly set in and which, let us hope, will be accelerated as the days go by. The United States has made sweeping reductions in the prices of many necessary commodities, and Canada tardly follows suit in some directions; but there is still a very big difference in the prices prevailing in this country and across sthe border for the same class of goods in many staple lines. The reason is, we are told, that prices in the United tSates have been fictitiously high and are, now that the slump has come, abnormally low. Canada, having maintained a fair level throughout, will not experience the drastic price-slashing which has taken place in the United States.

Certainly, it is not expedient that there should be any sudden or violent slump in prices. The process of deflation, providing it really is deflation, had best be gradual, if the industrial equilibrium is to be preserved. But these continual postponements of the realization of our hopes are becoming wearisome. One cannot live on the future. Anticipation is often better than realization, it is true, but not in the case of cheaper living conditions.

In the case of footwear, the Shoe Manufacturers' association informs us that certain lines have been reduced from 10 to 15 per cent.; but we are duly warned not to expect a drop in the retail price of shoes before next spring. Similarly with clothes —next spring will see the long-awaited cut in prices, according to some. Is it not a litle unreasonable to expect the public to continue purchasing at present rates, when the prospect is thus held out to them of a subsequent fall in prices? Naturally, people are holding back, supplying only their immediate imperative requirements. Meat prices, similarly, the dealers tell us, are due for a fall about February or March — "after the Christmas strade," as it is artlessly put. The reduction of $1 a hundredweight in Winnipeg cattle markets does not affect the local supply, and it will take five or six months for the lower cost of cattle feed to have its influence in the Ontario markets. It does not take that long for a jump in the cost of feed to have its effect, however. And so it goes with most other things; relief will come— later on, but not now. "Man never is, but always to be bliessed."—Hamilton Spectator.

OTONABEE AGRICULTURAL FAIR AT KEENE WAS A HUGE SUCCESS

ATTENDANCE LARGE AND EXHIBITS WORTH WHILE—MAIN BUILDING FAIRLY AGLOW WITH COLOUR.

HORSE RACING, TOO

The Otonabee Agricultural Exhibition was held in Keene on Tuesday, the 5th, and yesterday, the 6th, and on both days the village presented an appearance that is lacking on the other 363 days of the year. All roads led to Keene and yesterday the quiet little village was stirred up like Oshkosh Indians on the Fourth of July. Cars lined the streets of the town; and under every tree reposed automobiles from all over the township, and many from Peterboro, and more distant points; and every car brought a fresh load of people to add to the throngs that flocked the fair grounds from early morn till the finish of the last horse race yesterday afternoon. The 5th was only preparation day but the grounds were a busy place for the exhibitors were aranging the exhibits, that compared favorably with any that the fair has boasted of in years gone by, and the judges were busy making their decisions. The main building was fairly aglow with light and color, when the last exhibit of fancy work, the last fruit and vegetables, were all carefully arranged No wonder the exhibitors silently admired their entries, no wonder the directors congratulated themselves on the fine showing the close competition in the majority of classes.

The fancy work and arts exhibits were tastefully arranged and the number of entries in events that would not ordinarily draw as many, was particularly gratifying to the judges. The showing of fruits and vegetables were interesting sections of the big main building and the dairy and farm produce, particularly the roots, attracted much attention, all of which was fully warranted. The live stock section, because of the excellent prizes, was a feature of the show, and around the horses, cattle and sheep, the men of the farms could always be found examining with admiring eyes this animal, or pointing out with emphatic gestures this or that blemish on the other.

Mention must also be made of the poultry in which the members of the society made a showing of birds worthy of an association with poultry raising as its sole reason for being in existence.

Blessed with fine warm sunny October weather, the exhibition could have been nothing but a success. The directors have worked faithfully for weeks to make it the equal of other years and the complacent smiles they all wore in the afternoon were ample evidence that it had gone over the top.

The attendance totals were unavailable in the afternoon, but it is believed that the paid admissions will run about the same as last year. The real crowd began to pour through the gates about one or two o'clock and the grounds were crowded from then till after five.

The 57th Band was in attendance and during the afternoon gave an interesting programme that had much to do with the happy spirits that were everywhere in evidence. When the events were wont to drag the enlivening effects of the music was plainly noticeable, and the part the 57th band played in making the Keene a success, must not be overlooked amongst the other contributors to this end.

Outstanding amongst the exhibits at the Keene Fair was that of Grafton and Co. Under a big canopy tent were shown men's and boys' suits, clothes for the kiddies, and in all these there was combined the latest in style. The exhibit was attractively placed on the grounds. The rows of flags above it made it outstanding, and much attention was evinced by the visitors at this exhibit.

Automobile exhibitors were numerous and the following car agencies had their newest models on the grounds: Studebaker, Overland, Ford, Chevrolet and Gray-Dort.

Numerous concessions, without which no fair would be a fair, held forth on the grounds, and the people of Keene were given an opportunity to capture Kewpie dolls, a call that did not fall on deaf ears amongst the natives. The lemonade stands were there too.

There was no midway, no thrillers, the speeding in the ring causing more thrills in one hour than one would see in a whole circus of 'death bowls' in a week. The track was not in perfect condition and the horses soon found it hard going. Despite this the two races were closely fought, two Peterboro horses carrying off the laurels in both the Free-for-all and the Green race. The free-for-all was called at 2 o'clock by Ira Nattrass of Millbrook, the starter, Fred Jones of Peterboro, and James Elmhurst of Keene, making the rest of the trio that handed out the decisions.

"Little Wana," owned by C. B. Tucker of Peterboro, was first under the wire in every heat of the free-for-all. Her best time was 2.35. "Jack Brooks," owned by J. Disdale, of Keene, pulled in second in all three heats, with "Betty D," Frank Montgomery's mare, taking third money.

After six heats, Murt. Storey's fast-going horse, "Peter A," lifted first money in the green race after discounting a string of breaks and falls, and a battle all the way, with H. Elmhurst's, of Keene, fast mare, "Kitty Wilks." Jimmy Spinks, owned by Norman Henry, of Millbrook, was the third horse in the race. Here is the way the six heats went:

Peter A. 331311
Kitty Wilks 112232
Jimmy Spinks 223133

The fastest time in this race was 3 minutes.

The racing and the judging in the ring were the principal features of the exhibition this afternoon and when these were over the crowds started dispersing and with wagons loaded high with fruits and vegetables, grain, poultry, to say nothing of patchwork quilts and other creations of an age when woman won her way to man's heart through her dexterity, with the needle or the crochet hook, instead of her knowledge of tariffs and the latest dance, wended their way out of the gates, and soon the big building was deserted and as bare as it was before the exhibits graced its interior. The live stock was guided home too; one by one the concessions lifted their flimsy habitues and disappeared, and the cars were loaded up again with their human freight and faded in the twilight. The Keene Fair was over.

The following officers were responsible for the progress made this year and already they are planning for next year, which it is hoped will eclipse al previous records.

FAIR EXHIBITS

With one or two exceptions, the largest number of outside special exhibits at the Keene Fair, other than that contained in the regular prize list, consisted of automobile displays, which proved a very interesting feature of the show.

PEERLESS CLOTHING DISPLAY GRAFTON & CO

"Canada's largest manufacturers of high-grade clothing for men, youth's boy's and children," were strongly in the public eye at this Fair. No more comprehensive or attractive display of clothing was ever made in this section than was put up by the enterprising representatives of Messrs. Grafton & Co., Peterborough, on this occasion. There was an entirely new spirit put into this exhibit that commanded attention. Visitors have admired numerous good clothing exhibits in the past, but this one eclipsed them all. It was the central attraction, facing every visitor as they came into the grounds. The large marquee was decorated with brilliant colored bulletins on all sides and surmounted with a profusion of flags fluttering in the breeze, which presented an animating picture.

The varied display of smart models of clothing was a reflex of Grafton & Co's fall fashions, and did the firm infinite credit. The tasteful manner in which the varied styles were staged testified to the expertness of the dressers. Many visitors investigated the principal features of the clothing, and when it is remembered that Grafton & Co., are celebrating their 68th Anniversary by forcing down the high cost of clothing equal to the prices before the war; the interest in the exhibit was enhanced. Some men are declaring that the won't buy any clothing while prices remain in their inflated condition; but this does not apply to Grafton & Co's revised prices of to-day. No store could afford to do what this firm is doing except they manufactured direct from maker to wearer, doing away with the BOVRIL is concentrated nourishment. It gives strength of body, strength of mind, and strength of character.

Its body-building power has been independently proved to be ten to twenty times the amount taken.

That is why Bovril is so valuable for invalids and during convalescence. It nourishes, and makes other foods nourish as they should.

LITTLE THOUGHT FOR POWER USERS

SIR ADAM BECK BLAMES FEDERAL OFFICIALS FOR NEGLECTING TO REGULATE WATER SHORTAGE.

(Special to the Examiner)

TORONTO, Oct. 7.— To discuss the shortage of water at the power developments in Central Ontario a deputation from Peterboro yesterday afternoon waited on Sir Adam Beck. These districts get their power from the Trent river.

The control of the waters in the Trent river is invested in the Federal authorities, who claim a high rental from the commission for the use of the same, Sir Adam told the deputation. He outlined the attitude of the Federal officials since the Commission took over the electric power company's properties in the Trent district some years ago as most unfriendly, and maintained that the officials had shown little consideration of the importance to the power users in the district by neglecting to maintain and properly regulate the shortage of waters in the Trent District.

Developing Power.

The Commission is at present developing the Ranney Falls and installing an additional 10,000 H.P., which will be completed on or before August 1921.

Release of Water Urged

Sir Adam assured the deputation that everything had been done that the Commission could properly do by urging Hon. Mr. Meighen, the Prime Minister, to have the matter given personal consideration. The commission has urged the department to release the storage at Stoney and Rice Lakes to the extent of one tenth of a foot per week for the next eight or ten weeks until the flow is augmented by the autumn rains.

An Unfailing Way To Banish Hairs

(Beauty Notes.)

Ugly hairy growths can be removed in the privacy of your own home if you get a small original package of delatone and mix into a paste enough of the powder and water to cover the hairy surface. This should be left on the skin about 2 minutes, then removed and the skin washed and every trace of hair will have vanished. No harm or inconvenience can result from this treatment, but be sure you buy real delatone.

MISSING MAN IS FOUND IN BARN

CAVAN FARMER WHO DISAPPEARED MONDAY HAD BEEN ACTING STRANGELY.

The mystery surrounding the disappearance of William Tinney, the Cavan township farmer who disappeared on Monday noon, was cleared when he was found hiding in a barn on his property yesterday.

During the last few days he had been acting strangely.

300 MEN WANTED FOR CEMENT WORKS

REVIVAL OF BIG INDUSTRY CREATES HOUSING PROBLEM IN LAKEFIELD.

The Girls' Auxiliary of St. John the Baptist church held a tea and sale of work and home-made cooking this afternoon in the Sunday school.

The weather was delightful and everything went off successfully, the Sunday school looking its best in its tasteful decoration of autumn foliage and flowers.

The President, Mrs. Marling, admirably filled the part of hostess and was ably assisted by the following members: Misses Watson, Smith, Ogilvie, Wood, Simpson and Crawford and Miss Elsie Ogilvie, who is holidaying at her home in the village, rendered valuable assistance.

A very handsome china pitcher in chintz decoration was raffled off and was won by Miss Smith.

The new rector, Rev. Frank Vipond, was present, and in his kindly way expressed warm approval of the hearty and harmonious spirit which characterized the management of the affair, which netted $18.00 for the treasury.

Mr. Reginald Jones of Toronto, was in the village on Wednesday visiting friends.

Mr. Roy Robinson has purchased from the Misses Sherin the old family residence on the corner of Reid and Regent streets.

The housing problem here is becoming very acute, rents are going up, and about the only way to retain a house is to buy one.

Need 300 Men.

The Cement Works now require 300 men to put their plant in order for operation in the spring, and are asking those who will take boarders or others who can take another family into their houses to communicate with the manager.

RUPTURE RELIEF

Retention Not Influenced by Age or Length of Time Reports Visiting Expert

Rupture is not a tear or a breach in the abdominal wall, as commonly supposed, but it is a stretching or dilation of a natural opening. J. Y. Egan, 1057 College street, Toronto, the long established Canadian Rupture appliance specialist, will visit Peterborough, Empress Hotel, Saturday, Sunday (all day and night) 2 days, Oct. 9-10.

The "Curatus," the new surgical invention, as now used and prepared to order for men, women and children, will not only retain rupture perfectly, affording immediate and complete comfort, but is intended to assist nature in her work in the shortest time known and at small cost. These new surgical appliances have received highest approval wherever shown, and are designed in accordance with the principals laid down by the world's text-book authorities on this subject producing results without harmful ready-made hard pad and old fashioned steel trusses. Mr. Egan has testimonials from our own section for inspection. If interested, call; he will give you free demonstration and examination of samples. Now is the time to make yourself safe and comfortable for your daily work. Note dates; ask at hotel office for his sample room —tear this notice out now for future reference. 5d-2-4-6-7-8 middlemen's profit. The reduced sale prices were reflected in the attractive price lists circulated during the day, and are the prices which will be found at their two large stores in Peterborough and their other six branches throughout Ontario.

THE EMPIRE MILKER

This remarkable milking machine was again demonstrated at the Keene Fair and attracted the attention of dairymen and farmers generally. Some very important improvements have been introduced in the mechanical operations of this milker which add to its value as well as to the comfort of the cows. The outfit showed the wonderful combined milker and convenient power pump by which it is operated. The quick snappy action of the teat milker and the almost human grasp it has on the teat was fully explained to the visitors.

Mr. F. J. Doughty of Peterborough who is the effective demonstrator of the Empire Milker; has had a very successful run of sales this season and stated that he had already booked orders for more than sixty of these milking outfits.

THE CHEVROLET CAR

Mr. Howson, the well known proprietor of the Manning Garage, Water street, Peterborough, made a display of two types of the Chevrolet car. He showed a "Baby Grand" and a "Four-Ninety" Touring. The valve-in-head motor is one of its main features and ensures power. The gaso line is introduced directly into the cylinder head and exploded in there The full force of the explosion comes into direct contact with the piston head. For this reason Chevrolet power is maximum with a minimum use of fuel.

One good evidence of the popularity of the Chevrolet in this section was very noticeable at this Fair. Of the hundred or more cars on the grounds, the Chevrolet was very prominent, and was an indication of the numerous sales made to Otonabee farmers. Mr. Howson and his obliging salesmen were in attendance and showed how the Chevrolet valve-in-the-head motor spells economy.

THE STUDEAKBER SERIES

The Studebaker dealers of Peterborough, Messrs. Eastwood and Stock, Charlotte street,, made a forcible exhibit of two of their powerful machines the "Big Six" seven passenger and "Special Six" five passenger touring cars. The impressive appearance of these efficient models came in for general admiration. The splendid equipment of both cars attracted much attention, and the powerful six cyclinder motors reflected the speedy efficiency which the Studebaker has won for itself.

"How did you come down?" was asked of a visitor.

"I came down behind a Studebaker Big-Six", was the answer, adding, "We covered the sixteen miles from Peterborough to Keene in thirty minutes The Big Six eats up the hills and spins over the road like a flying machine."

Mr. Eastwood reports satisfactory sales, which have been improving since the production of cars has improved and his firm have been able to promise guaranteed deliveries.

THE OVERLAND— THE THRIFT CAR

The Overland car got a good look in at this Fair This is a car that is well spoken of everywhere. No Overland buyer in this neighborhood has ever been disappointed in the way our car has lived up to its high character. He usually finds his car a better performer, more economical, more of a glutton for hard service. The Overland has been a wonderful seller among all classes and conditions of people. The local dealer Mr. Charles Banks of Charlotte street, has a large clientele, which grows steadily He cordially invites a visit to his extensive show rooms and garage, where Overland models are always on display.

THE GRAY DORT

Mr. Freeman, the newly appointed dealer for Peterborough for the Gray-Dort, made an exhibit in the automobile row on the fair ground. The smooth lines of the Gray-Dort are restful after so much of the extreme in present-day cars. The Gray-Dort finish, will win your instant, and lasting approval. The motor is big enough for its job, and is the car for the man who does not wish to pile up a tremendous operating cost. The price brings you a car comparable with those costing several hundred dollars more.

DUFFUS MOTOR SALES LARGE DISPLAY

The Duffus Motor Sales of Peterboro. had a very forceful exhibit of Ford machines, including Ford Sedan, Coupe Touring, Roadster one ton truck also a Fordson Tractor and Oliver Plow together with a "Beaver" 2 1-2 ton truck.

There seemed to be more enthusiasm than ever about the Ford. Money men were heard to say that when they bought it would be a Ford. More were heard to say that if they were rid of their big car they would buy a Ford Sedan or Touring.

The closed models came in for a favourable comment, while scores of men signified their approval of the wonderful, powerful tractor and admitted its many advantages for farm work.

Altogether it looks as though the Ford line were becoming more and more popular every day.

CONVENTION HELD IN IMPERIAL THEATRE

SESSIONS OF WORLD'S SUNDAY SCHOOL DELEGATES RESUMED AFTER FIRE.

(Canadian Press.)

TOKIO, Oct. 7.—The sessions of the World's Sunday School Convention, which were interrupted on Tuesday afternoon by the fire which destroyed the building in which the first meeting was held, were resumed today in the beautiful Imperial Theatre.

The plays were suspended, and the stage was enlarged especially for the convention.

Premier Hara offered the committee the halls of the Japanese Diet, if it was necessary to use them.

Justice MacLaren, of Ontario, the Vice-President of the Association, after reading greetings last night from the Canadian Premier, added: "Perhaps this terrible acident is a blessing in disguise, for now the whole world will be made to notice what this Convention proposes to accomplish in Tokio."

Following the Convention here, meetings will be held in Manila, Hong Kong, and Canton.

A Two-Day Sale of Millinery Accompanies the Sale of Suits

Some of Our Millinery That Is Worth As High As $18 Will Be Placed on Sale at $11.95

There are Shapes in a medley of sizes—large, small, and medium. There are Rolling Brims, flat, graceful Styles, and many pretty ones are those that roll sharply off the face. In the smaller models, nearly all the brims are on the turned-up order.

They are made of such lovely materials as Velvet, Hatter's Plush, Panne Velvet, and Duvetyn. For Trimmings, you will find Ostrich, Hackle Feathers, Coque, Drenched Ostrich, Embroideries in Silk and Wool and Metallic Trimming.

A noticeable feature of the smaller Hats is that the trimming is often a continuation of the material that covers the brim or crown, and lies in soft folds and drapings.

LOT 1

All Our $89 Ones for $74.95

This lot contains a fine assortment of Poiret twilled models, cut on straight lines. They are corded, back and front, to the waist line in a group of eight. The pockets are small and jet out quite modishly. The collars button up close and high and they have string belts. You can have either navy or brown.

LOT 2

These Are Regular $69 Values for $52

Silvertone, Goldtone, Velour, Gabardine, and Tricotine are the materials in this group. There are many Styles, and all are this season's; so you can rest assured that there is nothing unfashionable in the group. Shoemaker stitching, buttons, cordings, and braids are the principal trimmings. You'll like them, and you'll like the price reduction, too. To fully appreciate them, you will have to see them. Obtainable in Navy, Black, and a series of Browns.

LOT 3

Some Regular $79 Values for $65

You can have such lovely material as Cheviot and Silvertone, and there is an assortment of shades in Navy Blue and Brown, also Black. Braids and Buttons are ingeniously used as trimming, and smartly tailored belts and close-up collars are in evidence. They are semi-tailored on the straight line order, and portray the new silhouette.

A $125 Tricotine Suit in Navy Blue at $99.75

(ONE ONLY)

It is prettily trimmed with Braid, and has pockets that poke out modishly. The three-way collar of Hudson Seal will button up closely around the neck. The Coat is lined throughout with a good quality Floral Lining.

Another of Tricotine—This Is In Navy Blue—Regular $142 Value for $120

There is only one. It is the best quality of Tricotine to be had. It has a panelled back, and the collar and pockets are formed of Dyed Opossum. The collar is fastened with Novelty Tie Strings. The pockets are Saddle patterns, and Shoemaker Stitching plays a prominent part in the trimming.

$139 Navy Tricotine Model for $119

This one exemplifies the shorter Coat model. It is neatly adorned with Shoemaker Stitching, and shows a slight fulness at the waistline. The Saddle pockets, string belt, smartly cut sleeve, and collar of Hudson Seal all contribute to its charm. It is worthy of mention that it is lined throughout with Pussy Willow Silk in Floral design.

Four of Our $52 Botany Serge Suits for $44.95 Each

They are presented in Two Shades for your approval—Navy Blue and a lovely shade of Mid-Brown. The semi-tailored, straight line effects of the Coats are very pleasing. Their smartness is accentuated by Braid and Buttons. The Skirts follow the Coat lines.

Two Only, Regular $125 Ones for $99 Each

They are of Duvet de Laine. One is Brown and the other is Blue. They are on the straight line order, and have close-up and cross-over collars of Hudson Seal. They are certainly handsome, to say the least. The Skirts follow the lines of the Coats.

Lovely Are These $12 Models at $7.95

They are smart shapes—everyone, and are made of velvets, plush and embroidery cloths. The trimmings are of ostrich, glycerine ostrich, wings and ornaments of jet. The colours are navy, black, brown, taupe and combinations of lighter shades as sapphire, jade, henna and carrot.

TRADES COUNCIL CENSURED CANAL DEPARTMENT FOR POWER SHORTAGE

ALD. CROWE'S OBJECTIONS TO NEW STATUTE GIVING FIREMEN ONE DAY OFF IN SEVEN EVOKED CRITICISM — PRESIDENT LANE DISAGREED WITH ALDERMAN.

DISPARITY IN COAL PRICES

At a meeting of the Trades and Labour Council last evening, it was decided to send a protest to the Minister of Railways and Canals regarding the bringing about of a power shortage by holding back water in Buckhorn and Stoney Lakes. The Trent Canal was strongly censured and criticised.

The discussion was opened by James Dodds, who was followed by Ald. Joseph Crowe.

Ald. Crowe told of the conversation which he had had with members of the Utilities Commission who yesterday waited upon Sir Adam Beck in Toronto. They were given figures as to the water flow and lake levels in this district for the past five years, and were allowed to hear an order to Chief Hydro Engineer Gaby to rush the work on the Ranney Falls power development scheme to completion by next August.

President Thomas Lane remarked that there were two courses open to the Council—they could send a protest to Ottawa, or at the next election send a representative to Ottawa to right matters.

One member jocularly asked whether the Council could not ask for the resignation of the Minister of Railways and Canals, and received the answer that there was little likelihood of the Minister giving up his salary of $18,000 per annum.

Coal Prices.

Vice-President Currie asked why the public were forced to pay $16.00 a ton for coal at one coal yard and $20.50 at another. The matter was discussed, and on the suggestion of the President it was decided to request Ald. Crowe to introduce the matter of appointing a Fuel Commission in the City Council.

Resolution of Thanks.

A resolution thanking W. L. Phillips, manages of the Grand Opera House, the Exhibition Board, the City Council, High County Constable A. Moore, P. C. Arthur Thomas, and all those who assisted in any way in making the sports on Labour Day a success, was passed.

The partially prepared report of the treasurer was received on the Field Day, and gave every evidence of the affair having been a remarkable success.

Fire Hall Again Discussed.

Ald. Crowe explained the stand which he had taken in regard to the recent legislation, giving firemen one day out of seven as a holiday. He criticised the act., and stated that especially in the local Fire Department was it true that the work was light, and that the men were not exhausted by their duties as in the case of most other occupations. He was of the opinion that the firemen did not require a holiday, as under the prevailing two-platoon system during each alternate week they slept at the Fire Hall and had the days free. He considered that the cost of hiring and equipping extra men would be great, and that the act was not in the best interests of the citizens.

This evoked considerable criticism, and the majority of the members present spoke in favour of the new legislation.

President Lane gave the chair to the vice-president while he replied to Ald. Crowe.

It was maintained that the firemen's work made the one day in seven necessary. Any fireman, it was believed, would respond to an alarm while he was off duty. It was considered a mistake for labour to protest against such legislation. That the men should have some time to spend with their families was emphasised.

Communications.

A number of communications were received, asking for assistance of some sort, with the exception of two invitations to the banquet in honour of Venerable Archdeacon J. C. Davidson, which were accepted, and the president and secretary appointed to attend the banquet as representatives of the Trades Council.

A communication was received from Baltimore, Maryland, asking the assistance of the local organisation in combating the Crown Seal Company. An open fight has existed for some time between the company and its employees, it is alleged, the employees have received bad treatment, and the company is running an "open shop," despite its pretences of an agreement with the American Federation of Labour. It was asked that whenever possible, use of the company's products, among which as the "Crown" bottle and gem seal, be refrained from. It was decided to comply with the request.

A number of circular letters were received from United States labour organisations asking for financial assistance. The purpose of some was the caring for dependents of strikers and of others for the establishment of labour papers and other enterprises. All were shelved.

PLAN IN HAND TO BEAUTIFY CITY

At the meeting of the Horticultural Society in the Board of Trade rooms last evening, it was decided to take over two lots in Victoria Park for cultivation and that the captains of the various districts choose their own plots for beautification in their respective districts.

At the meeting on Wednesday next, at which Thomas McVitty will be present, it is expected that all details in connection with the matter will be reported complete.

WINDSOR, Oct. 7.—W. H. Kilmen, owner of Exterminator, challenges the winner of the Man O'War and Sir Barton meet.

LESS MEAT IF BACK AND KIDNEYS HURT

Take a Glass of Salts to Flu.h Kidneys if Bladder Bothers you.

Eating meat regularly eventually produces kidney trouble in some form or other, says a well known authority, because the uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get slugish, clog up and cause all sorts of distress, particularly backache and misery in the kidney region; rheumatic twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation.

The moment your back hurts or the kidneys are not acting right, or if bladder bothers you, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity; also to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder troubles.

Jad Salts cannot injure anyone; makes a delightful effervescent lithia water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to keep the kidneys and the urinary organs clean, thus avoiding serious kidney disease.

LINDSAY BAKERS USE SAME FLOUR

RESENT STATEMENT THAT THEY USE LOW GRADE FLOUR.

Yesterday a Lindsay baker informed the Examiner that the flour used by Lindsay bakers was by no means low grade as it was exactly the same flour as used by at least three of the largest bakers in Peterboro. Another Lindsay baker called up the Examiner last evening and requested insertion of a denial of the allegation that the reason Lindsay bakers reduced the price of bread was because they used a low grade flour. "You can tell the people down there that the flour used in Lindsay is mostly manufactured by Peterboro mills and is sold as high grade flour", he said. "You can also tell them it is used by most of the bakers in Peterboro", he added. The Lindsay Post makes the following observation.

The Lindsay Post.

The following from the Peterboro Examiner is a direct libel on Lindsay people, as well as on local bakers. Peterboro may be all right pounding dough, but are woefully ignorant when it comes to expressing an opinion on local conditions:—

"From the present unsettled condition of the wheat and flour markets there is nothing to warrant a drop in the price of bread at this time," stated several local bakers to The Examiner this morning, but there seems to be a feeling amongst the bread manufactures that in a few months, probably about the first of the year, when the Western wheat floods the market, the price will drop.

"In Lindsay the price of bread has dropped a cent, and is now 23 cents wholesale and 26 cents retail.

"In Montreal a similar drop has been registered.

"Mr. J. H. Gilgour, of the bakery company of Thos Gilgour & Son, when asked to-day how it was possible to drop the price in Lindsay, stated that the price there had been forced down because of some trouble between a co-operative store that bought a bakery in Toronto and went into the bread business for itself, and the Lindsay bakers. The bread, he declared, was of a lower grade than that sold by Peterboro bakers, and for this reason they could sell it for 26 cents. Nevertheless, Lindsay bakers dropped their prices to correspond.

"We could make a 20 cent loaf of bread but the people wouldn't buy it" Canadians and Americans, he stated, used the highest grades of bread of any nations, and the people of Peterboro demanded a high-grade bread."

"I thought you owned an automobile."

"I do, but I taught the wife to drive it, and now I'm back to the street cars."

NO ACTIVITY YET ON NEW THEATRE BUILDING

Heralded as the day on which construction of the new Paramount-Artcraft Theatre would be begun, to-day failed to see any activity on the lot adjoining the Barrie Building, which is to be the site of the new motion picture theatre. Inquiry at the railway freight offices failed to elicit any further information regarding the project. No material has yet arrived and no word of the shipment of such has been received.

GROWING DEAF WITH HEAD NOISES? TRY THIS

If you are growing hard of hearing and fear Catarrhal Deafness or if you have roaring, rumbling, hissing noises in your ears go to your druggist and get 1 ounce of Parmint (double strength), and add to it ½ pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar. Take 1 tablespoonful four times a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils shoul open, breathing become easy and the mucus stop dropping into the throat. It is easy to prepare, costs little and is pleasant to take. Anyone who is threatened with Catarrhal Deafness or who has head noises should give this prescription a trial.

Hundreds of girl babies born in France have been christened Joan since the recent canonization of Joan of Arc.

NATIVES FELT THE COLD HERE

HAWAIIANS COMPLETE THREE DAY ENGAGEMENT AT OPERA HOUSE.

At the Grand Opera House last evening, Mildred Leo Clemens' troupe of Hawaiians completed a most successful three days' engagement, each performance of which was greeted by an almost capacity house. The singing, dancing, and music, each typical of the "Paradise of the Pacific," provided for Peterborough a glimpse of Hawaii such as could not have been conveyed through any other medium, while the illustrated lecture featuring the great volcano in eruption alone provided an unusually interesting evening.

Ana Hila, the famous Hawaiian dancer, who recently enjoyed the distinction of dancing before the Prince of Wales during his visit to her native shores, brought down the house in the "hula hula" dance, which she presented in native costume identically as monarchs of Hawaii had witnessed the dance since the days of cannibalism. The native musical instruments were handled by the six members of the troupe as only true Hawaiians possess the ability to play them.

In an interview last evening, Mildred Leo Clemens (Mrs. Shelk) stated that she is undecided as to whether or not her tour will be continued during the winter, as her Hawaiians are feeling the cold very keenly.

"They keep adding and adding to their clothing as the days grow more chilly, and it seems almost cruel to ask them to stay. They are," she said, "off stage, just as they are in Hawaii — happy children, without a thought for to-morrow, but with an almost overpowering longing for home and relatives. They keep up most faithfully a correspondence with friends and relatives at home, enumerating minutely the most paltry happening of the day for the benefit of their loved ones in Hawaii. Between appearances on the stage, the men group together and compose or recall native airs, while the women's hands are never idle, being at all times engaged in the most exquisite fancy and crochet work."

Ana Hila, the dancer, very shyly confessed to The Examiner that the Prince of Wales made a big hit with her, and invited her to look him up in London.

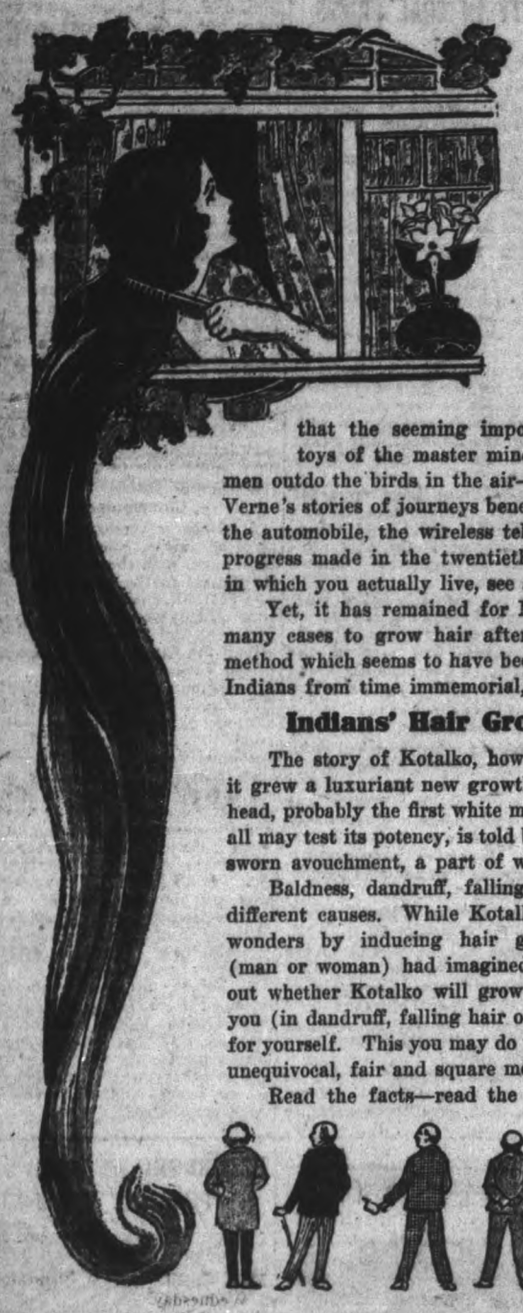
HAS SECRET OF AGES BEEN UNEARTHED AT LAST?

Unquestionable Affidavits show New Hair Growth after Baldness!

Remarkable Preparation was Known to Indians—How Long?—No white Man seems to Know! Contains genuine Bear Oil and other Potent Ingredients from Three Kingdoms of Nature



FOR ages man has sought the secret of growing hair on human heads after it had fallen out from one cause or another. Many theories have been advanced as to the best means for preserving the hair, for increasing its growth, and for the prevention of dandruff, falling hair and baldness. Yet scientists have come and gone, leaving behind them the task of solving one of Nature's greatest problems.

Has it at last been solved?

Has Nature herself opened her portals to the wonderful secret? Your own observation in recent years proves that the seeming impossibilities of yesterday are but mere toys of the master minds of today. The aeroplane, in which men outdo the birds in the air—the submarine, which has made Jules Verne's stories of journeys beneath the sea come true. The telephone, the automobile, the wireless telegraph, all go to show the marvelous progress made in the twentieth century—that history-making period in which you actually live, see and understand.

Yet, it has remained for Nature herself to show us the way in many cases to grow hair after baldness. And this simple, natural method which seems to have been known to certain tribes of American Indians from time immemorial, can now be yours.

Indians' Hair Growing Secret Revealed

The story of Kotalko, how the Indians' secret was obtained, how it grew a luxuriant new growth of hair on John Hart Brittain's bald head, probably the first white man to try it, how it is now obtainable so all may test its poteney, is told by Mr. Brittain in his own words, under sworn avouchment, a part of which is printed in the next column.

Baldness, dandruff, falling hair and grayness, each have several different causes. While Kotalko cannot create papillae, it has done wonders by inducing hair growth when the baldheaded person (man or woman) had imagined there was no hope. The way to find out whether Kotalko will grow hair in your case or otherwise benefit you (in dandruff, falling hair or grayness) is to make a test of Kotalko for yourself. This you may do under the $300 guarantee—an absolutely unequivocal, fair and square money-refunding offer.

Read the facts—read the additional overwhelmingly convincing evidence of the success of Kotalko submitted by men, women and children who have tried this hair elixir. Decide to have new hair, make the test for yourself. Don't stand and doubt. Use Kotalko now.

A Fortunate Discovery

The Cherokee promised that Mr. Brittain's hair might be grown again if he used a certain exilir.

"WHILE traveling on business (in the old Indian territory, near Tahlequah) I came in contact with an Indian 'medicine man' of the Cherokee tribe, who told me that my hair could be grown again if I used a certain peculiar salve.

"If you have had any experience with American Indians you know that every tribe has one or more men who understand healing, surgery, etc., in a primitive way, yet they often achieve astonishing cures. The scope of these 'wizards' also includes the ability to improve the appearance and welfare of their tribesmen.

"Although I had foresworn any more speculation in hair-growing lotions or the like, as probably you, the reader of this narrative, have done several times, already, the picturesqueness of this old Indian sage and the rather peculiar odor of his ointment fascinated me. I agreed to use it."

Applied it to His Scalp

"Faithfully I applied the pomade to my bare, shiny pate. It became even more shiny. That was easy enough to understand. Nevertheless, I persisted.

"Quiet perseverance is a very valuable factor in life sometimes. So it proved in this test, for after a little while a light fuzz, or down, became visible upon my scalp.

"This pleased me. It gave me encouragement.

"Thereafter I watched the top of my head in the mirror as persistently as a scientist observes the development of anything under his microscope.

"Slowly the fuzz changed into real hairs and they actually grew. Yet, they grew and grew.

"It seems almost ridiculous to tell it, but I felt unusually good—I was mighty happy.

"Finally there was enough hair for me to apply my brush upon!

"What joy!

"I could actually part my hair! Think of it! This was after complete baldness and after being told that the hair roots were dead."

No Trace of Baldness

"My hair today is as luxuriant as anyone could ever wish.

"Explain, if you can, why a certain mixture of animal, mineral and vegetable components, compounded in a special manner, can induce hair growth when all else fails.

"Even the old Cherokee could only say that the recipe came to him through his predecessors. He was wont to remark that among the real—the full-blooded—Indians of most of the big tribes there was never any baldness."

Traded Rifle For Secret

"I must now tell a most important fact of my experience—one which will interest you.

"I came into possession of the Cherokee wizard's secret. That of Ko-tal-ko—which I now call Kotalko.

"It contains three potential classes of components—animal, vegetable and mineral. These are combined in certain proportions and compounded in a certain manner. I am neither a chemist, doctor of medicine nor scientific theorist. I don't pretend to give any reason for the peculiar action of this pomade.

"The primitive men of our country did not have the advantage of our modern scientific chemistry. They operated upon elementary principles. For example, if an Indian was given to attacks of biliousness, the 'medicine man' made a decoction of selected herbs and surrounded the delivery of it with mysterious incantations. The patient was soon well.

"And so with this hair ointment. It was easy for me to prove to the wizard of the forest that I had no thought of entering into competition with him. Consequently, by the giving of a valuable rifle, I obtained the principle of the compound and was taught just how to prepare it, and since then it has been improved by the processes of practical chemistry."

Victory Over Baldness

"When the old Indian gave me this recipe—with considerable ceremony—he asseverated to me that the most important feature was the combination of the animal, vegetable and mineral elements. He allowed that even his formula could be modified and improved (which has been done), so long as these kingdoms were represented. He gave me specimens of the ingredients that he employed.

"I had given most of the contents of my jars to men who were bald and to ladies who were distressed because of the thinness of their hair. The reports which I received were so convincing that I was positive of having found at last just what the world needed."

NOTE: Although Mr. Brittain for many years kept the secret of his victory over baldness to himself, Kotalko is now obtainable at druggists' everywhere. Reports in Legions of Cases Now Prove Astonishing Results in Hair Growth Almost Beyond Belief. Voluntary Statements from Men and Women of All Ages Causing Wide-Spread Demand for Kotalko

Above are from Photographs of John Hart Brittain Before using Kotalko, and After

REPORTS: An endless quantity of reports on Kotalko, because they are constantly coming in. Full addresses and sworn avouchments on file at our offices. Here are excerpts:

WILLIAM SHAW: "My looking glass is ample proof that Kotalko will grow hair. I had a bald spot over 12 years that has become covered. I am sure that Kotalko will become the most famous hair preparation in the world."

MISS MARY FERREIRA: "When I began to use Kotalko my hair had nearly all fallen out. Then the hair grew again."

GEO. M. SCHWANK: "Even after the second application of Kotalko I could see a difference, for the hair stopped falling out. When I had used two full boxes my hair growth was as good as ever."

LOUISE A. GRAY: "My head is the surest proof that Kotalko is all that it is claimed to be. After a few months of Kotalko my hair is twice as thick and long as it was."

C. K. SKINNER: "I had bald spots on my head for a number of years, and they are now entirely covered with a new growth of hair. Kotalko is what did it."

C. F. HEISER: "I had a large bald spot. Kotalko has developed real, healthy hair all over my head."

AFFIDAVIT re HAIR GROWTH

While completely bald on the top of my head as shown in my photograph which accompanying this affidavit, I adopted a hair cosmetic and formula given me by an old Cherokee Indian. Within six months my head was covered with a new and luxuriant growth of hair. I now supply Ko-tal-ko, a pomade prepared according to the original formula which resulted in my own hair growth. The statements in my advertisement are true and my photographs are correct.

Personally appeared before me, John Hart Brittain, this fifth day of June, 1917, who signed the foregoing in my presence and who being duly sworn, attested that same is true.

HOW YOU MAY GROW YOUR HAIR

Genuine bear oil and other potent ingredients from the Three Kingdoms of Nature are in Kotalko. No alcohol, no shampoo! The combination of ingredients is safe and harmless, it is excellent, even for a child's scalp and hair. Kotalko is a delightful emollient to apply. It succeeds because it aids Nature's own way of growing hair. Don't stand in the light of your own intelligence by doubting the truthfulness of the above statements. Regardless of your age or experience, give Kotalko a trial. Prove its wonderful efficacy to your own satisfaction.

Get a box of Kotalko at any busy drug store, or ask for it at the toilet goods or drug counters of large department stores. Full directions accompany it. Remember the name, Kotalko. Accept nothing else as "just as good." You may send ten cents (silver or stamps) for a PROOF BOX of Kotalko, with $300 guarantee, testimonials and book on baldness and dandruff.

Simply apply Kotalko once or twice daily. Watch in your mirror. Determine NOW to eliminate dandruff. Conquer baldness. Stop falling hair. Encourage the growth of your children's hair until it is abundant. If you have hair now, determine to forestall baldness when older. No proof box sent unless ten cents accompanies request. Send NOW. Don't neglect your scalp and hair another day. Write to KOTAL COMPANY, Limited, 566-H Adelaide Street West, Toronto, Ont.

GATE AND GRANDSTAND RECEIPTS AT THE EXHIBITION WERE $8,389.30

COMPLETE FINANCIAL STATEMENT NOT AVAILABLE UNTIL ALL THE ACCOUNTS HAVE BEEN RECEIVED BY MR. V. EASTWOOD—SUGGESTION THAT PETERBORO ABSORB KEENE AND LAKEFIELD FAIRS.

NEW IDEAS WANTED

The total number of paid admissions to the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition this year was 23,529, according to Mr. Felix Brownscombe's report at the directors' meeting held last night in the Board of Trade Rooms. Of that number, 19,661 were adults and 3,868 children. There were also 3,711 grand stand tickets sold. The receipts from these sources amounted to $8,389.30.

Last night's meeting was called for the purpose of checking over the accounts. Some of them have not yet been received by the secretary, and a complete statement of this year's Fair cannot be prepared by the treasurer, Mr. Vincent Eastwood, until all the accounts are sent in.

Mr. R. Denne presided, with the following members present: Messrs. J. W. Fraser, Jos. Kelly, C. F. Kitney, Tom Brown, R. B. Rogers, Sam Oke, C. E. Moore, W. H. Merrill, John Gillespie, Dave Jordan, George H. Duncan, R. M. Glover, Harry Webber, Bruce Johnston, Harold Sanderson, C. S. Cummer, and Wilbert Roseborough.

Suggestions Welcome.

Mr. Denne said that any suggestions for the improvement of the Exhibition arising out of the experience this year should be forwarded by letter to the secretary, Mr. F. J. A. Hall, while the ideas are still fresh. This request applies not only to the directors, but to the citizens of Peterborough and the farmers of this district. By this means it is hoped that mistakes may be avoided next year and improvements proposed that might be otherwise overlooked.

Revision of Prize-list.

Mr. Denne announced that the prize-list for women's work will be revised at once. Miss Mary Elliott, superintendent of this department, is collecting the prize-lists of other exhibitions, and will endeavour to make this class more attractive next year than ever.

The Police Account.

The bill rendered by the City Police who were on duty at the Exhibition totalled $58.00. Their charge was $2.50 each for afternoon work and the same in the evening. It was decided to refer this account to Judge Huycke, requesting that the Police Commission use their influence to secure a reduction of the bill.

The Lighting Bill.

The Utilities Commission account was $709.84, as compared with $700.00 last year. It was said that the electric lamps stolen were worth $12.60. These were missing mainly along the stable row, and represents a small annual loss that seems unavoidable. It was believed that some of the mounted carnival show men were responsible for this year's list of missing light globes.

Incidentally it was brought out that Mr. Harry Beatty, of the Utilities Commission staff, who went to Toronto to secure special electrical equipment, declined to send in a bill of expenses. The directors, however, voted him $15.00 for his services, which the Board highly appreciated.

Another little incident of the meeting was President Denne's refusal to submit his long distance telephone account. He simply remarked that he had paid it himself. This didn't surprise the directors, and it is reported simply as a bit of evidence refuting the rumours that are occasionalyl heard to the effect that the directors personally profit from the proceeds of the Exhibition. As a matter of fact, they devote a great deal of time to the work, and no infrequently spend their own money in the interests of the Fair.

New Proposals.

Frank Kitney threw out the idea that the budget system might be adopted for next year's show. Following that plan, each department would have to prepare estimates of their expenditures, and should endeavour to keep within their appropriations.

John Gillespie reported that at the Keene Fair yesterday it was suggested to him that the Peterborough Exhibition should have separate days for the Keene and Lakefield Fairs, which would be thereby absorbed, and West Peterborough's Industrial and Agricultural Exhibition confined to this city.

The idea emanates tentatively from Keene, but was not discussed last night. It is not known whether the directors of the two smaller Fairs would consent to this amalgamation, which would naturally be of immense assistance in the development of the Peterborough Exhibition.

How The Browns Stopped Drifting Drearily Along

FOR several years the Browns had been promising themselves to refurnish their home.

But one year followed another, and they continued to drift along with the same old-fashioned, dull, drab furniture, which grew less inviting with the passing years.

Mrs. Brown became more and more sensitive about her uninviting home. She became backward about having visitors. She issued fewer and fewer invitations. Not inviting others, she received few invitations. Her social life, which means so much to a woman, became confined to a trip now and then to the movies or the theatre. Mrs. Brown was not as happy as in years gone by.

Happy Dinners Years Ago

Several years ago, Mr. Brown used to bring home business friends for dinner. Often their wives were invited. Those were merry, happy occasions for Brown and his wife.

But gradually Brown stopped bringing home business friends. He knew his dining-room was not furnished in the dignified, hospitable way his friends had furnished theirs. His living-room was not furnished in the restful, comfortable modern way.

As for inviting guests for a week-end—well, the extra bed-room was just a little bit too shabby!

Brown and his wife might have continued to drift along in the same old way, if Mrs. Brown had not happened to overhear a neighbor say to another: "Mrs. Brown is a nice woman, but she lives in such a dreadfully old-fashioned home! But, poor dear, I guess they cannot afford anything better, although my husband says Brown is doing well, but I hardly believe it."

Mrs. Brown Got Angry

Seeing ourselves as others see us is often the best thing that can happen. It made Mrs. Brown angry at first. Then as she cooled down she saw clearly just how unattractive her furnishings were. Before the day was out she wondered how she ever had lived so long amidst such dreary surroundings.

That night she had a heart-to-heart talk with her husband. It hurt his pride to know what people thought about his house. He said that he was as "well fixed" as anybody else on the street.

He guessed they'd better spend some money and bring the home up-to-date.

Some of the best of their furniture they are keeping. The rest they are disposing of and replacing with beautiful modern furniture, which, strange to say, is not costing them as much as they imagined. And they are enjoying the time of their lives in selecting it and watching the transformation of their house into a beautiful, restful, comfortable home—a joy to live in and one of which they can be justly proud.

Receiving Callers Again

The Browns will soon be receiving callers, giving merry dinners and enjoying true social happiness again.

They are going to take their right place in the activities of their community, instead of merely drifting along.

INVESTIGATE BURNING OF STEAMER BISMARCK.

World's Largest Vessel Destroyed By Fire.

LONDON, Oct. 6.—The Allies have ordered an investigation into the burning of the "Bismarck," which would have been the largest vessel afloat when completed.

For the Allies.

BERLIN, Oct. 5.—The steamship "Bismarck" has been burned at Hamburg, says a despatch to the Zwelfuhrblatt. The gross tonnage of the "Bismarck" was said to have been 56,000, as again 54,282 of the Vaterland, now the Leviathian, the next largest steamer. No explanation is given in the despatch as to the cause of the fire. The "Bismarck" was building at the yards of Blohm and Voss at Hamburg, and would have been delivered to the Allies under the terms of the peace treaty.

EFFICIENCY IMPROVEMENT

Marshall Field & Company, announcing a cut in cotton goods say: "We have entered a period of deflation in prices, and we may expect it to reach every line of trade and continue until a more normal basis has been reached. There have been sharp recessions already in some of the important raw materials and there will be cuts in practically all of them, which will make for easier prices in manufactured goods. Either wages must decrease or labor efficiency must increase. Already a big improvement in efficiency is being recorded according to repors from many industries.

TENDER GUMS — A WARNING

Beware of gum tenderness that warns of Pyorrhea. Four out of five people over forty have Pyorrhea—many under forty also. Loosening teeth indicate Pyorrhea. Bleeding gums, too. Remember—these inflamed, bleeding gums act as so many doorways for disease germs to enter the system—infecting the joints or tonsils—or causing other ailments.

Forhan's positively prevents Pyorrhea, if used in time and used consistently. As it hardens the gums the teeth become firmer.

Brush your teeth with Forhan's. It cleans the teeth scientifically—keeps them white and clean.

SPORTING NEWS, VIEWS AND GOSSIP

BOTH TEAMS CONFIDENT OF WINNING SATURDAY'S BIG CHAMPIONSHIP GO

Everything is set for Saturday's big ball game, which brings together the Hamilton Plowites, champions of all Western Ontario, and the Petes, Central League winners, in the second game of the final series for the amateur championship of Ontario. No sporting event in years has aroused the interest of the public to such a pitch as this battle and Peterborough's little world's series promises to attract the biggest crowd that Riverside Park has ever held. The excitement is not confined to Peterborough, for every town in Eastern Ontario will have a quota of fans here if the weather conditions are favourable.

Riverside Park is being manicured for the occasion and will be in fine shape for the big game.

From Hamilton comes the report that the Plowites are supremerly confident and are claiming that no third game will be necessary for they intend to take the Solomon crew into camp here on Saturday and annex the title. The westerners may lose a lot of their confidence before the ninth innings is completed, for the Petes are full of pep and resolved to even up the series by beating Ivan Miller and company.

The game will start sharp at 3 o'clock with Larry Burke of Hamilton, and Alex. Kay, of Peterborough, in charge, the former working behind the bat.

Mr. George Sydenham as "Yen How, The Mandarin," with F. Stuart-Whyte's "SAN TOY," Grand Opera House, Matinee and Night, Saturday, 9th October.

FAILED TO LOCATE BALL GAMBLERS

INQUIRY INTO WORLD'S SERIES SCANDAL OF LAST YEAR COMES TO STANDSTILL.

(Canadian Press.)

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—The inquiry being conducted here into local phases of world's series gambling scandal of last year has come to a standstill, Assistant District Attorney James E. Smith admitted to-day. He said his deputy had failed to locate three alleged gamblers, one of them Abe Attell, in a three day hunt through the city.

"There is no hurry as the crime was committed a year ago," declared Mr. Smith, adding that he was going to "sit tight" and wait, confident that at some time the trio would show up at their customary haunts.

TEN-MILE ROAD RACE.

The ten-mile road race, which will be held on Thanksgiving Day, will end at Riverside Park, instead of the Exhibition Grounds as stated yesterday.

Fright and the Hair.

The hair does stand on end under certain conditions, because there is a little muscle down at the root of each hair that will make each hair stand up straight when this muscle pulls a certain way. It is difficult to say just how these muscles are caused to act in this way when we are frightened. We know that when thoroughly frightened our hair will sometimes stand straight up, and we know that it is this muscle at the root of each hair that makes it possible, says the Book of Wonders, but why it is that a big scare will make this muscle act this way we do not as yet know.

Platinum Retorts.

Platinum is used directly in the making of munitions of war and indirectly in all sorts of operations that are incidental to warlike operations.

To cite but one example, in the manufacture of cordite perfectly pure sulphuric acid has to be used, and sulphuric acid can only be perfectly purified in platinum retorts, each of which, by the way, represents a value of $50,000 to $75,000.

A Lot to Know.

When Disraeli was prime minister of England a good looking young man applied to him for a government position. "I know, sir," said the applicant wistfully, "how little I know."

"Dear me," said Disraeli, "as much as that? I haven't got half that distance yet."

Biting.

Spinks—What made him so annoyed? Winks—He told his wife she had no judgment, and she just looked over him critically from head to foot and said she was beginning to realize it.

SALUTING MOUNT VERNON.

A Tribute of Respect to the Memory of Washington.

When the Mayflower, bearing the French commissioners to the United States up the Potomac to Washington, passed Mount Vernon we were told by the newspapers that the crew of the vessel were drawn up at salute and the ship's bell was tolled. Marshal Joffre was particularly touched by this ceremonial, and as the yacht passed on up the river he walked to the stern and stood silently watching the old mansion until it was hidden from view.

What the newspapers did not tell us and what many Americans do not know is that the ceremony that so impressed our distinguished visitors has been for a great many years prescribed by the naval regulations. No United States ship of war may pass Mount Vernon without paying that tribute of respect to the memory of Washington.

As the vessel approaches the beautiful old place the commander orders the bugler to "Sound to quarters." The crew, officers and men hurry to their places, the word passes to form along the side of the ship that faces Mount Vernon and to stand at attention. As the ship comes abreast of the mansion the command "Salute!" rings out. Every man raises his right hand to his cap and holds it there while the ship's bell tolls twenty-one times, once for each gun of the national salute.

"Sound the retreat!" comes the order as the last stroke of the bell trembles into silence, and the bugle sends its plaintive notes across the water to the tree clad slopes of Mount Vernon, from which the echo faithfully repeats them to the ship.

It is a charming ceremony, simple, yet indescribably moving, no matter how often one sees it.

PERIL OF LIGHTNING.

Rules That Will Help You Avoid It During a Thunderstorm.

If you are out of doors in a very severe electrical storm the Electrical Experimenter offers the following rules for your protection:

Keep away from wire fences. They may carry a dangerous electrical charge long distances. Cattle in pastures are frequently killed from the neglect of farmers to ground the wire of the fence.

Keep away from hedges, ponds and streams.

Keep away from isolated trees. Oak trees are frequently struck; beech are seldom struck. It is safe in a dense forest.

Keep away from herds of cattle and crowds of people.

Do not hold an umbrella over you.

It is safer to sit or lie down in an open field than to stand.

Drivers should dismount and not stay close to their horses.

Do not work with any large metal tool or implement.

If you are indoors:

Keep away from the stove and chimney. The hot gases from the chimney may conduct the lightning to and down the chimney.

Do not take a position between two bodies of metal, as the stove and water pipe, for example. An exception to being near metals is the case of an iron bed. One of the safest places is on a mattress in an iron bed, provided you do not touch the metal. The metal surrounding you makes a safe cage which will prevent the lightning from reaching a person inside.

Do not use the telephone.

"Blind Alley Jobs."

Vocations that lead boys nowhere in particular are in Canada called "blind alley jobs," and the name is a fitting one. The inspector of the Ottawa public schools points out in a recent report that 86 per cent of boys leaving those institutions gravitate toward positions that require little skill and offer little hope of advancement. A similar discovery might be made in any large city of the Dominion or in any considerable community of the United States, where vocational training is not receiving serious attention.—Christian Science Monitor.

Igorrote Dog Eaters.

During our trip through the Philippines we visited the dog market, where the Igorrotes bought and sold half starved canines with visions of a great feast off the protruding ribs. The Igorrotes are about as much like the cultured Filipinos as they are like cultured Americans or cultured Japanese. But the fact that the Igorrotes eat dogs has done as much to prejudice us against the Filipinos as has the story that the Chinese eat rats to turn us against the well bred Chinese, who not only do not eat rats, but even have a distaste for caviar and limburger. — Maynard Owen Williams in Christian Herald.

TOM MIX TO GO HIS RECORD ONE BETTER

Tom Mix, "the daredevil of the screen," is coming to the Allen Theatre Friday, as usual under the direction of William Fox, in "3 Gold Coins," a stirring Western drama by H. H. Van Loan. In this picture Mix will be seen at his best, providing innumerable thrills by daring deeds of horsemanship and marksmanship.

Mix will be seen in a double role in this picture, appearing as Bob Fleming and later as "Bad Pat" Duncan, a murderer-bandit, whom he captures and receives a $10,000 reward. Among the "daredevil" stunts which Mix stages in this thriller is the sensational escape from the court room when the leaps to the balcony and then swings successively from three buildings by means of a flagpole halyard. One of the most effective scenes in said to be that showing Mix dropping from the high flagpole when the rope is pierced by a bullet from the sheriff's revolver. Mix alights on the horse of "Bad Pat" Duncan, the bandit, and Tom raps the criminal behind the ear, knocking him out.

'ERSTWHILE SUSAN," STORY OF A MODERN CINDERELLA

To-night will see the first presentation at the Empire Theatre of "Erstwhile Susan," in which Constance Binney makes her initial appearance as a Realart star. The picture is notable for dramatic suspense and strong heart interest. Interwoven through the main theme are touches of quaint comedy. The scenario combines the most striking incidents of the play which was Mrs. Fiske's starring vehicle two years ago. In the role of Barnabetta, the slavey heroine of the story, Constance Binney has created a screen characterization that insures her success.

"Erstwhile Susan" is the story of a modern Cinderella. The heroine is Barnabetta Drear, the only daughter of Barnaby, a stern, brutal farmer of the Pennsylvania-Dutch colony of Reinhartz. Left motherless at a very early age, Barnabetta has known neither love nor laughter, her time is too occupied with serving her father and her two loutish brothers. Later, however, Barnaby marries again, and it is the stepmother who helps the girl blossom into glorious, beautiful young womanhood.

"SAN TOY"

Probably the most opportune revival of musical comedy in recent years is F. Stuart-Whyte's newest English importation, "San Toy," coming, as it does, at a time when the theatre-going public is convalescing from an overdose of jazz music and acrobatic dancing, masquerading under the name of musical comedy.

"San Toy" embraces both music and comedy of the highest order, and when presented by a carefully chosen company of English artistes, such as Mr. Whyte has brought to Canada, it offers an evening's entertainment of such delightful possibilities that it should be marked as a red letter day on the theatrical calendar.

Mr. Whyte has given "San Toy" a splendid production, making the scenic part of the performance a much more important feature than is usually the case where the artistes and the music can be depended upon to make a success of the piece without the aid of any elaborate scenic investure.

"San Toy" will be the attraction at the Grand Theatre on Saturday—matinee and evening.

NO CHANGE IN IRISH MAYOR'S CONDITION

MacSwiney's Body is Shockingly Emaciated.

(Canadian Press.)

LONDON, Oct. 7.—According to a bulletin issued this morning by the Self-Determination League, Mayor MacSwiney passed a fair night and his condition was not changed, to-day. "Except that he is very tired there is no change in the Lord Mayor's condition." The doctor who visited him this morning says he finds the Mayor's body in a shocking state of emaciation, and is unable to state how long he will live.

OBITUARY

ANNIE ALLEN.

Annie Allen, the thirteen-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Allen, of Douro, died at 6.45 this morning, after only a week's illness. The little girl passed her entrance this year, and had been staying at home. At school she was a favourite amongst her schoolmates, and her death has caused deep regret in the community.

Besides her sorrowing parents, she leaves one older sister Mabel and three brothers, Norman, Hubert, and Emmet.

The funeral will be held on Saturday morning at 9 o'clock to St. Joseph's Church and Cemetery, Ennismore.

ROBERT AADM MILLAR

The death occurred this morning Robert Adam Millar at his home 35 Lafayette Avenue, aged 65 years. Deceased had only been in Canada one month. He was born in Kent, England, and leaves a wife. The funeral will take place to-morrow afternoon at 2.30 o'clock, Rev. R. B. Grobb of All Saint's Church, will conduct the service at the house.

A WORTHY OBJECT

APPEAL FROM THE NORTHWEST FOR CONTRIBUTIONS OF LAST YEAR'S CHILDREN'S TOYS.

In a leter which has just been received by Mr. Alexander Heron at 289 Rubidge street, from his son in Alberta, who is in charge of one of the poor Indian Missions in Alberta, the following appeal is worthy of consideration:—

Will you put this advertisement in the "Examiner", please, and let me know how much it costs? "Contributions of toys, books, etc. would be greatly appreciated to help make Christmas a happy time for the boys and girls at the Peigan Indian School, Brocket, Alberta. The children will thank you for your last year's books and toys. Address: John R. Heron at above School."

If you know of any people who would help us out, you might show this to them. Perhaps they would give you the things and you could pack them up and send them to me, freight forward. We haven't a single toy for the kids' tree or stockings, and the Mission is too poor to allow us anything. There are 18 boys and 9 girls here, ranging from 7 to 17 years of age.

FUNERAL OF FIRE VICTIMS TO - DAY.

Impressive Services in Ennismore Church and at Grave.

The double funeral of the two victims of the Ennismore fire—Edward Corkery, Jr., and John Brick — was held this morning from the family residences to St. Martin's Church and Cemetery, Ennismore.

The funeral was largely attended, and the church was unable to accommodate the large numbers of mourners present.

Rev. J. V. McAuley conducted the funeral mass; Bishop O'Brien, and Bishop Scollard of North Bay, conducted the funeral service; Father Peter McGuire was deacon, and Father Costello sub-deacon, with Father Meagher of Lakefield as master of ceremonies.

The service was deeply impressive. At the graveside, service was held, with Father McAuley, Father Costello, Father McGuire, and other clergy officiating.

Mr. A. L. Killaly Presents Government Side of Power Shortage Question

SPECULATIVE INDUSTRIALS ARE WEAKER

CONSIDERABLE READJUSTMENT IN THE STOCK MARKET—MONEY MARKET EASIER.

(Canadian Press).

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—Additional depreciation of quoted values in the Stock Market and further strength of high-grade bonds on very extensive turnover was a striking feature of the week in the financial market.

Further losses in stocks, especially more speculative industrials and allied specialties, were again ascribed to the process of price readjustment now proceeding in virtually all lines of trade and commerce. Strength of the investment market was exemplified, however, by larger number of capital issue, some of foreign origin, and all of which found a free market, probably because of their high interest yields.

An overwhelming proportion of trading in stocks, especially in draining movements, came from professional sources, notably in motors, steel equipments, oils and shippings. Rails of better class held or added to their gains of previous fortnight, but some of low-grade issues, particularly Texas and Pacific, suffered severe impairment in connection with re-organization rumours.

The money market was comparatively easy for call loans, but time accommodations were in scant supply, this condition being intensified by next week's settlement of Anglo - French $500,000,000 loan.

PRAIRIE FARMERS ARE ASKING WHEAT CONTROL

SASKATCHEWAN DEPUTATION INTERVIEW HON. J. A. CALDER.

(Canadian Press)

REGINA, Sask., Oct. 9.—A deputation representing farmers of Saskatchewan waited on Hon. J. A. Calder for the purpose of presenting a resolution demanding the immediate restoration of wheat control. The delegation was headed by Thomas Teare, of Marquis, and others were J. B. Musselman, W. C. Mills, of the Saskatchewan Co-operative Elevator Company. Arguments were advanced and discussed at considerable length. Mr. Calder pointed out that before wheat control was established last year Mr. Maharg had opposed it.

Mr. Calder said just so long as the United States, Argentina, Australia, Egypt and India continue to sell in the open market, the wheat importing countries will buy in that market, and while Mr. Calder was not prepared to express a definite opinion, he was inclined to express the view that control by Canada alone would do more harm than good.

In conclusion, the Minister stated that after long and serious deliberation with the best experts available the Government had decided on a course of policy. Last year, notwithstanding serious opposition, it has turned out that our course was right. The same may be true this year.

Mr. Calder promised to place the representations of the delegations immediately before the Government.

CITY OF LYNN, MASS., ON COAL RATIONS

One Ton at an Order All Householders Can Get.

LYNN, Mass., Oct. 9. — This city went on a one-ton coal ration yesterday and residents whose bins were empty found it necessary to make application to the health committee before the dealers would supply them. The situation resulted from an agreement between Mayor Creamer and local dealers, whereby one ton of coal would be allowed to each coal-burning unit.

Aplications for a second ton will not be honored until the first has been used. Inspectors will investigate each request for a ton of coal and delivery of whatever kind of hard coal is available will be made only when approved by the health committee.

The mayor hopes by this means to overcome hoarding and prevent a fuel shortage.

WOMEN TURN OUT TO VOTE AT ELECTIONS

POLLING IS TAKING PLACE IN NEW BRUNSWICK TO-DAY—THE TEMPERANCE ISSUE.

(Canadian Press.)

FREDRICTON, Oct. 9.—Polling is taking place to-day in New Brunswick for the election of a new Provincial Parliament. Early hour reports from different constituencies indicated that women voting for first time in Provincial election were turning out in large numbers. Women voters have been very systematically canvassed by the Temperance Alliance which has secured pledges of production of bone-dry legislation from a number of candidates. Altogether 105 candidates have been nominated for forty-eight seats in the Legislature. The Government majority in the last house was seven.

GOOD RESULTS BY TAG DAY WORKERS

The ladies in charge confided that donations of a larger denomination than in former years were being made.

THE TOURISTS LEFT MUCH MONEY HERE

JEWELERS ESPECIALLY BENEFITED BY VISITS OF AMERICANS DURING SUMMER.

Tourist traffic contributed very considerably to a big increase of business enjoyed by the Peterborough merchants this past season, a number of the shopkeepers report. Jewellers especially reaped a nice little harvest from the American tourists, who invested generously in diamonds and other jewellery on account of the lower prices prevailing on this side of the line, due to the entrance of diamonds duty free into Canada. Orders for several hundred dollars worth of jewellery from American visitors have been daily occurrences with the local dealers. Restaurants and hotels have also profited heavily from the tourist traffic which reached its peak some time ago, and is now gradually decreasing.

FIRST MEETING OF MALE VOICE CHOIR

WILL BE HELD NEXT TUESDAY NIGHT—SINGERS INVITED.

The first meeting of the Peterborough Male Voice Choir, which was organised last spring in preparation for the season now beginning will be held in Greene's Music Store on Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock. Every man in the city who has had experience in singing is invited to attend, and it is expected that the male sections of all the church choirs will be largely represented. This is a non-denominational movement, conceived with the object of promoting the musical interests of Peterborough by uniting in one organisation all the men who have vocal talent and ability.

The results of previous choral efforts indicate the difficulties that may arise again but the spirit of co-operation and the enthusiasm shown by the large number of men who sang in the George Street Methodist Church choir in their concert last spring were encouraging promises for the first meeting next week. On that occasion the male section of the George Street choir was augmented by men from other choirs, and it was in that evidence of a deep underlying interest in choral work manifested by so many men that the Male Voice Choir had in its inception.

There are no material inducements the Choir can hold out to prospective members and to all those who have already signified their intention of joining the Choir, but there are the educational and social advantages afforded by community singing. The pleasure and satisfaction gained from choral accomplishment are in themselves strong attractions to those who have the training and talent that seek expression and development. There is a profound joy in overcoming the technical difficulties of a musical work, in rounding out harmony and perfecting the phrases and in interpreting theme and spirit of a given piece. Therein lies the appeal to the artistic aspirations of the singers. On the other side is the pleasure given to an audience, and also the knowledge that such efforts will probably have the permanent result of elevating the public's taste in music.

The officers of the Male Voice Choir who were elected at the meeting late last spring were:

C. B. Adair—President.
W. F. Skitch—Vice-President.
C. S. Thompson—Secretary-Treasurer.
John Anderson—Membership Convener.
H. McKeown—Musical Convener.
Mr. J. H. Renwick will likely be the musical director.

ST. PAUL'S LADIES AID SOCIETY will hold a rummage sale on Tuesday and Wednesday evening, October 26 and 27. Watch for further announcements. 1d85 3100

SEES $9 POWER FOR BROCKVILLE

SUCH WOULD BE RESULT OF DEEPENING ST. LAWRENCE WATERWAY.

BROCKVILLE, Oct. 9.—Declaring that the only objections to the deepening of the St. Lawrence waterway came from Montreal in Canada and from parts of the State of New York in the United States, Mayor Lewis, addressing a special meeting of the Board of Trade, spoke in the highest terms of the project. The Board of Trade passed a resolution strongly in favour of the canalization of the river, and appointed a number of delegates to attend the hearing of the International Joint Waterways Commission to be held at Kingston on Monday next.

Mayor Lewis declared that the reason Montreal did not want the project carried through was because that city in the matter of shipping was like the pig that has both feet in the trough and doesn't want any other pig to get in.

The Holt enterprises were also afraid the electrical development proposed would interfere with the flow at Cedar Rapids and less power would be generated there. For what Mr. Lewis described as this "selfish and not far-seeing" attitude the city of Montreal was willing to sacrifice the interests of Canada as a whole.

In New York State the trouble was that it was feared the barge canal would suffer, but, said the Mayor, it must be remembered that New York is only one state in the Union, and he personally believed that the proposed scheme would be carried out. Mayor Lewis added that with the first dam erected at the foot of the Rapids Du Platt, as was intended, Brockville would be brought within 31 miles of the cheapest power on the continent.

"If the scheme goes through, and I believe it will," he said, "I can see nine-dollar power for Brockville. If the people are alive to their opportunity, there will be nothing to prevent Brockville from becoming a city of 50,000 population."

Various manufacturers who had been here, he said, with a view to building factories, had been prevented from doing so by the high cost of power, coupled with the high cost of building.

"PASSING THE BUCK"

Recriminations are rife in the game of "passing the buck" which is being played in attempting to lay the blame for the present power shortage. To date the Hydro supporters have gained the upper hand over the Department of Railways and Canals. The Trent Canal authorities have been made the chief victim and received charges from wanton wastefulness to inefficiency. So far the Trent officials have refrained from casting slander at their attackers and have issued a statement in which they state the reason for their reticence as a desire to avoid controversy.

Sir Adam Beck has alleged that the Department of Railways and Canals has ordered the water held back in the reservoirs out of political spite and antagonism agains tthe Hydro. The Hydro interests have advanced in support of this contention the friction which arose three years ago between them and the Department.

A Hydro official told The Examiner that the Commission wished to keep out of the present controversy and even asked that the Commission's name appear as little as possible in the press in connection with the controversy. Yet the deputation from here which visited the Hydro stronghold in Toronto on Tuesday was glibly assured that the Commission would do all in its power to force the Department to release the water stored in the lakes and reservoirs.

Endless Statistics.

The Hydro has quoted endless statistics in an effort to show that that there is a surplus of water in the lakes. Their supporters have dilated at length upon the wastage of water by the Trent Canal and have attempted to show the inefficiency of its management. All of which has been received in silence by the Canal authorities. Those, however, who are conversant with the system in force on the Canal term this malicious slander.

Despite the statements made by certain Hydro men that they wished to remain aloof from the controversy they have been outdone in aloofness by the Trent officials who have so far refrained entirely from "mud slinging" as a means of convincing the public that they are not at fault.

Despite the stream of allegations which has been released nothing has been proven on either side, is the opinion of those who have followed the development of the situation intelligently.

The power users are suffering, but the blame for existing conditions still remains unfixed.

A protest was made regarding the statement that the Utilities Commission gave only twenty minutes' notice in some cases before cutting off the power ,although the Hydro gave the Utilities two hours' notice of reducing the power. It was claimed that the Utilities Commission seldom received more than twenty minutes' notice of the reduction of Peterborough's quota of power.

The statement referred to was based on information given to local manufacturers by a Hydro-Electric official who in answer to their protest that they received such short notice of power reduction told them that the Hydro always gave two hours' notice before cutting off the power to the Utilities Commission.

FURY OF EXCITEMENT IN CLEVELAND TO-DAY

CAPACITY CROWDS GATHER FOR FOURTH GAME OF WORLD'S SERIES BALL.

(Canadian Press.)

Cleveland, Oct. 9.—Baseball pride, smoldering in the hearts of Cleveland's fans through forty years of championship aspirations, blazed into a fury of excitement to-day for the fourth game of the World's Series between Brooklyn and Cleveland.

Every incoming train and suburban car dumped its load of fans into the city, filling up every hotel and rooming house to their capacity.

Capacity Crowd.

Early indications were that a capacity crowd of twenty-seven thousand persons would witness to-day's game. Every reserved seat was taken a month ago.

Stanley Coveleskie, who pitched Cleveland to victory in their first game, is expected to be Manager Speaker's choice. Both pitchers are right handers.

MUST GO AFTER MORE POWER

Mr. J. H. Burnham, Ex-M.P., told The Examiner this morning that if the city does not push the Hydro-Electric Commission for more power development, it will have nothing to offer as an inducement to manufacturers to come here.

"The Dominion Government is not in the power business; Hydro alone can furnish it," said Mr. Burnham.

INSTRUCTIVE ADDRESS TO THE PUPILS

DIPLOMAS PRESENTED BY THE HOME AND SCHOOL ASSOCIATION LAST EVENING.

Twenty-eight students of Queen Mary School, who recently passed the first milestone in their education by passing the entrance examinations, were publicly honoured last evening b ythe Home and School Association of the school, when, at a general gathering of parents and friends, held in the hall of the school, their diplomas were presented to them.

The evening was opened by a short address by Mrs. Sydney T. Medd, who, in expressing her pleasure at so large a number attending the entertainment, and expressing her pleasure at so large a number attending the entertainment and congratulating the pupils on their success, spoke of the growing importance of Home and School Associations, observing that Mrs. Courtice, of Toronto, had recently told her that she is considering foregoing her activity on the Board of Education in order to devote more of her time to the work of Home and School Associations.

Mrs. W. R. Morris endorsed Mrs. Medd's welcome to the large assembly, and spoke of the splendid record Peterborough Public School pupils had made in the recent entrance examinations, when 156 of the 165 who wrote passed. The record, she said, indicated particular brightness among Peterborough pupils, but such brightness would not have resulted in much without efficient teachers, and in congratulating the girls and boys, she also congratulated the teachers, adding that it is generally considered that the city has a very complete staff.

Musical Programme.

The opening adresses were followed by a musical programme, to which Miss Dorothy Ferguson, an ex-pupil of the school, contributed two piano solos, Mr. Clarke a humorous reading from "Three Men in a Boat," and Baden Green, a violin solo.

The Presentation.

In the absence of Mr. A. Mowat, Public Schol Inspector, Mr. M. N. Clarke, principal of the King Edward School, presented the diplomas to the successful pupils, namely:

Isabel Connelly, Tom Darcy, Geo. Dinsdale, Harold Peace, Gwynneth Hall, Ethel Heron, Norma Ingram, George Rae, Helen Huff, Gladys Green, Fred Allen, Douglas Widdess, Raymond Derrick, Vernon Fuller, Clarence Jackson, Oswald Morrison, Vera Wagar, Osgood Stock, Mac Donnelly, H. Baker, Harold McFadden, Percy Martin, Earl Jones, Will Filken, Gerald Patterson, Dorothy Hobson, Mildred Thompson and Jean Wilgar.

Dr. Miller's Mission.

Dr. Miller, Provincial Director of Technical Education, addressed the assembly, explaining briefly his mission in the city, stating that while the industrial classes in the city have been excellent, the time has now come for greater development along the lines of technical education. His object in visiting the city was to ascertain whether there is sufficient need

MR. KILLALY INTERVIEWED POWER ISSUE

AT A LOSS TO KNOW WHY THE POWER USERS ARE BEING CUT OFF AT THE PRESENT TIME.

Mr. A. L. Killaly returned to the city this morning from Ottawa, where he spent several days on departmental business. Mr. Killaly's presence in Ottawa was not in any way connected with the recent controversy arising out of the power shortage. In an interview with the Examiner this morning, Mr. Killaly had the following to say:

The Department at Ottawa has had nothing whatever to say in regard to the regulation of the Trent waters since August, 1914, and I naturally take as personal the recent criticism.

During the six years I have had the responsibility of regulating the flow from the Trent watershed it has been my chief endeavour to ensure power users, and thereby to the people of this district who are dependent upon them, the maximum flow which can be continually maintained. In this work one must of necessity be most conservative for if he were foolish enough to gamble with future possibilities and the flow was later not available it would occasion much worse criticism. I would liken it to the careful and frugal man who conserves his means in comparison with the spendthrift who squanders his substance.

That my labours have not been in vain is proven by the following:

One of the most promient Hydro-Electric development men in the Province of Ontario when asked on Thursday for his opinion of the regulation of Trent waters said that though he was not in touch with conditions this year still during the years he had been in close touch with them he regarded the regulation as nothing short of wonderful.

"The conservation of water under present conditions and its regulation is very efficiently maintained by Mr. Killaly and no assistance from the Hydro-Electric Power Commission is required in this respect."

One of the principal officers of the Hydro-Electric Power Commission wrote as follows:

"During the past year or so the flow of the Trent River has been raterially improved by the able efforts of Mr. Killaly and results have been obtained which have dertainly justified his work."

In the recent crisis the Department has been most fair in the matter as it used every endeavour to ascertain the views of the customers of the Hydro-Electric power as well as other producers of power to whom the Department is under definite obligation by reason of their enjoying their privileges under lease from the Department.

I wish to contradict the recent insinuations and statements that antagonism on the part of the Department of Railways and Canals toward the Hydro-Electric Power Commission has contributed to the present situation and the first para-

On Friday large shipments of cheese were made by the G.T.R., as follows: Selwyn and North Dummer factories, 370 cheese, shipped by Mr. Thompson Braden, salesman.

Warminster and Warsaw factories, 300 cheese, shipped by Mr. Nathan Payne, salesman for Warminster, and Mr. E. Hawthorpe, salesman for Warsaw factory.

Mr. W. H. Down, of Douro, who attended the Keene Fair, brought home with him the championship of the county in the general purpose class for his three-year-old Clyde mare, which won in a class of 13, open to all ages.

Mr. Down is justly proud of his success in winning this prize.

Officers Elected.
